Answer your calling and move into your career faster with New England College's Three-Year Cooperative Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN).

In today's complex healthcare system, nurses advocate for population health. And for many, nursing is more than a career—it is a calling.

This BSN program combines the holistic benefits of a liberal arts education with an invaluable conceptual nursing education and real-world clinical experiences. NEC's cooperative BSN uses the most current evidence for pre-licensure nursing education to ensure graduates will have the knowledge, clinical judgement, and problem-solving abilities to meet the complexity of healthcare well into the 21st century.

INNOVATION

NEC's carefully constructed academic-practice partnerships with New England healthcare organizations offer students the following unprecedented benefits:

- Cohort-based learning in a concept-
- based program
- Residential or remote class options
- Completion of 124 credits in less than three years on a 12-month academic calendar
- Completion of 36 credits during three paid immersive clinical experiences as an employee of a partner organization

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

NEC Nursing completes a holistic admission review for every applicant. In addition to NEC's general application requirements, nursing applicants must complete the following admission requirements:

- Official high school or transfer transcript
- Personal essay
- Two academic and/or professional letters of recommendation
- Eligibility for employment as an LNA at a partner organization
- Criminal background check before first cooperative experience

"Nursing students want experience in a clinical environment, a job when they graduate, and to feel prepared to hit the ground running. NEC's BSN program allows students to do just that. They will work in a clinical setting while attending classes and will learn innovative practices. And after graduation, they will have the confidence and experience to start their nursing careers right away."
