Rep. Wallner moved that the House adjourn.
Adopted.

HOUSE JOURNAL No. 20

Wednesday, June 13, 2007

The House assembled at 10:00 a.m., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the Speaker.

Prayer was offered by House Chaplain, Reverend Jared A. Rardin, Pastor of the South Congregational Church in Concord.

From the book, Common Prayers by Michael Leunig.

God give us rain when we expect sun.
Give us music when we expect trouble.
Give us tears when we expect breakfast.
Give us dreams when we expect a storm.
Give us a stray dog when we expect congratulations.
God play with us, turn us sideways and around.
Amen.

Rep. Brueggemann, member from Concord, led the Pledge of Allegiance.

LATE SESSION

UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Reps. Bedrick and Larry Brown addressed the House.

Rep. Vaillancourt moved that the remarks made by Rep. Bedrick be printed in the Permanent Journal.

Adopted.

Rep. Bedrick: Thank you, Madam Speaker. On June 12, 1987, twenty years ago yesterday, President Ronald Reagan stood at Brandenburg Gate along the Berlin Wall in Germany and issued a challenge, "Gen. Sec. Gorbachev, if you seek peace, if you seek prosperity for the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, if you seek liberalization, come here to this gate. Mr. Gorbachev, open this gate. Mr. Gorbachev, tear down this wall." Just two years later, that wall did fall and the Evil Empire came crashing down with it. But in its wake it had left death and destruction of an unimaginable scale. Yesterday, on the anniversary of Reagan's famous speech, the Victims of Communism Memorial in Washington D.C. was dedicated to commemorate the more than one hundred million people murdered by communist regimes in the 20th century. Josef Stalin once said, "The death of one man is a tragedy, the death of millions is a statistic." Communism killed more people than nazism, fascism and religious extremism combined. Were we to pause for a moment of silence for one second for every person who had been killed, we would be standing in this chamber for more than three years. Ideas for the new monument abounded. Early proposals included a replica of the Berlin Wall, a Gulag prison, or a boat used by the Vietnamese or Cuban refugees. The final monument is a ten-foot bronze statue based on the "Goddess of Democracy" statue that Chinese dissidents built in Tiananmen Square in 1989 before tanks crushed them and their cause. This is especially fitting as a reminder that the world's most populous nation is still not free today. Anhthu Lu, a financial analyst in Virginia who left Vietnam on a boat as a young girl and who was a part of the memorial foundation, said, "We need to educate people about the terror of Communism and continue to eradicate it from the world." Indeed, this memorial is meant to remember the victims of communism oppression and the heroes who fought against it, like Natan Sharansky; the refuseniks; Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, who exposed the horrors of the Gulags; and the Polish Solidarity movement. But more than that, it serves as a reminder that there's still a long way to go. The Berlin Wall fell and the Cold War ended, but there are those who appear to be bringing it back from the ashes and who are willing to kill every journalist, businessman or ex-spy who stands in their way. Hugo Chavez in Venezuela recently shut down the last national opposition TV station and, like Russia, has nationalized the oil companies. The Chinese are arresting and torturing Christians and the Falun Gong merely for practicing their faith. Kim Jong Il is starving the North Korean people in order to build nuclear weapons. Fidel Castro continues to hold about three hundred political prisoners in Cuba, such as the poet and journalist Raul Rivero. And, honorable colleagues, if you want to hear stories of escaping communist oppression, you need not look far: just ask Officer Stanley Kolodnicki, one of our very own security guards, who escaped from communist-occupied Poland with his family as a young man. Now, in reflecting upon the evil that communism has wrought in the world, I'm not saying that we're a perfect society; indeed, no perfect society has ever existed. Our history has blemishes and we've made mistakes as a nation. And yet, one must appreciate the blessings of liberty. Indeed, this year in this very chamber, we debated our nation's war policy and the majority voted to criticize our president and the war and yet not one – not one person feared retribution. Not one person worried that they'd be arrested or that they would come home to find that their family had disappeared. We're fortunate enough that we can take that for granted, but to do the same in any of the world's communist-controlled countries is to do so at your own mortal peril. There was an old joke in the Soviet Union about an American lecturing a Russian about freedom. The American explained that, if he wanted, he could walk into the oval office and tell him, "Mr. Reagan, I deplore the policies of the United States. I think you're leading us down the wrong track." To which the Russian replied, "So what? I can do that too! Just last week I walked into Gorbachev's office and I said, 'Mr. Gorbachev, I deplore the policies of the United States. I think Ronald Reagan is leading them down the wrong track!'" Adlai Stevenson once said, "Communism is the corruption of the dream of justice. Communism is the death of the soul. It is the organization of total conformity – in short, of tyranny – and it is committed to making tyranny universal." I pray that we will live to see the day when this evil ideology is finally relegated to where it belongs: in the ash heap of history. Thank you.

No person shall at any time hunt, shoot, pursue, kill, or take migratory waterfowl without first procuring, in addition to the applicable hunting license required by RSA 214 and the federal duck stamp required by RSA 209:6, a license to do so under RSA 214:9, XII, for the same period. A person under the age of 16 years may hunt, shoot, pursue, kill, or take migratory waterfowl without such a license, provided that, while so doing, he or she is accompanied by an adult who has procured such a license. For the purpose of this section “migratory waterfowl” shall mean ducks, mergansers, coots, geese, and brant.

II. Any person who violates any provision of this section or RSA 214:9, XII shall be guilty of a violation and shall be guilty of a separate offense for each migratory waterfowl bird taken.
