Rep. Hinch moved that the House adjourn.
Motion adopted.

HOUSE JOURNAL No. 17

Thursday, June 11, 2015

The House assembled at 10:00 a.m., the hour to which it stood adjourned, and was called to order by the Speaker.

Prayer was offered by House Chaplain, Reverend Kate Atkinson, Rector of St. Paul's Church in Concord. Loving, generous God, You promise us the gift of abundant life to ease our journey through a world that demands so much of us. As we enter into this season of school vacations, this season of opportunities for travel or for rest, as we deliberately seek a slower pace on these long summer days, give us eyes to see and hearts to recognize what abundance really means. Help us to savor each experience more deeply, to engage more fully, to receive more gratefully. Inspire us to rejoice in simplicity, and find beauty and meaning in the ordinary. Above all, God of joy, give us an appreciation for humor and fun, and the ways they enrich our lives. Help us to loosen our hold on concerns that weigh us down, and to allow Your gift of laughter to infuse both our work and our play. Amen.

Representative Paula Bradley, member from Concord, led the Pledge of Allegiance.

The National Anthem was sung by Specialist Jennifer Messina of Derry.

AWARD PRESENTATION

Rep. Steve Shurtleff was presented the 2015 Caroline L. Gross Fellowship by Richard Ober, President and Chief Executive Officer of the New Hampshire Charitable Foundation. The annual award honors one's extraordinary dedication to public service.

MOTION TO PRINT REMARKS

Rep. Hinch moved that the remarks made during the award presentation be printed in the Permanent Journal. Motion unanimously adopted.

REMARKS

Speaker Jasper: Before we begin our regular business, we have a presentation of an award to a member of this House. It is the Caroline L. Gross Fellowship, which entails a 3-week program at Harvard. There are a few of us left in this Chamber who served with Caroline Gross. I want to tell you that she was one of the most remarkable women that I have ever served with. There are six portraits in this Hall and one of them is Caroline Gross. That gives testament to how this body felt about Caroline. I was very privileged to be her assistant majority leader when she served as majority leader under Harold Burns. Harold and Caroline obviously saw something in me, a person who at the time, was known to cause more than a little bit of trouble. I think they saw that my energies and what they saw as my talents could be contained and groomed so I had the privilege of being in that position with that very remarkable lady. There was, obviously, established this fellowship and it honors individuals for their extraordinary work in public service. This annual award is made in tribute to Caroline, whose own dedication to public service lives on through the work of the fellowship recipients. Caroline was a native of New Hampshire. She served in the House from 1983 until 1993 when she passed away. During those terms in the house, she served on Finance and Legislative Administration. She began serving in a leadership role in 1989 when she was appointed Majority Leader. It was a position she did hold until her death. Her family, friends, and colleagues established this fellowship fund to nurture the next generation of public servants. This fellowship enables an individual to attend the three-week summer seminar at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University. I was honored to have been nominated, as was our Clerk. We were both not successful in getting to the point the recipient today has. Since 1994, the fellowship has sent 30 New Hampshire public servants through the program, including former New Hampshire Insurance Commissioner Sylvio Dupuis; Representative David Hess; State Senator Lou D'Allesandro; George Bald, former Commissioner of DRED; Superior Court Judge Tina Nadeau; and John Beardmore, Commissioner of the New Hampshire Department of Revenue Administration. Today's recipient is Representative Stephen Shurtleff who has been a member of the House since 2005. He has served in the House for six terms. He served on Criminal Justice, Judiciary, Legislative Administration and Pension Reform, as well as numerous House leadership roles. He has also served as a Concord At-Large City Councilor since 2004. He is a former United States Marshal supervisory deputy for the U.S. Department of Justice. At this time, to make the formal presentation, I would recognize Richard Ober, President and CEO of the New Hampshire Charitable Foundation. There are former recipients with us as well.

Richard Ober: Thank you very much, Mister Speaker. My name is Richard Ober and I have the privilege of being the President of the New Hampshire Charitable Foundation and it is truly an honor to be here in the people's House. Governor Judd Gregg's commission on New Hampshire in the 21st Century, a project in which I was involved, opened their report with the following quote, "People come to New Hampshire or we stay in New Hampshire because of our love for independence. We discover paradoxically that independence requires a community effort. Under the mainstream of rugged individualism, there has always been a practical current of interdependence and cooperation." For many of us, then and now, that quote defines the essence of New Hampshire and especially the spirit of public service that you, and so many of your fellow citizens bring to your work. Thank you for that service. As the Speaker has said, this award was created at the New Hampshire Charitable Foundation to honor a truly extraordinary New Hampshire public servant, Caroline Gross. In the years since then, nearly two dozen distinguished public officials have received this award and selected to attend this intensive program at the Harvard Kennedy School that the Speaker described. Many of them have told me that was a defining experience in their professional and personal lives and I hope you have an opportunity to have them describe that to you. Many of our recipients are here with us today and as you see from the group they represent the spectrum of political viewpoints and all branches of government, federal, state and municipal. A tradition of this program is the fellows themselves go through the nominations and select the next year's winner. I am delighted to announce that the 2015 Caroline Gross Fellowship does indeed go to Representative Stephen Shurtleff.

Rep. Shurtleff: It is a warm morning so I will be brief. As I told members of our caucus this morning, it took me 28 years to earn my associate degree and to think next month I'll be at Harvard. I truly am a late bloomer. To be nominated for this honor was something special to me. To be selected, especially as I look at the distinguished group of former recipients of the Caroline Gross Award, people that I have long respected and long admired, words really do escape me. I never had the privilege of knowing Caroline Gross. I only know her as her reputation as a Republican leader in the New Hampshire House, but one thing I share is the legacy that she left all of us as members of the New Hampshire House, that ability to always look for that thread that binds us together instead of shedding a light on the issues that divide us. I just want to close by thanking everyone for this tremendous honor, which I am truly humbled by. Thank you all and God bless the New Hampshire House.

MOTION TO LAY ON THE TABLE

Rep. Major moved that HR 12, affirming revenue estimates for fiscal years 2015, 2016, and 2017, be laid on the table.

Motion adopted.

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE ON HB 122

By the authority vested in me, pursuant to part II, Article 44 of the New Hampshire Constitution, on June 2, 2015, I have vetoed House Bill 122, relative to advertising of liquor or beverages. Substance misuse, including alcohol misuse, continues to be one of the major public health and safety challenges facing us as a state. Moreover, statistics suggest that New Hampshire has among the highest rates of underage drinking in the country. In changing the way that we regulate, and in some cases loosening restrictions on referring to minors in the advertisement and sale of alcoholic beverages, House Bill 122 could undermine our efforts to prevent underage drinking. It is imperative that we strike the appropriate balance between responsible regulation of alcohol and the desired latitude for marketing creativity within our growing craft beer industry. However, in repealing RSA 179:31, VII(a), particularly the explicit prohibition on references to minors, House Bill 122 fails to provide adequate statutory guidance to the Liquor Commission in maintaining that important balance. While I remain very supportive of our growing craft beer industry in the state and have signed many laws aimed at supporting the expansion of this industry in a responsible way, statutory changes significantly impacting the way alcohol could be advertised in our state must be undertaken with great caution and clear guidelines. House Bill 122 does not meet that standard, and it could also potentially lead to greater inconsistencies in how our marketing regulations are applied. I would encourage proponents to work with the Liquor Commission and substance misuse advocacy organizations to develop a proposal with clear guidance that is understandable to both the business community and the Liquor Commission. Such a proposal should aim to balance the desire for creativity in the marketing and/or branding of craft and other locally manufactured alcoholic beverages with the very real need to ensure that such marketing does not encourage underage drinking. Because this bill does not strike that necessary balance, I have vetoed House Bill 122.

Respectfully submitted, Margaret Wood Hassan, Governor

The question being, notwithstanding the Governor's veto, shall HB 122, relative to advertising of liquor or beverages, become law?

Rep. Murphy spoke in favor.

Pursuant to the New Hampshire Constitution, Part II, Article 44, a roll call, requiring a two-thirds vote of the House for approval, was taken.

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE ON HB 148

By the authority vested in me, pursuant to part II, Article 44 of the New Hampshire Constitution, on June 2, 2015, I vetoed House Bill 148, an act limiting the authority of delegates to Article V conventions. House Bill 148 establishes a procedure for the selection of state delegates to a convention called by the states for the purpose of considering amendments to the United States Constitution. This bill also limits the authority of those appointed delegates. This bill is similar to Senate Bill 356, legislation vetoed by Governor John Lynch in 2012, requiring every delegate from New Hampshire at an Article V convention to take an oath, which in part states, 'I will accept and will act according to the limits of the authority as a delegate granted to me by New Hampshire law, and I will not vote to consider or approve any unauthorized amendment to the Constitution for the United States of America. I understand and accept any penalties that may be imposed on me by New Hampshire law for violating this oath.' Whether or not one agrees that an Article V convention is the right course of action for proposing amendments to the United States Constitution, and regardless of one's stance on potential amendments proposed across the political spectrum, it is apparent that a convention to consider amending the constitution is not going to be called by the states any time soon. If such a convention were to be called under Article V of our Constitution, it seems that would be the appropriate time to consider procedural concerns for delegates, including how those delegates should be appointed. Furthermore, the language of this measure places restrictions on our hypothetical delegates that are contrary to the true purpose of any constitutional convention. If similar restrictions had been in place during the original Constitutional Convention in 1787, our Founders may very well have never created the United States Constitution. Finally, I also have concerns with the prospect that duly appointed delegates could be subject to potential criminal penalties in the fulfillment of their role. For these reasons, I have vetoed House Bill 148.

Respectfully submitted, Margaret Wood Hassan, Governor

The question being, notwithstanding the Governor's veto, shall HB 148, limiting the authority of delegates to Article V conventions, become law?

Reps. Horrigan and Weber spoke against.

Reps. Edelblut and Eastman spoke in favor.

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE ON HB 151

By the authority vested in me, pursuant to part II, Article 44 of the New Hampshire Constitution, on June 2, 2015, I vetoed House Bill 151, an act establishing a committee to study end-of-life decisions. In 2013, I vetoed almost identical legislation in the form of House Bill 403. The only difference between the two bills is that this year's version added duties, which failed to address any of my concerns from the previous veto, particularly a membership that lacks a broad cross-section of the individuals who understand these complex and emotional issues best: the medical community, patients, advocates for the elderly and people who experience disabilities, and the religious community. I continue to support strengthening New Hampshire's advance directive statute, relying on input from stakeholders across the Granite State, but I believe that the goals of this bill begin to take New Hampshire down a precarious path. As was the case in 2013, I do not see a need for the study committee outlined by this legislation, and I have therefore vetoed House Bill 151.

Respectfully submitted, Margaret Wood Hassan, Governor

The question being, notwithstanding the Governor's veto, shall HB 151, establishing a committee to study end-of-life decisions, become law?

Reps. Marjorie Smith, Wolf and Phillips spoke in favor.

Rep. Souza spoke against.

Pursuant to the New Hampshire Constitution, Part II, Article 44, a roll call, requiring a two-thirds vote of the House for approval, was taken.
