TESTIMONY

* Use asterisk if written testimony and/or amendments are submitted.

*Rep. O'Brien, prime sponsor, introduced bill.

- Opposed to bunch scheduling of bills introduced by his colleagues
- Guilds in past were monopolies and are now taking the form of licenses
- Licensees prohibit practice without a license or certificate
- NH requires more licenses than California
- We should limit them to "inform and protect the consumers:"
- Consumers don't show up to hearings in re: licensing
- Licensees are trying to limit the participants in their occupation since this allows them to increase their fees
- Based on change or rules of the House – amendment should strike lines 8-11 and the quorum because only legislators can serve on commissions

Respectfully submitted,

Maurice L. Pilotte

Advise individuals and businesses on legal matters. Conduct civil and criminal lawsuits, advise clients on their legal rights, draw up documents, and gather evidence to formulate defense or initiate legal action. Prepare legal briefs; develop strategy, arguments, and testimony in preparation for presentation of case. Many attorneys specialize in a branch of law such as corporate, criminal, labor, patent, real estate, tax, or international law. Some help write laws and establish ways to enforce them. A few teach or hold management positions.

Auctioneer

Auctioneers engage in the business of selling for another real, personal or mixed property by auction. Before an auction begins, auctioneers may decide what articles are worth and arrange them in lots according to type or value. They begin auctions by stating or asking for a starting bid, describing the merchandise and may tell bidders about the history or ownership of items. Ask for bids, and sell such item to the highest bidder. Keep records of the sale and ensure that consignors are properly paid.

Insurance Adjuster

Study insurance claims to see whether clients' policies cover them for particular losses and determine the amount of loss suffered. Talk with claimants to try to settle claims and may approve payments to them. Use reports, physical evidence, and witnesses' reports to investigate claims. Some workers travel to gather information about claims, while others work mostly at their desks. Many insurance adjusters specialize in a certain type of claim, such as auto, home, life, or property damage or loss.

Bill Number:	HB1381
Title:	establishing a commission on licensing trades and professions.
Date:	January 27, 2010
Consent Calendar:	NO
Recommendation:	INEXPEDIENT TO LEGISLATE

STATEMENT OF INTENT

The intent of this legislation was to establish a commission to study licensing trades and professions. There are over 190 such licensed groups in the state, many of which have not been reviewed in many years. However, during the past decade, efforts have been made by this committee to process requests for licensing with a guide to protecting the public and creating sound policy for the licensing process while ensuring that frivolous applications be denied. Further a process known as the sunrise questionnaire provides guidance and structure to groups applying for licensure. To review all current licenses would require extensive study, public hearings and new legislation. The ED&A committee will create a mechanism for beginning the review this spring. The ED&A committee is the most knowledgeable, experienced and committed to evaluate the process of licensing and a separate commission is not necessary.

Recommendation:	OUGHT TO PASS WITH AMENDMENT

STATEMENT OF INTENT

This bill would set up a study committee to review the 197 trades and professions that are currently licensed in New Hampshire. We believe that it is time for us to review which of these trades and professions truly protect the safety, welfare, and wellbeing of the public versus the ones set up to protect competition. In six years on ED&A we have heard from a small minority of these professions so we firmly believe that we should have the opportunity to review all of them.
