HOUSE CALENDAR

MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE:

I hope you all have either participated in your committee orientation or will participate in one soon. It will be a good way to become familiar with your committee leadership team, and for those of you who are new or new to your committee, get familiar with how things will run, look, and feel this year.

All bills are now assigned to committees. You may search online to see what bills are in your committee using the advanced search function at http://gencourt.state.nh.us/bill_Status/, and choose your committee (or any committee) using the "Hse Committee" option.

We hope to have one committee kick off our hybrid hearing schedule next week. In the meantime, our General Court staff are doing a great job getting the committee rooms, technology, and processes ironed out. Again, health and safety are paramount in this process.

You may have read news coverage this week about our preparations. We have had the air purifications delivered and deployed to rooms, we are finalizing a multi-page health and safety protocol document, and will provide detail on hearing participation (pink card equivalent, blue sheet equivalent, and testimony submission) next week.

I would like to remind my fellow House members that your social media posts are a reflection on this great and historic body, both good and bad. While you are entitled to free speech and your own opinion on issues and events, we have to set a high standard for ourselves, as elected officials, and not get into the dirty, inappropriate, and sometimes personal politics social media invites. Please think long and hard before you post. You have a platform as public officials. I challenge you to use that platform for positive discourse.

As a reminder, state offices will be closed on Monday, January 18th in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. / Civil Rights Day.

Sherman A. Packard, Speaker of the House
