COMMUNICATION

May 11, 2016

Rep. Shawn Jasper
 Speaker of the House
 House Majority Office
 New Hampshire House of Representatives
 State House Room 313
 Concord, NH 03301

Re: Relocation/Resignation

Mr. Speaker,

Family circumstances have caused my relocation outside of my representative district (Hillsborough 23). Unfortunately, in light of recent rulings, this relocation, however temporary, requires that I resign my position as a State Representative.

It has been an honor to represent the people of Milford, Hillsborough County, and the great State of New Hampshire for the past two terms. It is comforting to know that there are so many dedicated, passionate, and intelligent people serving our state in the legislature. I will miss being a member of the House and will remain active in my efforts to advocate for the people of my district even though I can no longer do so in my official capacity as their representative.

It has been a tremendous learning experience and a pleasure to work with my colleagues to accomplish the important work of the state legislature.

Sincerely,

Rep. Shawn Sweeney

MOTION TO PRINT REMARKS

Rep. Kurk moved that the remarks made by Rep. Cushing during Unanimous Consent be printed in the Permanent Journal.
Without objection, the Speaker ordered.

Rep. Cushing: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I just want to say a few remarks about my most favorite Republican of all time. That would be Marilla Marks (Young) Ricker. It was 147 years ago this week that there was a gathering in New York City that was called by Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony. The purpose of that meeting was to found what was the National Woman Suffrage Association and that was the organization that for the next 50 years pressed across this country to gain the franchise the right to vote for women. One of the people who was at that meeting, the person who attended on behalf of New Hampshire, was a woman named Marilla Marks (Young) Ricker. She was born in New Durham, was educated at Colby Sawyer College and went on to become an elementary school teacher. In 1869, when she was at that meeting, she was 29 years old. She came back to her homestead in Dover and kind of began her own personal campaign to gain the franchise for women. She sent a letter to the selectmen of the Town of Dover in 1870 that said, "I come before you to declare that my sex is entitled to the inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. I ask the right to pursue happiness by having a voice in that government to which I am accountable. Our form of government is supposed to emanate from the people and whatever control it possesses over the people, it is supposed to be exercised by and with their consent. I, and others of my sex, find ourselves controlled by a form of government, in the inauguration of which, we had no voice and in whose administration we are denied the right to participate, though we are a large part of the people of this country. So long as women are hanged under the laws, they should have a voice in making them." She had to pay property taxes, like everybody else, and when she went to the town clerk that year in 1870, she presented a little letter that said, "Taxation without representation is tyranny. I hereby protest against the injustice of being compelled to pay taxes without having a vote to protect my property. If taxation without representation was tyranny before the revolutionary way, it is tyranny today. I shall protest against paying taxes so long as I have no voice in making the laws." For the next 50 years, every time Marilla Marks Ricker paid her property tax, she presented that protest to the officials of the Town of Dover. Marilla went on to have a more expansive life. She was the 9th woman to be admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court. She was the first woman from New Hampshire to be recognized as a lawyer. In a seminal case in 1890, she brought a suit against the New Hampshire Bar Association, against the State of New Hampshire, because she was not allowed to practice law because of her gender. In a real famous case that's called the Petition of Ricker, the New Hampshire Supreme Court decided that actually being a woman was not a bar to being able to practice law in the state. She opened the door for every woman who practices law in the State of New Hampshire to pursue that profession. She also was the first person, in 1870; she decided that she wanted to vote. She showed up on Election Day and asked for a ballot, was given a ballot, cast the ballot, but the ballot was not counted. But, what that action was, Marilla Ricker was the first woman in the United States to cast a vote. She was the first person to run for Congress in the State of New Hampshire, the first woman to run for Congress. She was the first woman in the country to apply to be an Ambassador, a US Ambassador and in 1910; she decided that she was about ready to run for Governor of the State of New Hampshire. She came and she applied to the Secretary of State's office, paid her $100, but the then Secretary of State refused to accept her request to be placed upon the ballot. She did, however, gain 4 votes and those are the first votes that are recorded as a vote for women in the State of New Hampshire for Governor. She lived long enough to see the 19th Amendment passed and to see women be granted the right to vote. Kind of a cap on to a 50 year campaign. Now, as we live in a state where we've had the experience of women running the state, they are all in a sense really daughters of Marilla Ricker. Last Monday, there was a portrait that was unveiled in the entrance way by where the Governor comes into the State House. It was a portrait of Marilla Ricker. It was done recently and 19 years ago, this House and the Senate, passed a resolution calling for a portrait to be hung there so that when every fourth grader and every other person who comes into this State House can see a woman whose pioneering efforts helped elevate all of us, helped to make it possible to have a more perfect democracy. I just want to stand here and say on behalf of myself, say on behalf of everybody, to Marilla Ricker, "Welcome to the State House. It's good to have you here." Thank you.

MOTION TO PRINT REMARKS

Rep. Dan McGuire moved that the remarks made by Rep. Ohm during Unanimous Consent be printed in the Permanent Journal.

Without objection, the Speaker ordered.

Rep. Ohm: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Since the founding of our great republic, there has been constant debate about how to interpret the constitution. For guidance, I would like to quote the remarks of President Andrew Jackson's veto message to Congress on July 10, 1832. "The Congress, Executive and the Court must each for itself be guided by its own interpretation, its own opinion of the constitution. Each public officer who takes an oath to support the constitution swears that he will support it as he understands it and not as it is understood by others. It is as much the duty of the House of Representatives, of the Senate and of the President to decide upon the constitutionality of any bill or resolution which may be presented to them for passage or approval as it is with the supreme judges where it might be brought to them for judicial decisions. The opinion of the judges has no more authority over Congress than the opinion of Congress has over the judges. In that point, the President is independent of both. The authority of the Supreme Court must not therefore be permitted to control the Congress or the Executive when acting in their legislative capacities but have only such influence as the force of their reasoning may deserve." Mister Speaker, I submit that the same principles apply to this body today just as it did to Congress in President Jackson's time. Thank you, Mister Speaker.
