ANALYSIS

This house resolution condemns the judicial doctrine of "disparate impact".

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

In the Year of Our Lord Two Thousand Twenty Five

A RESOLUTION condemning the judicial doctrine of "disparate impact".

1 Whereas, the practice of univariate analysis for complex, real-world phenomena is illegitimate
2 and unscientific, rendering such nonsensical conclusions as "thing one happened, then thing two 3 happened, therefore the first thing was causative of the second thing;" and

4 Whereas, the judicial doctrine of "disparate impact" is reliant upon univariate analysis of 5 complex, real-world phenomena to assign causation and legal responsibility; and

6 Whereas, this judicial doctrine of "disparate impact" has served to legitimize the wholly 7 illegitimate, anti-constitutional practices of "critical legal theory," with the attendant holistic,
8 phenomenological approach to legal interpretation;

9 Whereas, holistic phenomenology, as critical legal theory, has no limiting principles, thereby 10 rendering all conceivable connections, second, third, and further order factors as "causative," and 11 therefore legally implicated, eligible for regulatory actions, and imposing liability; now, therefore, be 12 it

13 Resolved by the House of Representatives: that the judicial doctrine of "disparate impact" must 14 be overturned as a necessary restraint on government and to secure the liberty of the people, the 15 exercise of federalism, and the powers delegated to the several states; and

16 That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States; the members 17 of the New Hampshire congressional delegation; and the Honorable Chris Sununu, governor, state of 18 New Hampshire.
