Amendment to SB 395

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to access to records under the right-to-know law.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Right-to-Know Law; Minutes and Records Available for Public Inspection. Amend RSA 91-A:4, I to read as follows:

I. Every citizen during the regular or business hours of all public bodies or agencies, and on the regular business premises of such public bodies or agencies, has the right to inspect all governmental records in the possession, custody, or control of such public bodies or agencies, including minutes of meetings of the public bodies, and to copy and make memoranda or abstracts of the records or minutes so inspected, except as otherwise prohibited by statute or RSA 91-A:5. In this section, "to copy" means the reproduction of original records by whatever method, including but not limited to photography, photostatic copy, printing, or electronic or tape recording. If a citizen requesting access to governmental records is not able to appear during the regular business hours of a public body or agency of the political subdivision, the person may request an accommodation from the public body or agency. The public body or agency shall make a reasonable effort to accommodate the request. A reasonable effort to accommodate the request shall be at no additional cost to the public body or agency and may include making the records available for inspection at an alternative time and place. A public body or agency may, in consultation with the director of the division of archives and records management, develop guidelines for posting and providing records in portable document format/archival (PDF/A) or other approved format. The guidelines shall identify any costs which shall be paid by the requester such as printing the record or converting the format of the records. A public body or agency shall not be required to post or provide records electronically unless it is feasible to do so with reasonable effort.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 395 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill as amended clarifies access to electronic records under the right-to-know law. Currently, if a citizen requests access to governmental records who is not able to appear during the regular business hours of a public body or agency it may create a barrier to the right-to-know. With this legislation a person may request an accommodation from the public body or agency to receive digital copies in PDF/A format or at another time or place specified by the town officials. This accommodation of such requests will be decided by guidelines created by the local governing body. The committee found that providing digital copies of records in PDF format allows right-to-know requests to be filled efficiently, inexpensively, and reinforces accessible government. I ask for your support the committee's recommendation of Ought to Pass with Amendment on SB 395. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

Amendment to SB 403-LOCAL

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Taxation of Property; Exemption; Recreational Vehicles. RSA 72:7-d is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

72:7-d Exemption; Recreational Vehicles. For purposes of this chapter, recreational vehicles, as defined in RSA 216-I:1, VIII, having a maximum width of 8 feet and 6 inches while being transported, and located at a "recreational campground or camping park," as those terms are defined in RSA 216-I:1 VII, shall not be taxable as real estate.

2 Definition of Recreational Campground or Camping Park. Amend RSA 216-I:1, VII to read as follows:

VII. "Recreational campground or camping park" means a parcel of land on which 2 or more campsites are occupied or are intended for temporary occupancy for recreational dwelling purposes only for an undetermined or indefinite amount of time, and not for permanent year-round residency, excluding recreation camps as defined in RSA 485-A:23.

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect April 1, 2019.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill removes the requirement that recreational vehicles exempt from property taxation have a valid motor vehicle registration and number plate. The bill also removes the requirement that campground owners provide local assessing officials with the name and address of recreational vehicles at the campground that fall within the tax exemption. Finally, the bill amends the definition of recreational campground or camping park to include a reference to an undetermined or indefinite amount of time.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you Mister President. I move Senate Bill 403 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill removes the requirement that recreational vehicles exempt from property taxation have a valid motor vehicle registration and a number plate. The Committee Amendment will protect the privacy of campers by ending the current practice of campground owners having to reveal the names of their guests to local assessing officials for the purposes of assessing property taxes. Furthermore, the amendment will treat all unregistered recreational vehicles the same regardless of where they are stored. This bill as amended by the committee will have no effect on mobile homes or trailer parks. Campground owners will continue to pay property taxes both on their entire parcel and on individual improvements on each of the sites. The Ways and Means Committee asks your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. I thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to SB 405

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a commission to study the effect of current use taxation on small and rural municipalities.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Section; Current Use Taxation; Commission to Study the Effect of Current Use Taxation on Small and Rural Municipalities. Amend RSA 79-A by inserting after section 26 the following new section:

79-A:27 Commission to Study the Effect of Current Use Taxation on Small and Rural Municipalities.

I. There is established a commission to study the effect of current use taxation on small and rural municipalities.

II. The members of the commission shall be as follows:

(a) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

(b) One member of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(c) A representative of the New Hampshire Municipal Association, appointed by the association.

(d) A representative of the current use advisory board established in RSA 79-A:3, appointed by the board.

(e) One selectman from a town with current use and conservation easements, appointed by the governor.

III. Legislative members of the commission shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the commission.

IV. The commission shall study the effect of current use taxation on small and rural municipalities.

V. The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the commission shall be called by the senate member. The first meeting of the commission shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Three members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

VI. The commission shall report its findings and any recommendations for proposed legislation to the speaker of the house of representatives, the president of the senate, the house clerk, the senate clerk, the governor, and the state library on or before November 1, 2018.

2 Repeal. RSA 79-A:27, relative to the commission to study the effect of current use taxation on small and rural municipalities, is repealed.

3 Effective Date.

I. Section 2 of this act shall take effect November 1, 2018.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a commission to study the effect of current use taxation on small and rural municipalities.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 405 Ought to Pass with Amendment. The original bill sought to enable municipalities to adopt a separate exemption against the statewide property tax for certain long-term residents over 65 years of age; however, the Committee Amendment replaces the bill in its entirety. The Committee Amendment establishes a commission to study the effect of current use taxation on small and rural municipalities. However, I am asking the body to vote down the Committee Amendment so that I may offer a substitute Floor Amendment which simply adds greater detail regarding what the committee is tasked to study. The Ways and Means Committee asks your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment but please vote no on the Committee Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Failed.

(e) One selectman from a town with property under current use and conservation easements, appointed by the governor.

III. Legislative members of the commission shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the commission.

IV. The commission shall study the following issues:

(a) Whether property under conservation restrictions is constitutionally eligible for current use assessment.

(b) Existing valuation and assessment methods for properties under current use and properties under conservation restrictions.

(c) The financial impact of current use and conservation restriction assessments and tax rates on the overall property tax rates in small and rural communities.

V. The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the commission shall be called by the senate member. The first meeting of the commission shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Three members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a commission to study the effect of conservation restrictions on the property tax in small and rural municipalities.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. This amendment establishes a commission to study the effect of conservation restrictions on property taxation in small and rural communities. Lines 27 through 33 lay out the duties of the commission and they're very specific; they'll study whether property under conservation restrictions is constitutionally eligible for current use assessment. It will study existing valuation and assessment methods for properties under current use and properties under conservation restrictions. And it'll study the impact of current use and conservation restriction assessments and tax rates on the overall property tax rates in small and rural communities. I ask you for your support for the Floor Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you for taking my question, Senator. I'm looking at who was actually on the commission and could you tell me why there isn't representation from the Forest Society or the Timberland Society on here?

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you. It's a good question and I thank you for that. We are not looking for people with a vested interest in or against what might come out. We're looking for technical analysis of those three issues. From this commission will come a report, and I would strongly believe that anything that might emanate from that report would involve all of the people that have an interest in conservation easements and so forth. This is looking at the taxation question, okay? And that's why we limited it to a small group, the current use board is part of DRA. A selectman with a community that has both current use and conversation easements and a member of the Senate and a member of the House. And a member of the Municipal Association.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the Floor Amendment. I think the Floor Amendment is not a balanced commission either in composition or the duties of the commission. I think we just heard a question answer that signifies an imbalance with respect to the composition itself. The duties as well, drive to a potential certain conclusion. I think if this moves forward it needs to be much more balanced both in terms of composition and duties. And for that reason Mister President, I oppose the Floor Amendment. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Ward.)

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I will vote in opposition to the amendment. The current use is not something new in New Hampshire, we've had it for many years. It's part of the constitution which allows for taxation of real property based on its current use. Current use has been there to encourage open space in the state, and we all benefit from open space. It's good for our tourism, it's good for our health and it's good for all kinds of recreational activities. And my question, or one of my questions about this amendment, how do you define small and rural municipalities, what is the definition for that? We have to realize that New Hampshire, almost 53 percent of New Hampshire is in current use. That means there's an awful lot of people who have property in current use and in addition to conservation easements. And I am questioning having five people with very limited experience on this board. It is not going to represent all the interests that are in New Hampshire as far as open space is concerned. And I think that commission should be expanded significantly. There are a lot of areas, a lot of groups that are interested in current use and conservation easements and I think we ought to have them as representatives on the board. We need to have landowner community. I would suggest the Forest Society, any other group that is interested in preserving the open space in New Hampshire which we all cherish very much. So for all these reasons I will be opposing the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I'd like to thank the good Senator from District 8. She took a lot of what I wanted to say. But I do think that this amendment has merit, I do think this is an issue that should be studied because as the chair of ED&A we have had bills coming in front of us that deal with land use and there are a lot of questions. My concern is with the makeup of the commission, and I agree with the good Senator from District 8 that I think that we need to include everybody who has an interest in this on this commission. And for that reason Mister President, I'd like to move to table this bill to give the good Senator from District 2 an opportunity to perhaps create another amendment. Thank you.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator, you can't make a motion after you've spoke.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I think we need to clarify even more explicitly what the language in this amendment says, okay? Current use is constitutional, but the premise of current use depends on removing land that is able to be developed from consideration for being developed by the owner. When you sign a conservation easement generally in perpetuity, you have foreclosed on development ever happening on that land. So that creates a constitutional question here, and that is really what we're looking at. This commission will just try to take a look at using the current use board member, okay, who's probably no one more versed in that law and in its application, a selectman, and the New Hampshire Municipal Association, just to look at the constitutional question and at the taxation issues that flow from that. We don't need the Forest Society, we don't need the environmental or any other groups. This has targeted a crucial constitutional issue and I might remind you, as our towns are scrapping for revenue, if land that is in a conservation restriction, is not constitutionally eligible for current use, we will then have to look at developing another layer or level of taxation or type of taxation, okay? I'm not an advocate for new taxes but I am an advocate for the constitution. We don't need Forest Society's never going in on their own vested interests to maintain the status quo. The status quo may very well be maintained but the question here is the technical people to look at this from a constitutional basis and a taxation basis. And that does not require a broad base of all the interests that want conservation easements and certainly this amendment does nothing to harm them. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Carson moved to Lay on the Table.

A division vote was requested.

Yeas: 17 - Nays: 6. Adopted.

Amendment to SB 412

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Agricultural Uses of Land; Existing Agricultural Uses. Amend RSA 674:32-b, II to read as follows:

II. Any new establishment, re-establishment after abandonment, or significant expansion of a farm stand, retail operation, or other use involving on-site transactions with the public, including agritourism as defined in RSA 21:34-a, may be made subject to applicable special exception, building permit, or other local land use board approval and may be regulated to prevent traffic and parking from adversely impacting adjacent property, streets and sidewalks, or public safety. No municipality shall adopt an ordinance, bylaw, definition, or policy regarding agritourism activities that conflicts with the definition of agritourism in RSA 21:34-a.

2 New Paragraph; Duties of Commissioner of Department of Agriculture, Markets, and Food; Agritourism Disputes. Amend RSA 425:4 by inserting after paragraph VIII the following new paragraph:

IX. Adjudicate disputes concerning activities that constitute agritourism pursuant to RSA 21:34-a. Prior to a party filing a land use application with a municipality, or after such land use application is denied, an applicant may petition the commissioner for a declaratory ruling regarding whether or not a municipality's ordinance bylaw, definition, or policy regarding agritourism activities, conflicts with RSA 21:34-a. The commissioner's jurisdiction shall be limited to the question of whether or not a municipality's ordinance, bylaw, definition, or policy on agritourism conflicts with RSA 21:34-a. The commissioner, or the commissioner's authorized representative, shall notify the parties, hold a hearing within 30 days of such request, and shall issue a declaratory ruling within 15 days of the hearing. The commissioner's declaratory ruling shall be dispositive, including in future land use applications with a municipality where such ordinance, bylaw, definition, or policy is at issue. A party aggrieved by the declaratory ruling may petition the commissioner for reconsideration within 20 days of the declaratory ruling, and thereafter, within 30 days of the decision on reconsideration, may appeal such decision to the New Hampshire supreme court. If the applicant petitions the commissioner for a declaratory ruling, all municipal appeal processes, including those defined in RSA 677:2 shall be stayed. The 30 day time period in which to request a rehearing shall begin on the next calendar day after the commissioner issues the declarative ruling, or after any appeal of the declarative ruling is complete. The commissioner shall adopt rules pursuant to RSA 541-A relative to the declaratory ruling process, including, but not limited, an allowance for timely intervention of an aggrieved party. A municipality shall furnish the commissioner with a copy of any non-confidential appeal decision on any land use application involving whether or not a municipality's definition or policy on agritourism conflicts with RSA 21:34-a.

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill prohibits municipalities from adopting an ordinance, bylaw, definition, or policy regarding agritourism that conflicts with state statute.

This bill also allows the commissioner of the department of agriculture, markets, and food to issue a declaratory ruling on whether agricultural activities constitute agritourism.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you Mister President. I move Senate Bill 412 Ought to Pass with Amendment. The bill is relative to the definition of agritourism. It's intended to address instances where a town denies a farmer's request to conduct an agritourism activity on their property. The bill in no way challenges the town's ability to challenge it. What it does is level the playing field between municipalities and individual farmers. The bill as amended by the committee will give a landowner an alternative method to address the rejection without going to court, which serves to chill individuals from taking the process forward even when they have a righteous complaint. So under this bill, they'll be able to seek a ruling from the Commissioner of Agriculture who supports this bill. Should the town disagree with the commissioner's ruling, they can appeal to the Supreme Court. Due process is preserved. The commission will only be ruling on whether the activity in question conforms or conflicts with the state's definition of agritourism. It does not get into parking, it does not get into life safety issues. It is totally left within the purview of the community as they should be. This just says is this definition of agritourism good with the activity that's contemplated or not? The Commissioner of Agriculture would make that determination. There is an appeals process if the community disagrees. The Ways and Means Committee asks your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. I thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SB 309-FN, relative to standards for perfluorochemicals in drinking water, ambient groundwater, and surface water.
Ought to Pass, Vote 6-0. Senator Feltes for the committee.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank You, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 309-FN Ought to Pass. This bipartisan bill requires the Commissioner of the Department of Environmental Services to adopt a state drinking water standard relative to perfluorochemicals (PFCs,) establish ambient groundwater quality standards relative to PFCs, and establish surface water quality standards relative to PFCs. SB 331, prohibiting Medicaid from paying for sex reassignment drug or hormone therapy or surgery.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 3-3. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank You, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 331 Inexpedient to Legislate. The bill sought to disallow the coverage of sex reassignment drug or hormone therapy or surgery under the state Medicaid plan. After discussion that included the suggestion that the proposal would run afoul of the Affordable Care Act, and that funds to pay for such coverage would take money away from more needy recipients, such as the DD Waitlist, the committee was unable to come to agreement on the bill. Therefore, the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate is offered by the Senate Finance Committee on Senate Bill 331. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the Inexpedient to Legislate motion and would ask that the body overturn that motion so that an Ought to Pass motion can be brought forward. I'd like to start by saying that whether or not one chooses to go through transgender reassignment is a personal choice, and as such should be paid for with personal funds not public funds. In this last budget we spent a lot of money trying to address the opioid crisis, improving access to mental health, working to create and maintain a good economic environment so that people had jobs as well as several other initiatives that benefit the people of New Hampshire. In spite of all that a recent report indicated that we still have 161 people on the disability waiting list. People who through no choice of their own truly need the assistance of government to meet their daily needs.

If we are to continue down the path of publicly funded gender reassignment the money is coming from within the current budget. Most likely to the detriment of those on the DD waitlist who need the assistance most. Gender reassignment is not an inexpensive process. Consider the following cost reported in Teen Vogue Magazine by someone who went through the process. Hormone therapy; at least $1,500 a year to have hormone levels checked and to renew medication prescriptions. The cost for this person had reached $13,500 and the plan was to continue at $1,500 a year for the rest of their life. Transgender reassignment surgery; $30,000 plus. This step in the transition is very expensive and the average cost is upwards of $30,000. In addition to the actual procedure there are also travel costs and hotel accommodations if a good physician does not live in the vicinity. Facial feminization surgery; $25,000 to $60,000. There's also a high price to pay for this procedure. Board certified surgeons that are qualified to do these procedures will charge anywhere from 25,000 to $60,000 depending on the amount of work that they have to do. Breast augmentation; $5,000 to $10,000. Breast augmentation surgery will cost between 5 and $10,000 and it all depends on the surgeon you choose, where that person is located and what type of implant you want. When all is said and done, this procedure could cost well over $100,000.

I want to make it clear that this has nothing to do with discrimination as some might claim. As of December 31, 2017 the developmental services waiting list was at 170, and it was projected that by the end of June 2018, this would grow to 190. In addition it's projected that an additional 126 people will go without services in fiscal year 2019. The projected number of people that will go unserved in the biennium is 316. To fund those additional people that are projected to need services for the remainder of the fiscal year, assuming an April 1, 2018 start date, it's expected to cost 1.16 million in general funds. To serve those projected, to need services in fiscal year 2019, another 2.7 million in general funds is needed.

My colleagues, this has nothing to do with discrimination, it has everything to do with prioritizing our financial spending. It has everything to do with taking taxpayer money that could be used by people who have been on the waitlist some for up to seven years, and giving it instead to people for elective surgery so that their bodies can be altered by cutting off healthy body parts. In conclusion, I will state again that the choice to go through transgender reassignment surgery is a personal choice and as such should be paid for with personal funds, not public. Please overturn the ITL motion so that an Ought to Pass motion can be brought forward. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the ITL recommendation to this bill and I also would like to just make a couple of comments on the notion of personal choice, being the inspiration for gender reassignment surgery. Now I'm going to spare you all, I'm not going to sing Lady Gaga's Born This Way, okay? Be grateful for that alright? But you know anyone who has a friend, family member or a colleague who has realized their transgender identity and has done what they really feel they must do to be who they are; I think would have a difficulty with the description of personal choice here.

And secondly, I just think it's quite unfortunate to essentially set up folks who are going to be needing Medicaid funding for their medical procedures over against folks who are dealing with opioids or over against the disabled community. I really think that's a very unfortunate comparison to suggest that people who are undergoing essential in their view, medical procedures which are allowed under Medicaid, that that somehow is taking money away from some disabled family or someone undergoing opioid treatment. I also remind the body that we will soon see a constitutional amendment on transgender issues and I think that's a very important statement that has come from the House and I hope we'll see success here and I think that this bill flies in the face of what the intent of that amendment will be.

And finally, just as on kind of personal note here, with students and dear personal friends who have been through gender reassignment, that we're talking about individuals who are trying to live their full lives as who they are and I really appreciate the chair of Senate Finance, of course you must be concerned with budgets and you do good work there, but I just think that sometimes that we have to look past the numbers to the people here and I do hope we'll vote this bill down. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Reagan.)

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. In JLCAR we conducted a two hour hearing on a rule change brought by the Department of Health and Human Services to allow these expenditures for a recognized medically diagnosed condition called gender dysphoria. So these aren't people who want to cross dress, and they're certainly not pedophiles and they're certainly not people who are dying to get into somebody else's bathroom. These are people with a genuinely, honestly diagnosed, a medical diagnosis that is allowed by the CMS, the Center for Medicaid and Medicare Services and this is proven by medical evidence, by psychiatric evidence and it is not something, from my investigation, that's done lightly. This is a years and years long process for people who suffer from gender dysphoria.

Now, one in about every 2,000 live births were presented with an infant who has an indeterminate sexual description. And I said, well what do you do with these infants? And they said they do a lot of snipping and tucking and so that this child looks identifiable as a boy or a girl. But then when they get a little bit older, and they're interacting with, on the playground and in school and their families and in their neighborhoods, they find that something's not really comfortable here, something's wrong. So unfortunately child, you suffered an unfortunate stroke of fate that has you, and you know it, in the wrong body. So what can we do about this? And it leads to some very serious mental illness, horrible outcomes for people that are ignored or ridiculed. But modern medicine and modern psychiatric medicine has found a path for these people to lead as much of a normal life as they can ever expect to receive. That's what the therapies are about and that's why the medical community does not take this lightly and no, I don't believe there are twelve year olds who go to a doctor and have their parts altered. This is something that you work into adulthood while you make these determinations and while you and your mental health professional are able to reconcile in your mind that you're making a correct decision.

And we all wish that we didn't have to pay for things that we're squeamish about. But this is where we are and to think that people suffering from gender dysphoria are taking money from people on the DD waitlist, which is constantly misrepresented in this chamber, it's not a correct conclusion. We don't come in here and decide that we're going to approve one thing because we're trying to take the money from something else or we're trying to give it to some other thing that we approve of. We deal with each issue individually. So if you disallowed gender reassignment surgery, that money's not going over to people on the DD waitlist. So let's decide this on a recognized, medically diagnosed, psychiatrically diagnosed condition and decide that we're going to turn our back on this segment of our population or we're going to treat them with the same measurement that we do in all the psychiatric and medical procedures that we approve and pay for through Medicaid.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. We've heard articulations by two Senators that I think we're just monumental in terms of their sincerity and their truth. Why is it that in this life we pit one group against another group? We shouldn't do that. What we should do, is we should do the best for both. And I think Senator Reagan articulated that. We're here to do the best for both. A person's life is a precious commodity. How that life is lived is precious. We don't have that long to live, and if the person has the wrong situation, the correction is needed to make that life worthwhile and to make that life better. And I don't think anybody could have said it better than Senator Reagan. Indeed, we can't pit people against each other, we've got to be for people, we have to be for things. And if the developmental disabilities waitlist needs more money, we're going to appropriate more money. But we're not going to shortchange another portion of the budget by pitting one against the other. You know I talk about doing the right thing. My colleagues have articulated much better than I could. Let's do the right thing and vote Inexpedient to Legislate.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the motion to ITL and support a motion of Ought to Pass. I too sit on JLCAR Mister President, and I was there at that hearing. And we heard testimony Mister President, from one mother who has to hydrate her daughter, has to hydrate her daughter by buying a special powder. It's 35 cents a box because her daughter cannot drink water. And also, this daughter also needs particular diapers. There's no money for her. She fell through the cracks under the managed care. We heard from another mother who has a daughter whose spine is curving. And there wasn't money for that operation for that daughter to fix that spine, so as this child grows up, she's going to be paralyzed from her waist down. Another one fell through the cracks. In my district there's a woman, she's fifty-two years old with Down Syndrome, can't get the medication because she fell through the cracks. I have another little boy who basically throws up because of a special disease that he has. There's nobody in New Hampshire, there's nobody in Massachusetts, there's nobody in New England that will cover this little boy's particular disease. Has to go to Michigan in order to get it treated and, my gosh, fell through the cracks. There's no money. Can you tell these parents that you're not choosing one disease over another, one ailment over another, one condition over another, and look them in the eye if that's the case? I objected to the rules because there wasn't a proper, in my humble opinion, fiscal analysis. I got numbers like well, it's 50 cents, 70 cents. What does that mean? Per taxpayer? How much is it going to cost the New Hampshire taxpayers for this one particular condition? I agree with you that we should not be putting one against another, however in effect, that is what we're doing. We're saying to the mom who wants to hydrate her daughter, sorry the diapers aren't coming, sorry you can't hydrate your daughter with this particular box, it's 35 bucks. These are personal cases that have come to me, I have a drawer filled with people asking me to help them through this whole process for managed care and the situation we have now. But there are people that are falling through the cracks. I can't say, yeah, we're not pitting one against another, I can't say that. We are. We're choosing, we're prioritizing, one condition over another. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Avard.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you for taking my question. You said on the one hand I believe I heard you to say, you don't want to pit one medical condition against another, but I don't understand why you're voting to find this Ought to Pass. Is that, am I correct is that what you would like to see done?

SENATOR AVARD: I believe in effect that we are allowing these people that have cried out for help to fall through the cracks and give preference to one group.

SENATOR LASKY: What do you say to the mother whose four year old child is born male, crying out to be a female, been through all kinds of psychiatric, you know whatever, been medically diagnosed that that person is in the wrong body? You are pitting, in my understanding, you are pitting one condition against another. And so I'm not quite sure I understand.

SENATOR AVARD: I don't know how I can properly answer that.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you.

SENATE CLERK'S NOTE

The roll call vote below on SB 331 was inadvertently entered in the Daily Journal and has been corrected in the Senate Permanent Journal from 12-12 to 13-11.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Feltes, seconded by Senator Avard.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Innis, Morse.

Roll Call, Yeas: 13 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

Senator Bradley moved to Lay on the Table SB 331.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator Bradley, I'm in an awkward position. I voted in the wrong direction on this bill. I'd like to reconsider. That's what I was looking to you for. You've put a tabling motion on the floor.

Senator Bradley withdrew the motion to Lay on the Table on SB 331.

MOTION OF RECONSIDERATION

Senator Watters, having voted on the prevailing side, moved to reconsider the following action taken by the body on SB 331, prohibiting Medicaid from paying for sex reassignment drug or hormone therapy or surgery. Reconsider the vote on Inexpedient to Legislate. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Innis.

Roll Call, Yeas: 13 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

MOTION OF RECONSIDERATION

Senator Giuda, having voted on the prevailing side, moved to reconsider the following action taken by the body on SB 331, prohibiting Medicaid from paying for sex reassignment drug or hormone therapy or surgery.: Reconsider the vote on Inexpedient to Legislate. Adopted.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you. If, in fact, I'm sorry, the motion is Inexpedient to Legislate, so if in fact I feel that prohibiting Medicaid from paying for sex re-assignment drugs or hormone therapy or surgery is not warranted, that we should not prohibit it, I would vote in favor of the Inexpedient to Legislate motion.

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Inexpedient you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. If I believe that taxpayer money should not be used for something that is a personal choice, would I now vote no?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Inexpedient you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say no.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. If I believe that in a just manner, everyone should be treated equally, would I vote for the Inexpedient to Legislate?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Inexpedient you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: If I've read the literature on sex change children who feel they've been born, usually they realize it four or five years old, and I've studied it thoroughly, and read the literature, and know that it is not a choice but in fact leads to children committing suicide much greater than others if they can't afford it or get that kind of treatment, would I now vote yes for Inexpedient to Legislate?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of the Inexpedient motion, you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, to the Inexpedient motion, you're going to say no.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Innis.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Birdsell, Gannon, Morse.

Roll Call, Yeas: 12 - Nays: 12. Failed.

Senator Bradley moved to Lay on the Table SB 331. Adopted.

SB 404-FN-A, phasing out the tax on interest and dividends. Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 3-3. Senator D'Allesandro for the committee.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank You, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 404-FN-A Inexpedient to Legislate. The bill sought to phase out the Interest and Dividends Tax over a 5-year period, and would repeal the tax on January 1, 2024. Comments such as SB 404-FN-A would send a positive message and perhaps lure individuals back to the state of New Hampshire, contrasted with the revenue impact of a loss of $100 million, left the committee members unable to come to agreement. The Senate Finance Committee offers a motion of Inexpedient to Legislate, and hopes you'll support it. Thank you, Mister. President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise opposed to the Inexpedient motion and would ask that you overturn that so I can bring an Ought to Pass forward. What this piece of legislation does is it lays out a plan starting in 2020 to reduce the interest and dividends tax over the next five years, through 2025. This certainly would send a message that New Hampshire is some place that people might want to come back to if they've moved out of state because other states are offering a better deal for them on interest and dividends, so this is looking forward. We've laid it out in a five year plan, so that we can look at the revenue as it comes in. But we're not dealing with it in this biennium, again it starts in 2020. I would ask that you overturn the Inexpedient so Ought to Pass can be brought forward. Thank you, Mister President.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. If you know and I know that the adoption of 404 would lead to a revenue hit of approximately $100 million in the next budget and 80 percent of the benefits of that revenue hit would go to the top 10 percent of income earners in the state, would you now vote yes on Inexpedient to Legislate?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Senate Bill 404, you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. If I know that the fiscal note on this bill was incorrect in that it showed an aggregate of the amount of revenue that would be lost and that it is not $100 million but actually only comes out to about $13 million per year, would I now vote to overturn and vote no on the motion of Inexpedient? Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Inexpedient, you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say nay.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Reagan, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators filed a Declaration of Intent: Bradley.

Roll Call, Yeas: 11 - Nays: 12. Failed.

Senator Feltes moved to Lay on the Table on SB 404-FN-A.

The question is on the adoption of the motion to Lay on the Table.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a Parliamentary Inquiry.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. If I wish to pass this bill would I now vote no on the tabling motion?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of tabling, you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say nay.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

Amendment to SB 450-FN-A

Amend RSA 149-Q:2 as inserted by section 1 of the bill by inserting after paragraph XII the following new paragraph:

XIII. The Great Bay Piscataqua Waterkeeper.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank You, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 450-FN-A Ought to Pass with Amendment. The bill establishes an advisory commission for the Department of Environmental Services to study delegation of the authority for the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System. The Committee Amendment adds a member to the advisory commission that specializes in the protection of seacoast waters, in particular, the Great Bay. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 450-FN-A as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, Senator Bradley moved to special order SB 526-FN and SB 548-FN to the next session. Adopted.

SB 528-FN-L, relative to dam registration fees and relative to permit fees for constructing or reconstructing a dam.

Amendment to SB 528-FN-LOCAL

Amend the bill by replacing section 3 with the following:

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect July 1, 2019.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank You, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 528-FN-LOCAL Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill increases the annual registration fees for dams, and increases the application fee for permits to construct or reconstruct a dam. The Committee Amendment changes the effective date of the proposal to July 1, 2019, to coincide with the next budget cycle. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 528-FN-LOCAL as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SB 529-FN, requiring the department of environmental services to conduct a study regarding the Baker River in the town of Warren and making an appropriation for such study.
Ought to Pass, Vote 6-0. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank You, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 529 Ought to Pass. This bill requires the Department of Environmental Services to study, design, and permit a solution to the incessant and every year erosion of the Baker River's banks in the town of Warren. An estimation of $400,000 has been made to undertake the study, with the goal of minimizing the harmful environmental impact of the river on nearby property and preventing the washout of the state highway that runs adjacent to it. Currently, the bill has an appropriation of $1.00; this is so that the House can gain a better estimate of the availability of funds as the bill works its way through the second half of the session. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 529-FN, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to SB 532-FN

Amend RSA 21-H:8-b as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

21-H:8-b Status in Retirement System. For purposes of classification under RSA 100-A, any person who is or becomes the assistant commissioner, the director of professional standards, the director of community corrections, the director of security and training, the director of field services, or the director of medical and psychiatric services, shall be included in the definition of correctional line personnel, as defined in RSA 100-A:1, VII under the retirement system, if such person was a group II member for at least 10 years prior to appointment in his or her position and shall remain in group II status for the duration of service in that position with the department.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 532-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. The bill allows certain Department of Corrections officials to be classified as Group II members of the New Hampshire Retirement System if such individuals were Group II members for at least 10 years prior to appointment in their respective positions, and continue to be certified under RSA 106-L. The Committee Amendment merely adds the position of Assistant Commissioner of Corrections to the list, correcting an oversight in the original draft of the proposal. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 532-FN as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

SB 535-FN, relative to licensure for the practice of professional art therapy and establishing an advisory council on alternative mental health therapies, and relative to certain revenues from the sale of commemorative liquor bottles of historic significance.
Ought to Pass, Vote 6-0. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 535-FN Ought to Pass. This bill establishes the practice of professional art therapy and licensure for individuals engaging in such practice. Initially it directs sales of any commemorative liquor bottles to the New Hampshire Bicentennial Education and Commemoration Fund. Senate Bill 535 also allows for license fees to be established through the rulemaking process by the Office of Professional Licensure and Certification. The Senate Finance Committee overwhelmingly recommends passage of Senate Bill 535, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

SB 543-FN, relative to health care premium payments for certain retired state workers.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-1. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 543 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill sought to change premium contribution requirements for retired state employees and/or spouses who are eligible for Medicare Parts A and B due to age or disability, and are, therefore, eligible for retiree coverage under the State Health Benefit Plan. SB 543-FN does not affect non-Medicare-eligible retirees who qualify for premium-paid coverage under the plan. Currently, Medicare-eligible retirees (subscribers and spouses) with a date of birth on or after January 1, 1949, make a premium contribution that is not lower than ten percent of the total premium attributable to those members. Medicare-eligible retirees with a date of birth before January 1, 1949, are exempt from any premium contribution. SB 543-FN replaces the Medicare-eligible retiree date of birth provision with a requirement based on employment with the state. The new provision requires Medicare-eligible retirees whose employment with the state began on or after September 1, 2009, pay the premium contribution of not less than ten percent of the total premium attributable to those members. Those Medicare-eligible retirees hired prior to September 1, 2009 shall be exempt from any premium contribution. Therefore, Medicare-eligible retirees, the largest group of retirees, will be exempt from paying a premium contribution until 2029.

The loss of the plan's premium revenue beginning in fiscal year '19 will require action to meet estimated plan expenses, including one or more of the following: Funding from the General Fund. Funding from self-funded agencies such as DOT, Safety, Liquor, and Lottery. An increase in the non-Medicare eligible population's premium contribution. Changes in the plan's design, so that fewer services and products are covered, and/or higher co-pays and deductibles are required. or Implementation of a defined contribution plan.

Committee members were reminded of the work that brought about last year's compromise on this subject, developed by Representative Ober. A majority of committee members caution making any change at this point may not be prudent. Stay the course, and monitor how the situation plays itself out before we make any changes. The Senate Finance Committee therefore recommends SB 543-FN, though well-intentioned, be found Inexpedient to Legislate, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate on Senate Bill 543. For a very long period of time our state workers were told that they wouldn't have to pay a health insurance premium cost or tax, whatever you want to call it. That changed in September of 2009 when retired workers under the age of sixty-five first started paying a premium on their health insurance. Since then Mister President, colleagues, retired state workers have paid over $40 million in premiums to support the retiree health care system. Over $40 million. Well, Mister President, that's excluding other costs, like additional copays, on medicines, that's excluding deductibles and other costs and fees. Over 40 million bucks.

What happened in terms of the history of this issue is long and we've debated it a lot and the Senate has traditionally taken a much more, if I can characterize it, a much more pro-state retiree health position than the House has. What happened in 2015-2016 is the Fiscal Committee needed to make adjustments based on existing law and the absence of enough money to meet the plan. They made adjustments, we filed a bill, I filed the bill, Senate Bill 465 in 2016, that next year of the biennium. We passed a bill to help shore up, working in a bipartisan way, the fund and we sent it to the House. What happened then, if you may recall for those who were here, is the vice-chair of House Finance replaced the bill I filed and that we worked on a bipartisan way, erased it and replaced it with a bill to allow folks to eat sandwiches in cigar parlors. I want to repeat that. State retiree health care bill that we worked on in a bipartisan way and we sent over to the House was replaced with a bill to allow people to eat sandwiches in cigar parlors. I don't think it was germane, but that's what happened. Again, this body in my view Mister President, has been taken this issue, a better view of it, I think than our House colleagues.

Coming into the budget this year, Governor Sununu proposed a 10 percent premium across all workers age sixty-five and older. That generated a lot of debate and discussion. The vice-chair of House Finance this time said if you were born before January 1, 1949 you don't pay it. That was the so-called compromise. I never understood the logic behind picking randomly January 1, 1949, nor does a lot of folks who are subjected to this premium hike, tax, whatever you want to call it understand that either. It was put in place and then now we have a situation where we were projected to have close to zero or maybe not even our statutory reserve in this fund, but we not only have the statutory reserve of 3 percent, they got it set at 5 percent. There's 4.6 million in the statutory reserve. Not only that in this fund, there's close to 10 million additional. Some people call it a surplus. It's been called a surplus for decades. The Department of Admin. Services testified they're going to change how they call it they're going to call it a cash flow reserve now. Alright? Well, 10 plus 4.6 is about $14.6 million, in this account that can only be used for these purposes. And if you look at the fiscal note, what is the impact in FY '19; 687,000. I think we can afford this. I think we can afford this. This isn't going to bankrupt the fund.

And what this does is it says if you began work after September 2009, when those premiums first went into place, you're on actual notice that the state could put a premium on you. There's all this debate of when did the state represent that you could get hit with a premium when they didn't blah, blah, blah; the reality is they did it in September of 2009. So if you began work after September of 2009 and now you're retired state worker, you don't have much to necessarily complain about because you knew prior to working for the state that this could be a distinct possibility because the state just started doing it September of 2009. That's the logic behind this bill.

The impact of the bill is that less retirees over the age of sixty-five pay the 10 percent. That's why the fiscal note says 687,000 in FY '19. That reflects the differential and the number of state retirees sixty-five and older that will be paying this. I think this bill is a compromise. I think this bill reflects some logic and some policy that makes sense because it makes sense to pin the grandfathering so to speak, to when the premiums first went into place.

Now you'll hear folks say well look we can't do this, we can't pivot you know, midstream. We're going to have to send out new notices. I think if I was a retired state worker and I got a notice that said, you know what you just got a notice you've got to pay 10 percent, you got a new notice that says you don't have to pay 10 percent, I think that state retiree would be fine getting a new notice. And these are folks by the way, who in many cases worked for decades for the state. There are folks in my own neighborhood in the south end of Concord who spent years doing road maintenance or you know, and they're living on fixed incomes, and paying an extra at least 36.24 a month on a fixed income. That's 36.24, at least, that you're not spending on rent or housing or medicine or food or other things that you need as a senior citizen.

So Mister President, I would implore this body to do what it has traditionally done on this issue, which take a different view than the House. A, for lack of a better characterization, a more pro-state retiree health care view than the House. And you may say, well Dan, that's great, we'll send it over to the House, they'll just beat it up. I think it's worth a try. I think it's worth a try for both seniors on fixed incomes who never expected to pay this, who were never told they were going to pay it and now by virtue of when they were born, being born after the arbitrary date of January 1, 1949. Picked out of the sky, they have to pay this. That doesn't make any sense. Let's overturn ITL, let's move this forward, let's send it to the House and let's have the debate in the House. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in favor of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. We had Administrative Services come in and testify on this bill. One of the things they mentioned was there's going to be a significant change from the budget. This cash reserve that they're talking about or the statutory reserve. They talk about $9 million in it. They indicated that this is equal to about one month's reserve, that that thing fluctuates up and down and at one time actually was at a 10.6 percent deficit. And now as of October 1st '17 had 9.1 million into the surplus, they said ideally they should have about 2 to 3 times the current amount in there. So now is not the time to go and be raiding that, we should be building that up so that it is a stable fund in which we can count on being there when we need to dig into it because things like the prescription drugs, a lot of the increases are driven by that, so there is a big draw on that. So I would ask you to vote for the Inexpedient to Legislate on that and follow the advice of DAS and make sure that that account is stable for the future. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Cavanaugh, seconded by Senator Feltes.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Reagan, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

SB 555-FN-A, establishing a citizens' right-to-know appeals commission and a right-to-know law ombudsman and making an appropriation therefor.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 3-3. Senator Feltes for the committee.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 555-FN-A Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill sought to establish procedures to streamline the resolution of complaints under RSA 91-A. It would amend RSA 91-A:7 concerning petitions to the superior court regarding right-to know violations, and would establish an alternative complaint resolution process through the Office of the Right-to-Know Ombudsman. The Ombudsman's final ruling would be appealable to the Superior Court. The Citizens' Right-to-Know Appeals Commission would be responsible for hiring an Ombudsman and establishing rules pursuant to RSA 541-A. The commission would be administratively attached to the Department, which would provide clerical and administrative support as needed. This proposed legislation would create an entirely new forum for dealing with certain complaints arising under RSA 91-A, but also maintain the current procedure in which complaints may be handled in court. Unable to reach an agreement, the Senate Finance Committee offers a motion of Inexpedient to Legislate on Senate Bill 555-FN-A. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. Under current statute an average citizen approaches any government body, the Planning Board, the Zoning Board of Adjustment, Board of Selectmen, the state, and requests information under 91-A, and the government body says we don't think so, that citizen is required to go to court against the government. That in and of itself has a terrible chilling effect on the rights of average citizens to fork out $400 for a filing fee and possibly thousands of dollars for an attorney to exercise a right we're guaranteed by the constitution.

What this bill does is level the playing field. It will also save communities significant amounts of money because communities will not have to get lawyers themselves. If the citizen feels that the decision of the municipality is wrong, he appeals to the ombudsman, the ombudsman collects whatever data he or she needs, makes a determination. That determination is not final, but it is considered when the court, if the appeal is made, gets to the Superior Court. What this does is level the playing field.

I've heard concerns about structure. There are ten individuals, one from each county, why would that be? Because the most important function of that commission is not hiring, because they won't do the hiring. The Governor and Council will do the hiring. The most important function of that commission is to educate, and rather than having one person only or a very small commission we figured one from each county would be a resource within that county to which municipalities or individuals could turn and maybe foreclose or forestall having to go the ombudsman or on to Superior Court. So there's very good rationale.

This is the work of a study commission that included New Hampshire Municipal, included the Press Association, included the attorney general's office, a senator, two representatives and numerous testimonies. One of the testimonies that came forth was from a former chairman of the school board of the town of Windham. The chairman of the school board requested information relative to an internal controls audit that had over 100 discrepancies and material deficiencies and internal controls for the schools, for the superintendent for the district, and was rejected. That's heinous. Those deficiencies were found by a licensed auditor in the internal workings, they were a secret checking accounts being signed with the treasurer's signature and stamped without the treasurer's knowledge. This is going on in our state today and a citizen who is no longer on the board but was at the time was told you're going to have to go through the Schoolboard to get that.

Ladies and gentlemen, this is transparency in government, and I would ask you to please overturn the Inexpedient to Legislate so we can serve our citizens with the constitutional rights they were guaranteed many years ago. And to help them level that playing field so they can get information they're entitled to by law, but being denied now by process. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

SB 557-FN, establishing a board of housing development appeals.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-1. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 557 Ought to Pass. This bill establishes a Housing Appeals Board with authority to hear and affirm, reverse or modify appeals of final decisions of municipal boards, committees and commissions regarding questions of housing and housing development. The board shall have concurrent, appellate jurisdiction with the Superior Court, and may adopt rules under 541-A necessary to carry out its functions. Members of the board shall be appointed by the Supreme Court, and commissioned by the Governor for a term of 3 years. The board is directed to hire at least one researcher, who will be a classified employee, plus additional clerical and technical staff within the limits of the appropriation made. The board shall be provided with an office in Concord. There is, however, no appropriation of funds included in the legislation. The plan is to fully fund it in the next budget. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 557-FN, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

Amend the bill by replacing section 2 with the following:

2 Appropriation; Department of Transportation; State Trails Plan. The sum of $1 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2019 is hereby appropriated to the department of transportation for the purpose of updating the New Hampshire state trails plan under RSA 21-L:12-c. This appropriation is in addition to any other funds appropriated to the department of transportation. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for said sums out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 560-FN-LOCAL Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill requires the Department of Transportation to update the state trails plan and makes a general fund appropriation of $150,000 for said purpose. Wanting to keep tabs on the budget as we continue through the fiscal year, the committee revised that appropriation amount to the sum of $1.00. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 560-FN-LOCAL as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

SB 563-FN, establishing a recovery friendly workplace initiatives tax credit against business taxes administered by the community development finance authority.
Ought to Pass, Vote 6-0. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I couldn't find my notes but, what this does is it gives a tax credit against business taxes administered through the community development authority, finance authority, helping to create the recovery friendly workplace. This is going to enable us to put people into work giving an opportunity for businesses to be a partnership in creating the recovery environment that we're looking for. Thank you, Mister President.

SB 573-FN-A, relative to the controlled drug prescription health and safety program and making an appropriation therefor.
Ought to Pass, Vote 6-0. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 573 Ought to Pass. This bill authorizes the Chief Medical Examiner and delegates to access the Prescription Drug Monitoring Program for the purpose of investigating causes of death. In support of the PDMP, SB 573 contains an appropriation equal to 5 percent of the revenue collected by various boards for the biennium ending June 30, 2019. These include the Boards of Pharmacy, Medicine, Nursing, Dentistry, Veterinary Medicine, Naturopathic Medicine, Podiatry and Optometry. The restricting of 5 percent of the revenue collected by these identified boards will result in an equal decrease in unrestricted general fund revenue, with the total appropriation estimated at $215,735 for the biennium. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 573, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 578 Ought to Pass. This bill clarifies the terms of appointment and salary for the following positions in the Department of Health and Human Services: Deputy Commissioner, Associate Commissioner of Human Services and Behavioral Health, Associate Commissioner of Operations, and Associate Commissioner for Population Health. SB 583-FN, establishing a pilot program to eliminate employment barriers for certain parents.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-2. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 583 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill sought to establish a 2-year pilot program for case management and employment counseling for certain parents enrolled in the New Hampshire Employment Program or otherwise eligible for Temporary Assistance to Needy Families. The pilot program would have been funded exclusively with federal TANF funds. These funds would be withdrawn from the TANF Reserve. The Department of Health and Human Services projected total planned spending on the program at no more than $500,000. The Senate Finance Committee recommends finding Senate Bill 583-FN Inexpedient to Legislate, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the ITL motion. I want to talk about three things; what this does, who it helps and why it makes good public policy sense.

What does it do? It helps provide legal support, assistance and annulment of prior criminal convictions and/or expungement of arrest records that may hinder a parent's employment opportunities and long term connection to the labor market.

Who does it help? It helps parents enrolled in the New Hampshire employment program or TANF who are at or below 200 percent of the federal poverty guidelines and who are approved by a transitional program administered by the Department of Corrections, to work or to seek work opportunities in the community.

Why is this important, why does it make good public policy sense? Because helping people get jobs, as they transition out of the Department of Corrections and into the community, helps reduce recidivism rates and re-incarceration rates, and helps people on a pathway to work and independence which we all believe in. It makes good fiscal sense too, because although we are using TANF dollars as my friend from District 17 and a co-sponsor of the bill noted, it will save TANF dollars in the long run because people get employed.

And third, to my friend from District 2 and my friend from District 12, who talk about due process a lot and talk about people having the opportunity to at least exercise their rights under existing law, this will provide low income individuals the opportunity to have legal assistance and services to do what their rights are under existing law in terms of annulments and expungement of arrest records, so that they can have an opportunity to get employed which is a major impediment to employment right now.

So this makes good fiscal sense, Mister President. It's going to save money, it's going to reduce recidivism and it's going to promote jobs and at a time when we need more people entering the workforce, it makes a lot of sense. So, I'd encourage us to vote no on ITL and do a substitute motion of Ought to Pass. Thank you very much, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to SB 335

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a committee to review compensation in asbestos litigation and to study ways to promote transparency, fairness, and timeliness of payment in asbestos litigation.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Committee Established. There is established a committee to review compensation in asbestos litigation and to study ways to promote transparency, fairness, and timeliness of payment in asbestos litigation.
2 Membership and Compensation.
I. The members of the committee shall be as follows:

(a) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

(b) Three members of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

II. Members of the committee shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the committee.

3 Duties.

I. The committee shall review the current compensation system specific to asbestos litigation and study ways to promote transparency, fairness, and timeliness of payment in the asbestos litigation system in New Hampshire.

II. The committee may receive input from the state veterans advisory committee, other local and national veterans groups, and any other person or organization it deems relevant to gain an understanding of how the asbestos litigation system impacts veterans and others affected by asbestos.

4 Chairperson; Quorum. The members of the study committee shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the committee shall be called by the senate member. The first meeting of the committee shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Three members of the committee shall constitute a quorum.

5 Report. The committee shall report its findings and any recommendations for proposed legislation to the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives, the senate clerk, the house clerk, the governor, and the state library on or before November 1, 2018.

6 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a committee to review compensation in asbestos litigation and to study ways to promote transparency, fairness, and timeliness of payment in asbestos litigation.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. In the committee we talked about this bill, it is extremely complicated and it would ask us to create an asbestos docket here in New Hampshire which we currently do not have. The committee decided to Interim Study it but, upon further reflection, and in discussion with the committee members it seems like a more appropriate action would be to actually create a study committee to look at asbestos claims and what can we do to make these claims work faster, to go through the process faster, and create transparency at the same time. So if you look at the amendment, it has one member of the Senate, which Senator French has most graciously offered to serve on, and three members of the House, and they're going to take a look at the current compensation system, specific to asbestos litigation and study ways to promote transparency fairness and timeliness of payment. They're also going to be getting input from the State Veterans' Advisory Committee, other local and national veterans' group and any other person or organization it deems relevant to gain an understanding of how the asbestos litigation system impacts veterans and others affected by asbestos. So again, Mister President, I would urge the body to support Floor Amendment number 1117. Thank you very much.

Floor Amendment to SB 501

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Findings. The state of New Hampshire finds that:

I. Camping is a popular form of recreation in the state. It affords residents of the state access to natural environments, outdoor activity and relaxation. It is a major source of tourism visits from nonresidents which generate employment, taxes and economic activity for the state. Camping, by its very nature, involves experiences in natural environments which inherently involve risks and hazards which are not present in the built environment.

II. Persons who choose to camp must accept the inherent risks of camping, without an expectation that they may recover damages if they are injured as a consequence of the experience they have selected.

2 New Subdivision; Campground Immunity. Amend RSA 216-I by inserting after section 15 the following new subdivision:

Campground Immunity

216-I:16 Definitions. In this subdivision:

I. "Camping" means all aspects of visiting, staying at and using a recreational campground, or camping park.

II. "Inherent risk of camping" means a danger or condition that is an integral part of camping, including but not limited to the following:

(a) Naturally occurring features of the natural world, such as trees, infectious agents, tree stumps, roots, brush, rocks, mud, holes, sand, standing water, and soil.

(b) Uneven or unpredictable terrain.

(c) Natural bodies of water and the use of natural bodies of water, including swimming, and aquatic sports.

(d) Another person at a recreational campground or camping park acting in a negligent manner, where the campground owner or employees are not involved.

(e) A lack of lighting at campsites.

(f) Campfires in a properly constructed and maintained fire pit or enclosure provided by the recreational campground or camping park.

(g) Weather.

(h) Insects, birds, bears, and other wildlife.

(i) Violation of safety rules or disregard for signs indicating danger.

(j) Actions by campers or visitors which exceed their physical limitations or abilities.

(k) Animals owned by other persons which cause injury or death, unless the recreational campground or camping park has accepted responsibility for care of the animal or has actual knowledge that the animal poses a hazard to the safety of other campers.

(l) Activities undertaken by a camper or visitor, utilizing the camper's own equipment, and undertaken for the purpose of exercise, relaxation, or pleasure, including but not limited to hunting, fishing, picnicking, exploring, bicycling, horseback riding, operation of a powered vehicle, cutting wood, water sports, harvesting the products of nature and any other outdoor sport, game, or educational activity.

III. "Willful disregard" means conduct committed with an intentional or reckless disregard for the safety of the actor or others.

216-I:17 Immunity.

I. Except as provided in paragraph II, a campground owner, including any employees, officers, and agents of a campground owner, shall be immune from civil liability for acts or omissions related to camping at a recreational campground or camping park resulting in the death of or injury to a person, or damage to property, caused by the inherent risk of camping.

II. The provisions of paragraph I shall not apply if the campground owner, including any employee, officer, and agent of a campground owner seeking immunity:

(a) Intentionally causes death or injury to another person or intentionally causes damage to property.

(b) Acts with willful disregard for the safety of another person or property.

(c) Fails to conspicuously post warning signs of a dangerous, inconspicuous condition known to him or her on a recreational campground or camping park, if he or she is aware of the condition.

(d) Is grossly negligent.

III. This section shall not be construed to limit the immunity created under RSA 212:34.

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

2018-1078s

This bill provides immunity for campground owners and establishes exceptions to immunity under certain circumstances.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to present the amendment because I think we finally found a solution. This bill was extremely complicated with a lot of moving parts to it. And there were meetings between the parties to see if we could come to some sort of an agreement. And the amendment you have in front of you is an agreement between the campground owners, the trial lawyers with the exception of one word. And that word you will find on page 2, line 25, and that word is grossly. And here we're talking about negligence. I think we can all agree that there are inherent hazards to people that when you go camping. Things happen. You're out in the middle of the woods, you're not staying in a hotel room. And there are things in nature that sometimes are not very kind to us. And what's been happening has been lawsuits have been filed, by people who have gone camping, who have fallen, there was, we heard about a lawsuit where someone fell and got cut by a leaf. And because of these types of lawsuits, campground owners are finding it increasingly difficult to get insurance.

So, again Mister President, I'd just like to point out the one word difference. And I'd just like to talk a little bit about what the difference is between negligence and gross negligence. When you talk about negligence, it's the omission to do something which a reasonable person, guided by those considerations would ordinarily regulate the conduct of human affairs would do so, or do something which a prudent or reasonable man or woman would not do. It must be determined in all cases by reference to the situation and knowledge of the parties and all attendant circumstances. When we speak of gross negligence, we're talking about a severe degree of negligence. Taking as reckless disregard and blatant indifference to one's legal duty, other safety or their rights as examples. So for example Mister President, say someone in this body decided they wanted to go camping. They got their camp all set up and there was a bathroom facility close by and they went into the facility and there were hanging live wires from the ceiling. That is true gross negligence. Someone is going to get hurt. As opposed to someone walking out on a trail at night and tripping and falling. There's a big difference between the two. So again, this is why the word gross was put into the bill to address those situations where there was a problem, the campground owner was aware of the problem, the campground owner should have fixed it and the campground owner didn't and someone got hurt. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you. If I read this correctly, if this passes, campground owners are no longer liable under any negligent action, cause of action. Is that correct?

SENATOR CARSON: No Senator, I believe you're mistaken. Because if you look on the first page and if you give me a couple of seconds I will look, there is language that speaks to negligence, just plain negligence and I'm sorry. Okay, here we go on line 25 it says another person at a recreational campground or camp park acting in a negligent manner, where the campground owner or employees were not involved.

SENATOR FELTES: But the conduct of the campground owner itself, no longer liable for negligence cause of actions, correct?

SENATOR CARSON: Yes, it has to be a gross negligent, a grossly negligent act.

SENATOR FELTES: And for example the cause of action of negligent hiring, if someone had, God forbid, a long history of assault, including on minors, and a campground owner hired them knowing that, and that person assaulted a minor as a campground employee, campground owner hired them, this would negate the ability to do a cause of action by that parent of that kid for negligent hiring, correct?

SENATOR CARSON: I would disagree because I believe that would be considered gross negligence.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I am rising in opposition to what I believe is now an Ought to Pass with Amendment.

On the amendment, I'd like to speak in opposition to the amendment, and here's why. I sit on the committee and there were a lot of people there from campgrounds. What we learned was that in fact the reason this is happening is because the major insurance company that covered all these campgrounds has decided no longer to cover any of the campgrounds. So all of a sudden, they have to pay higher premiums in order to get their insurance. So they, and many other insurance companies don't want to cover them because of the inherent risks. It's clear to me that if you, well first of all, I asked to people's consternation I think, I asked almost every single campground person who got up, those in fact the head of the whole campground association, I asked him how many times have people sued, how many times has anybody claimed anything from the insurance agency. Nobody could tell me, in fact everybody who did respond said never. And those who should know said I don't really know, like the Director of Campgrounds. I don't know, I mean my guess is that you would know if there had been major lawsuits against these campgrounds.

I am extremely concerned about the term gross negligence being the only thing that does not have immunity. So for example, in a legal analysis of it, if immunity encompasses gross negligence, the camp owners would be immune to anything short of criminal behavior. Or even as with I believe just said if an employee of the campground has been drinking and is then going out working and ends up hurting or killing a child, they would have immunity. What's next? I mean my business had to do with psychology and working with children. Should I have had complete immunity, if I were to do something negligent with children in my practice, should I have total immunity? I actually had to pay a fair amount of insurance in order to be sure that I could be covered and it was required.

So I don't think it's fair for campgrounds to be singled out as getting this immunity when there are plenty of other options, there are campgrounds that actually are certified and have insurance. So I think this is a very limited bill that I don't think is all that complicated. I think it's just a way for campground owners not to pay insurance. Thank you. So I suggest you vote against the amendment. Thank you.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Senator Carson for taking my question. If a young person is a lifeguard at one of these campgrounds, he or she is distracted, and unfortunately a youngster drowns. As I understand it, this would absolve, that would not be gross negligence?

SENATOR CARSON: Senator, thank you for the question. I'm going to refer you to page 2 line 10, where they actually talk about and define willful disregard, which means conduct committed with an intentional or reckless disregard for the sanctity of the act or the others. And if you go down to beginning on line 12, RSA 216-I:17 where they actually talk about the immunity. In section 2 it says, the provisions of paragraph I will not apply if the campground owner including the employee officer or agent of a campground owner seeking immunity and then it goes down to say intentionally causes death or injury and b, actual willful disregard for the safety of another person. So I think this issue of willful disregard as it's been defined and applied in here would cover that situation that you're talking about.

SENATOR LASKY: I'm sorry, just to clarify, further question. So if in fact that person that was hired as a lifeguard had a particular history of you know of turning away, of being derelict in his duties, his or her duties. Would that qualify as gross negligence then or would that just be something that it would be up to the courts to determine?

SENATOR CARSON: I think it could go either way. I believe that someone could get charged or a claim could be made of gross negligence because the campground owner knew that this person had this history of doing this and hired them and put them in a position of oversight over children at a pool. Or you could use the willful disregard aspect as well.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. For the record I must declare that I have a relative that own a campground, could affected by this legislation. I have no interest in that but I have a relative, but I will be participating. Couple of points I think of clarification. This is civil immunity, nothing in this exonerates anybody from criminal liability. And I would assert that if you were found criminally guilty of something that that would certainly represent a liability for the campground.

We're a state that, particularly in the North Country, depends on tourism, campgrounds, hiking, all manner of outdoor activities. We're also an increasingly litigious society and with the number of frivolous lawsuits provoked by over-zealous attorneys, for reasons that no normal person would file suit, are taking lawsuits against people with deep pockets, or against insurance companies with deep pockets. I would submit that the absence of any certain knowledge whether someone, lawsuits in this realm have occurred or not, does not constitute a reason not to provide protection from them. If we're interested in protecting the businesses that are providing a significant portion of the revenue and drawing the tourists from out of state into our state. We are here to set the business environment for the state, campgrounds are a big part of that, this bill if you can't get insurance you are not going to run a business, it's just that simple. This bill is a protective mechanism for good businesses. It is a balance between obviously gross negligence, there was a sand pit with a hole eight feet and you knew about it, you're grossly negligent, okay? If there was a rotten tree there for three years, you know about it, that's negligence. But I'm out walking on a trail and I trip over a branch, that's a normal hazard but you're going to get sued anyway in many cases and this protects from frivolous lawsuits. It does not exonerate anyone from criminal acts, it does not protect people from gross negligence, but it does establish a better business climate for a very significant portion of our state's economy. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: I wondered if you remember, I think it was a question asked by the good Senator from District 7, in the committee meeting about how many other states actually provide this immunity.

SENATOR CARSON: Yes. One. Wisconsin.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Yes, one. Just Wisconsin. Another question is do you remember any of the people that we talked to; did I miss anybody who did say that in fact they'd ever had a claim?

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Senator, yes. And I would refer the members to the hearing report. One campground owner talked about a woman who had her dog and she was out walking the dog and the leash wrapped around her legs and she fell and she sued the campground owner. There was also another claim, and this one came from an insurance agent who talked about, there had been a $1 million claim from someone who drowned in public waters, because they entered from a private area from a campground. So again, those are here in the committee report. So we did have testimony from campground owners and insurance agents that talked about the types of claims that were coming forward and why it is so difficult for them to get insurance. It's because of these little claims that keep coming forward and for many instances it's easier for the insurance company just to pay these claims, but it gets to the point where they can no longer afford to do that and they pull out of the insurance market and it makes it very difficult for these campground owners to get insurance.

I believe, and I'd have to go back and review the committee report but, I want to say that there used to be five companies that would do insurance for campground owners. I believe there's only two now and this is becoming a big problem for them. They keep getting sued over what I would call the inherent risks of going camping. You're out in nature, you know? You might come across a critter that lives in the woods who's not exactly friendly to humans. You're out walking, there's rocks, there's tree limbs, there's all kinds of things out there and that changes with just about every kind of weather situation. I just think that we need to seriously look at this and as the good Senator from District 2 said, it doesn't absolve anybody from a criminal act. If someone has done something illegal, they're still responsible for that. But what it does do is it offers our campground owners a measure of protection against frivolous lawsuits.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: So you do understand the difference between, negligent and inherent risks? Because you're comparing, you know walking out in the woods. So you're okay with giving immunity to campground owners who've been negligent?

SENATOR CARSON: Senator, again it depends on what we're talking about. If we're talking about a trail, and it might not even be a trail, that the campground owner has created and somebody falls, that is not the problem, that is not, should not be on the campground owner. But if they've built the trail and they have a small bridge over that trail, and they haven't maintained that bridge and you're on it and it collapses, in my opinion that's gross negligence. They have built something and they did not maintain it and because of that someone has gotten hurt. And again, remember Senator, there's also the definition of willful disregard as well as in here.

So I think that the addition of the word gross negligence is appropriate. I think it provides protections to the campground owners from really and quite frankly for the campers as well. Because again as I said, you're going into a facility that's been built, they haven't maintained it. You've got live electrical wires hanging from the ceiling, and they know that it's there and they haven't repaired it. They will be responsible for something like that as opposed to someone walking out and there's a rock and they stepped on a rock and their ankle twisted and they fell, and now they're suing the campground owner because the rock was there. I mean at some point we just have to say, we need to differentiate between these two and I think when we talk about gross negligence that's what we're doing.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: I respectfully disagree.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Senator.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, are you aware of any other class of New Hampshire business that's immune from liability for gross negligence?

SENATOR CARSON: I would have to say, as far as I know perhaps the ski areas, and I'd have to go ahead and I would have to re-read that statute. Because one of the things that I thought about doing was taking campgrounds and putting it into the immunity that we have for ski whatever they are, ski grounds, we'll say ski grounds. Ski areas. That that would work but it just didn't seem to mesh well together.

SENATOR SOUCY: It would seem to me that we are frequently talking about trying to create an equal playing field for business, and if we create this immunity for campgrounds, we're putting hotels and inns at a complete disadvantage. Would you believe?

SENATOR CARSON: Senator, I would respectfully disagree with you on that. I think someone who's camping and I learned about something that's called glamping, where it's glamorous camping where I guess it's kind of like a hotel room that's moved outside in a tent. They're very, very different. I mean one is in a physical structure, a building that's inspected. The other is you deciding one weekend I'm going camping, you've got your tent, you pack up all of your stuff in your car and you go off to go camping. So I think we're talking about apples and oranges.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I suppose I need to declare a conflict because I camp, I don't glamp, but I do go camping, I enjoy it and I want to go camping this summer including with my now seven month old daughter, and I have an interest in if I'm injured, or if she is injured, being able to have recourse in the courts based on negligence. That's what this is about. Hear a lot about frivolous lawsuits. This has nothing to do with frivolous lawsuits. The courts deal with that already. A lawsuit's going to be filed, a lawsuit's going to be filed. Getting rid of causes of action just impairs people's rights, that's it. That's what it does. And I'd read Part I Article 14 of the New Hampshire Constitution. Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy by having recourse through laws for all injuries, he may receive in his person, property or character to obtain right and justice freely without being obliged to purchase it completely and without denial promptly and without delay, comfortably according to laws. All injuries, whether they're consequence of negligent hiring, negligent supervision, negligence per se, which means violating a statute. Campground owners can get away with violating a statute and injuring people? No liability there? Quite frankly I think this is one of the worst bills that has been filed this session. I honestly believe that we are going down a bad path with this and we should vote this down. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. My good eloquent friend from District 15 makes a point about the constitution. But I'd like to remind all of you, ski areas have immunity. So we already have a class of people and that has been on the books for many years. Mister President, this bill protects campground owners from lawsuits. There are inherent dangers when you go camping, and people are usually aware of that. But people are filing lawsuits and quite frankly we heard from number of campground owners in Senate District 1, our good friend Senator Woodburn. They have a lot of campground owners and these folks are going to go out of business, because they can't afford the insurance anymore because of the types of lawsuits that are being filed. All they're asking is for some protection against frivolous lawsuits. That's all they're asking for. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Reagan, Birdsell, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Hennessey, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, D'Allesandro.

Roll Call, Yeas: 18 - Nays: 6. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SB 593-FN, relative to the penalty for capital murder.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-1. Senator Lasky for the committee.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 593-FN Ought to Pass. This bill changes the penalty for capital murder to life imprisonment without the possibility for parole, subsequently abolishing the death penalty here in New Hampshire. We here of course in this body are all extremely proud of our state. To live here is a blessing, and because of its amazing natural landscape, limitless opportunities, and largely for its deserved reputation of a population of fiercely independent and decent people, with a long tradition of respect for human rights.

This is an issue that is not new to most of us and certainly not new to this legislature. Once again, last week, the Senate Judiciary Committee held a hearing for Senate Bill 593 which would repeal the death penalty. As expected, the room was filled. During the hours of discussion, most of the testimony heard was in favor of repeal of the death penalty. People from across the state including former law enforcement officers, clergy of all faiths, and loved ones of murder victims all gave their thoughts and deep feelings. There was also testimony from one of many who have previously been wrongly convicted. One thing became evident; it's time for New Hampshire to join our five other New England states and every other civilized democracy in the world and outlaw this barbaric practice.

In reality there's no proof that this form of punishment acts as the deterrent that proponents claim it is. In fact the committee heard testimony that when examining similar neighboring states where one state has the death penalty and one does not, there is no significant difference in the murder rate these states experience. It's been shown that the death penalty does not protect public safety or work as a deterrent for future murders.

While our justice system I believe is the best in the world, it's certainly not infallible. People make mistakes. Since 1989, 354 people have been exonerated, and twenty of those were on death row, using DNA evidence, and still more were found to be innocent after they had already been put to death. How then can we, a civilized society, be comfortable making irreversible life and death decisions that are potentially wrong? State sponsored execution is not justice. We stoop to the level of the killer and it changes nothing.

The extinguishing of another life, no matter how repulsive or unworthy we deem them to be, does not ease the pain anyone feels over losing a loved one. All any grieving person, of course wants is their loved one back. Unfortunately we all know nothing can make that happen. Vengeance, revenge, is a raw human emotion. But in the end is it the most effective way to deal with violence in our society? We want justice, and of course we want punishment. I believe and so many others believe a lifetime in prison without parole means just that. There has not been one single case in our state where a person receiving that life sentence has ever been released.

Mister President, let our legacy in this chamber today be one of enlightenment, not death and darkness. Now is the time for New Hampshire to finally do the right thing by abolishing the death penalty. Now is the time for all of us to come together to support the Judiciary Committee's Ought to Pass recommendation for Senate Bill 593. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Top of the afternoon to you, Mister President. I rise on behalf of the Chiefs of Police in New Hampshire, on behalf of crime victims in opposing the repeal of the death penalty. Ninety-five percent of families in the United States who have lost a loved one to a death penalty eligible murderer, support the death penalty. Is there a problem with the death penalty in New Hampshire? I think that's what we should be asking. Under New Hampshire law the death penalty can be sought in cases involving the murder of a police officer, a judge, murder for hire, and/or murder connected to a drug deal, rape, kidnapping, and home invasion.

New Hampshire hasn't executed anyone since 1939. Nor sentenced anyone to death until Michael Addison killed Officer Michael Briggs in the line of duty, leaving behind a widow and two young boys. Clearly New Hampshire is very sparing in the use of the death penalty and its use has been very judicious. Ninety-two percent of all criminologists agree that the death penalty may deter some murders. I believe that having the death penalty on the books is a deterrent. Maybe one killer would be deterred and think twice before he or she commits a capital murder in any form. I believe that heinous killers have forfeited their lives and this calls for their death and the death penalty. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to speak against the Ought to Pass motion. My good friend from Senate District 23 took a lot of what I was going to say and I won't repeat it here. But I'd like to remind everyone of something. That when someone has been given life in prison as opposed to the death penalty, they get to see their families. Their children can come and visit them, they can watch their children grow, albeit from afar. The person that's in the grave doesn't have that. They've been taken away from their families. They will never get to see their children grow up. They will never see their parents again, they will never, ever enjoy what we all enjoy here today. It is fitting punishment to be considered for the death penalty and my good friend from District 23 is right. We haven't used it since 1939. We are very, very, very careful under the circumstances under which it is used. We just don't go executing people left and right. We are very careful.

Now the testimony that we had, we did have people that came in and talked about being wrongly accused and being on death row. But that wasn't New Hampshire. We don't do that here. We are very careful, and there have been instances where police officers have been murdered, and courses of sexual assault and rape, where people have not been given the death penalty because it wasn't appropriate. Our judicial system is very, very, very careful in using this. And quite frankly I was a little astounded at some of the testimony that basically accused our law enforcement of being corrupt and our judicial system being corrupt. That is not the case. This is New Hampshire and we don't operate that way. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise against the motion of Ought to Pass. I came to this legislature in 1973. In 1973 we debated the death penalty. I voted for the death penalty in 1973 because it was a very narrow death penalty and that remains today. It's a very narrow death penalty. We've only used it once since that time and it was in the Addison case. Your vote today would be a vote of conscience, I understand that, and everyone can defend their vote because of their feelings and how they've looked into it. Let me tell you why my vote is important to me and to my conscience and to where I'm going.

The murder that everybody's alluded to was in my district. Officer Briggs was in my district. Officer Briggs was a great guy. People loved Officer Briggs. When I see Officer Briggs' family, I see a disjointed family. Why is it disjointed? Because their father's gone. How'd the father go? He was killed. He was shot defending us. Now I talk about public service all the time. Police officers, firemen they defend us. I told you one time that I'm here because firemen risked their lives to save me from a burning home. Anyone who would take the life of another individual, police officer, firemen in the line of duty, deserves a punishment. We've said over and over again, is the death penalty something that's effective as a deterrent. Maybe it is, maybe it isn't.

I don't know if any of you have ready Caryl Chessman's book, Catch Me Before I Kill More. He was killed, he was given the death penalty in Utah. Some of you may remember Richard Nixon was in Venezuela at the time as Vice President of the country and they postponed the election. They postponed the execution because of the political ramifications that were taking place in South America. But the fact of the matter is this; Michael Briggs' children will never grow up with their father. I had Mrs. Briggs, his mother in class. Mrs. Briggs will never mature with her son. Now those of us that have children understand that. What in God's world would it be like to lose your child, or to lose your parent because of a heinous crime?

Officer Doherty, again shot seven times in my district. He got a life sentence. You know what that life sentence is? His body will never be the same. It'll never be the same. He took seven bullets. His body will never be the same. That man is going to suffer for the rest of his life defending us. Why? Because he took seven bullets on the West Side of Manchester, in my district. Officer Doherty, what's his life going to be like? What's it like for the rest of your life when your bladder begins to fail? When your internal organs begin to fail? Because of the fact that you took seven bullets.

We're all Christians, we all have strong beliefs, and as I said, this is all a matter of conscience. But indeed, if you have witnessed something like I have witnessed in my lifetime in my district I reaffirm my sentiment. And I've talked to many people about those who have been executed inappropriately. But I say this is not Mississippi, this is not Alabama, this is not the prejudiced situation that existed in the south for years and years and continues today. We're good thinking people. We believe strongly in justice, we believe strongly that justice should be administered properly, and evenly. As a result of that Mister President, I will support the death penalty and I will be in opposition to this piece of legislation.

And I'm not asking anyone to make a conscious decision that's opposed to what their gut beliefs are. What I'm asking each and every one of you to do is think about it. Put yourself in the position of losing someone via a murder or a criminal act, and how would you feel? How would you feel? I went to the Briggs wake, I saw the line, we, some of us in this room marched down Elm Street and went to Fisher Cat Stadium and sat there for the funeral, and me, the city of Manchester, you know, sort of wept in unison for the fact that we lost this wonderful young man. So I ask my colleagues, do what you think is the right thing to do. You know where I stand. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you. Everyone who has spoken so far, thank you for your very thought provoking comments on this and we all struggle with this but there are things that I think we need to consider that I haven't heard in the discussions with others. And I come from discussion from two different perspectives. The first one is who will protect those that protect us? What do we say to the men and women in blue, what do we say to the correction officers who we have charged, have to stand and protect us, from some of the most violent, heinous people on earth, who frankly, if this bill were to pass would have nothing to lose? What's to stop someone that's doing life from taking a shank and going after a corrections officer for it? What stops them from that is the potential for a higher penalty. The potential that if they actually take someone's life like a correction officers' life, there is a higher form of penalty that they would be subject to.

I think it's very important for us to recognize we have charged corrections officers, police officers with a responsibility to protect us from these bad people. And don't we have a responsibility to protect them in return. The other thing that I think about a lot when I think about the death penalty is a young family in Mont Vernon back in 2009, when a mother and her eleven-year old daughter home alone and their house got broken into. The mother hacked to death with a machete, the daughter hacked up and left for dead. Innocent woman, innocent child. I'm not sure this is something we should be condoning. Now in this case in the body, those of you who were here I think in 2011, we actually as a result of that murder made a minor expansion of the death penalty. Where if you hurt an innocent child or a woman with malice and intent, there should be an ultimate penalty for that.

Now at the same time, I've had a number of people call me up with a religious exemption, and try to say Andy, if you're a good Christian how can you support killing someone? And it's something that I wrestle with. But at the same token, we know both in the New Testament and the Old Testament and for the record our good friend from District number 12, he's not there right this second, speaks of the bible much more than I do, but it specifically talks in the bible about government's right to bear the sword. To reconcile those who have done heinous crimes like murder or rape. So for someone like me, I hear and see this ability and recognition that there needs to be some reckoning for bad things. But at the same token probably the most important thing to me is I'm someone, who most of you know, don't always trust my government. I am concerned about too much government power. Which is why in the state of New Hampshire, while we may pass a law and have a death penalty on the books, our government cannot put someone to death in this state. It is not the decision of our government to determine who can live and who can die. That's something that is reserved for the people of the state. That only the citizens of the state have that ability to determine death. And I believe that provides us a balance that our current death penalty is narrow, it protects those men and women in blue and correctional officers that we have charged to protect us. It recognizes if you're a woman or innocent child that you have some protections and that it's a decision made by the people of this state. So I'd recommend to the body that we do not pass a repeal of the death penalty because it's something we should consider. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. I rise in support of the death penalty, and I want to talk about one of our elected officials, and that is Representative Renny Cushing, who for years has been advocating for abolishing the death penalty in this state. And many of you may know, but not all of you know, that his father was murdered by the next door neighbor when Renny was a young man. So we talk about this issue of the victim and how the victim deserves to have retribution through the death penalty, and yet someone in our very own legislative family is arguing just the opposite. And I would side with him and say that life imprisonment is the way that we should deal with these heinous crimes.

There is another concern that we have in the way that our statutes currently exist and that we have placed the value of certain types of citizens above other types of citizens when we say that for instance our police officers, if someone is found guilty of murdering a police officer that they should be put to death. But what about the family who has lost a family member, but they don't fit into that hierarchy, but their emotional pain and their emotional loss is the same. We should be treating all of those crimes where murder has occurred in the same way, and that again is with life imprisonment.

We are the only Western country in the world that continues to keep in place the death penalty. It's not the value that I want to pass on to the next generation, to my children, to your children, to following generations. That the way that we deal with a heinous crime goes all the way back to the issue of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. But we don't accomplish anything in terms of moving our society forward into a more humane and forgiving entity if we continue to keep the death penalty in place, and say that the way that we should deal when a murder is committed, that we should allow the people of our country to respond by murdering another individual.

And while we acknowledge here in New Hampshire that we have used the death penalty incredibly sparsely, we do know that in other states across the country that people who have been on death row have been exonerated and the best way to ensure, even though we have a lot of trust in our state, we aren't infallible, and in order to ensure that that opportunity for mistake never occurs again, we can put in place life imprisonment. That means that we have the opportunity to reverse that decision if later on evidence should come forward that the individual is actually not guilty. If you put someone to death, you can't reverse that decision. So I don't say that to say that we would make that mistake here in New Hampshire, but again, you know, our system, our people are no less fallible than what we've seen across this country.

So I would ask you to stand up and support the concept of life imprisonment. Make sure that we have the right boundaries in place for that, that we treat all individuals who are accused and found guilty of murder the same, we don't set the loss of one individual's life and the value of that life against the loss of another individual and the value of that life. And so thank you very much, and I would urge you to move forward in supporting the abolishment of the death penalty for New Hampshire.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I'm very proud of this Senate, every time we debate this, the seriousness, the soberness, the concern and respect for each other this Senate has shown on this issue. I think it's something we can all be very proud. Each of us I'm sure has gone through a torturous path of coming to a decision on this and I just wanted to share mine.

When I first came, I didn't have a clear position or understanding of this and I felt obligated to go to the state prison in Berlin and talk to the correctional officers because they are the ones who put their lives on the line as well as our police officers and law enforcement officials. And having went up that evening before the vote, I did that night tour and having a conversation with one of COs who opposed, who supported, the death penalty. But the conclusion he said by the way could you help me out, I saved, I interrupted a suicide, I cut down an inmate who was trying to hang himself and I was supposed to get a pin or a badge or some kind of recognition and it hasn't come yet. And I just couldn't shake that. And as I drove home that night, I couldn't shake that we would give a pin, or give a medal, or some kind of a recognition to someone who saved a life yet the very next day he might take a person down and fill his or her veins full of poison and watch them die. And I've always been concerned if we're going to do this, we're probably not going to do it in Concord, we're going to do it in Berlin. We're not going to do this heinous state sponsored murder in Concord, we'll do it in a far off place, so it'll be my constituent that has to administer that.

So as I thought about that, I was introduced to a case in 1984, Joel Bill Caulk who was a thirty five year old inmate in the state prison here in Concord. And he had multiple convictions for rape, known as the Want Ad Rapist, who classified ads, people responded he would rape them. And he decided that he didn't want to live and he stopped eating. He fasted. And as he continued to do this and deteriorated, the state of New Hampshire stepped in and said you cannot do this. We own your body. You cannot stop eating. So they hooked him up and gave him nourishment, brought him back to life. And in the state of New Hampshire, in my view, that's how we responded to that situation. It left me with the feeling that we are essentially responsible, we're wardens of their bodies and we have a moral obligation and a personal obligation to be not in the business of killing people, not in the business of ending life in this circumstance and that we are far better with all the sympathy for anyone who's been harmed by anyone and particularly those heinous crimes that were discussed here today. Justice means behaving in a just and decent way and I think we have no choice in a society like ours to move in the direction of other places and end the death penalty. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. And I actually have now heard from others, much of what I wanted to say, so I thank you. When listening to the testimony in the committee, I was incredibly moved by what the large group had to say. And many of them, as has been said, were from religious groups, retired policemen, and others who I expected might be in favor of a death penalty but were not. I think it's extremely risky as a society for us to, and as a government, for us to make ethical decisions of this sort we are assuming how other families feel, we are assuming, you're assuming that I as a female feel like there should be a death penalty for somebody who kills me or my child. How are we putting values on these lives?

I'm devastated for the Briggs family. I'm devastated for anyone who meets with this kind of crime. More than one person dies, you know the families have different lives, I'm sure Mister Briggs' wife has died in some way as well. But we didn't hear one person say that taking the life of the person who killed them made them whole again. There is no way to make them whole again. In fact we heard from the representative whose brother-in-law I believe, and father were murdered, that it does not do that. That it does not make you whole, that instead you are often haunted by the repercussions of the consequences of putting somebody to death.

We teach our children, at least I hope we teach our children, that it doesn't make it better if somebody hits you to hit them back. We're just, if you hit your child, and I'm sure we differ on this too, but if you hit your child, you're teaching your child to hit. This is an extremely emotional and very personal issue and I don't fault anyone for voting the way they're voting but I also don't feel like we are in any position to decide how families become whole again, or whether they become whole again. And not only that, I don't think we're in any position to decide which is worse, being put to death or having a lifetime in prison without parole. The people who have lifetime in prison without parole are likely the ones who are trying to commit suicide because they'd rather die and not have to put up with this anymore, their punishment.

And we haven't even talk about the costs because I'm not even sure that they're completely relevant but the fact is it costs our government significantly more to have somebody on death row than it does to have them committed to life without parole. So I hope we can avoid value judgements about how others of us make these decisions and be careful not to assign certain values to one life over another. Because in my mind each one of our lives is exactly equal. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I'd like to applaud this body for a great debate that we've had today on the death penalty. This is not an easy issue for many of us. It is a vote of conscience and how you believe and I don't believe anybody is going to change anybody's mind here today. But I do believe in having a full vetting on this issue because it is going to change, it is going to change New Hampshire's law. And I'd like to thank the good Senator from District 21 with her discussion on Representative Cushing. I have respect for Representative Cushing because he's forgiven, and quite frankly Mister President, I don't think I could. And I don't know if anybody else in here could do the same thing if one of your loved ones was a victim of a heinous crime like his father was. But Mister President, this is not about forgiveness, this is about justice. And we need to think about justice when we talk about the death penalty.

I believe there had been a previous question about whether or not even our death penalty was constitutional, and I received a memorandum from our attorney general outlining the death penalty and he says that in the State v. Addison in 2013 our Supreme Court determined that the death penalty did not violate our constitution.

I'd also like to just have you think about something for a minute. Because we do for the first time in many years have an individual on death row. This person. During his trial, his attorney said yes, he killed Officer Briggs, there's no doubt about it. None whatsoever. And this person was given the death penalty, but by your vote today to repeal the death penalty, you are basically wiping that conviction out and you're converting the death penalty sentence to life in prison. How is that going to affect the Briggs family? I've spoken with Mrs. Briggs, and she struggles every day. It is a very difficult issue for her and she deserves our support and our respect for what she's going through.

But, and again Mister President, I'm referring to the memorandum that I received from the attorney general, and the question was can the General Court repeal the death penalty without disturbing death sentences that have already been imposed? And the short answer is probably not. He goes on to say that with the vote to repeal the death penalty it's really sent a signal that, and I would like to read, that society has determined the death penalty no longer comports with contemporary standards of decency, is no longer necessary and no longer serves any legitimate penological purpose i.e. that it constitutes cruel and unusual punishment and therefore that a complete and immediate prohibition against executions is required even if the repeal was prospective. So by voting today against the death penalty you are voting to commute the sentence of Michael Addison from the death penalty to life in prison. And I think that's something that everyone needs to consider very seriously. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Ward.)

SENATOR WARD: I just heard from my good Senator from 14. She mentioned the word forgiven. I feel compelled now to tell you I lost my father when I was eight. He was shot down. My mother was left with four kids, a fifth one on the way, and we talked about it many times afterwards, and she said God will take care of us. He will punish, I forgive the person. That's how I grew up. I never had any strong feelings about this person who took my father away from me. And listening to your comment here about the family was disrupted. I think my mother did very well. She raised five kids and I don't believe that I am terribly, I never felt myself being disadvantaged. If anything was, I grew up very fast and I'm probably a little bit more bossy than I need to be sometimes. But anyhow, this struck me, you can forgive somebody, she had, my mother had, an incredible faith and she trusted that whatever happened to us, she was in God's hands and he will take care of us and her. So I just wanted to thank you for mentioning the word forgiven.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Senator. Just ask a question regarding clarification. You made a statement that Michael Addison would be subject to life imprisonment, but yet I'm reading in here that section 1 of the act applies to persons convicted of capital murder on or after the effective date of this act which is January 1, 2019. So could you please explain how the death penalty would not apply to him but life imprisonment would?

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you. I'll try, because again I have the memo and I believe the last time we talked about the death penalty this was an issue that came up. It has to do, and I can't remember what the term was, equal protection, because now you have passed a law getting rid of the death penalty but now you have a person who's sitting on death row and you're going to treat that person differently from a law that's already on the books. And that creates a problem. And that is what the attorney general talked about in here. There have been two states, there are only two legislatures in two states, Connecticut and New Mexico, have expressly stated that in their complete repeals of the death penalties were prospective, meaning going forward. So anybody that was on death row they're going to stay there. And he says however the Connecticut Supreme Court has done so, holding that the Connecticut Constitution no longer permits the execution of individuals sentenced to death for crimes committed prior to the enactment of the prospective repeal. And he goes on to say that the way that it was framed to the court was whether the state's prospective repeal of its capital felony statutes rendered its continued imposition of the death penalty unconstitutionally excessive and disproportionate punishment and then he talks about the five different criteria that they looked at. So basically again, I'm repeating what I had said earlier that it's very difficult when you create a law going forward but you have someone here who was convicted under the old law which is now wiped out. So they're going to be, Mister Addison is going to be able to go to court and argue due process and unequal treatment and he will in all probability the court will convert his sentence to life in prison.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you for the clarification.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. This is the second time we filed this bill and I know that this is a matter of conscience. And I don't think we're going to change anybody's mind today, I'm sure of it. I'm convinced that we're doing the right thing. In recent history 4,000 cases of DNA were tampered with in our neighboring state. If any one of those were used in a death penalty, we'd have a big mistake on our hands. Can anyone in this room assure me 100 percent that that cannot happen here in New Hampshire, ever?

I looked at four exonerees and I interviewed them on my TV show. I looked at them in the eye and they were telling me about their cases, and being on death row for eleven years. The prosecuting attorney withheld exculpatory evidence. Can that happen in New Hampshire? Can anybody convince me that 100 percent of the times, it will never happen?

There are testimonies that I've heard of false confessions being pushed on witnesses. Well, you're going to get the death penalty if you don't confess to this or turn this person in. Those were used and false confessions produced a false answer and that absolutely it happened in this one case where DNA exonerated the person.

Human nature. We're dealing with human nature. We make mistakes, we make bad choices. The cost just in one case alone, if this Addison person were put in prison for the rest of his life, it'd be $1.3 million to the taxpayers. Now because of appeals it could potentially be 5 to $10 million, anywhere in between there. That in itself is an injustice to the taxpayers.

Some people don't believe in the death penalty because of religious reasons. That goes to the core of your belief. Some people don't have religious faith, but they believe that it's just wrong and that the government doesn't have the right to do this, to take a life and it's a slippery slope. I respect that as well. I, for a long time, since I was a child actually, since I was fifteen, believed in the death penalty. But I also believe that if we execute somebody, wrongfully, their blood is on our hands. And I don't think I want anybody's blood on my hands, when I have to meet my maker whom I believe in. I respect everybody's ability to disagree and I wanted to be brief. Just vote your conscience. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you Senator, for taking my question. You talked about being assured that mistakes were not going to be made. So I'm going to ask you a question; can you assure those of us that do not support the repeal of the death penalty that someone who should have gotten the death penalty but doesn't they get life in prison will not kill somebody in prison? Can you assure me that this person is not going to be erroneously let go? Because we know that prisons around the country have made mistakes, and they have let murderers, people who should not be out in the general public, they've let them go because they've made a mistake. Can you assure me that that will never happen?

SENATOR AVARD: No.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much.

Floor Amendment to SB 423

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 New Section; Protective Legislation; Noncompete Agreements for Low-Wage Employees. Amend RSA 275 by inserting after section 70 the following new section:

275:70-a Noncompete Agreements for Low-Wage Employees.

I. In this section:

(a) "Employer" shall have the same meaning as in RSA 279:1, X. "Employer" shall not include employees of governmental or quasi-governmental bodies.

(b) "Low-wage employee" means an employee who earns:

(1) An hourly rate equal to 200 percent of the federal minimum wage; or

(2) An hourly rate equal to 200 percent of the tipped minimum wage pursuant to RSA 279:21.

(c) "Noncompete agreement" means an agreement between an employer and a low-wage employee that restricts such low-wage employee from performing:

(1) Work for another employer for a specified period of time;

(2) Work in a specified geographical area; or

(3) Work for another employer that is similar to such low-wage employee's work for the employer who is a party to the agreement; and that is entered into after the effective date of this section.

II.(a) No employer shall require a low-wage employee to enter into a noncompete agreement.

(b) A noncompete agreement entered into between an employer and a low-wage employee shall be void and unenforceable.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President, and colleagues. I would like to take us all back a week ago to one of the happiest moments in recent Senate history, that I was speechless. I know it was appreciated but apparently what I had said before then and overturned the ITL motion was worth hearing and we came to the Floor Amendment at that time which had been incorrectly drawn. As a reminder, the Floor Amendment at the suggestion of members of the Commerce Committee, instead of pegging this at $15 an hour said let's do twice the tipped minimum wage which had not been included in the original bill which should have been and then say go 200 percent of the minimum wage so it's actually at 14.50 here. And you know as we discussed last time, we have approved several non-compete bills previously for people at the higher income levels and I noted that for people, who are just plain working people, who really do have a, just a fundamental constitutional right to their free labor, and to pursue the professions that they wish, that this bill, this amendment, this bill would say that yes, you are able to move from one sandwich shop or another or one job to another without being withheld the right to employment in the geographical area or in the same sandwich making operation or otherwise. I think it's an issue of fairness, I think it's an issue of free labor, conservative principles and being sure that people can get a job, support their family without being I think rather gratuitously prevented from doing so by non-compete agreements. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Reagan for a question of Senator Watters.)

SENATOR REAGAN: I'm curious as to how many instances you found of this occurring?

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you for your question, Senator. We know the Jimmy John's chain which is in this state, was the one which has had these non-compete agreements and was prosecuted for it in the state of New Hampshire. I have also heard that particularly in the title loan industry in our state that there are similar non-competes for minimum wage people. I think one of the issues of answering your question fully, is that I do think there are people feel intimidated or may not be familiar with what they are signing until they face the consequences.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis for a question of Senator Watters.)

SENATOR INNIS: Senator, you mentioned that we have non-compete for high wage employees and this would present a non-compete for low wage employees. What about the employees in the middle? Should we take care of them in the same way and if so why and if not, why not?

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you for your question, Senator. And we did discuss this in the committee hearing and you know it seems to me this is a larger issue and I personally would support non-competes throughout and I told the Senator from District 9, you know why I supported his bill previously, because I do think it's a bad idea. I think the argument is made pretty clearly for these low wage earners; that they do not have trade secrets, not necessarily client lists and so forth. But I do understand the arguments were made about the trade secrets, about who spent a couple million dollars to set up a lab for somebody, and they're going to go across town to another university. You know I get those arguments, so I think that's a larger discussion. I do think that this is a step we can take now and I really would be supportive of working on a bill next year to address the other issues.

SB 553-FN, relative to mental health parity for workers' compensation. Interim Study, Vote 4-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. Senate Bill 553 establishes a workers' compensation claims for police officers, fire fighters and emergency medical providers for PTSD disorders and certain mental health conditions. Although we want to protect our first responders from any PTSD disorders derived from their jobs, this bill creates a presumption of liability and would add additional costs in workers' compensation premiums to cities and towns and a cost for mental health examinations which is the reason the committee believes that it should be studied further. I believe that one of my colleagues has a Floor Amendment to create a study commission on this issue and I ask the body to vote down the Interim Study motion so the Floor Amendment may be introduced. Thank you, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to SB 553-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a commission to study the incidence of post traumatic stress disorder in first responders and whether such disorder should be covered under workers' compensation.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Section; Commission to Study the Incidence of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder in First Responders and Whether Such Disorder Should be Covered Under Workers' Compensation. Amend RSA 281-A by inserting after section 17 the following new section:

281-A:17-a Commission Established.

I.(a) There is established a commission to study the incidence of post traumatic stress disorder in first responders and whether such disorder should be covered under workers' compensation. The members of the commission shall be as follows:

(1) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

(2) Three members of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(3) The labor commissioner, or designee.

(4) The commissioner of safety, or designee.

(5) The insurance commissioner, or designee.

(6) A representative of the New Hampshire Municipal Association, appointed by the association.

(7) A representative of the New Hampshire Association of Counties appointed by the association.

(8) A representative of the National Alliance on Mental Illness New Hampshire, appointed by the alliance.

(9) A fire chief, appointed by the New Hampshire Association of Fire Chiefs.

(10) One member appointed by the New Hampshire Association of Chiefs of Police.

(11) One member appointed by the New Hampshire Police Association.

(12) A representative of the Professional Firefighters of New Hampshire, appointed by that organization.

(13) A representative of the New Hampshire Association of Emergency Medical Technicians, appointed by the association.

(14) A representative of the New Hampshire Ambulance Association, appointed by the association.

(15) A representative of the New Hampshire Public Risk Management Exchange, appointed by that organization.

(16) The adjutant general, or designee.

(17) An attorney, appointed by the New Hampshire Association of Justice.

(18) An attorney practicing in the field of workers' compensation defense, appointed by the governor.

(b) Legislative members of the commission shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the commission.

II.(a) The commissions shall study:

(1) The prevalence of post traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) among first responders.

(2) The prevalence of PTSD, or factors contributing to PTSD, among first responders at the time of hiring.

(3) The extent to which first responders' employment benefits provide health insurance coverage for treatment of PTSD.

(4) The degree to which employers who hire first responders are capable of reassigning affected workers to less stressful positions that would allow employees to continue working while receiving mental health treatment.

(5) The degree to which employers currently provide peer-to-peer counseling programs for first responders, the effectiveness of such programs, and the degree to which such programs should be expanded.

(6) The degree to which workplace culture prevents first responders from seeking assistance for mental health issues that may be caused or exacerbated by workplace stress.

(7) The extent to which prior military service may contribute to the rate of PTSD among first responders.

(8) The difficulty first responders currently have establishing that a PTSD diagnosis is causally related to employment.

(9) The difficulty employers would have establishing that a pre-employment condition or experience caused PTSD, rather than a first responders' current employment.

(10) The cost that creating a rebuttal presumption that PTSD was caused uncured during service in the line of duty would impose on public employers, private employers, and taxpayers.

(11) Other issues the commission deems relevant to its study.

(b) The commission may solicit input from any person or entity the commission deems relevant to its study.

III. The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the commission shall be called by the senate member. The first meeting of the commission shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Ten members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

IV. On or before November 1, 2018, the commission shall submit a report of its findings and any recommendations for proposed legislation to the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives, the senate clerk, the house clerk, the governor, and the state library.

2 Repeal. RSA 281-A:17-a, relative to a commission to study the incidence of post traumatic stress disorder in first responders and whether such disorder should be covered under workers' compensation, is repealed.

3 Effective Date.

I. Section 2 of this act shall take effect November 1, 2018.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a commission to study the incidence of post traumatic stress disorder in first responders and whether such disorder should be covered under workers' compensation.

SENATOR BRADLEY: I'm like my friend from Dover, speechless. Let me first start out by thanking the members of the Commerce Committee and in particular the Chair of the Commerce Committee for working with me on this amendment and also thank the prime sponsor of the bill, our friend from Hanover. Several of us also co-sponsored this bill. I think it goes without saying that ensuring that police officers, fire fighters, EMTs and others in the first responder realm, when they have PTSD or the potential of mental health issues that we need to consider that in terms of workers' compensation. At the same time I think there's a recognition of a potential cost, and so I worked with our friend from Manchester as well as our friend from New Castle on this amendment which creates a balanced commission that will thoroughly examine the issue, and will look at not only whether PTSD should be treated in the way the workers' compensation treats but also how to re-assign effective workers back into the workplace. So I think it's a balanced amendment in terms of who the members are, and what their scope of looking at it is. We ask for a report by November 1, 2018 so that we can consider the merits of this in the next legislature. So thank you, Mister President. I hope that everybody can support this Floor Amendment.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

EDUCATION

SB 525-FN, prohibiting the distribution of higher education and adult education financial assistance to any student who is not a legal resident. Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Watters for the committee.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I want to start by declaring that I have a potential conflict of interest in that I am a board member of the Dover Adult Learning Center, but the Dover Adult Learning Center would be affected no differently than any other adult learning center under this bill so I choose to participate.

Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 525-FN Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill would prohibit the University System and Community College System from distributing state funded financial assistance to any student who is not a legal resident of the United States. The bill would also limit the availability of adult education programs funded by state or local sources to legal residents of the state of New Hampshire. This legislation fails to recognize lawful, non-citizens such as green card holders and asylum seekers, who must wait a certain period of time in order to gain legal resident status. The committee believes it is unfair and unnecessary to deprive these adults of educational services while they seek to achieve legal resident status. Further, it is illegal to ask adult education students for their social security number, so there is no method for determining legal resident status. Therefore the majority of the Education Committee asks for your support in the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate on Senate Bill 525. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I feel I must make a declaration. I am employed by the Community College System and I will be participating.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: I rise and ask the body to vote to overturn the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate so I may be able to introduce an amendment to clarify some of the challenges with the bill that was introduced. So again, I'd ask the body to overturn the ITL so I can introduce an amendment for clarification. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I thought I would take just a moment to further explain some of the points that were made previously in my introduction of the bill. And I do understand that there is a desire by the sponsor perhaps to limit this bill to part 3, not the community college and the university system, but only to adult education. But what I'm going to say now will be focused primarily on what the effects on adult education, but I think that some of the main points I make also apply to the bill in its entirety, the community college, the university system in New Hampshire and I think that we really should just vote ITL on this. And let me explain why.

First, you know whatever you may feel about the underlying issue here, about whether certain folks ought to be able to take, you know to get an education, learn English or get work for the government. Whatever you feel about the issue, there are problems with the bill. They start with the concept of legal resident. Legal resident is not defined in federal statute or in state statute. So we have a problem there.

From Catholic Charities we heard that if this implies legal permanent resident, then we immediately run into problems in terms of green card holders. Because they are not legal permanent residents, they are green card holders. And if they are green card holders who are prohibited by this legislation, that immediately violates the equal protection clause of the constitution under the ruling of Graham v Richardson in 1971. And you know really, read the committee report. These things are laid out there. But let's consider who is on this pathway to legal permanent residence. And particularly these are refugees and are asylum seekers. Now what do they have to do, you know if you're a refugee asylum seeker, you got to come, you got to wait six months before even applying for a green card to make sure you haven't done any violations in that period of time. And then when you get the green card, you know it might be one to six years before you're able to get that status and then you have to go through citizenship.

Now, who are these folks? I mean from my community I have many, many Nepalese, they were put, ethnic cleansed out of Bhutan, they were in camps in the Himalayas for almost twenty years and a lot of them got their refugee status, finally came here and they particularly wanted to go into the Health and Human services because they said people took care of us, they remembered that Americans had donated money, take care of them in camps so when they got here, they wanted to give back. And a lot of them are home health care aides in my area. But how did they get to be that, well they went to Dover Learning Center, they went to Community College, they got the credentials they need.

Or think of the refugees who came out of Yugoslavia, when that broke up in those brutal wars there or think back a little, it farther, Jews from the former Soviet Republics who came here as refugees and asylum seekers. And by the way, if they're going to get their citizenship, they've got to learn English. And where are they going to go to learn English, but adult learning centers. They need those language classes. Also let's note that it's through the adult learning centers that we do the YLO programs for workforce training. And you know these people are on the pathway to legal residence and the citizenship and they want be able to get a job and become productive members of it.

There's also as I mentioned before, a great problem of enforceability here. Who can we ask what their documented status is? We have a lot of laws throughout our statutes saying we cannot ask people for their social security numbers, right? There's privacy concerns and in particular this bill under the section on adult learning amends RSA 186:63 which is in the high school education area. Now many adult learning centers do high school education. They do the ISAT and this and that and the other alternative programs as well, and you know you talk to DOE and you look at our state statute and it's illegal to ask that high school student for their social security number. And there are many statutes to prohibit us from doing that. So again, whatever you think of the issue this bill is just impossible to enforce and to implement for the reasons I've outlined. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to give some rebuttal to my friend from Dover, and I'd like to remind the body that this is a bill that does not talk about refugees, does not talk about people with green cards, because those people are legally allowed to be in America. And when we talk about whether or not someone is a legal permanent resident, again, you'll see in legislation there is no word permanent because it is not considering permanent versus non-permanent residents. So I'd love the opportunity to introduce an amendment to have a more robust discussion about this, but I felt it was important that we talk about although with respect to my friend from Dover, this bill, if someone is legally allowed to be in America, which would include refugees, which would include green card owners, they are legally here so they'd be exempt from what this bill would do. So again I ask the body to vote down the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate to allow me to bring forth a clarifying amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I'm sorry that I have to rise again, but let me note that either here in this bill or as I understand in the amendment that term legal resident does not fly. It is not defined in the bill, I suspect it's not going to be defined elsewhere and why? Because we cannot define it in a way that accords with state statute and with federal law. Thank you, Mister President.

This bill limits the availability of adult education programs funded by state or local sources to legal residents of the state of New Hampshire.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, this bill originally came to me this past fall and although I can't use my electronic device to the level that I'd want to in the building, but if I could use my electronic device to the level that I want to in this room, I'd pull up and read to you an email from November 23rd, and an email from February 15th from Cheryl Keenan who's the director of adult education from the office of Career and Technical Education in Washington, D.C. at the Department of Education and Jeb Harris who is the attorney from an office called OGC, which I'm not even sure what it is but was referred to me again from the Department of Education at the federal level. And what they had indicated was the fact that we have an adult education program that was expanded under President Obama, and through no fault of anyone's the question was left open as to whether or not there was a prohibition on anyone getting adult workforce training programs, could receive these training programs for jobs, but the challenge is if you're not in this country legally you can't work. So are we spending money to train adults specifically for adult education job training programs to people who cannot actually legally have a job.

Now this is a program that is actually paid for 70/30. Seventy percent coming from the state of New Hampshire general funds, 30 percent coming from federal funds. So in the conversation that we have had with the Federal Department of Education as well as the New Hampshire Department of Education, who were both involved with the bill as it was introduced and the amendment, and I'll get to that legal resident thing in a second, it raises that question and it said specifically that the policy creators should consider and determine whether or not we should be providing workforce training, adult workforce training, for people who are not legally allowed to have a job. Now I would contend personally that although I believe in adult workforce training, we've talked regularly about whether or not we have fourteen or fifteen different programs in our state, and I'm sure that's a debate we'll have on another day again, that using taxpayer dollars to train people for jobs, this is a specific job training program, who can't legally work here, probably is not a good use of the taxpayer dollars.

Now that said, this program does not, does not prohibit anyone who is here as a refugee. Does not prohibit anyone who is here with a green card. Does not prohibit anyone who is here legally. Now there is some question about what the term legal resident is, and again this is language that was provided to me by the Federal Government and overseen by the New Hampshire Department of Education. And I'm assuming when we start talking about how to determine whether or not someone is a legal resident here, that we'll be seeing that through the rules process like we always do in these bills, although I would say, I find it unique to hear from my good friend from Dover that people are not required to show their social security card but many people in this room actually voted for Real ID last year, which required I had to bring my social security card. So I would love to have that conversation on the other bill, Senator Watters because I agree with you in the sense that I don't believe people should be compelled to show their social security card.

So in conclusion, I'm asking the body for support on a very narrow simple question. Should we use New Hampshire taxpayer dollars and federal taxpayer dollars specifically for job training programs for adults for people who are not legally allowed to be here? If you are legally allowed to be here, the program still exists. We're spending $4 million a year in this state on this program. We're doing a fair amount of job education. This would just say if you're not legally allowed to work here, should you still get the job training program. I would submit to you that you should not. So I'd ask the body to support passage of the amendment and final passage of the bill.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the bill, the amendment, this idea. Why did we have a hearing? Eighty-eight people signed in for this hearing. Three people signed in in favor, the remainder, eighty-five signed in in opposition. What was the testimony that we had? There is confusion over the term legal resident. We got the testimony from the Department of Education, state Department of Education, we received it from three adult learning center directors, from Catholic Charities and from others who were testifying. Nobody's collecting the information on legal residency, in fact there's a fiscal note that says it's indeterminable but because nobody collects it at the Department of Education, this kind of thing is going to add some costs to the state.

Who does this legislation target? We've already heard from my colleague from District 4 who sat in the same hearing I did, there is the confusion about those who are here with green cards, those who are here seeking asylum, who might be here for six years doing so. But I think we also need to call out that this seems like a bill that is aimed very much at the national debate about the deferred action for foreign arrivals, the DACAs. Because if my colleague from Senate District 9 is saying that everybody knows that if you're here with a green card or seeking asylum, that you've got access to citizenship which is undefined by this bill and people in the field say that it's undefined, then who's left, but those that were having a national debate about DACAs, deferred action on children arrivals.

Next point. It's not because of cost and it's not because of lack of definition. What are these educational programs? Because that was also testimony that we received. You can't separate the educational programs. Are they workforce related? Are they literacy related? Are they language courses? An obvious need for citizenship. I don't know where we're going to be limiting educational programs which, adult education is a very broad term. It doesn't limit itself to any one of those three areas. People in the field are confused where this arrow is supposed to land. So, I just feel this is not a good step for our state, it's not a good sign of where we are as a legislature. I would ask that this body vote down this amendment and return to this basic bill and defeat it as was recommended unanimously by the Education Committee. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR FELTES: Senator, thank you for taking my question. It's probably the reason why the unanimous vote coming out of Education Committee of ITL, was that because of the murkiness of the term legal resident?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes. And because of the murkiness of the term adult education. Adult education covers all three areas language, literacy and workforce training.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. So if there was a very broad reading of the term legal resident, people who are here legally who are seeking programs to speak English, to get into jobs that could be potentially prohibited from participating in these programs?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I'm reading in the hearing notes that it says here there are many people who have a legal right to be in the state or country who are documented but are not yet a legal permanent resident. If we were to pass this amendment, it would make it impossible for those people who are allowed to be here but are not defined or given the status of legal resident to participate, is that correct?

SENATOR KAHN: It is correct. There is no definition for legal resident. It doesn't confuse it with other people who are here legally and permitted to be here.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. With all due respect to my colleague from District 9, let me note that there's a slipperiness between saying here legally and the term that is actually in the bill, legal resident. Legal resident has no status as a definition and any construction of it that would exclude people who are here with green cards, or on the pathway to citizenship as refugees, would be illegal under the case that I cited. We're in the business of making sure we pass laws that are written in such a way that they can be interpreted, they can be enforced, let alone whether it's a good idea or not. Sometimes I'm on the one side of that, sometimes I'm on another. But make no mistake that term legal resident is not supported federally, it is not supported in state statute. And as a previous member of JLCAR, I don't know how JLCAR is supposed to come up with rules defining legal resident when there's no guidance from the legislature as to what the heck that means.

And let me correct another misstatement that has been made about this. Okay this is amending chapter 186:63. Now let's look at those chapters; chapter 186:61 is the establishment of adult high school education programs. Here the State Board of Education shall establish and promote educational programs for adults to earn a high school diploma or equivalent. You go to 186:62 and it says these are the workforce kind of development programs that adult education can offer and can receive grants and funding to do from the Federal Government, from state or from local school boards. Then you go to 186:63. And it says in this section, all monies shall be raised and granted from grants, state and local sources. So 163 refers back to the high school degree programs. It refers to the YLO programs and the workforce programs, and those funds come from all over the place. Businesses give funds to locals, they have contracts with adult education centers. Because they want training for folks. So let's be clear about this, this bill as written cannot be enforced and would prevent people from, who are on the pathway to citizenship, or have a green card, from getting a high school diploma, from learning English or getting workforce training. So again, put aside what you think about DACA or about you know who's here or who shouldn't be here. This bill doesn't work. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President, and again my apologies. I'm not looking to overly correct my friend from Dover but he does refer to section 183:63. But the paragraph actually starts specifically by saying adult education. Funding of education programs. This is about adult education, Mister President. And again in the subset from the feds and from the state about job workforce job training programs. This is specifically all this is about. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. There is a huge issue at stake here. It's very simply put. We are either a nation of laws or we are not. We are either a state of laws or we are not. I was one of the folks that voted for the ITL. I'm reversing my vote because in research that I've done subsequent some of the information presented there was actually not accurate. Without exception every single entity or person that testified at that bill had a vested financial interest in maintaining the status quo. That should tell you something. All legal residents of the country have a government issued form of identification. It is not a social security number. At present time we are rewarding people who have cheated the system and in so doing de facto penalizing those who wait outside the gates to lawfully enter the country and get access to programs we implemented with the best of intentions, lawfully for those who comply and live by the law, not to reward those who scoff it. With respect to mixing funds, this is not about where the funds come from, it's about where the funds go to. And within the Department of Education they have the ability to determine who is legal, who is not and which programs those people can qualify for so they can segregate them from English as a second language or learning to run a drill press. It makes no sense whatsoever to spend millions of dollars on programs to educate illegals when by law they're not allowed to have a job. Common sense would tell us, this is a good bill. It's very narrow, it's very targeted. It allows us to exercise and express our support and belief that we are a nation of laws and a state of laws, and not selectively. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for taking my question. What is your definition of legal resident in the bill?

SENATOR GIUDA: I will leave that to those smarter than I to figure out. I would offer that someone who is a legal resident is someone that has a valid form of identification identifying them as such.

SENATOR FELTES: What would be in your opinion a valid form of identification that would qualify as being evidence of a legal resident?

SENATOR GIUDA: A government issued form of identification, okay? Generally federally because immigration is a federal purview. So in the absence of that, if I don't have that, I'm not able to get a job. Why would I spend money to train a person that doesn't have the requirements to get the job?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. We are a nation of laws but we're also a nation that welcomes people into this country. We resettle refugees, we give them a path for citizenship. That path includes education. We have adult education programs in Manchester, the Nepalese, the Bosnians all of these people have come here and we give them a path to citizenship. Why would we deny them this? Why would we deny them the ability to move forward? What the Hell is this? You know when are we going to wake up and smell the coffee? My parents had the benefit of two immigrants who came here, who learned English. That was many years ago. Today we're welcoming people here, we're providing an opportunity for them. They're good workers. They enter the workforce and they're very productive. Why should we curtail this? Why should we put limitations on this? They pay their taxes, they become productive members of the society. I don't understand why this is going on. What the heck are we doing here, at 4:00 in the afternoon? Curtailing the ability of an individual to move forward in this society. Come on. Let's wake up. Let's move forward. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. Your parents or your parents' parents and mine legally immigrated to this country through Ellis Island. They took their turn, I have the documents to prove it as I'm sure you do. They didn't come across a border, and everyone that you're talking about is not excluded by this program. They have documentation that shows they're here legally. That's how the country's supposed to work. The absence of that documentation and the influx of illegals continues not only to plague but to endanger the nation, its finances, its health, all of those things. That's why we have legal immigration and checks and balances so that we don't bring in people with tuberculosis, which is exploding in our population. We don't bring in criminals because we try to find them. The immigration process needs to be enforced and to the degree that it is, we are compelled by our oath to support the constitution, to support the laws that exude from that constitution, okay? To imply that these people are here legally as your grandparents and mine came, is not correct. We are a nation of laws. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, I'd like to rise in response to my colleague from District 20. As the sponsor of the amendment, as the sponsor of the bill originally, let me be clear for legislative intent. So there is no question. If someone is a refugee that has come here legally and knowingly by our government, if someone is here with a green card which is applied and is here legally and knowingly by our government, they should not be denied, and I would not support them being denied education. We have to remember that under the Obama administration, across America, increased penalties for any employer who hired, or was found to have hired, those not legally able to work, to be working. That administration itself across America made sure that any employer that had hired someone who is here illegally should not work, could not work and penalized the business community for hiring anyone that did. All this says, again get back to the premise. If you are not here legally, you shouldn't not be spending money to train you for a job of which you're not legally allowed to have. If you are here under a green card, if you are a refugee, if you have come to this process legally, everything still applies, everything is still available. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I do wonder if that was the intent of the legislation, why the kind of reckless term legal resident was used. We have a federal term, legal permanent resident, there's your green card holders, the people on a pathway to citizenship. The choice was made not to use that language, not only at the time the bill was introduced and the time since its introduction and work in Education when the issues came forward, to the time we had it in the calendar a week or so ago and then to the time of this amendment. So I don't trust the fact that this, what we may pass and this language here would be construed the way that the Senator from District 9 wants it to. Also, let me say for enforcement. We had referenced the Department of Education. So what we're imagining here is the Department of Education is what we're going to authorize a police force so they can go out to the adult education centers in all of your districts and they're going to grab people out English class and say let me see your ID. Or is it going to be that the directors of those centers would so carelessly select somebody coming in to learn English or take a YLO program or to finish their high set and get their high school degree, that they're going to be taken and put into jail. Well there's no penalties here so I guess, you know maybe we aren't a nation of laws after all. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to this Floor Amendment and in support of the great work that a number of places are doing in the state of New Hampshire to help people become productive Granite Staters and American citizens, including Second Start right here in Concord. And this is, I'm holding up letters from students at Second Start. I don't know how many are here, a lot, but let me read a couple of them for you.

> This is from Babita Magar. Dear Senator Dan Feltes, I am a student at Second Start in Concord. I am learning more about English grammar as well as reading and writing in English. I have lived in New Hampshire for one and a half years. I come from Nepal. Currently I work at DS Cole Growers as a production employee. Going to Second Start as helped me improve my reading and writing skills. In the future I hope Second Start keeps helping me to learn English. I want to be a good English speaker and get a good job. Sincerely, Babita.
> This one's from Babitra Kavadar. I am a student at Second Start in Concord. I am learning more about how to read and write English. I have lived in New Hampshire for four years. I come from Bhutan. I am so happy now to learn in America, because I want to get a good job. Going to school will help me reach my goals. Please support adult education funds. It's so important to the state of New Hampshire. Thank you so much.

Dear Senator Feltes, I'm a student at Second Start in Concord. I'm learning basic skills and I'm learning English. I've lived in New Hampshire for one year. I come from Sudan. Currently I'm a full-time student. Going to Second Start has helped me a lot improve my English. In the future I hope to become an engineer in America.

There's like fifty, sixty letters. These are people who could potentially be roped up in your definition of legal resident. We hear the derogatory phrase uttered sometimes in our society, 'learn English.' These folks are learning English. They're working to become productive, and we're going to cut them off at the legs? That's not appropriate, Mister President. This is about, I agree with the Senator from District 2 that it's about America. It's about the American Dream for these folks and their opportunity to live it out. And we're going to pass this and rope them all into it, and say you know what; you don't have opportunity. All of these letters, all of these folks, potentially implicated. Let's vote this down, let's move on and let's move on to some of the concrete issues that are not so politicized. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President, members of the Senate. Respect to my colleague from District 4. We're not going to be rounding people up and putting them in jail. This bill has nothing to do with that. This is hyperbole, it is fear-mongering, it is unacceptable in this body. This is a deadly serious issue. The application process, a person would probably be able to show a government, a Federal Government ID of some sort. And if they are not then they are not admitted to the program. As far as Senator from District 15; how many of those people have legitimate government IDs from the Federal Government? Do you know? I would venture not. If they don't, they're not being cut out from English. They're being segregated from job training programs. English is not part of that, it is part of literacy. Totally different category, totally segregatable, totally protected by the intent of this legislation. Nobody's going to jail, nobody's getting rounded up. We are protecting the American way which is the nation that lives by law and the state that does the same. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Watters.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I'm again looking at the actual legislation in the original bill, and it says here that this legislation will prohibit the disbursement of state funds to students who are not legal residents. And that no institution of the university system shall distribute state funded financial assistance to any student who's failed to demonstrate legal residency in the United States. It goes on to say that this is equally true for our community college systems as well and for our adult education programs. So while I'm hearing that this separates out work training programs from other type of educational opportunities, there's nothing that I understand in the legislation that does that.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you for your question, I'll answer in a couple parts. First let me note that we're now on an amendment which just deals with the adult learning center, but the issue is kind of the same in that first we have, we actually prohibited by state law from asking people for documentation identification and even if someone had a so-called federal identification paper, if that's a green card, this bill as written would unconstitutionally prohibit those folks from getting these adult services. And lastly I'll say the bill, the amendment is just plain mis-drafted. Because if it wants to do what it's doing, it's amending the wrong section of law. Maybe if it amended 186:62 which are more particular work programs, but by doing 186:63, that is a catch-all that goes back into the language programs, the high school education. It's just plain drafted wrong. If it were drafted right, I'd argue against that too, but right here with this amendment, it unfortunately is not just work programs, it's adult education centers, it's all their high school programs, it's all their language programs.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: We heard from the Senator in District 2 that we wouldn't be rounding up individuals in relationship to this statute. But could you speak to your experience with our Indonesian population on the Seacoast and what has been happening there? Thank you.

SENATOR WATTERS: Well thank you for the question, and you know I think we all know, I've been at the ICE headquarters in Manchester and our modern day trail of tears where families are being brought forward and potentially separated out, the children are here as they're born here, they're residents and the parents are applying for refugee status so they would not be legal residents under this. But in talking to Dover adult education center directors, they say that the Department of Education has informed them it is illegal for them to ask for the social security number or for identification. It's illegal for them to do it so you have to break the law to follow the law. Because there's no procedure in this bill as to how it's enforced, or how one determines someone is this mythical legal resident category. So really though, you would get down to the point where someone would have to come in and actually inspect an English language class and ask the people whether they were here appropriately, because how else are you going to know whether the funds are being expended appropriately or not and if the Department of Education says to the director of adult learning center that well, you know we're going to ask you to break the law and ask people for identifications, and we'll give you the money if you agree to do that, well they can either agree to break one law or they can say okay and then when they get into their class, how are they going to know who's there and then it's the Department of Education what consequences would there be, would those monies be withdrawn, will the center be fined, will the director be found in violation of a law? I mean there are no penalties here, I mean would it be a misdemeanor? So anyways, quite a rabbit hole.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you.

SENATOR AVARD: Mister President, I move the question.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Several people want to move the question, Senator Birdsell started. Without objection there's two speakers left, one on each side I believe. Senator Kahn then Senator Daniels and then we'll call the question.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to very simply try to summarize this, we can't define it, there are only two terms in this bill, we can't define either of them, we can't collect it, we don't have any kind of collection happening currently. That's the testimony of the Department of Education. And finally we can't separate it, we can't take section 186, the adult education act and we can't separate what literacy workforce and language training are. They are all part, you can parse it out, you can try and say there's an arrow here but they are all part of this current RSA 186. And finally I think this is an anti-workforce kind of move in a district that's got a 2 percent unemployment rate that lost 2,000 jobs in this last year. You know there are people that want to qualify themselves for work and we're going to try to prohibit it somehow through terms that we can't define. I still believe that this is not what this legislative body should value. I think we need to defeat this amendment and move on to the main motion which is ITL. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Bradley presiding.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: I was just going to move the question.

PRESIDING OFFICER SENATOR BRADLEY: The question has been moved. There are no further speakers.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Watters, seconded by Senator Giuda.

JUDICIARY
SB 499, relative to the applicability of certain DWI prohibitions. Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 4-1. Senator French for the committee.

Senate Judiciary
March 6, 2018
2018-0957s
03/06

Amendment to SB 499

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 New Paragraph; Alcohol or Drug Impairment; Definitions. Amend RSA 265-A:1 by inserting after paragraph V the following new paragraph:

VI. "Drive or attempt to drive" shall not include sleeping, resting, or sheltering in place by a person in a passenger automobile parked in any place where parking is permitted, or any action or activity with respect to a passenger automobile by a person who is outside of the automobile.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 499 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill clarifies the meaning of attempt to drive or to drive in certain DWI prohibitions. In many areas of New Hampshire there are few to no options for safe transportation home after consuming alcohol. And current statutes prohibit a citizen under the influence from even walking towards their car, let alone resting in it until someone is able to pick them up, or they are able to drive home safely. Under this bill, citizens who are under the influence would be able to safely sleep, rest or shelter in the vehicle that is parked in any place where parking is permitted and wait until they are safe to drive or can arrange a ride. The language of the bill would not allow an individual to park in any place where it is not permitted, such as the side of the highway or passed out at a stop sign. More than allowing individuals to rest until they are safe to drive with the passage of this bill, a young woman who is waiting for a ride home after consuming alcohol would be able to safely wait in her car, instead of having to wait outside of it in a potentially unsafe location. Ultimately, the committee believes this will help New Hampshire citizens stay safe and make safer decisions. Therefore, the majority of the Judiciary Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on Senate Bill 499. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President and colleagues. I certainly appreciate the intent here of improving safety and so forth, and I just wanted to mention a couple of concerns I have. You know we often have these kinds of bills related to DWIs and so on also in Transportation but here it was in Judiciary so maybe a different perspective gets taken. I just want to reference what happened in Rollinsford a couple of years ago. A guy was drinking at the Legion, he had given his keys to the bartender, but he got really, really drunk and he grabbed the keys and he ran towards his car. As soon as he grabbed the keys they called the police. The police arrived there just a little too late. He had gotten in the car and driven off and he hits a honeymoon couple on Route 4 and killed them. I do believe that had the police officer arrived prior to his getting in the car and saw him drunk when he was running across the, towards his car with the keys he would have been able to stop him but you know once somebody's in the car, it's suddenly a deadly weapon in these cases. And then secondly on the other point about being able to be at the side of the road and so on, well a whole lot of roadways you can park on the side of. Like, I mean a whole lot, you know in urban areas and so on, you can park on the side of the road. So what I'm wondering is if somebody is you know, skunk dead drunk, right, but they just happen to see that there's a police car coming the other way before the police car sees them weaving, and they get over to the side of the road and the police officer goes and asks them to roll down the window and the smell of alcohol and the person is clearly impaired. Under current statute they can take that as you know, prima facie evidence that the car didn't drop out of the sky by magic, you know somebody drove it there. But under this bill, the person who just happened to get the key turned off on the side of the road before the cop came over and stopped him. They're fine and then the cop eventually has to pull off or go to somewhere else, another call and then vroom, off he goes so I'm concerned about that. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. And I'm just I'm rising to talk about a personal story as well and that is that my son was twenty-two I think, and he was at bachelor party of sorts in a bar. And he had driven the group there and he ended up having one or two drinks apparently, but so he didn't feel he should drive home. So he was walking out to the parking lot to put his things in his car so that they could leave them there and take a taxi home, and he was arrested for DWI, as he was doing the right thing. And this is the kind of story that I think has led to the vote that we had in committee about this bill. And I could go on with more stories, but just in general we want people to make the right decision, we want people to get to their car and say, wait a minute, I'm not ready to drive and lock their doors and sit there and sleep there or do whatever they need to do so they're not on the road. Now I'm sure there could be incidents when somebody grabs the key and runs out and gets their car, and it's tragic, there's no question about it. But I think it's more likely that we are going to be convincing people to make the right move. I also had a daughter who was at a party she shouldn't have been at with a bunch of friends, I'm sure none of your kids have ever done anything like that. And, I have delinquent children. And so she was at a party in high school. They were not old enough to be drinking but the parents weren't home and there was a party. I don't even know if she had been drinking or not but the kids all found out the police were coming and they were scattering in different ways. My daughter went to her car and just sat there. And the police said, you have to drive home. You can't leave your car here. Well, you know that kind of thing you're encouraging somebody to, if she had been drinking, to drive home drunk. Let's make it clear what the rules are, let's make it clear so that if I'm uncomfortable coming out of a bar and I don't feel I'm in a safe neighborhood in order to stand on the sidewalk waiting for an Uber that I can get in my car and lock the door. You know, I think this is a very sensible legislation. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. The New Hampshire Police Association and I are against this bill. Drunk drivers kill 10,625 innocent souls a year. We don't think this bill will lower that rate. The good Senator from District 7, love you, Frenchie, really do. And I wanted to give you this one, but I thought about it, we talked about it at the Gannon dinner table and it didn't float. I want the same thing as you do, I know we both don't want drunk drivers out there, and we just having a different way of getting there. But you're also thinking of one thing I'm not. I'm thinking of the families, you're also thinking of the impaired driver, and that's not coming into my thought process. I think by doing, trying to do both things you're thinking of the impaired driver on an equal basis to the families that could get hit. And again, I only have one goal. I want to send a clear message to anyone who had too much to drink; avoid getting in the car, call a taxi, call Uber, call the Senator from District 20 if you know him well, he'll come get you. Call a friend. If you had the bad judgement, you'd come get me Lou, I know you would. If you had the bad judgement when you were sober of getting drunk, you knew you had to go drive but you had too many. Do we now trust you when you're hammered to get in a vehicle and what, you're going to know when you've sobered up enough? Is an hour, two, four hours? Let's walk through this I've done with you French a bunch of times. You open the door, we've talked about this, they're going to sit in the driver's seat. Just human nature that's probably where they're going to go. It's pretty cold out there the last few weeks, you've talked about it with me that they're going to turn on the car, because they're going to want to keep warm when they're passed out. So bad situation, bad situation for the police, bad situation all around. I don't trust that guy to decide when he's sober to go home. Let me tell you a little story, and it's very quick. It's a recent case, a real case, and officer who tapped on the window of an apparent drunk driver, and he decided, I don't know if he knew him or whatever he decided, I'm going to let him sleep it off. The drunk driver later drove the vehicle and got into a DUI car crash. Liability everywhere. God forbid it's a young family like the Senator from District 15. This bill is not going to make the roads safer. It should be voted down. I like the idea, I just don't think you got it across the end zone yet, French. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. And thank you to the good Senator from District 23. I too want to make the roads safer. I want these people to sit in their car and go to sleep. I don't want them driving home. My stepson home from Iraq, went to a party in Laconia at his boss's work. Drank a little too much. Got in his car. Went to sleep. What happened? Knock on the window. You're under arrest. Lost his license for six months. These are the things I want to stop. And with your help, we'll be able to do it. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Watters, seconded by Senator Avard.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Hennessey, Gray, French, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Watters, Ward, Kahn, Gannon.

Roll Call, Yeas: 20 - Nays: 4. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 287, establishing a committee to study decriminalizing sex work. Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-1. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 287 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill would establish a committee to study issues related to changing sex work laws in New Hampshire. The committee believes that the passage of this bill would be redundant due to the existence of the New Hampshire Human Trafficking Task Force, which recently received a three year grant and is currently working to bring together much of the information that this committee would cover. Furthermore, when this bill began in the House its charge was to study decriminalization of prostitution. Despite this bill being amended to study issues related to changing prostitution laws, there is still a concern regarding the message this could send if it were to pass. Ultimately, the majority of the committee feels that this bill would commence an unnecessary discussion on the decriminalization issues of prostitution and therefore should not be taken lightly. Due to these concerns, the majority of the Judiciary Committee asks for your support in the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 287. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I am the one who voted on the opposite side and it is not because I'm in favor of prostitution. It's not because I've ever been a prostitute. It's not because of any of those things, but it's because people who are doing sex work are being beaten up and they can't call the police. Because they'll be arrested. They are often people who were in sex trafficking and who now don't know how to make a living in another way and they can't get help. So if they want to leave prostitution and they're being threatened, their lives are being threatened and they're being sexually assaulted and physically assaulted, they can't get out. So I just think we need to study it. I'm not saying I want to decriminalize it. I want to study it and figure out how we can help people get out of prostitution, rather than just continuing to make it illegal. Thank you very much.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Fuller Clark, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Bradley, Watters, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Hennessey, Cavanaugh, Fuller Clark.

Roll Call, Yeas: 20 - Nays: 4. Adopted.

MOTION OF RECONSIDERATION

Senator Bradley, having voted on the prevailing side, moved to reconsider the following action taken by the body on HB 287, establishing a committee to study decriminalizing sex work. The vote on Inexpedient to Legislate. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Fuller Clark, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

Roll Call, Yeas: 21 - Nays: 3. Adopted.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM EARLY SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Early Session, that the business of the Late Session be in order at the present time, that all bills and resolutions ordered to Third Reading be, by this resolution, read a third time, all titles be the same as adopted, and that they be passed at the present time.

Adopted. Adjournment from the Early Session.

Adopted. Adjournment from the Late Session.

March 21, 2018

The Senate reconvened at 2:00 p.m., a quorum being present.

The Reverend Jon Hopkins, chaplain to the Senate, offered the following prayer:

This afternoon's prayer is actually adopted from a proclamation by President John Adams in 1798. Let us pray.

We pray today for the safety and prosperity of our nation and states Help the New Hampshire Senate to promote the blessings of a free government so that it may be enjoyed by all; as this duty at all times incumbent, is so, especially in seasons of difficulty and danger. We offer this morning our devotion to our office that seeks the common good, that our state may be protected from all the dangers which threaten us; that our civil and religious privileges may be preserved untouchable, and perpetuated to the latest generation. We pray that our public servants may be especially enlightened and directed at this critical period of time. We pray that the people of our state may be united and those bonds of cooperation and mutual confidence, and inspired with that vigor and fortitude by which they have in times past been so highly distinguished, and by which they have obtained such invaluable advantages. We pray that the health of the habitants of our lands may be preserved, and their agriculture, commerce, fishery, arts, and manufacturers be blessed and prosper. That the principles of genuine piety and sound morality may influence the minds and govern the lives of every citizen, and that the blessings of peace, freedom, and pure religion may be especially extended to all the nations of earth. We offer our fervent thanksgiving to the bestower of every good gift, not only for having protected and preserved the people of these United States and the state of New Hampshire in the dependent enjoyment of their religious and civil freedom, but also for having prospered them in a wonderful progress of population, and for conferring on them many and great favors conducive to the happiness and prosperity of all. Amen.

Senator Kahn led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Senator Cavanaugh is excused.

INTRODUCTION OF PAGES

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. We'll start with our pages for today. I would ask Gwen Morris to please stand up. Gwen is age fifteen, she's in grade ten. She was born in Germany, now lives in Concord. She is home-schooled, her favorite subject is science. Her extracurricular activities include improving my hand eye coordination through the medium of video games, playing the ukulele and piano, skiing, singing in the Festival choir at St. Paul's Episcopal Church. In the future Gwen plans to study to be a medical examiner or coroner. Let's give a round of applause to Gwen.

I'd like Sam to stand up, who is Gwen's brother. Sam Morris, age thirteen, grade eight, born in China, lives in Concord. He is home-schooled. Favorite subject is science. His extra-curricular activities include running, skiing, traveling, playing jokes on his four sisters and in the future he plans to study engineering and be a good husband and father. Let's give a round of applause to Sam.

And Mister President, I should note that Sam and Gwen's mom is Mary and she is a Granite State Ambassador and works in our Visitor Center, so let's give a round of applause to Mary, who I don't think is here but give her a round of applause.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Today we have about twenty-five high school students from around the state here to elevate their voice and participate in our democracy, raising their concerns about gun violence in schools, the bulk of which are from Concord High School. I'd ask all of the students who came here today to please stand up and be recognized.

SB 350, by Senator Bradley
SB 383, by Senator Sanborn

CONSENT CALENDAR

Senator Bradley moved that the Consent Calendar, with the relevant amendments as printed in the day's Calendar be adopted and that all such bills found Ought-to-Pass be ordered to Third Reading.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
SB 491, relative to food protection services in New Hampshire.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

This bill, as amended, makes multiple changes to the produce safety act in order to ensure that New Hampshire produce and dairy producer regulations are in line with the Food Safety Modernization Act. New Hampshire has some of the safest produce and diary production in the country This bill seeks to make sure that our state's farms are in compliance with federal law. This would give the department of agriculture the ability to use federal funding to inspect produce and dairy farmers to ensure they are in compliance.

Amendment to SB 491

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 New Chapter; Produce Safety. Amend RSA by inserting after chapter 426 the following new chapter:

CHAPTER 426-A PRODUCE SAFETY

426-A:1 Definitions.

I. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of the department of agriculture, markets, and food.

II. "Department" means the department of agriculture, markets, and food.

III. "Farm" means any farm engaged in the growing, harvesting, packing, or holding of produce pursuant to the Food Safety Modernization Act, 21 C.F.R. Part 112.3.

IV. "Produce" means any produce that is a raw agricultural commodity pursuant to the Food Safety Modernization Act, 21 C.F.R. Part 112.3.

V. "Qualified exemption" means a farm is eligible for a qualified exemption and associated modified requirements in a calendar year pursuant to the Food Safety Modernization Act, 21 C.F.R. Part 112.5.

426-A:2 Authority; Enforcement. Subject to sufficient federal funding, the department shall enforce the Food Safety Modernization Act, Public Law 111-353, codified at 21 U.S.C. section 301 et seq., for standards of growing, harvesting, packing, and holding of produce for human consumption, 21 C.F.R. Part 112, as incorporated by reference including any subsequent amendments thereto.

426-A:3 Funding of Program. The commissioner is authorized to receive and expend federal funds appropriated for administration of this chapter.

426-A:4 Farm Inspections.

I. The department may inspect a farm during reasonable hours for the purpose of determining compliance with:

(a) The federal standards for growing, harvesting, packing, and holding of produce for human consumption, in accordance 21 C.F.R. Part 112; and

(b) Rules adopted under this chapter.

II. This section shall not limit the commissioner's authority to respond when an imminent health hazard is suspected in order to protect public health.

III. Upon successful inspection, the commissioner may issue a certificate at the request of the farm to include the name of the farm, date and place of inspection, and other information in compliance with the rules adopted by the commissioner pursuant to RSA 541-A.

IV. Failure to comply with the requirements of 21 C.F.R. Part 112, issued under section 419 of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, is a prohibited act under section 301 (vv) of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

V. A farm that is eligible for a qualified exemption in accordance with Part 112.5 shall establish and keep records as required pursuant to the Food Safety Modernization Act, 21 C.F.R. Part 112.7.

426-A:5 Records. The owner or operator of a produce farm shall maintain records required by the federal Food Safety Modernization Act, rules adopted thereunder, and rules adopted under this chapter pursuant to RSA 541-A and shall make those records available to the department upon request.

426-A:6 Rulemaking. The commissioner shall adopt rules, pursuant to RSA 541-A, relative to the administration of this chapter.

Amend RSA 184:90-a as inserted by section 18 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

184:90-a Suspension. The commissioner may suspend a producer's permit if it is found after investigation that circumstances exist which threaten the health or safety of the public. If a producer's permit is suspended, the commissioner shall provide the permittee with written notice of the basis for the decision and shall, [~~include a notification of the time and place of~~] upon request, schedule a hearing before the milk sanitation board. [~~The hearing following suspension~~] If a hearing is requested, it shall be held within 10 [~~working~~] business days of the date [~~of the suspension~~] requested. No milk producer shall operate during the pendency of any administrative proceeding following suspension of the producer's permit. If a producer demonstrates that the circumstances resulting in suspension have been corrected, and no longer constitute a threat to the health or safety of the public, the commissioner may reinstate the producer's permit without requiring a hearing before the milk sanitation board.

Amend the bill by deleting section 20 and renumbering the original sections 21-25 to read as 20-24, respectively.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 22 with the following:

23 Repeal. The following are repealed:

Amendment to SB 314

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to regulation of mortgage bankers, brokers, servicers, and originators.

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 New Subparagraph; Mortgage Bankers, Brokers, Servicers, or Originators; Application of Chapter. Amend RSA 397-A:2, I by inserting after subparagraph (c) the following new subparagraph:

(d) An individual who acts as a mortgage banker, mortgage broker, mortgage servicer, or mortgage originator if the individual is not engaged habitually and repeatedly in such activities in a commercial context. It shall be a rebuttable presumption that an individual is not engaged the business of a mortgage banker, mortgage broker, mortgage servicer, or mortgage originator if the individual is not involved in more than 3 loans in any consecutive 12-month period.

This bill exempts from regulation as a mortgage banker, mortgage broker, mortgage servicer, or mortgage originator certain individuals who are not regularly engaged in such activities.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass with Amendment on Senate Bill 314. This bill allows an individual to make up to three private mortgages in a twelve-month period. In New Hampshire, there are many people that do not qualify for bank mortgages due to credit history. The amendment amends the application section of 397-A and describes that individuals who are not habitually, repetitively engaged in commercial context and not regulated by the Banking Department, and creates a rebuttable presumption so that if someone does three or fewer in a twelve month consecutive period, they are not regulated by the department but allows consumer protection by allowing the Banking Department to have the ability to rebut that presumption if they found someone repetitively giving out loans. Please join the committee in voting Senate Bill 314 Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SB 354, relative to pharmacy claim fees and copayments.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on Senate Bill 354. This bill addresses two distinct issues. The first part of the bill however defines several terms. As many of you know pharmacy benefit managers, also known as PBMs, are not specifically regulated by one agency, but are instead regulated by multiple agencies based on the function they're performing. For example if a PBM functions as a mail order pharmacist, they're governed by the Board of Pharmacy, if they function as a third party administrator they fall under the license of the insurance company and insurance regulation. For this reason the language in the bill appears in two different statutes. But essentially the two issues we are trying to address deal with assisting consumers. One is a provision to eliminate clawback, where a patient is charged a claim, it's deemed by the PBM to be a clean claim, and later the company tries to come back and take some of that money that the consumer paid, but doesn't give it back to the consumer or the pharmacist. The other issue is with respect to gag orders, which are in some contracts with Pharmacy Benefit Managers. This prohibits a pharmacist from being able to describe to the consumer that the cost they would pay in the co-pay is potentially more than what they would pay if they paid cash. In both of these instances, the common thread is finding a way for consumers to be more informed in making decisions about medication and also making sure that drugs are more affordable as soon as possible. And we urge your support in this bill. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to SB 413

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to name availability for business organizations and relative to reinstatement of a limited liability company.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 11 with the following:

12 Limited Liability Companies; Late Reinstatements. RSA 304-C:145 is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

304-C:145 Late Reinstatements - In General.

I. A limited liability company administratively dissolved under RSA 304-C:136 may apply to the secretary of state for late reinstatement if more than 3 years have expired since the effective date of dissolution. The application shall be in such form and contain such information as the secretary of state may require.

II. Notice of the late reinstatement shall be published one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where the dissolved limited liability company's principal office, or, if none in this state, its registered office, is or was last located or the secretary of state's Internet website. The notice shall:

(a) Indicate that all interested parties are encouraged to submit comments.

(b) Include the mailing address of the secretary of state.

III. If the secretary of state determines that the information submitted in the application for late reinstatement is correct, that the limited liability company has made the notice required under paragraph II, that the application is accompanied by the fee required under RSA 304-C:191, II(f), and that the limited liability company should be reinstated, the secretary of state shall cancel the notice of dissolution and prepare a notice of reinstatement that recites the determination and the effective date of reinstatement and mail the notice to the limited liability company.

IV. If the application for reinstatement included a change of name of the limited liability company, the notice shall set forth the change of name of the limited liability company and the fee required pursuant to RSA 304-C:191, II(d), and the notice shall constitute an amendment to the certificate of formation. If the application for reinstatement included a change of the registered agent, the notice shall set forth the name of the new registered agent and the fee required pursuant to RSA 304-C:191, II(b).

V. When the reinstatement is effective, it relates back to and takes effect as of the effective date of the administrative dissolution and the limited liability company resumes carrying on its business as if the administrative dissolution had never occurred.

13 Effective Date.

I. Section 12 of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect January 1, 2019.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes criteria for determining whether a proposed business name is distinguishable from an existing business name for purposes of registration with the secretary of state. The bill also revises the procedure for reinstatement of a limited liability company by the secretary of state.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on Senate Bill 413. This bill is a request from the committee to study the process by which business names are authorized by the secretary of state and establishes criteria for determining whether a proposed business name is distinguishable from an existing business name for the purpose of registration with the secretary of state. In 2007 the legislature passed Senate Bill 42, which created a process for the reinstatement of these corporations. Unfortunately LLCs were omitted from this process. This committee amendment fixes the RSA to allow for LLCs to be included in that statute, but I'd point out that we might be talking about it soon for sole proprietorships and partnerships. So please join the committee in voting Senate Bill 413 Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to SB 418

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to the definition of table wine.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Table Wine; Definition. Amend RSA 175:1, LXIX to read as follows:

LXIX. "Wine-table" means a product obtained by the fermentation of the natural content of fruit or other agricultural products containing sugar and containing [~~more than 6 percent but not~~] no more than 18 percent alcoholic content by volume at 60 degrees Fahrenheit. The commission may approve as a table wine a higher alcoholic content product, not to exceed 24 percent, that is obtained in the same manner.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill expands the definition of table wine.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass with Amendment on Senate Bill 418. Things may change. As introduced this bill allows nano breweries to sell two pints per person for consumption and adds to the definition of table wine. We have a very similar bill coming over from the House that relates to the same issue in regards to samples and selling pints for nano breweries, and breweries. We have asked that all stakeholders get together and come up with a plan to amend the House Bill. The committee amendment only includes section 2 of the original bill in regards to the definition of table wine, which had no opposition. Please join the committee in voting Senate Bill 418 Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to SB 418

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to beverage manufacturers and nano breweries and defining table wine.

Amend the bill by inserting after section 1 the following and renumbering the original section 2 to read as 4:

2 Sales for Consumption; Beverage Manufacturers. Amend RSA 178:12, II-a to read as follows:

II-a. The holder of a beverage manufacturer license may sell beverage samples to visitors of legal drinking age for consumption on the premises where the beverages were manufactured. Sales of samples for consumption on the premises shall be limited to one 4-ounce glass per label per person and 2 pints per person. A maximum of 48 ounces total may be served to a person for consumption on the premises.

3 Sales for Consumption; Nano Brewery. Amend RSA 178:12-a, II(e) to read as follows:

(e) Sales for consumption on the premises shall be limited to one 4-ounce glass per label per person and 2 pints per person. A maximum of 48 ounces total may be served to a person for consumption on the premises.

This bill expands the definition of table wine and allows beverage manufacturers and nano breweries to sell one sample per label and 2 pints per person for consumption on premises with a maximum of 48 ounces per person.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. When I sponsored this bill it was to try to combine the wine issue that our colleague from District 7 just discussed as well as the ability for beverage manufacturers to be able to sell two pints. My understanding of the current law is that a beverage manufacturer, a beer manufacturer can sell one four ounce flight or sample glass, per label of whatever beer they brew.

We talk a lot in this room about trying to reduce the overreach of government and telling businesses what they can and can't do. So the beverage manufacturer, Tuckerman's Brewery, in my district came to me and said, look, we've got this beautiful taproom. Some people would like to sample our six, seven, eight whatever labels that we have in a flight, our four ounce glasses. But some people want to come and have a pint. Why are you telling us that we can sell four ounces of the same beer in four glasses but not a pint? I mean when we talk about government regulation, wowie bazowie, that's kind of regulation. But what makes this I think a little bit different in terms of some of the issues that have been raised by folks that aren't in favor of this, is this amendment as I worked with my colleague from Manchester on this amendment, sets a maximum limit on the number of ounces that a patron can have of forty-eight ounces. So you can have twelve four ounce glasses, in three flights. That's allowed today. You could have sixteen, you could have twenty-four. There's no upper limit. Under this amendment there would be an upper limit. And remember this is all done without a food requirement and so this is what's making it different than a restaurant that sells food. Under this amendment you could have one pint in 8 four ounce glasses or two pints in four, four ounce glasses. Don't we think in this room that we ought to let the manufacturer and the patron decide how they're going to consume their adult beverage? I don't think the overarching arm of government needs to be telling the beverage manufacturer, the nano brewery or the patron all they can have is a series of four ounce glasses. And on the other hand, the setting of an upper limit of forty-eight ounces without a food requirement just simply makes sense.

We've always had a food requirement in the state. I know not everybody agrees with that, that when you go to your favorite establishment you would have to be able to at least have the opportunity to have food as you consume adult beverages. We've allowed for quite some time a beverage manufacturer to be able to serve these four ounce flights or a nano brewery to be able to serve these four ounce flights. This is setting an upper limit which Tuckerman's, when I talked to them said, they were fine with. I'm told that at least one other beverage manufacturer in New Hampshire is fine with. So let's get big government out of the beer hall and the serving of the beer hall, but set an upper limit that helps us with safety on our highways. Treat beverage manufacturers differently than establishments that are restaurants that serve food.

This is a good amendment and I would just say this; anybody that has traveled around our state, knows that New Hampshire is now becoming a destination for good quality beer. We've competed with other states and we haven't quite enjoyed the status of Maine, Vermont, of Oregon, of Colorado, all states that I've visited at one time or another. They do a very good job and we have liberalized our rules to allow nano brewers and beverage manufacturers to thrive in New Hampshire. So it's a key part of not only our job infrastructure here in New Hampshire but also attracting visitors to our state. So I would ask you to support this Floor Amendment, it's reasonable and everybody come up to my district and go visit Tuckerman's afterwards and you'll see why I think it's a great idea. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Senators. I amazingly rise in opposition to this amendment and for the record based upon our current ethics laws that I am a, the only person in this room that operates with a license in the restaurant and hospitality industry and as a past member of the New Hampshire Lodging and Restaurant Association, an association with some 4,800 licensees in the state of New Hampshire, I must declare I may or may not have a conflict but I'm obviously, clearly I'm still participating. So I want you to remember the word, the number 528,000 because we'll be coming back to that number in about a minute.

But as my friend from District number 3 said, nothing screams wowsa, wowsie, I missed it, like picking your friends and picking your enemies. This is all about picking winners and losers. And this isn't about what this body should be focusing on. Now I readily admit that I supported the Senator and supported time and time and time again, Lord the Senator from District 3 might stand up and tell me how many bills we have had to expand the opportunities for nano breweries, microbreweries, beverage manufacturers. More bills than I can guess, more times I have been co-sponsors on these bills that I can remind you. But the problem is we made a mistake. We made a mistake in not being clear enough at the time when people came to the state of New Hampshire and said that they wanted to brew beer or make wine or distill alcohol, we said that's what they should do. But the truth is it was never enough. It was brew a little bit for my friends in the backyard, it was brew a little bit more, it was brew a little bit more, now today nano breweries, micro nano breweries, we authorize 2,000 barrels of beer per year for these organizations. Now we have to remember that a barrel is actually two kegs of beer, because a barrel's thirty-two gallons and a keg is fifteen and a half. So based upon what an expected number of beers that comes from a keg, as a nano brewer, you can now sell 528,000 glasses of beer a year. I'm not sure if any manufacturer today who is selling 528,000 glasses of beer a year should qualify as an exemption from the 4,800 or 5,400 licensed restaurants we have in the state of New Hampshire today. We require the restaurant industry and have always required the hospitality industry if they are going to serve alcohol, that there had to be a food requirement, and so the body knows, it's a minimum of $75,000, it's 50 percent of their sales up to a minimum of $75,000 and above that they can sell. So why are we exempting an entire portion of an industry, while we're still requiring the other portion of the industry to have to do it? Is that fair?

Now it costs roughly 250 to $350,000 to put in a commercial kitchen today. The state of New Hampshire, we in our statutes, we require by law, that businesses do this. Unless, unless, you make your own beer. So if you make your own beer, now we say you can go out and you can let people taste it and you can sell it. Now when I talk about this whole past about what happened with the nano breweries after it was 2,000 barrels of beer, then it was, we're making all this beer, we told you we wanted to make this beer to sell it but now we want invite people to our place, we want to let all our friends try it, let us let people try this. So we did, the legislature made a decision to allow them to try it. Then they came back and said well now we're making a lot of beer, because we love beer, and Lord knows I love beer, and now we want our friends to try all of it, so we want four ounces per label. Now I'll remind this body that I think Samuel Adams today has like thirty-seven labels, so thirty seven four ounce glasses of beer, and you know that the average beverage manufacturer today has at least ten labels, and again we passed this accommodation.

Then finally the licensees, the restaurants came up and said alright if you believe in fair play, let's play fair. We know that nano breweries and beverage brewers, the microbrewers, they're allowed to sell growlers, and I commend my friend from District number 3 , he has brought the growler bill again more times than I can count, to try to allow the restaurant industry to have the exact same accommodation that we have already provided for beer brewers. Who showed up in opposition? You guessed it, the beer brewers. Oh Jeez, we don't want to let restaurants compete with us, we don't want to allow them to have the same accommodations that we have, so we're not going to allow them to sell growlers. We need to protect that as our monopoly. We're different from all those other restaurants.

Here we come back another year and now we come back and the nano brewers again come in and say, now we want to be able to sell alcohol, we want to be able to sell pints of beer, and of course we saw an amendment that said well if the nano brewers are going to sell pints, why don't we let the beverage manufacturers also sell. And of course now we're faced with an amendment today which says we should let those who brew beer be able to sell beer and be able to compete against the some 5,000 restaurants in the state of New Hampshire, who for the record, I know everyone in this room has been contacted by that industry, there's clearly a fair amount of angst and dissatisfaction with the amendment, not that they don't believe that manufacturers should be able to sell beer, but the playing field is not equal. Because we're forcing some people to have to buy a commercial kitchen and put it in, and we're allowing other people to not have to do it. At the same time, we're specifically excluding their ability from being able to sell growlers. So I ask this body is that fair? Is it fair that we're picking winners and we're picking losers?

Now I will say for the record, I support legislation and one of my friends might stand up and say, well we should just put a piece of legislation in to say we shouldn't require restaurants to sell food, and if I had a dollar for every time I saw that piece of legislation come up in the past eight years, I'd be able to buy everybody lunch. Because we talk about it year in and year out and year in and year out but yet we don't ever seem to do it. We just take care of some, we don't take care of others.

Now the final thing I want to remind this body of and why I ask you to vote down the amendment, because I just do not believe it is ready for prime time. The provision of the wine that was in there that we have this requirement that wine sales at least 6 percent to 18 percent alcohol, which again directed who could sell it, I apologize, it directed who could wholesale it. So if we take out a floor of the six percent, this concern that we have of who could sell it was really about stopping beer distributors from being able to sell wine so we could protect the monopoly of the wine people being the only people to sell wine. So some of you may have heard of these little drinks called Mike's Hard Lemonade and all these other wonderful little non-beer products that are fermented with wine below 6 percent. Passing of this legislation will allow more distribution and for the record, if we want to open up distribution to everyone which I agree with, we should do that. But we have got to get out of this habit that we've seen over the past six or eight years, of making specific accommodations for specific people, and specific prohibitions on other people.

And my last comment is, we hear all the time in the last couple years been a lot of discussions about the three-tiered system. Coming out of prohibition the feds said we want to protect the sale of alcohol so we're going to have a three-tiered system. You can do one, you can't do two, you can't do three. If you retail alcohol, you cannot distribute it or manufacture it. If you manufacture alcohol, you cannot distribute it and you cannot retail it. Federal law prohibits what we are doing. And I'll say, federal law's prohibiting a lot of things we're doing in this body today, and we can have that conversation on medical marijuana and decriminalizing, all these other issues. But we have to make a decision; are we going to treat people with equality and treat everyone the same, or are we picking winners and are we picking losers? Because this amendment, through no fault of anybody in here, because I know everyone's just trying to accommodate everybody, is picking specific winners and forcing specific losers. And that's just not what we're about. So I ask the body to vote down the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President, and colleagues. And I thank the Senator from District 9 from rehearsing some of the history about the three-tiered system and also some of the history about the differentiation between restaurants and other facilities in terms of the food served. I also appreciate the Senator from District 3's understanding that we probably need a cap here and I am rising in opposition here and I'll just say why. I think there are many reasonable things that are trying to be done here. You know that I have supported nano breweries and developing this industry here. But on the other hand I just think we really need to step back sometimes and look at what we're saying about alcohol consumption here. You all know how highly fortified some beers are now, right? Six, seven, eight, nine, nine percent? And here we're saying go to 7th Settlement and see them in Dover. And here we're saying that you could have forty-eight ounces and then get in the car. Or you could go into one establishment, be served this amount and if it's a pub crawl go to the next nano brewery and get served this amount. And I understand about you know what was said by the Senator from District 3 about getting government out of our establishments, but the problem is that people don't stay in the establishment, they go outside, they leave, they go out the door and then it's back into the public. So you know, forty-eight ounces, four twelve ounce glasses, three pints of Guinness maybe or even have a few glasses of wine and then shift over to beer or, what are we doing? What are we doing? What are we doing? I just think this really, really needs to be rethought. That's just too much alcohol in a place where you're not going be sitting having any food. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in support of the amendment and I know a lot has already been said, but one of the things that I think we all try to do around here is to keep pace, to keep pace with things that are changing and to try to create an environment where businesses can grow and thrive. When the nano brewery statute came into effect there were a handful of businesses interested in brewing and they had a handful of labels. So a four ounce per label sample wasn't a whole heck of a lot. Now, we're always going to have a debate about establishments serving food versus not having to serve food. That's not for today. These businesses right now don't have a requirement to serve food, but what we do need to keep pace with is the fact that where there were just a handful, there are now nearly eighty around the state. Where some of them brewed three or four labels, they could be brewing twenty or thirty. Our current law says you can have a sample of each label. If somebody's brewing twenty different labels, guess what; one person can have one four ounce sample of twenty different labels. Four times twenty, that's a lot of beer, that's way too much beer and not something that I would certainly want to support the sale of in an establishment that doesn't sell food. I think what we were trying to be mindful of though is the fact that people do want to taste beer, and once they taste one that they like, they have a sample or two, they want a real glass. And that's what this bill tried to do, was to recognize that the breweries and throughout our state are a thriving industry, they're growing, they enhance tourism and this was an effort to create a bit of balance and most importantly, and the reason I was willing to put my name on this amendment, to put a limit on the consumption. Because right now there isn't any limit, and that's a dangerous situation. This amendment will at least cap it at forty-eight ounces, and that way we can continue to work with our breweries and let that industry grow. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you do much for taking my question. One of the concerns and you know I'm pretty in liberty in all this stuff and I'm struggling with this. But one of the concerns I'm having with this bill is how on God's green earth do we regulate it? How do we know that someone's going to come into an establishment and just have x number of four ounce flights and two twelve ounce beers if that's what it is? How do we regulate this? Because I don't see any way that there can be regulation that we have enough resources to put a liquor control officer in every establishment and start counting beers, right? We have a law in the book today about operating under the influence or being publicly intoxicated, which is the responsibility of the operator and their staff. But there's a long road between two 12 ounce glasses and incapacitated. So how do you get from wherever you stop just at two beers to we're going to make sure you don't get incapacitated. I don't see our capacity to do that, which means we just end up bars selling beer without the requirement for food. How do we do it?

SENATOR SOUCY: Well Senator, I think if we establish a law that has a limit, those entities that want to push that limit or get near it have a personal responsibility as business owners, to see to it that they have systems in place that keep it at the forty-eight ounces. And I happen to believe that whether you own a restaurant such as yourself or whether you own a brewpub, nobody wants to see anyone get hurt. And I think that there are responsible business owners throughout the state that would adhere to the law. I don't think there's a need to have a liquor inspector at every establishment but having said that I do think that the liquor inspectors have the opportunity to stop at any establishment on occasion and make sure that people are doing what they should. I think this law as I said is a reasonable accommodation and it sets a fair limit and I think reasonable business owners will be able to adhere to it.

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you for your question, I appreciate it. So we're offering this statute to nano breweries? What is the penalty if someone exceeds the forty-eight ounces? Because I don't see one.

SENATOR SOUCY: There isn't a penalty specifically written into this piece of legislation, but I think all of the civil penalties that are on the books relative to over-service would apply in this case as well.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you so much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition. We raised a confusing issue, and that's why a few years ago I volunteered to represent the Senate at the alcohol summit at the Mount Washington Hotel. And I must say the longer I was there Mister President, the more confused it was. I don't know what happened. But we have a very complicated three-tier system that grew out of prohibition and let's not forget that we gave every community local control to decide one; alcohol exists at all in your community. Do they want to have alcohol sold or consumed on or off premise, and do liquor stores get along? So we have a very complicated system when we sit here and try to look at it from the bottom up we don't see the history around the whole thing. But I think what becomes clear is we have a fragile system that's been around for eighty odd years and in the state of New Hampshire, you know we embrace change. But we bring everybody along. You don't leave anybody on the sidelines. And although this is something maybe we should consider and try to find a way to get there, we have a lot of restaurants in the state of New Hampshire that are playing under the old rules. And I don't think it's fair to them, I don't think it's fair to our system of distribution and you know, we decided historically not to have beer halls, not to be just in the business. And you know before we change this I think we need to go slow, you know and we need to take it one step at a time and maybe we ought to just have another beer Senator Bradley, and I'd love to have you join us. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. I would say this to my colleague it must be five o'clock somewhere. You know we're making way more out of this bill than should be. First of all, there's no upper limit now. Let's be real clear. Look at the amendment. Look at where the bold starts. Existing law says one four ounce glass per label. That's what existing law says. Now using the math that our friend from Bedford talked about, thirty-seven labels by one manufacturer, I calculated that, that's twelve six-packs that you could drink without any upper limits. So I thought, Senator Soucy was right; establish an upper limit. I agree with my colleague from Dover. We want to make our roads safe, guess what; this amendment does that. We're arguing about exemptions from the food requirement. Let's not kid ourselves, we've already made that decision. Nano brewers, exempt. Beverage manufacturers, exempt. The exemption already exists. So if you think there's an uneven playing field, that's been part of the fabric of New Hampshire for some time. So we are picking winners and losers and everybody's going to be a loser if we say to a thriving, growing industry, the government is going to use its discretion to say you can't serve a sixteen ounce glass three times or two times in four flights but you can serve twelve point three six-packs worth of beer with no limitation. So that's where we're all losing. And for our friends in the food and restaurant business, remember there is a difference. This is establishing an upper limit. There's no upper limit for an establishment that serves food. Maybe there should be, but there isn't. The upper limit is the responsibility of the owner of that establishment to make sure that people leave not impaired. That's the upper limit. This establishes an upper limit if you don't serve food. This is a reasonable compromise, I ask for a reasonable vote, and I know it's after five o'clock somewhere.

PRESIDENT MORSE: I'm just doing math, Senator and I come out to thirty-seven time four is only twelve beers, so maybe that's why I'm on Finance.

SB 420, relative to collective bargaining under the right-to-know law. Ought to Pass, Vote 2-1. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on Senate Bill 420. Current law allows strategy or negotiations with respect to collective bargaining to be exempted from the definition of a public meeting. This bill maintains that strategy sessions in regard to collective bargaining still remain private if only one party is present. But if negotiations are taking place between the parties, the right-to-know law would apply and those meetings would then be public. This bill encourages transparency with taxpayers so they're able to see the inner workings of the government, especially when voting on one of the highest cost items in the local budget. Please join the Commerce Committee in voting SB 420 as Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the pending motion of Ought to Pass on Senate Bill 420. Right now, there's plenty of transparency in terms of these contracts and people do get to vote on them in towns, city councilors get to vote on them, when they come out in the city process. But you have the public present during actual negotiations. That raises a whole host of issues, Mister President. In some cases privacy issues, some cases issues related to sensitive matters that arise between the bargaining parties. And there's a reason why basically, everybody who does these negotiations on either side, the New Hampshire Municipal Association, all the unions, they all oppose it. Because they all think that this, opening this up, every negotiation session to make it a public meeting with these sensitive matters being out there for everybody to see is going to inhibit effective bargaining. It's going to inhibit the free flow of information that happens in any conversation, in any negotiation. And it's going to raise different privacy and other issues, Mister President. So again, there's a reason why the folks that do this on both sides at the local level oppose this. Again, those contracts are presented to the communities, they're voted on, towns are voted on by the public, cities are voted on by the council, there's opportunity for public input, both before and after, but to interject into this process something that will raise a whole host of legal issues and a whole host of other issues that do not facilitate effective bargaining. That's not protecting taxpayers in my view and again, there's a reason why people on both sides of this oppose it. So I'd encourage us to vote this down. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

SB 421, relative to insurance coverage for prescription contraceptives. Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on Senate Bill 421. This bill would update New Hampshire's existing contraceptive equality law which has been on the books since 1999; guaranteeing women access to prescription birth control without cost sharing and with a twelve month supply as prescribed by their health care provider. According to studies, inconsistent use of contraception accounts for 41 percent of unintended pregnancies and one in four women report they have missed birth control pill because they could not get the next pill pack in time to start. Providing women the ability to obtain a twelve month supply instead of a one month supply reduces the likelihood of missed pills and unplanned pregnancies. It protects and expands access to basic preventative health care for women. Please join the Commerce Committee in voting Senate Bill 421 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis for a question of Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you for taking my question. I've heard concerns about this bill with respect to the amount of contraceptive drug prescribed. And there seems to be a misperception by some that a doctor will write a prescription for twelve months and the patient will get a twelve month supply whether she continues on it or not. And in the case of someone who's maybe just starting contraception, where the doctor might want to monitor the patient's progress and make sure this is the right one for them. The doctor's free to write a one month or two month or three month prescription, is that right?

SENATOR SOUCY: That's correct, Senator. Thank you very much for the question. This legislation does absolutely nothing to interfere with the doctor patient relationship and as you described, there would be instances where somebody just starting a particular method of birth control might want to start with a smaller prescription on a trial basis. But what the legislation does ensure is that should the doctor prescribe twelve months, that twelve months would be covered.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you for taking my question. Not being either of an age or a gender that is interested in this, is this not covered presently?

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you for the question, Senator. Contraception is covered by insurance, the question is the amount. There is a limitation placed on how much of the product at one time someone could obtain. And from testimony at the hearing and having met with a number of people, that is problematic for some women, particularly for those that travel, those that live in remote areas.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. Is there a minimum, like do they prescribe one or you know I'm trying to figure out what the problem is in terms of the numerical…

SENATOR SOUCY: Sure, so as I said this does not interfere with the doctor patient relationship, so if the doctor is providing for example oral contraceptives and prescribes one month of the pill pack because they want to see the patient later on. This does not preclude that. But what this provides for is for those people who are using, those women who are using certain forms of contraception, they can get it up front and the reason for having the pills or other forms of contraception in advance is the efficacy of the product. We know that if you take a pill in particular at the same time, every day, consecutively, you will have a much more effective product, as much as 98 percent effective, to the extent you don't have it, your pharmacy closed at nine o'clock, you couldn't get it until the next day, that reduces the efficacy of the product and in some cases leads to unplanned pregnancies.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A roll call was requested by Senator Lasky, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Recess. Out of recess.

EDUCATION
SB 357, relative to safe school zones and relative to syringe service programs.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-1. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 357 Ought to Pass. At the request of the Department of Education, this bill requires school employees to report crimes that will prevent a person from being hired as a teacher. At the request of the New Hampshire Hospital Association, the committee included in this legislation a provision to allow a school district superintendent to allow a syringe service program operated by a hospital within the 1,000 foot buffer of the drug-free school zone. I ask your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on Senate Bill 357. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Hennessey offered a Floor Amendment.

Sen. Hennessey, Dist 5

Floor Amendment to SB 357

Amend the bill by inserting after section 2 the following and renumbering the original section 3 to read as 4:

3 New Subparagraph; Safe School Zones; State Board Rulemaking; Public School District Policies. Amend RSA 193-D:2, I(b) by inserting after subparagraph (2) the following new subparagraph:

(3) Allowing school boards to determine whether or not to prohibit the possession of firearms in a safe school zone.

2018-1173s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Requires school employees to report crimes that would prevent a person from being hired as a teacher.

II. Permits school district superintendents to grant certain exceptions to the prohibition on locating syringe service programs in a drug-free zone.

III. Requires the state board of education to adopt rules allowing school boards to determine whether or not to prohibit the possession of firearms in a safe school zone.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. This is a very simple amendment. It's easy to read, it's easy to understand and despite rather extensive attempts to get rid of it, it really is not what many people say it is. So let me tell you what this amendment is, and I believe you are all relatively familiar with it.

What this does is to clarify that we would like local control. Now local control is something I have heard to be rather a rallying call of the Republican Party, or the Republican Caucus. We've heard lots about how important local control is. This is a bill about local control. School boards get to decide what goes on in their school buildings. And they should be able to decide whether or not, and I emphasize whether or not, to allow guns or firearms in schools. That simple. That simple. This is very clearly one of the biggest issues we are facing right now.

It's in the news all the time what's going on in schools. So I understand fevers are high and people are very tempted to use what I would call the NRA talking points when this bill comes forward.

This bill, what it does is it brings local control. What it does not do, but what it has been accused of doing over and over and over again, it does not take guns away from law-abiding citizens, period. It does not do that. You can say it but it doesn't make it so. It doesn't do that. It does not, it also has no effect whatsoever on the second amendment. So, it also doesn't solve all of our problems with schools and gun violence, it's not the panacea that says we're all going to say Hooray this is all taken care of, we will have no more guns in schools. But it's a start and it's a local effort.

As I said in the hearing, I believe we're all on the same side. We think schools should be safe. I've spent most of my career dealing with schools at all levels, from elementary through college. I have every possible piece of data to tell you that when children are afraid they do not learn. Children who are– there's a book if you want to read it called Emotion: The On Off Switch For Learning. If children are anxious, if children are afraid, if children are looking over their shoulder every minute to try to figure out who's carrying a gun and who is not, they are not learning the same way they would be learning if they felt safe. Should we not allow school boards to make schools the best possible learning environment? That's their purpose. We elect them to do that. They know their towns, they know their schools. This is what makes a difference. I also think we all want our children to think but we also want our children to learn.

As many of you know, but I think it bears repeating, in 1999 after the Columbine incident, I remember and maybe many of you do too, I remember exactly where I was when I heard about the Columbine shooting, and innocent children and teachers who were killed. I also remember many of those that have happened since then and I refuse to become hardened to those facts. But in 1999 after that, Wayne LaPierre, the President of the NRA is quoted as saying "We believe in absolutely gun free, zero tolerance, totally safe schools." Those are his words, President of the NRA. "That means no guns in America's schools period." That's what he said, and I agreed with him. And I didn't just agree with him because it was post-Columbine, and I'm not just saying this because it's post all the others that have happened since. I'm saying this because there is nothing more important to me than our children. Nothing. I don't care what any of you think of me to be honest. I'd like you to think well of me, but the fact is I put above that, the needs and the safety of our children. That's more important. I don't even have to know them to feel that way. They are our next generation. They are our next best bet.

So I've heard people say, even in the committee, things like, as I said before, sort of NRA pat arguments about this. It's a good guy, bad guy thing. It just has to be a good guy with a gun so he can get the bad guys with a gun. If only they wore a t-shirt that said bad guy, good guy. That would make it so much easier wouldn't it? They don't. It's not a good guy, bad guy, it may be a mentally disturbed person who needed help and didn't get it. But trust me, that person is not going to stop and look at whether there's a sign that says whether or not there are guns in schools. I mean it says drug-free zone in front of a bunch of schools, how many times have you seen people lining up outside the schools to sell drugs because the sign says drug-free zone? It says you can't smoke in the schools. I don't know why, why don't we have people selling cigarettes, rushing to the schools because the signs say that? I've heard people say, well not only that, let me stay on that issue for one minute. In the words of a very wise Concord student, with whom I was speaking earlier today, Rachael Ferrier from Concord. I asked her what do you think about the fact that people are telling me over and over again, with no data by the way, that, I didn't say that to her, but there is no data. That if you put up a sign that says no guns on campus which PS, you wouldn't have to do. But let's say you do, what do you think about that, is that going to keep, and make all the people with guns come running to the school to come in and they won't go to the school in the next town because they don't have a sign that says no guns, so they'll go to your school with the sign if there's a sign which PS there does not need to be? And you know what she said, because she's done her homework? There is no research at all saying that that's a phenomenon. In fact there is research done by the Gifford Center saying it is, debunking that myth. I understand the thinking, I understand the fact that people are very afraid of losing their gun rights. This does not do that. It keeps our children safe.

I've heard people say that if you, you could also kill people with cars, you can kill people with knives. Well I don't know if I've been following all the news, but I haven't seen any people driving cars into schools to kill students, hasn't happened in my lifetime. Yes you can die if you're in a car, we all know that. How many times in the news have you seen people being killed by knives? Knives are not allowed in most schools. Forty-eight of our fifty states do not allow guns in school, and that's not what my bill does. My bill does not say no guns in school. This is a hard audience, I knew I couldn't do that. What my bill says is that school boards should decide, it's up to them to decide what is best for their children. Period. So thank you for hearing the amendment.

I'd like to re-emphasize that words matter. Saying it does not make it so. Saying that having signs means we'll just have a, might as well have a lighted up sign saying that people are going and come and that's going to be the school where they're going to shoot up kids, does not make it so. That's why we do research, those of you who work in universities or have gotten degrees in which you have to do research know that's why we do research. This is about local control, folks. That's what this is about. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in support of the amendment. I've been a teacher all of my life. For the last fifty plus years I've taught at the secondary level and the post-secondary level. I've been a school board member in my school district for ten years. I spent ten years on the school board, I chaired curriculum and instruction. I've seen it as a parent, I've had all of my children go through the public school system I've got grandchildren in the school system. My daughter-in-law is a school nurse in Concord as we speak, and it seems to me rational human beings, and that's what everybody in this room is, is a rational human being, understands the fact that we always have supported the ability at the local level to control the destiny of ourselves, our families.

The state of New Hampshire has spent $13 million to make schools safe. Those contributions have come over the last six months, $13 million, safer doors, safer windows, safer locks. So we're going a long way to make our schools safe. Many schools have resource officers in the school. Those resource officers are armed. It is up to the locals to make the decision as to what will happen in their schools.

I represented the largest school district in the state. At one time we had 14,000 students in our school district, 14,000. We have four high schools, we have three middle schools, four middle schools, we have abundance of grammar schools, we have kindergarten. Who in their right mind doesn't want every one of those children to be safe? What is the dearest possession that we have? It's our child, is it not? We all talk about how much we love our children and our grandchildren. They're precious, and we want them safe and we want them in a safe environment. But the locals have responsibility for that, they have responsibility for that, and it seems the responsible thing to do is to let people make the decision. We believe in the decision making process, we debate it here every day, we take votes. We just passed a bill, we had fourteen people support it and we had nine people against it. It became business, it became a law, right? Goes to third reading, passes then moves over to the other body. We made a decision here today, locally, because each one of us represents a segment of the society in this state. We represent one-twenty-fourth of the people in this state. We cast a vote representing them today, as the local school board will do in every local community. And really that's what it's all about.

Every one of us, every one of us has a deep concern for what's happening in this country. A deep concern. The greatest tragedy in my life was the assassination of John Kennedy. The most moving, the most significant thing, the world stood still. Nothing happened in this country for four days. So we know that an incident like that can change us. So we don't want those things to happen. Had a little situation in Maryland yesterday. God help us, we don't want those things to happen. How did that happen? We'll never know.

But in this particular issue, it's not about gun rights, I don't, that's not the issue. The issue is the safety and security of our children. And it's up to those who manage those schools to make those decisions. And as I said, we've spent $13 million in the last six months to make our schools safer, 13 million. Thanks to the Senate's budget situation, we've brought the money forward, right? Everybody should be happy about that. We're able to give all of our districts money to make them safer, because we did that in the public good, public interest. And twenty-four people made that decision. So the decision is important at the local level, and it should be made at the local level. And when I go home tonight, I've got a grammar school two streets over from my house, Parker-Varney School, all of my kids went to Parker-Varney, my wife went to the Parker-Varney School. I go by it every day. I see the kids coming in, they get off the bus, they go into the school. They ring that buzzer to get in, they ring that buzzer to get in and once they get in, their parents say, these kids are safe, they're safe and that's how we want them to be, we want them to be safe. That's our goal. Mister President, we all try to do the right thing. We all try to do the right thing. In this situation it seems to me, we have great respect for our local process. We have great respect for local control, and it seems we should continue that. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Bradley presiding.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment and I also rise to first thank the Chair of Senate Education. We had quite a hearing last week in the House chamber and then we had our executive session on the bill and it was all respectful and I feel a good example of our democracy and the way we do things to make sure that people can be heard. And they were heard. We had hundreds of petitions delivered last week at the hearing and we've gotten hundreds more since then, even today from Concord, I can't even count the hundreds of names there and they've been delivered to the Governor. This is a good process, this is good that we do this, it's good that we debate it today and we learned a lot at the hearing.

We did as my colleague from District 5 has said, we heard that forty-eight other states have some kind of prohibition, now among that forty-eight many do then have ways in which then the local folks can decide you know how the exemptions to it and what they do about concealed carry and so on and so forth. But they understand the process should be local. And it was interesting as well to hear from Homeland Security Director, Perry Plummer who by statute must receive the school safety plans and they're all local. He says well yes you know there's local authority over that, they deliver those safety plans, they have to give them to me and they get to decide what their safety plan is and that's good local control but I guess the safety plan can't include guns. You know and local control for our schools article 19 of the constitution after all says that the authority really does reside in the locality for schools.

And we also heard you know, the conflicted place that we have now put our school boards in. Some of course cited RSA 159:26 that says the state cannot regulate use, possession of other matters, the school boards cannot regulate use, possession or other matter pertaining to firearms. But you know some of the superintendents and school board members also said but wait a minute, under RSA 193:F-2 it says all pupils have the right to attend public schools including charter public schools that are safe, secure and peaceful environments. Now it should noted that that statute is the bullying statute and it says right there that this bullying is so important that we stop that in our schools that we put this as a fundamental principle to stop bullying. So you know it just could be said that well okay, so if it's a bully who brings a gun into the school, you could stop him, but if it's not somebody a bully well then they can have the gun, so what are they supposed to do? And in that context we heard from a home school mother who said she's pulling her three kids out of public school and she's going to home school them if the school board can't say there can't be guns in schools. So how do we keep our kids safe in this? And you know we heard from another superintendent from Bow and Dunbarton who said that in the current situation now what they're doing is anybody who appears on campus with a firearm, they go into lockdown, because they cannot tell the good person from the bad person with a gun. So every time it's a lockdown and that's what we're putting our students through. I was talking to a couple of high school seniors in Dover the other day and they said you know that they're doing their active shooter drills and so on but the, you one had a sibling, you know who's in fourth grade and said I don't understand this, understand this, and they were wondering how do we help the fourth graders and fifth graders understand emotionally what this is and what the danger to it is.

We also heard at the hearing you know that Rand Corporation's study of 2016 that was commissioned by the Justice Department which said you know, yes let's try to harden our schools some but the fact of the matter is, that it makes a marginal difference what we do because we've seen that they shoot through, they shoot through it and also if you have so many locks that you might be locked in when you want to get out. So it's good to spend that money, we've got to do it but I don't think it's the answer to the issue. And I will say too, the language that we heard, I mean you know I understand the language. I'm using some language on one side and I hear some language on the other side and we know that we have our beliefs and the language is available to us and you know so we know gun-free zones and it's just awful to think that we're now using military terminology of free fire zones to describe what that's like and how this kind of language has come into our public discourse and again, cars can kill people but I've never seen a concealed carry car, you know? And I've never seen a knife with a bump stock, okay? So, you know, there is something, times are changing, times are changing in terms of the firepower here.

I remember I was on my high school riflery team and I was a riflery instructor and I remember walking across campus with a gun. Well times are changing you know. We wouldn't be doing that. And I think part of the problem is that the language of this some of the debate we've heard really deflects and in some ways drowns out the voices of our students. Our students want us to talk about getting guns out of the schools. And you know they're walking out and they're standing up, right? All across the state, walking out and standing up and I think the times are changing about this and I think we need to listen. Our children cry out from the blood stains drenched in mother's tears, mopped up by janitors when the press and the politicians depart. And our children are crying out, why have our parents forsaken us?

Now I do recall back from when times were changing in the sixties when things seemed darkest when the debate seemed completely unproductive and the votes seemed just like rituals. I remembered these words and I mean, I'm glad the Senator from District 12's not here so he can't hear me try to sing a little bit but I just thought I would share this, colleagues:

> Come Senators, Congressmen please heed the call. Don't stand in the doorway. Don't block up the hall. For he that get hurts will be he who was stalled. There's a battle outside and it's raging. It'll soon shake your windows and rattle your walls. For the times they are a-changing. Come mothers and fathers throughout the land. And don't criticize what you can't understand. Your sons and your daughters are beyond your command. Your old road is rapidly aging. Please get out of the new one if you can't lend a hand. For the times they are a-changing.

Thank you, Mister President.

President Morse presiding.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President I rise in support of amendment 1173s. I rise for two reasons, in support or stating two reasons in support.

First; I have in my hand the petitions of over two hundred Concord High School students in support of this amendment and without objection, I would like to enter this into the Permanent Record, the petitions in support.

Second Mister President, I offer not my own words but the words of students at Concord High School who have been affected by threats, including here in Concord. And their words about the importance of this issue. Many of the students who signed this petition Mister President, also wrote out letters to this Senate about why they support this amendment. And so I want to read some of those, the voices of the students who are actually affected by this.

Kris says; it is important and necessary for school districts to have the ability to enforce gun-free zones.

Speline says in support of this; I shouldn't have to be afraid of attending school and be constantly worried about my friends and the people I go to school with.

Bri says; I shouldn't feel afraid to be gunned down every time there's a fire drill.

Lynne says; students, staff and the community should be able to decide what makes them feel and be safe.

Terri says; please support Senate Bill 357 and allow school districts in New Hampshire to have a voice on this important issue.

Graeme says; students should not have to think about the possibility of guns in schools. Students should focus on personal and academic growth without fear or knowledge of guns in the area intended for learning.

Jakob says; as the Senate of the state of New Hampshire, it is your job to protect the citizens of the state of New Hampshire, both adults and minors to the best of your ability. Allowing guns to be brought onto a school zone (where nobody save the police and related forces have any legitimate reason to carry a gun), even if merely by lack of full enforcement presents a threat to the lives of New Hampshire citizens that could have been prevented in advance. By not giving school boards the option to enforce that their schools are gun-free zones, you are failing your duties to protect the citizens of the state of New Hampshire to the best of your ability, and demonstrating a complete failure as leaders of the state of New Hampshire.

Grace says; I want to feel safe in my learning environment, not feel lucky to be alive.

Tristo says; in everything I do please I want to feel safe and more confident for everything. And please make some change about that. Show us what you did, show us that you did some change about what we ask for. Thanks.

Jeff says; please enforce and make our schools safer, you can do this and stop the violence in our schools. Stop making this a partisan issue.

And finally Graham says; I want to feel safe at school.

Let's listen to their voices, the students, the parents, the people in our community. Let's not make this decision for them. Let's give them an opportunity to make a decision. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray for a question of Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR GRAY: In the citations that the Senator from District 4, he did not mention the citation for the section where you're changing the bill, section 193-D:2 and the parent part of that I, talks about public schools and public employees and it would appear to me that that section as you're adding it would only apply to public students and to employees. The other sections in there only talk to discipline and other matters that are purely you know…

SENATOR HENNESSEY: I believe you are incorrect.

SENATOR GRAY: Okay. May I read the statute?

PRESIDENT MORSE: Is there a question, Senator?

SENATOR GRAY: The question would be if the statute says this, how am I incorrect? The statute right now says and I'm reading 193-D:2 school board rule making authority public schools districts policy Roman I under that, is the state board of education shall adopt rules relative to the safe school zones under RSA 541-A for public school pupils and public school employees regarding it list under, we're putting this under d, adding in a new paragraph under that which is paragraph c, how was the statement that I made incorrect?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Let me just say that this bill again is not specifically and I don't know if this is the best answer, I will defer to somebody who is an attorney and knows how to read these things better than I, but I would say that this is an amendment that is actually just asking for school boards to be able to decide, and so therefore school boards could decide to whom it applies.

SENATOR GRAY: Since the RSA specifically says that the school boards already have authority under a particular RSA to regulate that and if I go to the number II which is right above the paragraph that you're trying to add, it says standard procedures shall be required, expulsion of pupils knowingly possessing a firearm, that would tell me that they already have the ability to regulate student conduct and the only other one we would be talking about if you go back to Roman I, would be employees.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Well, as the bill, as the amendment is written number III is allowing school boards to determine whether or not to prohibit the possession of firearms in a safe school zone which would mean anyone who is in a safe school zone. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment. And I want to start with thanking and honoring the Senator from Hanover who has withstood some outrageous bullying and she stands to profile in courage for us today, no matter what you think about this amendment.

You know I come from a place where we have more guns than people. I understand the culture of it, it represents the independence, it represents the notion that we have to often take care of ourselves in our own situation if you have an incident and can't call security and others to take care of our issues. But I also am full of common sense and common wisdom and we know first of all, best of all, one size fits all never works in rural areas. I have 10 percent of the state's schools, and great diversity. The last remaining one room schoolhouse, the Blue School in Landaff, and even the town of Dummer, they have a school board but no school. We've got all kinds of local elected officials and they love local control. That's what we base our whole notion on, this whole debate.

This is not about gun control, it's about local control. Local school boards can decide today what the soda policy is or the cell phone policy, but they cannot decide what the gun policy is within the doors of their building.

That makes no sense. And that's because we're focused on ideology not practicality. Some of our friends have been pistol whipped by the NRA, and they're afraid to stand up for common sense. That's the bottom line.

I was a school teacher in the North Country, in the Northeast Kingdom of Vermont and I remember those drills we did early on, ducking down real low, pulling the shades down. And I thought it was crazy because this was so rare, it's never going to happen. That was years ago and unfortunately it's become commonplace. And we need to let common sense dictate our policy, not ideology and not outside groups that have no concern for our kids and only concerns for their ideology. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of amendment 1173s. What I feel is that everybody in this room shares something in common and it's that students need to feel safe in their learning environment. I don't doubt that from anybody. But I also know that I have four middle and high school districts in my Senate district. Each one of those districts is currently holding meetings with their parents and students, public open forums, to discuss weapons in their schools. We can't stop that. We can only empower them to do something when they reach some commonality, some common ground in their schools. We heard this exchange just now about is 193-D the right place for this amendment, well it is the chapter that deals with safe school zones and it concludes with nothing in this chapter shall prohibit local school boards from adopting and implementing policies relative to pupil conduct and disciplinary procedures. I mean this is a logical next statement to add into safe school zones, giving local control over firearm possession.

I think this debate is about the learning environment in our schools. It's about learning. It's not about control, it's about how do we establish learning in our schools, we ask our school districts to enact policies all the time about how do students learn in your school, we do it for what are your grade level standards, what are your course standards. We do it in regards to testing policies. What are your testing policies, not what are the state's testing policies. We ask local school districts to enact those. This is no different than asking a school district to enact a safety policy that reinforces the learning environment in that school.

Are there school shootings in New Hampshire? I'm going to tell you, yes there is. I went to a school in my district, a high school where seven years ago students were sitting in the high school, in the elementary school cafeteria. A student pulled out a gun and shot himself in the head. Those students carry that trauma today seven years later, those third graders are sophomores in high school. Those sixth graders are seniors in high school. They, when I asked them how you feel in your school, three of these students were clearly challenged with that question. One could say one statement and clearly was clamming up, clearly tensed up. A second student became verbally angry. Angry, that this is still a question that she fears, she fears gun possession in school, today, still. Another student presented me with a five page letter. She couldn't speak about this, her way of expressing her concerns about her learning in her school was to write this letter. I have to, on her behalf, I have to quote a portion of this letter. She returned to school, by the way the Monday after the week in which those shootings took place in Florida in Parkland.

She was having trouble sleeping that entire week.

> She says, I woke up panting, having to tell myself it was just a nightmare. I just turned fifteen today. It's not okay that these are things I think about most. But I can't stop thinking about this. Things have to change. Children all over this country need you and every other state representative to understand this. We are the first generation to grow up after Columbine, after 9/11, during the advancements and threats of nuclear weapons, danger is everywhere and American schools are supposed to be safe places of learning and inspiration and after Marjory Stoneham Douglas for many, schools have become a place that students, even young first-graders, not even seven years old, fear to go in the event that somebody will turn their once safe haven into a place of trauma and pain.

I'll take a break on this and move to the end.

> I truly hope that you and every other state representative listen to the voices of America's students, and work together to resolve this problem. Please hear the voices of America's students and take action that will progress our state and country.

I appreciate that she wrote this letter. It's been one that's motivated me for the last several weeks.

I don't think study commissions are going to cut it. Students are asking for action. I visited with the principal and superintendent of one of those area schools in my district. They said I walked into a parent conference, I had a problem with a student, we called the parent in, they sat down, they heard a loud thud on the table. That superintendent and principal wanted that meeting to end very quickly. They felt threatened by what the person was carrying in their bag.

I want, you know my background, college education, we prepare teachers. I want this to be a noble profession. I want it to be where the best of our college students still see that they're giving back to our society by seeking a profession in schools. I don't want them to fear that this occupation is any worse than any other occupation in our country. The learning environment is a matter of local control. Again, we ask our schools to set standards by course and by grade level and for graduation we ask them to test and establish testing principles for their schools and for their students. We should ask them to establish safety protocols and principles in their schools, and firearm possession should be among the issues about safety that define the learning environment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. It changed my line of thought a little bit when the Senator from District 13 talked about how everyone in Concord felt. I have as you know, I have a lot of skin in the game. I dropped my daughter off at the elementary school in Sandown this morning. I have two older daughters, one who just took the SATs today, hope she did well, and my younger daughter's best soccer player in Timberlane, probably the state. We'll see when you guys play.

So, we talk about everything at the dinner table. Not with the eight year old but with the fourteen and sixteen and I said to them are you going to feel safer, just like Senator from 15 said, safer with this law. And my daughter, the fourteen year old said. Who are we keeping out, the bad guys are going to have the guns, she goes that she felt she would be safer if there were trained staff members, not that we're telling any teacher to carry a gun, but I'll tell you what I did right after the Florida shooting, that Monday I had a writing contest with all my fourth graders. So I was already in the elementary school, and afterwards the vice-principal asked to speak with me, we spoke about active shooter drills, what we could do to make her school safer. And that's what we want is safer. But again I don't feel that taking the guns, have no guns in that school, they're not going to be able to defend themselves.

I come from sheepherders, you probably don't know that Mister President, generations after generations of sheepherders. We have no noble lines in my family. Everyone else does, they all go back to kings. But not me; sheepherders. So what I do, whenever I go to Ireland, I would see, I was younger and faster so when we took the sheep to market, I'd run ahead and close the gates. Well, I couldn't do that anymore. But at night we'd close the sheep up in a pen, they're all surrounded by stone walls. And we had a dog, there's always a dog, it's right there, Tomb's the town, county of Galway. And the dog's there at night to protect those sheep, because there are foxes out there that are going to come in. So too, with the shooters. I feel that there's a shepherd there in the day, there's teachers, there's people to protect them but you have to protect these students and I don't feel banning guns from people who want to. I went to the Senator from District 10, I spoke with I believe Hinsdale's one of your towns, I'm in schools almost every day as you know in my line of business. So I speak with all the principals, they were pretty split, half and half. It's probably that week of vacation I spent more time talking about the shooting and what we could do to protect schools than I did hanging the stage curtains to the chagrin of my wife, and my profit. But what we came down with is split, it was when I went up to Campton, I talked to the gym teacher. He's like an ex-Navy Seal and he wants to carry and he feels he could protect that school. I feel that this is going to stop people like him who could protect the students. We're not going to tell anyone they should carry, shouldn't carry. Again, Florida had a ban zone, the shooting still happened.

I still think that if you have an unarmed building, it's an invitation to people who are going to do bad. And I think there are guns that can be used, there are ones with fingerprints so that they're always worried that the gun could get in the wrong hands, you could have all the teachers with a fingerprint handgun, so if they fell out it somehow got into the wrong hands, no one could be hurt. There's things like that could be done, but I don't think leaving the sheep unattended is going to make the flock safe. So I am against this bill. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment before us. My colleague from District 12 and many others in this body have talked a lot in this session and last about parental control and parents having the final say on the education and welfare of their children. I ask you all, how can there be any other subject more important for a parent to weigh in on than their child's safety and their very lives. Passage of this amendment would be a way to ensure that outcome at the local level where we live and where we send our children off to school every day. I urge you to take this opportunity to take and try and do something about the possibility of a terrible tragedy happening here in New Hampshire. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for a question of Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: With your Ivy League background I'm always feeling outgunned so be gentle.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Good, so my question for you is, let me start by saying that I've heard a lot of people talk about how this amendment, in response to this amendment that I'm asking the state of New Hampshire to ban guns in school and again, I am not. I am asking for local control. I'm not saying we should not have guns in all our schools. I am suggesting that the school boards be allowed to decide. Is that your understanding?

SENATOR GANNON: We're a home rule state, I just wanted to get the term properly. I don't feel it's going to be, then I meant the other way, the state controls, there's a term for it, there's a term for, you know what I'm talking about, what is it? We're not home ruled we are, what's the term? I understand but there's a term.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Okay, we've established we are not a home rule state.

SENATOR GANNON: It doesn't matter. I don't feel that if you're in Chester we're going to have one set of laws and then in Sandown we're going to have another and we're going to have another in Derry and we're going to, all these children should be safe on the same basis. So I think this really is an issue that should be done here. This is such a large issue. I think it could be very detrimental and confusing to every single town to have a multiplex of, I think this should be done here, I don't think we should pass it along, it would be very easy to just pass this bill along and not have to get involved. But no I think it should be done here.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you. You are aware, I'm sure, or are you aware that school boards make all sorts of decisions for their own schools and we've allowed them to do that? That is the way school boards operate. This is pretty much the only thing we're not letting them decide for their own schools for local control. Are you aware of that?

SENATOR GANNON: I am aware of that and I would say it's because it's a life and death issue, and that's why it needs to be done here and not in local control.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: I promise it's quick. Senator Kahn, I'm sorry, the Senator from District 10 otherwise known as Senator Kahn, spoke about the trauma of children in schools. I've spoken to a lot of students, some of whom I've walked with when they walked out of school to protest this issue. And one of the things they say is that even the drills are traumatic. Can you imagine in your own children's lives the trauma of watching a teacher shoot a student?

SENATOR GANNON: My response to you would be can you imagine the trauma, maybe that teacher could have stopped fifteen or sixteen other students from being killed. And so by pulling the gun and shooting the perpetrator, they could have saved that many lives and there'd be that many less deaths that those children would see.

Senator Avard moved the question.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Considering the nature of this topic, the following speakers have lined up so I'm going to let them speak. Next is Senator Gray, followed by Senator Sanborn, followed by Senator Fuller Clark, followed by Senator Feltes, followed by Senator Giuda, followed by Senator Bradley.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn for a question of Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you Senator for taking my question. I know you're a lawyer and when you go into a courtroom, guns are banned from the court. Don't you think that the kids deserve the same protections, and if not, would you support that the courts be able to determine their own…

SENATOR GANNON: Actually the bailiffs usually, the courtrooms, I haven't been in a courtroom in a while but when I used to go a lot, the bailiffs were armed in many courtrooms. Maybe things have changed since I went to court.

SENATOR WOODBURN: The question is people be able to bring guns in to feel safe into the courtroom, not the secured, I mean school resource officers can carry guns. No one takes their guns away in any schools, they're allowed to we're talking about law-abiding citizens bringing their guns into the courtroom, they're barred from doing that. Do you favor that policy?

SENATOR GANNON: Well I'm talking about like when I was in Hinsdale, in Senator Kahn's district, the principal thought it would be a good idea if possibly, we were talking about what might happen, arming people, I believe he was, again I was probably in thirty schools and I talked to every principal, vice-principal about it, that week, I believe that he was in favor of examining that idea, the kind of personnel who wanted to, who were smart enough to handle weapons, who were familiar with them. He thought that may be a good idea as the guy did in Campton as did others. And obviously when I went to Dover it was totally the other way, there were no guns they wanted nothing there. But I, like you, want to protect the children. Again I have three kids in a public school. I want them all to be as safe as possible.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and hopefully I'll be very brief. The point of the conversation before when I was questioning the Senator from District 5 is who does this law apply to? The Senator when she introduced the bill said it was very simple, very easy to understand. But it's not. And when you go back and read the previous section in that law, it says pupils and employees. Hmm. I noticed that her amendment doesn't say who it applies to. And I look at the paragraph right above, where the Senator is inserting her paragraph 3, already talks about being able to take care of students that bring firearms into a school. So again, those kind of questions are the questions that I have that make me think that this is not a simple bill, that the school boards, I should say the state school board already has rule-making authority which is what this entire paragraph is all about and that they have the ability to do it for pupils and employees, which is the point of this paragraph.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. First and foremost I'd like to thank all the members of this body so far for a respectful, polite debate. There are days in here when tempers flare, emotions run wild and things can be challenging for us to debate very important issues like this and this had been very polite and well thought out and articulate and I'd like to again thank all the members.

From my perspective, I think about what is our responsibility. The number one responsibility and duty we have as elected officials is to keep our people safe. We talk and we debate about all types of things in here. But our number one goal is to keep our people safe. It trumps everything else we talk about. And I know that all of us believe in that and embrace it. I think part of the challenge we're struggling with is how do we keep our people safe? We have different opinions on that.

You know it's interesting because right during the tragedy in Parkland you all remember, a lot of us were hanging around this building. And what most of you don't know, in fact I don't think any of you know, was the school right next door to Parkland there was either a loud explosion, a bomb or a gun or something happened and that school went into lockdown with my wife's and my nephews in the school. While we're in session, texting my wife and I about what to do while they're hiding in a closet. How do we keep our people safe? I thought a lot about it that day.

You know, since this has happened and even going all the way back there's Columbine and Sandy Hook and every time we have this truly tragic event in our society, what's nice is we talk. We don't scream at each other, we don't yell, we don't jump up and down we don't demand, we talk. And I've heard from, sat down with and talked to parents who say I believe my children will be safer if you remove all the guns from school in fact remove guns completely. Spoken with an equal number of parents that say I am concerned, I need to find a way to make sure my child is protected from bad things. I've talked to students that have said. I don't feel safe and I'll only feel safe if you remove guns. And I've talked to other students that have said you need to do something to make me feel safe and if that means an armed guard following me around every day, I'm okay with that. Which to me kind of raised this issue that I had, that I commented on a week or two ago, that I am dumbfounded that in our society today we accept and encourage armed guards standing in banks, protecting our money, which today isn't even in the building. We find it totally acceptable in our society to have to walk through locked doors with armed guards before we can buy a trinket at a retail store. And recently I was in New York City and watched armed SWAT members guarding street performers. But yet we argue whether or not the single most precious asset we have on earth, our children should be protected or not. I've really struggled since I was standing in New York City and saw these guards and went up and asked them and said well why are you here? You all have AKs, you have M4s, you have Colts, full body armor the whole helmet, pretty intimidating and they said we're here to protect the people.

Then I thought a lot about, what do we do and how do we make people comfortable, because this isn't a question about whether or not there should be guns in school or guns not in school. This is a question about how do people feel safe anywhere. You know we can't forget as part of this conversation and debate that there are many places, Texas, Colorado, Ohio where there are school systems that actually have armed security, trained, wanting to be there, they're protecting our children. You know in fact in one school system in Ohio, the superintendent actually started a program where they put gun stations throughout the school system and fifty teachers, janitors, coaches, resource officers came forward and said that they want it, wanted to make sure that they were properly trained and wanted to make sure that they were there to protect the kids in their community. And ultimately that school picked thirty-five of the fifty and gave them special permissions and no one knows who they are, to make sure they are there to protect their kids.

And why is that important? Why it is important is for some of us we see the disparity today between Parkland and Maryland. I see a disparity between one school, of which there was no one there to protect our kids, and another school where a resource officer had the training, had the desire, had the equipment and while it was still an absolute tragedy, it was dramatically less of a tragedy than what we saw at Parkland.

Look, Mister President, I truly understand and empathize with all the parents that believe that they believe if there are no guns allowed that they believe their kids would be safer. I hear kids when they say, if there's no guns allowed, I'll be safer. But what my colleague from District number 5 said earlier. We call for drug–free zones, schools, but the truth is kids are still doing drugs at school. We call for smoke-free zones at schools and we know kids are still smoking. Just because we say, we do not want to allow people to legally arm themselves or have a firearm, people who want to be, have trained, is that going to stop someone who wants to do something bad? And that's my fear when I think about what it takes to keep our people safe.

Mister President, I am obviously not supportive of this amendment because I do believe that there are bad things that could happen to our kids, and I want to make sure that those adults who want to and are properly trained have the ability to protect the most precious asset we have on earth. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment because I do believe that community to community should be able to decide how best to defend the students in their towns and cities. But I've been listening to, which is really a very extraordinary conversation and debate that we've been having this afternoon. And what I'm struck by is the fact that we are seeing a nation that is being turned into a war zone. Rather it's around our kids in school, rather it's about individuals who go to a concert such as we saw in Las Vegas, and the many other tragic shootings that have occurred around, mass shootings that have occurred around this country. And I think at some point we need to have a larger debate because we are not seeing this happening in other countries around the world. And I believe that the best way to keep our students safe, to keep the constituents in our communities safe and to keep this country safe is yes on the one hand to have those individuals who are adequately trained and have them well–armed and be placed in appropriate situations. But at the same time, I believe that we have to look at how we can take the most deadly weapons that succeed in a minute or two, of taking the lives of tens or twenties or thirties of people who are part of families, who are loved and cared for and suddenly they're not there. So I would hope we would look at the larger issue and see if there is not a way to at least remove the most dangerous weapons and the magazines that go with them from being available to individuals throughout our country who then have the ability to conduct massacres. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Just to clarify just a couple of technical issues which aren't really issues but, school boards under this language have broad authority to determine whether or not to prohibit possession of firearms in the safe school zone and intentionally left open is by who, so they can determine whether or not security guard is armed. It's up to the local school district under this broad authority for the school board. That's number one, number two; there's some suggestion that this only applies to public school pupils and public school employees. That's incorrect. The language says the State Board of Education shall adopt rules relative to safe school zones. Under RSA 541-A for public school pupils and public school employees regarding calling so, had the legislature wanted to say, as applied to which it has plenty of times, or applicable only to, it would have these rules are for the protection and safe school zone of pupils and school employees. So it's broad, it's broad authority for local school boards and I just wanted to clear those two technical issues, which I don't think are issues. Just wanted to clear those up. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. There isn't a person in this room that is not horrified, disgusted and tired of the pictures of our children's bodies laying on the floors of their classrooms, because they're only defense has been to cower under a desk or hide in the closet. We have to come to grips with some pretty grim realities and that's our job here, is not to deal with wishful thinking or hope, but to deal with the reality of a situation. To those students up there watching and listening, your school boards will do for you the best that they can, but your school boards are not competent to do what it takes to defend you and to protect you. And for that reason our Governor has established a task force with extremely competent experts from every range to deal with the issue of school safety. The legislature has provided you and your schools with a $19 million fund to harden your schools and make them safer. But at the end of the day, the tragic and horrific reality is that sooner or later an armed individual with the intent to kill is going to get into a school. And I would submit, my colleagues, that our obligation in protecting our children includes an obligation to defend those children. And that to defend those children is probably going to require measures that many of us would find repugnant. I remind you that on September 11 of 2001, America's cockpits were disarmed by law. I remind you that in every single school massacre without exception, those schools were protected by gun-free zones. They're ineffective and while we may not have statistical data, we have empirical data that shows that time after time after time our students are murdered by people who ignored those safe zones.

I spoke with the Commissioner of Safety. He advised me very wisely that not only must we have a component that takes into account the tactical, yes horrific word, that the tactical realities of how we defend a school and once that perimeter is breached, how we protect the lives of our children. We must combine that with a mental health component which we are moving forward with and aggressively and our Governor's leading in that and we are helping. So it's not just a problem of guns. It's a problem of your safety and your fear while you may think it is of guns, I would submit to you is a fear of dying. And while the instrument that you perceive as the very weapon that could cause that is also an instrument that can prevent it.

Albert Einstein said that insanity consists of doing the same thing over and over and over again and expecting a different outcome. But it is proven that what we've done as a nation, as states, as communities has failed time and time and time again. And so I have every faith that this Governor's task force specifically focused on making your school safe and keeping you safe and alive will do the job it's intended to do. I would oppose this amendment and I would trust in those people that have the tactical expertise, the mental health expertise and all those fields of endeavor that have to come in. I would not put this in the hands of a local school board because they don't have the competency to deal with the issue at hand. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: To the Senators, I'd remind you and several of you have done it, you speak to the President when you're speaking.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you, Mister President. First of all I think it's appropriate to thank all of you that are in the audience. Your voices are loud and eloquent and you have the absolute right to be demanding that your schools are safe. I agree with my colleague from Hanover that when there's fear, there's an inability to learn. And it's our responsibility to make sure that there is no fear because your schools are safe. The question each and every one of us need to ask, and this is a hard question. What deters a deranged person from inflicting the kind of harm that we're seeing in schools, on the streets of New York City, in Austin, Texas? That's the question that we need to ask. It's the only question that really matters. What is effective?

As the previous speaker just said, the designation of a gun free school zone hasn't been particularly effective. I wish it were. If I thought it was, I'd join my colleague from Hanover. After 9/11 we really hardened airports; magnetometers, all sorts of searches. I'll never forget when I used to fly back and forth to Washington, the belts came off, the shoes came off. Everybody saw Bradley holding up his pants. Well guess what, it worked. And our colleague, when he speaks after me is going to highlight all of the things that have been done since Sandy Hook, in New Hampshire. That's where the debate has to go. Because that's what's going to deter and keep our schools safe. I wish we could just adopt a proclamation to do that. That'd be great, we're good at proclamations. Will it deter gun violence? That's the question.

There are some things that we need to do, I think we should consider. I'm looking at requiring an active shooter drill. Don't know that there are twenty-three other voices in here to support that, but it's certainly something that we should be considering to better prepare our schools. I'm going to say this and I can tell you, well my friend's not here, I don't feel pistol whipped by the NRA, when I say the next thing. We need to be looking very actively at red flag legislation with appropriate due process criteria built into it so that people like the person in Florida that had every red flag out there, doesn't fall through the cracks. That's what's going to keep schools safe. There's going to be a lot of opposition to that. We need to thread the needle and look at that and do it correctly. Because whether it's the Austin bomber, whether it's the person that's bringing schools into the high school, guns into the school and high school in Florida or any of the other terrible tragedies that we've had. Effective deterrents is what matters. And I would say, and our friend from Deerfield is going to talk about what Perry Plummer and his team have done, because I think that this is a good start, they've been doing it for years and that's where the debate should go to make sure that all of our friends in the audience who are speaking up for themselves and demanding safety, that's the single most effective thing that we can do today and tomorrow as we consider some of the other things that I just highlighted. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Reagan.)

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. We've been at this an hour and twenty minutes so I'll try to do this in three minutes. Right now every school in the state of New Hampshire is required to develop an emergency operations plan. And when you follow this whole guideline you wind up with about three hundred pages of information. The details, the responsibility of every person in every school district in every school and every classroom. And there's even references to what the students are supposed to be doing and what the explanation you're supposed to have if some untoward event happens in your school. So the template covers any type of emergency you can think of; fire, flood, earthquake, active shooter. So we don't need a law to command an active shooter requirement, it's here. You have to do it. There's over 650 schools in New Hampshire. Thirty-seven of these schools haven't submitted a plan yet. So the thing for you to do, is go back to your school and say, do we have an emergency operations plan? What's my part in that, what am I expected to do? What can I offer to do to help protect my school? So this is here, and they're doing it now and if they're not, you should ask them for their explanation. So I'm confident, I know I've investigated the schools in my district. We have the plans, we are ready this session in Senate Education to pass the bill that reinforces the idea that the emergency plan has to be shared with local law enforcement. Wasn't required before it wasn't required as strongly before, now that has to be done. So your local law enforcement and in the towns believe me, your six man police departments, every plan they make includes all the surrounding towns. Because that's what happens when something happens in one little town, the word goes out through your county dispatch or whatever dispatch you're using and the cavalry comes to the rescue. It's in place. So go home, pick up the phone and ask the principal in your school how's your emergency operations plan, is it complete? What do I do? Ask that in your classrooms, in case of an emergency what am I supposed to do? If the teacher doesn't know, say can you bring us back the answer tomorrow? Because if you're prepared you're better able to forestall a disaster. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Feltes.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Reagan, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 9 - Nays: 14. Failed.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A roll call was requested by Senator Hennessey, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
SB 322, relative to access to a water utility.
Interim Study, Vote 4-0. Senator Feltes for the committee.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 322 be referred to Interim Study. This bill requires that a property owner shall have access to service from a water utility if the owner pays the rates for such service. This bill would deny the ability of a water utility or municipal corporations to refuse to provide adequate service to a property owner that seeks to connect water service. The committee felt that this bill raised many questions and further examination of its effects needed to be reviewed more thoroughly. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support of a motion of Interim Study on Senate Bill 322. Thank you very much.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Adopted.

Amendment to SB 365

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to the use of renewable generation in default service.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Findings. New Hampshire and New England electricity supply is heavily dependent upon natural gas-fired generation, which is subject to pricing volatility. The effect of natural gas pricing volatility on energy prices can result in the closure of New Hampshire renewable generators and the loss of jobs and other statewide economic benefits derived from using indigenous renewable fuels. The general court finds that: the continued operation of the state's 6 independent biomass-fired electric generating plants and other indigenous-fueled renewable generating plants, such as small hydroelectric generation, are at-risk due to energy pricing volatility. These plants (i) are important to the state's economy and jobs, and, in particular, the 6 biomass-fired generators are vital to the state's sawmill and other forest products industries and employment in those industries, and (ii) these indigenous-fueled renewable generating plants are also important to state policies because they provide generating fuel diversity and environmental benefits. The general court finds that the use of these indigenous renewable resources as part of electric default service will promote the continued operation of, and the preservation of employment associated with, the 6 biomass-fired power plants and the other sources of indigenous-fueled renewables and, therefore, is in the public interest.

2 New Chapter; The Use of Renewable Generation in Default Service. Amend RSA by inserting after chapter 362-G the following new chapter:

CHAPTER 362-H

THE USE OF RENEWABLE GENERATION IN DEFAULT SERVICE

362-H:1 Definitions. In this chapter:

I. "Adjusted energy rate" means 80 percent of the rate, expressed in dollars per megawatt-hour, resulting from the default energy rate minus, if applicable, the rate component for compliance with the renewable energy portfolio standards law, RSA 362-F, if that rate component is included in the approved default energy rate.

II. "Biomass" means plant-derived fuel including clean and untreated wood such as brush stumps, lumber ends and trimmings, wood pallets, bark, wood chips or pellets, shavings, sawdust and slash, agricultural crops, biogas, or liquid biofuels, but shall exclude any materials derived in whole or in part from construction and demolition debris.

III. "Commission" means the public utilities commission.

IV. "Default energy rate" means the default service energy rate applicable to residential class customers, expressed in dollars per megawatt-hour, as approved by the commission from time to time, and which is available to retail electric customers who are otherwise without an electricity supplier.

V. "Default service provider" means the entity or entities approved by the commission, from time to time, to provide default service to the residential class of electric customers for each electric distribution company which is subject to commission approval of default service procurement.

VI.(a) "Eligible facility" means any facility which produces electricity for sale by the use, as a primary energy source, of biomass, municipal solid waste, solar, or hydroelectric resources or any combination thereof; provided that: (1) the facility's power production capacity is not greater than 5 megawatts, excluding station service needs if the facility is a hydroelectric facility, and the facility's power production capacity is not greater than 25 megawatts, excluding station service needs for all other facilities; (2) the facility is interconnected with an electric distribution or transmission system located in New Hampshire; and (3) the facility began operation prior to January 1, 2006, or if the facility ceased operation and then later returned to service after that date, then prior to January 1, 2006 the facility operated for at least 5 years.

(b) "Eligible facility" shall not include: (1) any facility's kilowatt hours actually sold or used in a net energy metering project under RSA 362-A or any similar law; (2) any facility, while selling its electrical output at long-term rates established before January 1, 2007 by orders of the commission under RSA 362-A:4; (3) any municipal solid waste facility less than 10 megawatts in size and which was not in operation on January 1, 2018; and (4) any hydroelectric facility that is the subject of divestiture in commission docket DE 17-124.

VII. "Primary energy source" means a fuel or fuels, or energy resource either singly or in combination, that comprises at least 90 percent of the total energy input into a generating unit. A fuel or energy source other than the primary fuel or energy source may be used only for start-up, maintenance, or other required internal needs of the facility.

362-H:2 Default Service Short-Term Purchased Power Agreements. Each electric distribution company that is subject to the commission's approval regarding procurement of default service shall include as a condition in each default service procurement for the residential electric customer class, the requirement that the selected default service provider agrees to offer to purchase, for use as part of its default energy supply, the net energy output of any eligible facility located in the electric distribution company's service territory in accordance with the following:

I.(a) Prior to each solicitation of its default service supply, each such electric distribution company shall solicit proposals, in one solicitation or multiple solicitations, from eligible facilities. The electric distribution company's solicitation to eligible facilities shall inform eligible facilities of the opportunity to submit a proposal to enter into a power purchase agreement with the electric distribution company's selected default service provider, as approved by the commission, to sell an amount of energy to the default service provider for use in the provision of default service for a period that is coterminous with the time period used in the default service supply solicitation. The solicitation shall provide that sales of energy from the eligible facility shall be priced at the adjusted energy rate derived from the default service rates approved by the commission in each applicable default service supply solicitation and resulting rates proceeding.

(b) The solicitation shall also inform the eligible facility that: (1) the output of the eligible facility shall be delivered to the default service provider at the eligible facility's interconnection point with the electric distribution company; (2) the eligible facility's contract generation must be from the eligible facility's net electrical output and the eligible facility shall not replace its output with that of another unit; and (3) the eligible facility must agree to deliver all of its net electrical output to the selected default service provider, to the extent electrical output is not committed for use in a net metering program.

II. Each eligible facility's proposal in response to such solicitation shall provide a proposed schedule of hourly net output amounts during the term stated over a mutually agreeable period, whether daily or over the 6-month term and such other information as needed for the eligible facility to submit and the electric distribution company to evaluate the proposal.

III. As part of its periodic residential electric customer default service supply solicitation the electric distribution company shall inform potential default service providers of the requirements of this chapter and provide each with the results of the applicable eligible facility solicitation. As a result of such solicitations, and as a condition of commission approval of the default service provider's contract with the electric distribution company for default service, the default service provider shall select all proposals from eligible facilities that conform to the requirements of this section and enter into power purchase agreements for an internal bilateral transaction for market energy pursuant to the independent system operator of New England (ISO-NE) market rules with the selected eligible facilities for unit contingent energy for periods coterminous with the period of time used in the default service supply solicitation. The form of power purchase agreement to be used shall be the EEI Master Power Purchase and Sale Agreement, version 2.1. The default service provider shall act as the lead market participant for any selected eligible facility that is not a member of ISO-NE and requests such service. The eligible facility agrees to pay a reasonable fee for such service.

IV. Any such power purchase agreement shall be subject to review and approval by the commission in the same proceeding in which it undertakes the review and approval of the electric distribution company's periodic default service solicitation and resulting rates. The commission shall issue a decision on such agreements at the same time it issues a decision on the default service solicitation and resulting rates.

V. The costs incurred pursuant to purchases under this section shall be recovered by the electric distribution company in the same manner as recovery of default service charges. Such costs may include reasonable costs incurred by electric distribution companies pursuant to this section.

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires the solicitation of default electricity service by the state's electric distribution companies to include certain renewable electricity generation supply.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 365 Ought to Pass with Amendment. What this bill does at its very base, is to give relief to the renewable energy industry, hydro, biomass and waste to energy in New Hampshire. Indigenous New Hampshire companies and jobs would be able to, under the amendment, the Committee Amendment, sell their energy to the default service provider, which is the energy provider that customers who don't make the competitive choice, how they actually get their power delivered to them from the filler. It's discounted to 80 percent of the cost of that default service. That's a significant change from the way the bill was filed.

No one in this building, I think has fought longer and harder than I have for rate relief for New Hampshire customers. Going back to the deregulation legislation when I served on the other side of the wall, before I took a vacation. But also no one's fought harder than I have to make sure that we protect those indigenous resources. Not only for the fact that we need fuel diversity, which we do because we're overly dependent on natural gas, not just as a state but as a region, but also to protect jobs. So what do we have? There are six biomass plants, some in our friend from District 1's district, some in District 2, District 3 and District 8. And one that has a rate order with Eversource in District 1. These plants contribute 900 jobs to New Hampshire in areas of the state that people can't easily be re-trained to take other jobs because they worked in the woods all their lives with chainsaws in logging operations. The Energy Committee heard testimony and we all know one of the wood plants has closed. Two will close, that was very clear because one of the plant managers was there to testify to that effect and a third will close for several months a year and the other two I believe are not far behind. That's 900 jobs in the North Country. Now I realize that there is a great impact, but as my friend from District 12 reminds me, the pie don't lie. Here's the pie. So energy, and these are Eversource rates, 53 percent, transmission 12 percent, delivery 21 percent, customer charges, that's the systems benefits charge, and the tax that we repealed thankfully and the systems benefits charge that together is about 12 percent. Here this little itty bitty pie shaped graph is the cost of renewable energy. So yes, I'm going to stand here and tell you there is a cost to those jobs. That's a fact of life. But loss of those jobs means loss of fuel tax revenue, it means a big hit on the unemployment trust fund in all likelihood, timber tax, those are for the biomass plants. Higher tipping fees for the waste to energy plant, to make up the difference from not being able to sell electricity, and loss of property tax base for all of them including the hydros, if they're no longer competitive.

The pressure on us is extreme on electric rates, I make no bones about it. So when this amendment came before the Energy Committee, we heard the testimony of a former Eversource Northeast Utilities employee that talked about what happens if those plants go offline, the 100 megawatts. I don't want to have to go into what a capacity payment is, but it's a payment that every electric customer pays in order to guarantee the capacity to keep the lights on. So if that 100 megawatts disappears, our capacity payments at the next capacity auction, which granted is two or three years in the future, will go up. And the estimate of the former NU employee, Mister James Gianetti, was $17 million. He also talked about something which is called a risk premium that is paid for when somebody bids on the default service, likely to be aided by knowing they have a slug of New Hampshire renewable energy that's dependable and then also somewhat higher potentially transmission costs.

So while I would agree we do have control over these renewable facilities, they could all close, the 900 jobs could go away, the tax base could go away, there are a lot of things that actually drive this pie that we have less control over. Utility rate of return, tree cutting. We've got to tree cut or else we'll have outages. Just the cost of delivery, the cost of transmission, the cost of storm damage repair. And what we also have is an ability to locate anything that will bring new energy sources into New Hampshire, whether it's gas, whether it's hydro from Canada, anything. So let's not put 900 people out of work by not voting for the committee amendment, because that's what will happen. We've heard the dire warnings of the people in the forest products industry that are in our friend, our friend and my district primarily, but also in other districts. I commend the Committee Amendment, I know there's a lot of discussion about it, but that's why we are doing what we're doing. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: I like the North Country. Senator from District 3 has good points. I was doing a free will for an old woman, somehow she lives across the lake from me and she thinks every year her will needs to be done. So I do it for her, we just play with it and I bring her some food, we talk and talk, and it's really the same will every year. I don't charge her, don't worry about it. But she only has one light on when I go in and she can't afford, I always ask can you turn more lights on, and she's like I can't afford it, I don't have enough money. So although a well-intentioned attempt to support jobs in the North Country, I can't support it. Senate Bill 365 has a deleterious impact. Two of them in fact.

First it increases electric bills for rate payers by approximately $30 million per year. Considering the policies that increase the cost of electricity are inherently regressive, 365 places an additional financial burden on our most vulnerable citizens, the senior citizens, the people on fixed incomes, the elderly, the poor. I want to help the North, but I have to think of my own district.

Second, 365 creates additional regulations and government mandates on electricity providers which is in direct contrast to the restructuring goals which were just completed with the sale of the last PSNH generation assets this winter. A vote for 365 is a vote to increase most of our consumers electric costs, your constituents, especially the poor and the elderly, and they pay typically a higher percentage of their income on electricity. I strongly urge you to protect the ratepayers and overturn the committee's recommendation of Ought to Pass with Amendment on 365. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard for a question of Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you and thanks for taking my question. With regards to this, your lady, do you happen to know if she's on default?

SENATOR GANNON: I know that she lives in a cottage across from me, and is she on…

SENATOR AVARD: Default energy.

SENATOR GANNON: Is that where you buy it cheaper?

SENATOR AVARD: No, that's where you buy it more expensively.

SENATOR GANNON: Oh more expensively. I don't know which plan she's on, or on PSNH. I just know she's very limited, I've seen her fridge, she offers me what's in there and usually I take anything, and there's nothing in there to have.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. Would you believe, this is a would you believe question, that there are at least twenty-three other options for her to lower her rates?

SENATOR GANNON: I'm sure she could cut back on her dogfood too, but I'm not telling her to cut back on anything else. But you're saying there are different options. There probably are other options and I don't think she's going to find them or look into them. She's in her nineties.

SENATOR AVARD: Would you believe that it would be just another energy source that is totally available, takes three minutes to change from default to another cheaper energy source.

SENATOR GANNON: I would believe that.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you. Thank you, very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. Having heard, I rise in support of this, having heard being mentioned this is for the North Country, let me note the importance of small hydroelectric generation. There are three of these dams in my district and I bet there are many dams in the district of the Senator from District 23 and maybe even the impoundment on the lake you so love. And if we lose the capacity for these dams to keep functioning we lose not just the economic benefit there and the power supply but we also potentially lose the impoundments behind them that's so important for our environment and for recreation. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. It's a difficult question that we answer with this bill. This is a bill that's about New Hampshire. The fuel for these plants is in New Hampshire. The people that cut the wood are New Hampshire families. The people that move the wood to the trucks are New Hampshire residents and families. The people that drive the wood to the biomass facility are New Hampshire residents and taxpayers. The people at the biomass plant and the people who dispose of it and the people in the timber mills who use those biomass plants as a resource from which they gain some revenue stream and as well a benefit from getting rid of a product that would otherwise be a liability to them environmentally. Uniqueness of these biomass plants is specifically that they are totally New Hampshire. Yes this may be a rate support, what's not yet been developed but I am meeting and we are working to develop is a system where we can establish numerous biomass plants that support one another and enable the North Country and anyone else who might want to try it in their districts given that you have the resources, the ability to cut loose the bias over New England, that whole grid that is the real source of the problem. Then they can locally develop, they can locally energize, they can locally transmit, they can do whatever they need locally and that is energy independence. And so I'm asking you to think carefully before you throw these plants under the bus. One in my district is gone, the other is hanging on by fingernails, the remainder are in as near as bad shape. But there is movement in the research of these biomass plants working together and pairing or twinning, so that we can just establish perhaps independence of energy for small towns in the North Country. So I would ask you to support this amendment and to support 365. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Giuda, seconded by Senator Gannon.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Kahn, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Innis.

The following Senators voted No: Daniels, Birdsell, Gannon, Morse.

Amendment to SB 447

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Repeal. RSA 362-F:6, II-a, relative to credit for electricity production for customer-sited sources that are net metered and for which renewable energy certificates are not issued, is repealed.
2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

2018-1085s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill repeals the requirement that the public utilities commission estimate and give credit for the total yearly production for customer-sited sources that are net metered and for which class I or II renewable energy certificates are not issued.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Before Senator Fuller Clark speaks all the rest, the next five bills are something to zero, so you don't need to speak as long as Senator Bradley.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 447 Ought to Pass with Amendment. The bill as introduced would have modified the procedure for the Public Utilities Commission to estimate and report on the production of consumer sited renewable energy that is net metered and for which renewable energy certificates have not been issued. After hearing testimony in the committee, the committee amended the bill to repeal the requirement that the Public Utilities Commission estimate and give credit for the total yearly production for customer sited sources that are net metered and for which class I and class II renewable energy certificates are not issued. This repeal would eliminate the credit utilities can use against their annual RPS compliance in class II and the removal of the credit would lead to additional demand for class II RECs by New Hampshire's distribution utilities. Developers and homeowners who use solar energy will earn more with higher REC prices due to increased demand. The repeal would also remove an administrative burden on the Public Utilities Commission, and the distribution utilities in calculating the credit, and save them some dollars. There was no objection to this change from the three utilities and in fact the repeal was adjusted by Eversource. And it would remove the need to calculate the credit offsetting any additional cost the utilities in the purchase of these class II RECs. The Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on Senate Bill 447. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SB 449, relative to the site evaluation committee.
Interim Study, Vote 4-0. Senator Feltes for the committee.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 449 be referred to Interim Study. This bill makes changes to the site evaluation committee. The bill alters the makeup of the members of the site evaluation committee. The legislation would replace the full committee with nine members of the public and the Chairman of the PUC as a non-voting member. All sub-committees would also be made of public members. The bill would also allow site evaluation committee hearings to take place on evenings and Saturdays. The committee felt like this bill raised many questions that needed to be answered and further examination of its effects need to be reviewed more thoroughly. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support for the motion of Interim Study on Senate Bill 449. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Adopted.

SB 452, relative to renewable energy fund incentive payments.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Bradley for the committee.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. This bill just allows the renewable energy fund to be used for leased solar systems as well as owned solar systems. Doesn't increase the fund, it just expands those that might be eligible. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SB 454, relative to ambient water quality standards and maximum contaminant levels for certain perflourinated chemicals.
Interim Study, Vote 4-0. Senator Feltes for the committee.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 454 be referred to Interim Study. This bill requires the Department of Environmental Services to review existing scientific studies and implement rulemaking for ambient water quality standards and maximum contaminant levels for specific perflourinated chemicals. This bill was introduced to address the rise of certain emerging chemicals found in drinking water in the Seacoast Region and seeks to ensure that current ambient water quality standards for perflourinated chemicals found in groundwater in New Hampshire are reflective of current scientific research. This legislation would also target two other emerging perflourinated chemicals; PFNA and PFHXS. The committee believes that this bill needs further work to accommodate the needs of the Department of Environmental Services and to allow more time to understand the impact of this legislation on the public and on our communities. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support of a motion of Interim Study on Senate Bill 454. Thank you.

Senator Avard moved to Lay on the Table SB 454. Adopted.

Amendment to SB 537

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT conferring extraterritorial financing powers on the New Hampshire business finance authority.

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 New Chapter; Extraterritorial Financing Powers of the New Hampshire Business Finance Authority. Amend RSA by inserting after chapter 162-R the following new chapter:

CHAPTER 162-S
EXTRATERRITORIAL FINANCING POWERS
OF THE NEW HAMPSHIRE BUSINESS FINANCE AUTHORITY

162-S:1 Declaration of Policy. It is declared that the policy of the state of New Hampshire to promote itself as an effective location for private enterprise, and therefore the policy of the state of New Hampshire is to provide for the establishment, support, preservation, and redevelopment of business and industry, whether or not operated for profit, located outside the state of New Hampshire. It is further declared that the performance of the powers conferred on the business finance authority as set forth in this chapter shall be regarded as performing an essential governmental function in carrying out the policy set forth in this section and by the carrying out of the powers set forth in the following provisions of this chapter. The purpose of this chapter is to expand and not to limit the existing powers of the business finance authority in order to carry out this policy.

162-S:2 Definitions. Unless the context otherwise clearly requires, in this chapter:

I. "Authority" or "national finance authority" means the business finance authority acting pursuant to this chapter and operating under the name "national finance authority".

II. "Business finance authority" means the New Hampshire business finance authority created pursuant to RSA 162-A.

III. "Bond" means any bond, note, or other obligation evidencing indebtedness issued or entered into or acquired or incurred by the authority under this chapter, including any certificate of participation or lease or lease-purchase, installment sale, or other financing agreement, and any refunding bond or other indebtedness with respect to a bond or any other evidence of indebtedness issued by the authority or another party.

IV. "Designated member" means the executive director of the business finance authority and the 4 members of the board of directors of the authority appointed pursuant to RSA 162-S:3, II.

V. "Executive board" means the executive board of the national finance authority, whose designated members collectively shall have and carry out the powers conferred on the business finance authority in this chapter.

VI. "Participating institution" means any project owner, co-owner, operator, sponsor, or other party which, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, undertakes the financing and construction or acquisition of a project or undertakes the refunding or refinancing of bonds relating to a project as provided in and permitted by this chapter.

VII. "Project" means any capital improvement, purchase of receivables, property, assets, commodities, bonds, or other revenue streams or related assets, working capital program, or liability or other insurance program, located outside of the state. The term "project" shall include any housing facility, located outside the state, for students, faculty, or staff affiliated with an educational institution and any housing facility, including without limitation any senior living, assisted living, or nursing home facility, used or operated by or for the benefit of any hospital, health care, senior care, or senior living institution in connection with the carrying out of hospital, health care, senior care, or senior living services, but shall not include any housing, housing project, or any other facility that may be financed by the New Hampshire housing finance authority under RSA 204-C without the written consent of the New Hampshire housing finance authority's executive director or designee. Notwithstanding anything in this definition or chapter to the contrary, the participating institution shall be afforded the ability to use whichever authority it chooses in writing.

VIII. "Revenue" means all moneys and fees received from participating institutions or any other source with respect to a project or otherwise for services provided by or on behalf of the authority.

IX. "State" means the state of New Hampshire.

162-S:3 Establishment of the Authority; Membership; Meetings; Reporting.

I. The national finance authority is hereby established within and as a component unit of the business finance authority for the purpose of exercising the powers, duties and responsibilities conferred by this chapter. While acting pursuant to this chapter, the business finance authority shall operate under the name "national finance authority". Subject to the provisions of this chapter, the authority shall be governed by the designated members as provided in paragraph II. The authority shall not be separate from the business finance authority but through its executive board shall exercise all powers and take all actions pursuant to this chapter on behalf of the business finance authority.

II. All of the powers of the authority are vested in the executive board of the authority, comprising 5 members, one of whom shall be the executive director of the business finance authority serving ex officio and 4 of whom shall be current members of the board of directors of the business finance authority who have been appointed by the chairman of the business finance authority. Of the 4 initial appointed members of the executive board of the authority, one shall be appointed for a term ending on November 3, 2019, one shall be appointed for a term ending on November 3, 2020, one shall be appointed for a term ending on November 3, 2021, and one shall be appointed for a term ending on November 3, 2022. Successors to those initial executive board members whose terms expire each year shall be appointed by the chairman of the business finance authority, each of whom shall be a current member of the board of directors of the business finance authority and each whom be appointed for a term of 3 years. An appointed member may continue to serve until a successor is appointed and so long as such appointed member is a member of the board of directors of the business finance authority. The term of an appointed member of the executive board shall terminate at the time such appointed member ceases to be a member of the board of directors of the business finance authority. If a vacancy occurs in the membership of the appointed members of the executive board, the chairman of the business finance authority shall appoint a successor to complete the remainder of the unexpired term of the appointed member leaving such vacancy. Any appointed member of the executive board shall be eligible for re-appointment. Members of the executive board shall not receive compensation for serving in such capacity, but shall be entitled to reimbursement for any expenses actually incurred in connection with such service, if the executive board shall determine that such expenses shall be reimbursed and there are unencumbered funds of the authority available for such purpose.

III. The members of the executive board shall elect one of its members as chairperson of the executive board and another as vice chairperson of the executive board, and shall also elect a secretary of the executive board, who need not be a member of the executive board. Notwithstanding any provision of RSA 162-A or RSA 162-I to the contrary, 3 members of the executive board shall constitute a quorum for any meeting of the authority under this chapter, and the vote of a majority of the members of the executive board constituting a quorum present and voting shall be a prerequisite to any action taken by the authority. A vacancy in the membership of the executive board shall not impair the right of a quorum to exercise all the powers and perform the duties of the authority under this chapter. Notwithstanding RSA 91-A or any other law to the contrary, members of the executive board shall be permitted to participate in meetings of the authority by telephone or video conference, provided that any member so participating shall be able to be heard by and to hear every other member of the executive board participating in the meeting and, unless the authority meeting is a nonpublic session being conducted pursuant to RSA 91-A:3, shall be able to hear and be heard by all members of the public attending the meeting, and provided further that the meeting is held at a physical location available to the public and identified in the notice of the meeting. Voting members participating by telephone or video conference shall be treated as present at the meeting for all purposes, including the establishment of quorum.

IV. Any action taken by the authority under this chapter may be authorized by resolution at any regular or special meeting, and each such resolution shall take effect immediately and need not be published or posted.

V. The business finance authority, acting pursuant to its general powers set forth in RSA 162-A and RSA 162-I, shall have the power to establish rules, requirements, and procedures with respect to the operations and activities of the authority pursuant to this chapter. Such rules shall be subject to the requirements of RSA 162-A:28.

VI. Upon dissolution of the authority, subject to the adequate provision for the payment of its bonds, including interest on the bonds, and the performance of its contractual obligations, the property and other net assets of the authority shall remain with or be transferred to the business finance authority.

162-S:4 Powers of the Authority. Subject to the powers of the business finance authority established under RSA 162-S:3, V to establish rules, requirements, and procedures, the authority shall have all of the powers necessary or convenient to carry out the purposes and provisions of this chapter. In addition to all other powers conferred on the business finance authority under the laws of the state, the business finance authority, acting under this chapter by, through, and as the national finance authority, and further subject to the powers of the business finance authority established under RSA 162-S:3, V, shall have power to do any of the following in connection with bonds issued under this chapter:

I. Adopt policies for the regulation of its affairs and the conduct of the business of the authority.

II. Sue, with the approval of the business finance authority, and be sued in the name of the authority, and in such capacity to plead and be impleaded in judicial proceedings.

III. Acquire, buy, own, operate, sell, lease as lessor or lessee, encumber, mortgage, hypothecate, pledge, assign, gift, or otherwise transfer any real, personal, tangible, intangible, or other property or interest in real, personal, or other property that is located outside of the state, either in the name of the authority or in the name of a partnership, trust, corporation, limited liability corporation, or other special purpose entity created by and under the control of the authority.

IV. Enter into contracts relating to the issuance of bonds.

V. Issue bonds or refunding bonds, subject to RSA 162-S:5 and RSA 162-S:10, to finance or refinance a project, including to fund a reserve fund or capitalized interest, payment of costs of issuance and other costs related to the financing or refinancing or credit enhancement, and enter into agreements related to the issuance of bonds, including liquidity and credit facilities, remarketing agreements, insurance policies, debt service guarantee agreements, letters of credit or reimbursement agreements, indexing agreements, interest rate swap agreements, currency exchange agreements, commodity swap agreements, other hedge agreements, and any other like agreements, in each case with such payment, interest rate, currency security, remedy, and other terms and conditions as the authority shall approve.

VI. Retain or appoint such agents, finance professionals, and special advisors as the authority finds necessary or convenient and fix their compensation.

VII. Accept gifts, loans, or other aid.

VIII. Establish and collect fees, including charges to recover the administrative expenses of the authority, from participating institutions and other parties who benefit from the provision of services by the authority, or services provided by an outside entity on behalf of the authority.

IX. Make loans to, lease real, personal, and other property from or to, or enter into any other kind of an agreement with a participating institution or other entity, in connection with the financing or refinancing of a project.

X. Mortgage, pledge, or otherwise encumber the authority's property assigned to or transferred to it in connection with bonds or its interest, or any portion of its interest, in a project.

XI. Assign or pledge any portion of its interest in projects, mortgages, deeds of trust, indentures of mortgage or trust, leases, purchase or sale agreements, other financing agreements, or similar instruments, bonds, notes, and security interests in property, of a participating institution, or contracts entered into or acquired in connection with bonds.

XII. Issue, obtain, or aid in obtaining, from any person, any insurance or guarantee to, or for, the payment or repayment of interest or principal, or both, on any bond, loan, lease or other obligation evidencing or securing such a bond, loan, lease or obligation that is issued, incurred, or entered into under this chapter.

XIII. Apply on its own behalf or on behalf of a participating institution to any unit of government for an allocation of volume cap, tax credit, subsidy, grant, loan, credit enhancement or with respect to any other federal program or any program of any other unit of government in connection with the financing or refinancing of a project.

XIV. Invest any bond proceeds or any money held for payment or security of the bonds, or any contract entered into under this chapter, in any securities or obligations permitted by the resolution, trust agreement, indenture, or other agreement providing for issuance of the bonds or the contract.

XV. At the request of one or more participating institutions, combine and pledge revenues of 2 or more projects to the repayment of one or more series of bonds issued under this chapter.

XVI. Purchase bonds issued by or on behalf of, or held by, any participating institution, any unit of government or a political subdivision, department, or authority thereof, such purchased bonds to be held by the authority or sold, in whole or in part, separately or together with other bonds issued by the authority. Notwithstanding anything in this chapter or in the laws of the state to the contrary, none of the earnings of the authority shall inure or be permitted by the authority to inure to the benefit of any private person.

162-S:5 Issuance of Bonds; Exemption from Taxation.

I. The authority shall not issue bonds unless the issuance thereof shall have first been authorized by a bond resolution approved by the authority. Bonds issued pursuant to this chapter shall be designated and captioned as bonds of the national finance authority. Bonds may be issued under this chapter without obtaining the consent of the governor and council or of any department, division, commission, board, body, bureau, or agency of the state; and without any other proceedings or the happening of any conditions or things except those proceedings or the occurrence of those conditions or things that are specifically required by this chapter and by the provisions of the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or the trust agreement securing the same. A bond issued under this section shall meet all of the following requirements:

(a) The face of the bond shall include the date of issuance and the date of maturity.

(b) The bond shall include the statements required under RSA 162-S:9, III and RSA 162-S:10, V.

(c) The bond shall bear a rate of interest, either fixed or variable, except that any variable rate of interest shall be made subject to a maximum rate.

(d) The bond shall specify when interest and principal shall be paid.

(e) Bonds shall be executed in the manner provided in the resolution therefor and may be executed by one designated member, provided that such execution may be by facsimile so long as the bond is signed by an authentication agent appointed by the authority.

(f) Bonds in a single issue may comprise a single denomination or 2 or more denominations.

II. Notwithstanding paragraph I, as an alternative to specifying the matters required to be specified in the bond resolution pursuant to paragraph I, the resolution may specify designated members or officers or employees of the authority by name or position, to whom the authority delegates authority to determine which of the matters specified under paragraph I, and any other matters that the authority deems appropriate, for inclusion in the trust agreement, indenture, or other agreement providing for issuance of the bonds as finally executed, provided that a resolution approved by the authority under this section shall in all cases specify each of the following:

(a) The maximum principal amount of bonds to be issued.

(b) The maximum term of the bonds.

III. A bond issued under this section may include, or be subject to, any of the following:

(a) Mandatory, special, or optional redemption, or purchase in lieu of redemption, or tender, as provided in the resolution, and any notice of redemption with respect to any bond may be conditioned on the occurrence of such events as are specified by the authority in such notice.

(b) A provision providing a right to tender.

(c) A trust agreement or indenture containing any terms, conditions, and covenants that the authority determines to be necessary or appropriate, but such terms, conditions, and covenants may not be in conflict with the resolution.

IV. The authority may purchase any bond issued under this section. Subject to the terms of any agreement with the bondholders, the authority may hold, pledge, resell, or cancel any bond purchased under this paragraph, except that a purchase under this paragraph will not cause the extinguishment of such bond unless the authority cancels the bond or otherwise certifies its intention that the bond be extinguished.

V. The proceeds of a bond issued under this chapter may be used to finance or refinance one or more projects located outside of the state.

VI. The exercise of the powers granted by this chapter shall be in all respects for the benefit of the people of the state, for the increase of their commerce, welfare, and prosperity, and for the improvement of their health and living conditions, and shall constitute the performance of an essential governmental function, and the authority shall not be required to pay any taxes or assessment upon or in respect of a project or any property acquired or used by the authority or under the jurisdiction, control, possession, or supervision of the same or upon the activities of the authority in the operation or maintenance of any project under the provisions of this chapter, or upon income or other revenues received therefrom, and any bonds of the authority issued under the provisions of this chapter, their transfer and the income therefrom, including any profit made on the sale thereof, as well as the income and property of the corporation, are at all times exempt from taxation of every kind by the state and by the municipalities and all other political subdivisions of the state.

162-S:6 Sale of Bonds.

I. The sale of bonds under this section shall be conducted as provided in the resolution therefor or as directed by the person or persons to whom a delegation of authority has been made pursuant to RSA 162-S:5, II.

II. A sale of bonds may be public or private, and bonds may be sold at the price or prices, and upon the conditions, determined by the authority, and the authority shall give due consideration to the recommendations of the participating institution with respect to the project when determining the conditions of sale of bonds with respect thereto.

III. If at the time of sale definitive bonds are not available, the authority may issue interim certificates exchangeable for definitive bonds.

162-S:7 Bond Security.

I. The authority may secure bonds by a trust agreement or indenture or other agreement by and between the authority and one or more corporate trustees. Such trust agreement, indenture or other agreement may contain provisions for pledging properties, revenues and other collateral; holding and disbursing funds; protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of bondholders; restricting individual rights of action by bondholders; and amendments, and any other provisions the authority determines to be reasonable and proper for the security of holders of bonds issued under this chapter or contracts entered into under this paragraph in connection with the bonds.

II. A pledge of property, revenues, or other collateral by the authority to secure the payment of the principal or redemption price of, or interest on, any bonds, or any reimbursement or similar agreement with any provider of credit enhancement for bonds, or any swap or other agreement entered into in connection with bonds, is binding on the parties and on any successors. The collateral shall immediately be subject to the pledge, and the pledge shall constitute a lien and security interest which shall attach immediately to the collateral and be effective, binding, and enforceable against the pledgor, its successors, purchasers of the collateral, creditors, and all others, to the extent set forth, and in accordance with, the pledge document, irrespective of whether those parties have notice of the pledge and without the need for any physical delivery, recordation, filing, or further act.

162-S:8 No Personal Liability. No designated member, director, officer, employee, or agent of the authority, the business finance authority, or a business entity created under RSA 162-S:4, III shall be liable personally on the bonds or any contract entered into by the authority or such business entity or subject to any personal liability or accountability by reason of the issuance of the bonds, unless the personal liability or accountability is the result of willful misconduct.

162-S:9 Bonds not Public Debt.

I. Unless otherwise expressly provided in the resolution therefor, bonds of the authority shall be limited obligations of the authority payable solely from amounts received by or on behalf of the authority from revenues derived from the project to be financed or refinanced thereby, or from any contract entered into or investment made in connection with the bonds and pledged to the payment of the bonds.

II. The state and the political subdivisions of the state are not and shall not be liable on bonds issued or any other contract entered into under this chapter, or for any other debt, obligation, or liability of the authority, whether in tort, contract, or otherwise.

III. Bonds issued under this chapter are not a debt of the state or the political subdivisions of the state. No bond issued under this chapter shall obligate the state, or any political subdivision approving a financing under RSA 162-S:10 to levy any tax or make any appropriation for payment thereof or with respect thereto. All bonds issued by the authority under this chapter are payable solely from the funds pledged for their payment in accordance with the trust agreement, indenture, or other agreement providing for their issuance. All bonds shall contain, on their face, a statement regarding the obligations of the state, the political subdivisions of the state, and the authority as set forth in this section.

162-S:10 Limitations.

I. To the extent required by section 147(f) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, or by any applicable successor provision of federal tax law, the authority may not issue bonds to finance a project in any state or territory of the United States unless the governor, or his or her designee in compliance with applicable federal law, of the state of New Hampshire has approved the financing of the project following a hearing held by the authority and unless the state or a political subdivision within whose boundaries the project is to be located has approved the financing of the project; provided that an approval by a political subdivision under this paragraph may be made by the governing body of the political subdivision or by the highest ranking executive or administrator of the political subdivision.

II. This chapter provides a complete alternative method, to all other methods provided by law, to exercise the powers authorized in this chapter, including the issuance of bonds, the entering into of contracts related to those bonds, and the financing or refinancing of projects.

III. A project may be located outside of the United States and outside a territory of the United States, and the authority may issue bonds to finance or refinance such project, if at the time of issuance of such bonds the participating institution with respect thereto is incorporated and has its principal place of business within the United States or a territory of the United States.

IV. Any action brought to challenge the validity of the issuance of a bond under this chapter, or the enforceability of a contract entered into under this chapter, must be commenced in a court of competent jurisdiction in the state within 30 days of adoption by the authority of the resolution authorizing the issuance of the bond or the execution of the contract.

V. Bonds issued under this chapter shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect in the proceedings for their sale or issuance. All bonds shall contain, on their face, a statement that they have been authorized and issued pursuant to the laws of the state, and such statement shall be conclusive evidence of the validity of the bonds.

162-S:11 State Pledge. The state does hereby pledge to and agree with the holders of bonds issued under this chapter that the state shall not limit or alter the rights hereby vested in the authority to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with the holders of such bonds or in any way impair the rights and remedies of such holders until such bonds, together with the interest on them, with the interest on any unpaid installments of interest, and all costs and expenses in connection with any action or proceeding by or on behalf of such holders, are fully met and discharged. The authority is authorized to include this pledge and agreement of the state in any agreement with the holders of such bonds.

162-S:12 Selection of Authority Bond Program Administrator. Within 3 months after the initial designated members shall have been appointed pursuant to RSA 162-S:3, II, the business finance authority shall select a qualified firm to assist in the carrying out of the powers of the authority and the administration of the business of the authority conferred by this chapter. Such firm shall serve for a minimum term of 3 years. The selection of such firm shall be pursuant to a process approved by the board of directors of the business finance authority and such firm shall serve on such financial terms as shall be approved by board of directors of the business finance authority. At the conclusion of the initial term of service of such firm, the business finance authority shall determine whether, and on what terms, to engage any firm to provide any such services.

162-S:13 Rulemaking.

I. The authority shall be exempt from the rules of any department, commission, board, bureau, or agency of the state except as otherwise provided in this chapter.

II. The authority shall be exempt from the provisions of RSA 541-A and may adopt rules in accordance with its own procedures to facilitate, implement, and carry out the powers, duties, and purposes of the authority enumerated in this chapter and such other and additional powers and purposes as shall be conferred upon it by the legislature. The authority shall file in the office of legislative services a copy of all existing rules adopted by the authority. Any rule adopted after the effective date of this section or any amendment or repeal of any existing rule shall be filed in the office of legislative services within 7 days of such adoption, amendment, or repeal.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 13 with the following:

14 New Hampshire Housing Finance Authority; Authority to Issue Bonds. Amend RSA 204-C:8, XXVI-a and XXVI-b to read as follows:

XXVI-a. Finance, on such terms and conditions as the authority may determine, by the issuance of bonds or otherwise, homes for persons with disabilities without regard to any other requirement of this chapter relating to the making or purchasing of loans or mortgage loans or to the requirements of RSA 204-C:11 if the authority finds that such financing would result in a public benefit;[~~and~~]

XXVI-b. Make loans, on such terms and conditions as the authority may determine, by issuance of bonds or otherwise, secured by homes owned by the elderly without regard to any other requirements of this chapter relating to the making or purchasing of loans or mortgage loans if the authority finds that such financing would result in a public benefit; [~~and~~]

XXVI-c. Issue bonds, without regard to any other requirements of this chapter, for housing, housing projects, or any other facility located outside of the state that could be financed by the authority if it were located within the state, if the authority finds that such financing would result in a public benefit to the state or its citizens, provided that no such bonds shall be considered an obligation or pledge of the faith and credit of the state; and 15 New Subparagraph; Administrative Procedure Act; Exceptions; Business Finance Authority. Amend RSA 541-A:21, I by inserting after subparagraph (ii) the following new subparagraph:

(jj) RSA 162-S, relative to the extraterritorial financing powers of the business finance authority.

16 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Amendment to SB 487

Amend the bill by replacing sections 3 and 4 with the following:

3 State Services System Established. Amend RSA 172:2-a to read as follows:

172:2-a [~~Program Established~~] State Substance Use Disorder Services System Established. The commissioner shall provide for the scientific care, treatment, and rehabilitation of [~~alcohol and drug abusers~~] individuals with substance use disorders and their families, and work towards the prevention of, and assist in the control of, alcohol and drug [~~abuse~~] use within the state through education, treatment, community organization, and research. The department shall establish, maintain, implement, and coordinate a system of substance use disorder treatment services under this chapter. This system shall be supervised by the commissioner. At the discretion of the commissioner, the department may directly operate and administer any program or facility which provides, or which may be established to provide, services to persons with substance use disorder or may enter into a contract with any individual, partnership, association, public or private, for profit or nonprofit, agency or corporation for the operation and administration of any such program or facility.

4 New Section; Community Substance Use Disorder Treatment Programs. Amend RSA 172 by inserting after section 2-a the following new section:

172:2-b Community Substance Use Disorder Treatment Programs. Any city, county, town, or nonprofit corporation may establish and administer a community substance use disorder treatment program for the purpose of providing substance use disorder treatment services to individuals, families, and organizations in the area. Every program shall, at a minimum, provide substance use disorder screening and evaluation, case management, and outpatient counseling services. The department may contract with a community substance use disorder treatment program, pursuant to RSA 172:2-a, for the operation and administration of any services that are part of the state substance use disorder treatment system. In the event that the commissioner decides to enter into a contract for the operation and administration of any services which are part of the state substance use disorder treatment system, the contract shall contain standards designed to measure the performance of the contractor in achieving positive consumer outcomes, maintaining fiscal integrity, and providing quality services. The commissioner shall adopt rules, pursuant to RSA 172:8-b, to establish criteria for designating substance use disorder treatment programs under this chapter.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 5 with the following:

6 Clinical Social Worker; Licensure. Amend RSA 330-A:18, III to read as follows:

III. Has completed a minimum of 2 years of post-masters experience including completion of a minimum of 3,000 hours of post-masters, supervised clinical experience by a board approved LICSW or LCMHC supervisor, or any other supervisor based on reasonable and specific criteria established in rules adopted under RSA 330-A:10.

7 Clinical Mental Health Counselor; Licensure. Amend RSA 330-A:19, III to read as follows:

Amendment to SB 511

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing an optional tax credit for combat service.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Section; Optional Tax Credit for Combat Service. Amend RSA 72 by inserting after section 28-b the following new section:

72:28-c Optional Tax Credit for Combat Service.

I. A town or city may adopt or rescind an optional tax credit for combat service pursuant to the procedure provided in RSA 72:27-a.

II. The optional tax credit for combat service, upon adoption by a city or town pursuant to RSA 72:27-a, shall be an amount from $50 up to $500. The tax credit for combat service shall be subtracted each year from the property tax on the qualifying service member's residential real estate, as defined in RSA 72:29, II.

III. To qualify for the tax credit for combat service, a person shall be a resident of this state engaged at any point during the taxable period in combat service as a member of the New Hampshire national guard or a reserve component of the Unites States armed forces, called to active duty. For purposes of this section, and in accordance with Internal Revenue Service Publication 3, Armed Forces Tax Guide, "combat service" shall mean military service in one of the following areas:

(a) An active combat area as designated by the President in an Executive Order, for which the service member receives special pay for duty subject to hostile fire or imminent danger as certified by the Department of Defense.

(b) A support area as designated by the Department of Defense in direct sustainment of military operations in the combat zone, for which the service member receives special pay for duty subject to hostile fire or imminent danger as certified by the Department of Defense.

(c) Service in a contingency operation as designated by the Department of Defense, for which the service member receives special pay for duty subject to hostile fire or imminent danger as certified by the Department of Defense.

IV. The application for the tax credit under this section shall be accompanied by the service member's military orders, and shall include such information as may be required for the assessor's office to verify the dates of combat service.

V. A tax credit for combat service shall be in lieu of, and not in addition to, the optional veteran's tax credit under RSA 72:28 or the all veterans' tax credit under RSA 72:28-b. The service member shall be eligible for the credit in each tax year in which the combat service occurs, but the credit may be prorated in the second tax year based on the duration of combat service.

2 Definition of Resident. Amend RSA 72:29, I to read as follows:

I. The word "resident" as used in RSA 72:28, [~~and~~] RSA 72:28-b, and RSA 72:28-c shall mean a person who has resided in this state for at least one year preceding April 1, in the year in which the tax credit is claimed.

3 Definition of Owner. Amend RSA 72:29, VI to read as follows:

VI. For purposes of RSA 72:28, 28-b, 28-c, 29-a, 30, 31, 32, 33, 35, 36-a, 37, 37-a, 37-b, 38-a, 39-a, 62, 66, and 70, the ownership of real estate, as expressed by such words as "owner," "owned" or "own," shall include those who have placed their property in a grantor/revocable trust or who have equitable title or the beneficial interest for life in the subject property.

4 Property Taxation; Application Procedure; Reference Added. Amend the introductory paragraph of RSA 72:33, I to read as follows:

I. No person shall be entitled to the exemptions or tax credits provided by RSA 72:28, 28-b, 28-c, 29-a, 30, 31, 32, 35, 36-a, 37, 37-a, 37-b, 38-b, 39-b, 62, 66, and 70 unless the person has filed with the selectmen or assessors, by April 15 preceding the setting of the tax rate, a permanent application therefor, signed under penalty of perjury, on a form approved and provided by the commissioner of revenue administration, showing that the applicant is the true and lawful owner of the property on which the exemption or tax credit is claimed and that the applicant was duly qualified upon April 1 of the year in which the exemption or tax credit is first claimed, or, in the case of financial qualifications, that the applicant is duly qualified at the time of application. The form shall include the following and such other information deemed necessary by the commissioner:

5 New Paragraph; Application for Tax Credit for Combat Service. Amend RSA 72:33 by inserting after paragraph I-a the following new paragraph:

I-b. Notwithstanding the April 15 application deadline in paragraph I, a person may apply for the tax credit for combat service under RSA 72:28-c at any point during the tax year in which the person is engaged in combat service. If the application is received and granted after the tax rate for the city or town is set, the credit shall be applied to the balance of tax payments due for that year. If a person is deemed eligible for the tax credit after taxes have been billed and paid for the tax year in which the person served, the credit shall be applied in the following year.

6 Appeals; Reference Added. Amend RSA 72:34-a to read as follows:

72:34-a Appeal From Refusal to Grant Exemption, Deferral, or Tax Credit. AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill enables municipalities to adopt a property tax credit for members of the New Hampshire national guard and armed forces reserves engaged in combat service.

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 511 Ought to Pass as Amended. This bill as amended, allows municipalities to adopt a property tax credit for deployed military personnel that are not members of an active duty force. This would include the National Guard and any member of a reserve unit called up to military service for an extended period of time. This legislation acknowledges the hardship created when military members are ordered on a deployment and must leave their civilian jobs and the financial security they bring. Many times there is a significant disparity between the civilian and military salaries which can be an added sacrifice for these families to take on. The committee felt that allowing towns to adopt this tax credit on a scale from 50 to 500 was appropriate given the burden of this service. Mister President I want to recognize Dennis Nadeau, a teacher from Somersworth who brought this issue to my attention as proposed legislation and I appreciate his hard work on this. Therefore, I ask the body to please support the committee's recommendation of Ought to Pass as Amended. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1346, establishing a commission to study the New Hampshire veterans cemetery.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 4-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

Amendment to HB 1346

Amend RSA 110-B:79-a, I(a)(2) as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

(2) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

Amend RSA 110-B:79-a, III as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

III. The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the commission shall be called by the first-named house member. The first meeting of the commission shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Three members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 1 with the following:

2 Repeal. RSA 110-B:79-a, relative to a commission to study the New Hampshire veterans cemetery, is repealed.
3 Effective Date.
I. Section 2 of this act shall take effect November 1, 2018.
II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1346 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill as amended establishes a commission to study the New Hampshire Veteran's Cemetery. The commission's study shall include, whether non-veterans should be eligible to be interred at the cemetery at no expense, whether the non-veteran fee should be the same as the plot allowance for the veteran, if a fee is charged for a non-veteran, whether there should be a mechanism for pre-paying the fee, and finally an examination of federal and state laws relative to burial for National Guard members. Currently there are no policies or rules regarding these issues and the committee felt that having a commission to investigate them will be beneficial for the future management of the NH Veterans Cemetery. Therefore I ask you to please support the committee's recommendation of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the remaining bills are special ordered to Thursday, March 22, 2018. Adopted.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM EARLY SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Early Session, that the business of the Late Session be in order at the present time, that all bills and resolutions ordered to Third Reading be, by this resolution, read a third time, all titles be the same as adopted, and that they be passed at the present time.

Adopted. Adjournment from the Early Session.

LATE SESSION

ANNOUNCEMENTS

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator Feltes, after all the hard work up here for the last hour with attorneys and the Clerk, at this point in time we think it's appropriate for you to enter the petitions from the students into the permanent Journal.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. At this time I would like to respectively enter the petitions from the Concord High School students in favor of the amendment on Senate Bill 357 into the permanent Journal, without objection, or whatever?

PRESIDENT MORSE: We'll do that in a minute. Thank you, Senator Feltes.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Today is Senator Feltes' birthday, and as we don't sing anymore, I thought we might get together and just say "Happy Birthday, Danny!" Thank you, Mister President.

A LETTER TO THE NH SENATE REGARDING SB 357

Senate Bill 357 includes an amendment that would allow local school boards to decide for their own districts whether or not to enforce that their schools are Gun Free School Zones.

I shouldn't have to be afraid of attending school and be constantly worried about my friends and the people I go to school with. Thank you, Speline Irakoze

I shouldn't feel afraid to be gunned down every time there's a fire drill. Thank you, Bri Bailey

Students, staff and the community should be able to decide what makes them feel and be safe. Thank you, Lynne Garvey

Please support Senate Bill 357 and allow school districts in NH to have a voice on this important issue. Thank you, Karen Slick

Students should not have to think of the possibility of guns in schools. Students should focus on personal and academic growth without fear or knowledge of guns in the area intended for learning. Thank you, Graeme Crowther

As the Senate of the State of New Hampshire, it is your job to protect the citizens of the State of New Hampshire, both adults and minors, to the best of your ability. Allowing guns to be brought into a school zone (where nobody save the police and related forces have any legitimate reason to carry a gun), even if merely by lack of full enforcement, presents a threat to the lives of New Hampshire citizens that could have been prevented in advance. By not giving school boards the option to enforce that their schools are Gun Free School Zones, you are failing in your duty to protect the citizens of the State of New Hampshire to the best of your ability, and demonstrating complete failure as the leaders of the State of New Hampshire. Thank you, Jakob Ingersoll

I want to feel safe in my learning environment, not feel lucky to be alive. Thank you, Grace Devanny

In everything I do please, I want to feel safe and more confident for everything. And please make some change about that, show us what you did that shows that you did some change about what we asked. Thank you, Tristo Ndayishimiye

Please enforce and make our schools safer. You can do this and stop the violence in our schools. Stop making this a partisan issue. Thank you, Jeff Phillips

I want to feel safe at school. Thank you, Graham Lewis

It is important and necessary for school districts to have the ability to enforce gun free school zones. Thank you, Kristen Houghton

Without objection, all personal privileges and unanimous consent shall be entered into the permanent Journal of the Senate. (Rule 2-16 and Rule 2-17). Adopted.

Out of Recess. Call the Senate to Order.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM LATE SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Late Session.

Adopted. Adjournment from the Late Session.

March 22, 2018

The Senate reconvened at 10:00 a.m., a quorum being present.

The Reverend Jon Hopkins, chaplain to the Senate, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

God of our ancestors, in this holy season remember that what lies fallow now will be blooming in due season. Give the New Hampshire Senate a renewed sense of purpose and passion. Teach them truth that they may administer all affairs of the state fairly, that peace and security, happiness and prosperity, justice and freedom may forever abide in our midst. We ask your blessing for our country, for its government, for its leaders and advisors, and for all who exercise just and rightful authority. Remember this day people experiencing poverty. Give us wisdom on how to lift them out of poverty, and not to keep them living in poverty. The problems of this world cannot be fixed by government alone. Guide and direct our leaders to make just as many laws as we need to give freedom, opportunity, and justice to the people of New Hampshire. Renew us in a spirit of hope, that indeed our endeavors will produce growth for future generations to come. Amen.

Senator Daniels led the Pledge of Allegiance.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: It is with much pleasure that I introduce the sisters and their husbands for a true American Hero, John Lawrence, who we hope to honor later. We have Linda Rockenmacher, and her husband, Sol; and Sharon Glidden, and her husband, Malcolm; and, hopefully, on the internet, that we have their other sister, Carole Day and her family watching us via the internet connection. Thank you, and welcome to the New Hampshire Senate.

INTRODUCTION OF PAGES

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. We have two wonderful pages here today. We have Gwen Morris is back with us. She did such a wonderful job we re-hired her. Gwen you may recall is age fifteen, in grade 10. She's from Germany, lives in Concord, home-schooled. Her favorite school subjects are science and music. Extracurricular activities include listening to music, playing the piano and ukulele and getting out of school reputedly serving as a page in the New Hampshire Senate. In the future she plans to be a medical examiner or coroner. Let's give a round of applause to Gwen.

We also have Lydia, Lydia please stand up. Gwen's sister. Lydia's age seventeen grade 11, born in China, lives in Concord, is home schooled. Favorite subject is English. Extracurricular activities include hiking, reading and in the past year have discovered running. She placed first in her age category in the New Hampshire Marathon 10K. Give her a round of applause for that. She also loves photography and in the future she will be leaving for Sentani, Papua, Indonesia to spend six to twelve months volunteering in an Indonesian school. And she hopes this gives her some more specific career plans and that's a great volunteer opportunity. Let's give a round of applause for Lydia.

REGULAR CALENDAR

TRANSPORTATION
HB 1278, naming the rest area in Colebrook after Frederick W. King, Sr. Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1278 Ought to Pass. This legislation would name the rest area in Colebrook after Frederick W. King Sr. He spent twenty years on the Colebrook School Board and Colebrook Board of Selectmen serving in the New Hampshire Legislature and has been a consistent strong voice for the North Country. Mister King's life has been dedicated to public service for over sixty years and he is certainly deserving of this honor. All members of the Transportation Committee ask for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1278. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of this and appreciate the work of the committee and honoring former Senator Fred King who has a distinguished career and serving in the North Country Senate District 1, Chair of Senate Finance, serving the legislature, serving as our County Administrator for many, many years, serving as our County Treasurer most recently, and you know I had the honor just recently a few weeks ago to, when Senator King came to my office hours in Colebrook and he's a sharp as can be and we're lucky for his service. He's been a go to guy for over fifty years in the North Country, someone we're very proud of and it's a very fitting tribute to him and his service. So thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

Senator Gray offered a Floor Amendment.

Sen. Gray, Dist 6

Floor Amendment to HB 1278

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT naming the rest area in Colebrook in honor of Frederick W. King, Sr. and naming a bridge in Farmington in honor of Major John W. Lawrence, Jr.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 1 with the following:

2 Major John W. Lawrence, Jr. Bridge. Pursuant to RSA 4:43, the bridge in the town of Farmington on state route 153 over the Cocheco River is hereby named the Major John W. Lawrence, Jr. Bridge. Appropriate signage or markers shall be placed at or near the site of the bridge.

3 Signage. The cost of design, construction, maintenance, and installation of any signage, replacement signage, or other markers required under sections 1 and 2 of this act shall not be a charge to the state. However, the design, construction, and installation of any signage or other markers required under this act shall be approved by the department of transportation.

4 Effective Date. This act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

2018-1024s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill names the route 3 rest area in Colebrook in honor of Frederick W. King, Sr. The bill also names a bridge in Farmington in honor of Major John W. Lawrence, Jr.

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise today to honor Major John Lawrence. Major John Lawrence is a hero. If I can read the Strafford County Commissioner's endorsement of naming a bridge in Farmington after him.

> They say: we would like to join past Commissioner and the honorable Ron Chagnon of Farmington, New Hampshire in requesting that a new bridge in Farmington be named after Major John Winslow Lawrence Jr. a true war hero killed in Vietnam. Major Lawrence was born and raised in Farmington, attended the Farmington school system. During his distinguished military service he rose to the rank of Major and received two Silver Star citations for bravery. The second citation was awarded posthumously as a bronze oak leaf cluster and moved the second award as a Silver Star. More information regarding the Major is attached and is available on the Vietnam Memorial Wall.

I can't say enough about the Major. Former member of the First Infantry Division which I also served in in Vietnam. Distinguished himself in both of his tours in Vietnam, the second one trying to save the lives of his fellow soldiers, he succumbed to his injuries. So it is with great pleasure that I offer this amendment to the Senate.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Gray, seconded by Senator Soucy.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: (None)

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 23 - Nays: 0. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1386, establishing a joint committee on employee relations.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-1. Senator Carson for the committee.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1386 Ought to Pass. This legislation restores the joint committee on employee relations and repeals the legislative oversight committee on employee relations. The JCER meets with state negotiating committee to discuss the state's objectives in the bargaining process. This brings a good balance of representation to the table in addition to speeding up the process of appointments. The ED&A Committee voted 4-1 Ought to Pass and asks for your support in its passage. Thank you very much, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SB 526-FN, relative to school food and nutrition programs.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 3-3. Senator Giuda for the committee.

Senator Giuda moved to Lay on the Table.

A roll call was requested by Senator Fuller Clark, seconded by Senator Giuda.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Yes Mister President, thank you. Could you please state who requested and seconded the roll call?

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator Fuller Clark and Senator Giuda.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: If you believe as I do that New Hampshire's forty ninth in school breakfast participation rate and that this bill's been worked on for over a year by the Child Hunger Commission, would you vote no on tabling so we can finally move forward with the most important meal of the day for our most vulnerable children.

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of tabling you're going to say aye, if you're opposed you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. If you believe as I believe that a hungry child can't learn and that the most important thing we can do here is to extend nutrition to our children and if you think a quarter a day is worth spending for a child to eat, will you please vote no on the tabling motion.

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of tabling you're going to say aye, if you're opposed you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you, Mister President. If you believe as I do that this bill is about providing children with the most important meal of the day, and if we do nothing New Hampshire will remain forty-ninth or second to last in the country in participation in the National School Breakfast Program among low income children, shouldn't our children be our first priority? Shouldn't we make sure that they are able to perform at their best level and I believe that it is wrong to table this bill, I oppose it.

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of tabling you're going to say aye, if you're opposed you're going to say nay.

SB 548-FN, relative to therapeutic intervention needs of infants diagnosed with neonatal abstinence syndrome and making an appropriation therefor.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-2. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATIOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 548 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill would require the Department of Health and Human Services to establish a three year pilot program providing therapeutic intervention to infants diagnosed with neonatal abstinence syndrome; those are babies born addicted. The department noted 829 cases of neonatal abstinence syndrome were diagnosed for the three year period 2013 through '15. They do not expect that number to fluctuate significantly in future years. Committee members agree the program may be a good one, but the $589,000 cost estimate is challenging out of budget, and we wondered could any portion of the $103 million already allocated to the opioid epidemic be used to support the proposal. The Senate Finance Committee recommends Senate Bill 548 be found Inexpedient to Legislate and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. I ask that the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate be overturned so that I can introduce a Floor Amendment.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. Failed.

Floor Amendment to SB 548-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to therapeutic intervention needs of infants diagnosed with neonatal abstinence syndrome.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Pilot Program Plan.

I. The commissioner of the department of health and human services shall submit a plan to the senate president, the speaker of the house of representatives, the governor, and the chairpersons of the house and senate finance committees to establish a 3-year pilot program in 4 geographically dispersed areas in New Hampshire that provides therapeutic intervention to infants diagnosed with neonatal abstinence syndrome (NAS) and their families and caregivers. The plan shall:

(a) Include infants discharged from an inpatient hospital with a diagnosis of NAS and provide best practice intervention from the onset of discharge to the time where an early support services program (ESS) may begin early intervention services.

(b) Provide best practice interventions, including infant evaluation and treatment, to address the self-regulation needs of a developing NAS infant between the ages of birth through 12 months, with the focus of service between birth and 3 months.

(c) Provide therapeutic intervention for both infants and families and caregivers, including education relative to understanding infant cues and signals, infant massage and other calming or self-soothing techniques that promote typical self-regulation development of the infant, such as normal sleep cycles, typical movement patterns, and decreased stress responses.

(d) Provide opportunities for parents and caregivers of NAS infants to learn and practice techniques for the carry-over of intervention in the home.

(e) Make clear that a parent may bring a therapeutic summary of intervention to the ESS intake evaluation to reduce duplication of services and to ensure generalization of strategies and interventions.

(f) Use an assessment tool that will successfully identify the infant's progress. This tool shall consist of a sensory processing assessment and stress response questionnaire.

(g) Coordinate summary reports that can be shared with an area ESS program case manager.

II. The commissioner may propose to contract with providers to effectuate the work of the pilot program. Any proposal to contract may include the following:

(a) That when an infant is discharged from a hospital with a diagnosis of NAS, an immediate referral to the program shall be made and services shall begin within 3-5 days. Services shall continue through the time an area ESS program is able to begin its initial intake evaluation.

(b) That when progress is made toward appropriate self-regulation development, as measured by one of the therapeutic assessments under paragraph I, the successful calming strategies shall be taught to parents and included in a therapeutic summary. The summary shall be available to area ESS programs under HIPPA guidelines.

(c) If a NAS infant does not demonstrate progress in self-regulation skills, as measured by one of the therapeutic assessments under paragraph I, explain in detail the reasons why the child is not meeting developmental milestones or progressing towards them, and shall recommend specific strategies, services, and programs that shall be provided to assist the child's success.

III. The pilot program shall only apply to children from birth to 6 months of age but may be extended to 12 months in certain cases.

2 Implementation of Plan for Pilot Program. The fiscal committee of the general court may recommend implementation of the plan for the pilot program under section 1 of this act on an interim basis prior to June 30, 2019 if funds are available.

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires the commissioner of the department of health and human services to submit a plan for establishing a 3-year pilot program that provides therapeutic intervention to infants diagnosed with neonatal abstinence syndrome.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. What this amendment does working with our colleague from District 5 is allow the Department of Health and Human Services to proceed with a plan for a pilot program to better curb neonatal abstinence syndrome which as our colleague from District 17 indicated is babies born addicted to drugs that their mother is taking while pregnant. The key criteria in this Floor Amendment is on the second page, section 2 of the bill, implementation. It allows the Fiscal Committee if funds are available to move forward with the pilot program prior to the effective date of the next budget. I think this a reasonable compromise. This is a very real problem. It's an increasing problem as it's been diagnosed over the last few years. And I think it's one that should be dealt with as we can and I think this a good way to do it.

SENATOR FELTES: Just to clarify; if the, if I'm reading this correctly, if the Fiscal Committee does not approve the implementation of the pilot program prior to the effective date of the next budget, that does not preclude or sunset the pilot. The pilot could be picked up in the next budget.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Absolutely. This is a provision that if the plan comes forward from the department and talks about how to implement, obviously there would have to be justification for the plan and if there are the funds available to do so prior to, it could be approved on an interim basis. Obviously it will have to be considered for inclusion in the next budget. This doesn't mandate that either.

SENATOR FELTES: Got it. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President and colleagues. I rise in support of the amendment and I want to thank the sponsor of the original bill and the Senator from District 3 for seeing the wisdom in finding a way to move forward on this. My hospital, Wentworth Douglas Hospital, is a regional leader in this area established I think one of the first neonatal abstinence syndrome centers in the state. And just a kind of one little anecdote about it. Sometimes the infants need to be there for several weeks, maybe thirty days. And they really, really can do very well if they've had this kind of treatment. And I talked to a group of women because sometimes the mother you know is only in the hospital for a short period of time, because the transportation issues really can't get to the hospital very much. So they had a group of women in Dover who have now volunteered to go in everyday and hold these infants. They're agitated. They need that human touch and I thought what an extraordinary thing to do. And then I'm sure many of you know Hope on Haven Hill which was established exactly to provide housing and support services for pregnant women to make sure that they have the best experience possible dealing with their addiction and make sure that that baby can be treated and become healthy and then can be housed at Hope on Haven Hills so that this whole cycle can be broken and that child can have a good start in life. So, it's a good thing to do and I'm glad we have a found a way to move forward. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in favor of the amendment and I would like to thank the good Senator from District 3 for remarkable work as always with finding good compromises. I just wanted to, in case anyone does not know, this piece about neonatal abstinence syndrome or NAS, it includes children born addicted to alcohol, addicted to barbiturates and even some SSRIs. So children are born addicted and then go through withdrawal and this is obviously due to no fault of their own. So I appreciate all the work you did to try to make this possible and I hope you will vote in favor of the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

RULES AND ENROLLED BILLS
SB 343, relative to legislative ethics guidelines.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-2. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on Senate Bill 343. This bill clarifies certain terms used in the legislative ethics guidelines and has two specific parts. The first speaks to the meaning of a rule. It means that a rule adopted pursuant to the legislative ethics chapter shall not include any rule of proceeding adopted by the House of Representatives or the Senate. The second part of the bill deals with legal representation being considered a gift. The legislation clarifies the word service which relates the acceptance of legal services on an individual basis, when the legislator enters into an attorney client relationship with the attorney, thus clarifying that receiving legal counsel does count as a gift. Please join the committee in voting Senate Bill 343 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

Recess. Out of recess.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the following bill is special ordered to the end of the addendum. Adopted.

WAYS AND MEANS
HB 1292, relative to the effective dates of changes to the rates for the business profits tax and the business enterprise tax.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-2. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1292 Ought to Pass. This bill changes the effective date of the next two rounds of rate reductions in the Business Profits Tax and the Business Enterprise Tax. It moves them from July 1, 2019 and July 1, 2021 to January 1, 2019 and January 1, 2021 respectively. This change in effective dates will allow taxpayers to be notified at the beginning of the calendar year that a new tax rate is in effect rather than the middle of the tax year, thus avoiding potential confusion as tax payers make their quarterly estimate payments. This bill does not change the applicability dates of the tax rate reductions that were adopted in the last session, nor does it make any changes to the rates themselves. Therefore this bill has no fiscal impact. This change simply adds clarity for the taxpayer. The Ways and Means Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 1 with the following:

2 Applicability of the 2019 and 2021 Tax Period Reductions to Business Tax Rates; Contingency Added; Report.

I. By December 31, 2018, the legislative budget assistant, using the combined amount of revenue from the schedule of undesignated/unassigned fund balance for the general fund and education trust fund as contained in the audited comprehensive annual report performed pursuant to RSA 21-I:8, II(a), shall make a report to the secretary of state, the governor, speaker of the house of representatives, the senate president, the fiscal committee of the general court, the director of the office of legislative services, the commissioner of the department of revenue administration, and the commissioner of the department of administrative services, determining whether the rate of growth in the combined unrestricted general and education trust fund revenues collected for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2018 over the amount of combined unrestricted general and education trust fund revenue collected for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2017 is equal to or greater than the percent change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, Northeast Region, as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, United States Department of Labor plus one percent for the same 12-month period.

II. If the combined revenue growth determined under paragraph I is less than the Consumer Price Index for the period plus one percent then section 3 of this act shall take effect January 1, 2019 and the rate for the business profits tax under RSA 77-A:2 shall remain as 7.9 percent and the rate under the business enterprise tax under RSA 77-E:2 shall remain as .65 percent.

3 Contingent Repeal of Prospective Business Tax Rate Reductions. 2017, 156:213 through 2017, 156:217, relative to reductions to the business tax rates, are repealed.

4 Effective Date.

I. Section 3 of this act shall effect as provided in paragraph II of section 2 of this act.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

2018-1161s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill changes the effective dates of the rate reductions to the business profits tax and the business enterprise tax to the beginning of the respective calendar year. This bill also adds a requirement that the business tax rate reductions adopted in 2017, 156 (HB 517) shall not take effect if the combined revenue growth in general and education funds for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2018 does not exceed the change in the Consumer Price Index for the period, plus one percent.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. It's a very simple amendment. What it does is puts into practice a mechanism that we have used in the past in dealing with tax reductions. And it's a triggering mechanism. And the triggering mechanism ties the reduction to the performance based on the consumer price index for all urban consumers in the Northeast region as published by the Bureau of Labor statistics United States Department of Labor plus 1 percent for the same twelve month period. If that triggering mechanism is met, the reduction goes into place. If the triggering mechanism is not met, if the number is not met, the reductions do not take place. This is a method that we have used in budgets in the past. This was an item that the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and the House of Representatives wanted to bring forward in the last budget negotiations. He's very much in, I don't want to speak for him, but in the past this concept has been accepted by both the House and the Senate. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise and ask the body to reject this amendment although I appreciate the Senator from District 20 from bringing it in. But typically when we have a change of policy we actually like to have a public hearing on it and discuss the merits of it and this amendment would fundamentally change existing policy that we have in statute today. And in doing so, trying to tie in the fiscal policy as it relates to taxation, specifically as a result of a global regional economic change in a consumer price index might not be in the best interest of the people of the state of New Hampshire. So based upon those two premises Mister President, I would ask that the body would reject the amendment. Thank you very much.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: An introduction. Peterborough or Mont Vernon? Mont Vernon. Anyone here from Mont Vernon today? Okay ladies and gentlemen, to my fellow colleagues, I'd like to have you stand up and welcome the great kids from the Mont Vernon Village School, fourth grade. Thank you so much for coming today. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Senator for taking my question. Correct me if I'm wrong but the concept of the trigger was imbedded in the last budget, was considered to be imbedded in this budget, has been discussed by Ways and Means Committees of both chambers and it's something that has a broad history of fiscal responsibility.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you for the question. Absolutely. We've used this mechanism in budgets in the past. It represents sound fiscal policy because you don't make a move that isn't taken care of from the revenue side. You don't so something without substantial evidence that what you've done in the previous entity is working. So yes, we're consistent here. Discussions have taken place both in the House and the Senate for years over this situation.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. And Senator, given our revenue estimates, is it fair to conclude that this revenue trigger is imminently achievable?

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you for the question. Absolutely. That's an adverb, absolutely. I think money is a noun or a verb. I gave you an adverb.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: One of the things that this state and this body has been trying to do over the last several years is bring down business taxes and some of the burdens that are facing our businesses. And one of the things the businesses like, when they consider making investments in a facility in a state and building a future there is some level of certainty. They want to know what their taxes are going to be, they build budgets, they work those things into their calculations in terms of where to locate. This amendment adds uncertainty to our business taxes, and I think it's exactly the wrong way to go when we're showing businesses what our state has to offer. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I'd like to speak to the remarks from my eminent academic colleague from the 24th Senate District. I've served on business tax commissions here for quite a number of years. What business wanted was 7.9 percent, we got there. So they not only got what they wanted, they got predictability. What we offered beyond is something they didn't request. That's a gift. So it's like Christmas. So indeed, it seems to me if you're going to get that Christmas present, there ought to be a reason that you got that present. And the fact is that what we did previously is working and as a result of that you got a bonus. That's why business gives bonuses. They set targets and as a sound businessman you know that reaching the target gives you the predictability and allows you to go forward. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. Everybody loves Christmas. It's a great time of the year. But taking this step further reducing business taxes sends a message to the business community nationwide and even worldwide that we are a business friendly state. Putting restrictions on these things and introducing uncertainty again is something businesses don't want and don't like. If we are truly a business friendly state and we want to welcome businesses and encourage them to grow here, then I think we should defeat this amendment and pass the bill. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I'd like to rise as the chair of the committee and say if it ain't broke, don't fix it. It's not broke. The tax policy that we agreed to and I think if I remember right Mister President, everyone voted for in the end, was a policy to make New Hampshire the best place in America, there might have been some that didn't vote for the budget in the end, but I thought everyone did vote for the budget, if they didn't my apologies to anyone. The policy we made to cut taxes which we put into the budget was to make New Hampshire the best place in America to live, work and raise a family. As a result of the policies we've made in this body right here and implemented, today we are seeing business success. We are seeing opportunity, we are seeing more people move into our state for the first time we've seen in a decade. We are seeing more business creation.

The last thing I believe this body wants to do is to look at states that are not as successful as New Hampshire is being, and saying hey we want to be like those guys. This is a state of exceptionalism, this is a state that should be unlimited opportunity, this is a state that has always believed in the success of the business community that drives everything we want to do. You're right my friend from District number 20. I have not heard of a single business that has called me up and said go back and raise my taxes. I have not heard from a single business, and I happened to be in the business community, from anyone that has called up and said, stop cutting my taxes. When we look at the surcharge on workers compensation, we look at the fact that we had one of the highest business taxes in America. This state has become a place where we know our taxes are too high, our regulation is too steep and we have made significant, although not enough, movement into making New Hampshire attractive. Passage of this legislation would send us in the wrong direction and backwards. So again, I would suggest the body if we want to have consistency, if we want job opportunity, if we want to continue to live in what is the best state in America for economic opportunity, if we want to encourage companies like the ARMI contract to come to our state and set up shop, we have to remain on the cutting edge of proving to all the businesses across America that this is the place people would like to settle. So with that again, please reject the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment. And I do so because after the last few weeks with town meetings, we've all heard property taxes, property taxes, property taxes. So here we have an amendment that begins to anticipate down the road what will be the fiscal condition of the state when these reductions, the Christmas gift, Hanukkah gift maybe, comes into play two years down the road. I think this is reasonable because this just going to send a message to local communities that hey, we're interested in the business climate in the state, we're also interested in the property tax climate in the state and we're going to, when we get there, we're going to evaluate this. We're not just going to downstream our cost onto the property taxpayers when we get there and oh my gosh, we're short. I think this is a reasonable step to give us some off ramps. I think we need an off ramp in order to consider the balance of payments in the state. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to this amendment. The sky might fall, pigs might fly, revenues might decline. If that happens this body and the one across the hall and the person in the corner office, will do what's appropriate to meet the crisis if there is one. I think the entire underlying premise of this is again, wealth is finite. We are well embarked on a course that disagrees with that whole proposition. Wealth is created every single day and the better we can position our state, competitively in the nation and the world, to capture companies that will help themselves and our citizens and our institutions build on and capitalize on that wealth, the better off we are. So I ask you to oppose this amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of this modest conservative idea. And I'd say to my Republican friends, here they go again. Tax cuts for the wealthiest, those who have the most, get the most. And I am sick and tired of this and I look at those scales of justice and we are out of balance in this state of New Hampshire. We are sticking it to the poor people and we do it every day. We wouldn't even talk about school breakfast. Denied the opportunity. I dare one of you to stand up, have the courage to tell us why you wouldn't let a debate on it. We know why, because yesterday we heard what's in your hearts. I come from a place that's a lot of poverty. And we spend twelve times more on tax cuts than substance abuse, and I see it every day. We are one of the few states that don't support Headstart. We want to be business friendly, we want to send a message. What about our most vulnerable people, our kids? This is just part of the philosophy that is going to be rejected in 2018. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: My dear friend. Acknowledging that since I've come here I've watched the state budget go from $8.6 billion to $14.5 billion, hard for me to justify that we're not investing back into our communities in all things. Watching the fact that I've seen spending on the opioid crisis go from $4 million as some would suggest to 120 to $180 million today, would be very hard for me for someone to try and justify that this body has not supported it. But what my real question comes down to is I need your help. Explain to me how this body would look to cut taxes on those who don't pay taxes?

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you for that question, Senator from Bedford. We have a philosophical difference. You believe in cutting taxes and taking care of people that have the most, and I'm deeply concerned as a school teacher about our kids and providing them opportunity to grow and succeed. And this is not the New Hampshire that I grew up in. When I arrived in this Statehouse, 1984, this was not the way we approached this. We approached it from a conservative perspective but we still had an open heart and an investment in people, in knowing that life, we could improve people's lives and I think we are out of balance. I think we're protecting those that have the most and I think it's a detriment to our people.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you for your answer, Sir. I truly appreciate it. So then help me understand how recent tax cuts at the federal level, led by Republicans in full disclosure, is putting an extra $3,500 into the pockets of on average every taxpayer in New Hampshire. $3,200 in half of the state, $3,500 the other half. Isn't that helping the teachers and those who are working so hard, to give them a little bit more of their money back, or would you reject the fact that the hard working middle class families in the state deserve some of their money back?

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you for the question, Senator. As I said, I believe the state of New Hampshire is not fair when it comes to distribution. I think promising tax cuts to what you perceive to be ordinary folks when we just read today DOT needs money. Everywhere we look, our funding of education both on a local level and on the university system. Over and over and over again, we're starved of investment, but I think this great state of New Hampshire can do more. We're the wealthiest state in the country. We can do more.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Sir. I appreciate it.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I hear this supposition that everybody who owns a business is rich. Nothing could be further from the truth. We just heard someone who owns a business laugh about it. And in fact when we started our first business, I told the story, we had less than $1,000 to our name. And I said to Doug, this sure as heck better work. We were not rich. It worked and we've done well, but not all business owners are rich. And yet we're hitting them with these Business Profit Taxes. Most of the businesses in our state are small businesses; working men and women who have families, who are struggling to get ahead. And we're saying to them, you're struggling, your business is just breaking even. But it's okay for us to tax you because you're a big rich business. And they look at themselves and say I'm not. I'm not. So getting back to the holiday thing, I think one of the biggest gifts to the state of the reduction in the business tax rates has been an increase in business tax revenue, because of the growth that we're seeing. This happens every time it's tried. It will continue to happen. Businesses grow where the economics favor that growth. And this bill helps to ensure that that continues. The amendment does not. So I ask you please support the bill, and defeat the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much for taking my question, Senator Woodburn. With New Hampshire having the seventh lowest overall business taxes in the country, and us in a position where we have accelerated business tax cuts, do you think it was more appropriate for us to do a working families property tax credit that our colleagues in the majority rejected last year?

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Senator. I concur and agree and I believe our priorities are upside down and that we're helping those that have the most against those that have the least and we're starving our state of investments and making it a great state to attract people and businesses and I think we can do better and I think we will do better.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Senator. We've heard a little bit from the Senator from District 24 about certainty and what businesses want. I've also heard from businesses that they want certainty and fiscal responsibility in state government. Do you believe that this amendment posed by the Dean promotes fiscal responsibility in state government?

SENATOR WOODBURN: Absolutely. One of our colleagues, called it Christmas, well it's Christmas for business and the Business Profits Tax but it starves us at the knees and it puts in a trigger that was fine in the past but it's not fine today for some reason. I still wish I'd hear from somebody who would tell me why we tabled and refused to talk about breakfast for kids. I'm still waiting.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. I would just say in response to my friend from District 1, the fact that we have our priorities upside down, you and I would probably both agree the best social program, the most effective social program, the social program that gives everybody opportunity to succeed in New Hampshire is a good job. In the North Country, we fought for those jobs yesterday. We're going to fight for them again today. A job is the thing that we need to focus on the most. So, let's look at success. Our revenue has far exceeded expectations to the point that we put $100 million in the rainy day fund and we're exceeding in particular in business tax revenues our expectations in this budget cycle. We have the lowest poverty ranking in the country in New Hampshire. Let me repeat that, we're not taking enough credit, all twenty four of us really ought to do that. The lowest poverty rating in the country, and the highest per capita income. We have the second or third lowest unemployment rate in the country. Our job growth, the best in the region. It goes back to the priority that a lot of us have had in this room about growing the economy. Our corporate tax rate was the forty-eighth worst in the country. We've now inched up a little bit and when the tax cuts that we voted for in the last budget are fully implemented we will be more in the middle of the pack. Our priorities are not upside down. And we've used that revenue effectively, or at least some of us have.

To address real needs in this state. We added twenty DCYF workers, we doubled the amount of money that went into the alcohol fund. Huge increases in the DD waitlist. $20 million for mental health. Now thankfully, even though not all of us voted for that budget last year, I hope that today we'll continue to bipartisan cooperation on my friend from Londonderry's bill, 582 and 592 that continue the work that needs that needs to be done on DCYF and Senate Bill 590 that addresses a number of issues. That's how we should be focused on here. But to say our priorities are upside down when we have the second lowest unemployment rate in the country, the lowest poverty rate, the highest per capita income, the best job growth, I don't know. I don't know as I said yesterday, wowie bazowie. I don't think our priorities are upside down, we've got our priorities right because the best social program is a good job, and New Hampshire citizens are recognizing that. That's why I support the position of the Chair of Ways and Means against the amendment. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President, and thank you for taking my question. There's one other thing we're really good at in New Hampshire and that's patting ourselves on the back. And that's fine, we should pat ourselves on the back when we deserve it.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Well I appreciate the pat on the back you just gave me for your bill. Thank you.

SENATOR HENNESSESY: I like patting you on the back.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you, I appreciate that.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: What I would like to know and I know this is another way of asking the same question, but when I'd like to first say that I am in support of the amendment, and I'm a little blown away that no one is willing to talk about the elephant in the room, and I'm curious, yes we've done all sorts of things that have been very good. We have done all sorts of things that have been very good. How many children should go to school hungry to make us the best state in the–

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator is there a question about 1161s? We're talking about tax burden.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: As much as the others were questions about–

PRESIDENT MORSE: I know and I just directed everyone to get back on to 1161s please.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Okay so here's the question. If we are willing, if we want to stop, if we want to continue to operate the way we are and ignore this amendment, should we not be thinking also about the things that we're not funding, including children who are going to school hungry?

SENATOR BRADLEY: You know what, that is a very valid question. I think that as I just indicated, we're going to talk about three bills a little bit later, 582, 590 and 592. I think we are addressing priorities. The priority that you just raised, I think is a priority for all of us, and we will have the opportunity to discuss that in the future in the next budget.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I do want to speak to the amendment and focus specifically on the amendment. When the business community came to the committee to look at taxes, they said to go from 8.5 to 7.9 is the way to go. That's a pretty dramatic decrease in taxes. About half of the small businesses in New Hampshire don't pay any taxes, they have not tax liability at all. And indeed what has happened is, the ability to bring new people on has been very, very important because look at our unemployment rate. So indeed we did everything business asked us to do; we reduced the BPT, and reduced the BET. And by the way I'm probably the only one that was here when we created the BPT and the BET. Because we had the most extraordinary methodology of taxation I think in the history of civilization. When we had the stock and trade tax, when we had the inventory tax. You were taxed on your inventory. What is more unfair than taxing you on your inventory? So we've made great, great progress, and by the way a Republican Governor, the most venerable Walter Peterson was the Governor at the time. So he made that magnificent change.

When we had an education crisis, business was asked to step up to the plate. They were asked to increase their contribution to the BPT and to the BET. They did it, to fund education when we had education reform. We, this legislature all twenty-four of us, responded to that by voting to reduce the business taxes from 8.5 to 7.9. That's what they asked for, 7.9. And we gave it to them. Ask and you shall receive. Seek and you shall find. They did it. Now we're saying, or I'm saying, I don't want to say we. I am asking my colleagues to say if we reach a threshold, guess what you're going to get another reduction. And that wasn't my idea. I like to take credit for ideas but my wife says never break your arm patting yourself on the back, so I don't want to do that. But that idea came from the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in the House; Norm Major, by the way my classmate at the University of New Hampshire, Senator from District 24. So there is a good bipartisan relationship in that. And that's all we're asking is a mechanism in place to show what is working is working and we can continue it.

Now when it comes to the federal budget and the great tax reductions that we've had, federal budgets got a trillion dollar deficit. Is that a good thing? A trillion dollar deficit, who's going to pay for it? My grandchildren, my great grandchildren, they're going to pay for the deficit. We don't do it that way. We try to balance the budget. So that might come easy in economics but you only use that in a desperate situation, okay? John Manning Cain was a great guy, I respect his intellect. So if we, Senator asked me if I taught John Manning Cain. Just asking. I love her. Thank you. I didn't teach John Manning Cain.

So what I'm saying is we're just following a pattern that's been a very good pattern for us. We reduce the taxes, there's a result; further reduction and you can get another result. And to me that's good business sense and again I refer to the bonus situation for a business leader. It's based on production and it's based on reaching targets, it's based on reaching goals and the administration sets those goals. I think this is prudent. I think it's good financial acumen, it's good financial responsibility and it's good for the state of New Hampshire. And hopefully that's what we think about when we make these votes, we think about what's good for the state of New Hampshire, what's good for our business economy. And I must say that the Business and Industry Association supported the reduction to 7.9 percent. They were in ecstasy over that, and the other tax reductions that we have made. I think we've made thirty-nine tax reductions over the past few years. This fits, this fits in that situation. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: As I read your amendment it makes it clear on line 20 and 21, 22 that the business taxes shall remain at 7.9 percent for the Business Profits and at 6.63 percent for the Business Enterprise Tax. I find it very difficult to understand the argument that this creates uncertainty going forward. What I see is it tells the business community what they can rely on going forward regardless of what happens to the economy, and I would like that you respond to the specter that has been raise that the reason this amendment is faulty is because it creates uncertainty.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, thank you for the question. This amendment remains as it is today. There is certainty, you know exactly what you're going to pay and if we have a surge in terms of revenue, guess what, you get a bonus, you get a bonus. That's the American way, I think. Thank you.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: I have another objection to this bill. This amendment is passed we've removed the prerogative of this legislature and the one across the hall and the guy in the corner office whomever it may be, to effectuate the tax policy called for by the constitution. That's our purview. We should not be setting rules and laws in place that restrict or limit the ability of us as representatives of the people, businesses and institutions that sent us here to establish and carry out tax policy for the state across the board. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise to remind this body that the single best fall festival in the state of New Hampshire every year happens in this great little town called Peterborough where I must admit in full disclosure last year I actually won the pie making contest and I'm thinking there are a bunch of people up in the audience that may have tried that outstanding pie and they're from the Well School in Peterborough and I'd like to thank them for coming to the session today. Thank you very much, everybody.

PRESIDENT MORSE: We are at the conclusion of the regular calendar and will take up the bills that were removed from the consent calendar and then the addendum and then the table.

HB 410, relative to the legislative youth advisory council.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support. The Legislative Youth Advisory Council was created in 2006 to advise legislators about concerns of young people regarding pending legislation, budget expenditures and policy matters. This legislation crafted by members of the Youth Council makes changes to the membership and redrafts the duties to more accurately reflect their current practices and time lines. And the committee asks for your support in this legislation. Thank you, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to HB 410

Amend the bill by replacing section 3 with the following:

3 Legislative Youth Advisory Council; Staff Assistance. RSA 19-K:4, VI is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

VI. The office of the speaker of the house of representatives and the office of the senate president may provide staff assistance to the council.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. This amendment makes a one word change to the legislation. Currently it states that the House Speaker of Representatives and the Office of the Senate President shall provide staff assistance to the council. We had testimony that they rarely are ever asked and usually they have someone from the outside that comes in and does the things that they need to have done and so it was requested that we change the shall to a may, so if anything should happen and they need to ask the assistance of either the Speaker or the Senate President, they still will be able to. Thank you very much, Mister President.

Amend the introductory paragraph of RSA 318:47-dd, VI(a) as inserted by section 3 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

VI.(a) Within 5 business days following the dispensing of a biological product, the dispensing pharmacist or the pharmacist's designee shall make an entry of the specific product provided to the patient, including the name of the product and the manufacturer. The communication shall be conveyed by making an entry that is electronically accessible to the prescriber through:

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move SB 350 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill establishes requirements for dispensing and substituting biological products by pharmacists. Biological products are becoming more and more popular treatment in many different diseases. As the treatment becomes more popular more biosimilars are entered into the market. This bill would allow pharmacists to dispense a different biologic than the provider prescribed as long as it was approved by the FDA biosimilars. This would increase competition in the markets and make their effective treatment more affordable for the patients that rely on them. Please support the committee amendment and recommendation of Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Avard.)

SENATOR LASKY: As I understand it if the pharmacist wants to substitute the biosimilars it has to be approved by a physician. Is that correct, prior to filling the proscription?

SENATOR AVARD: I believe so and also the FDA.

SENATOR LASKY: Right, you mentioned they had to be pre-approved by the FDA, but if he is going to or she is going to substitute this different medication, does it not have to be approved by the patient's physician first?

SENATOR AVARD: I don't know if that was brought up in testimony.

SENATOR LASKY: Okay, thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR LASKY: Same question…

SENATOR BRADLEY: There was a provision in this bill that the physician him or herself could write on the prescription, do not interchange. That's how it would work.

SENATOR LASKY: On every prescription then or once he has notified by–

SENATOR BRADLEY: Excuse me, on those prescriptions where the physician him or herself does not want interchangeability. Remember the way this legislation is structured is, it's forward looking. So that when there are biosimilar drugs similar to what generics are today, there could be interchangeability if you will, but if a physician says no, then the pharmacist could not do it.

SENATOR LASKY: So the physician has to be proactive then in terms of doing that?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Yes.

SENATOR LASKY: Okay. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

Floor Amendment to SB 350

Amend RSA 318:47-dd, V as inserted by section 3 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

V. A pharmacist shall not substitute an interchangeable biological product pursuant to this section if the prescriber indicates that substitution is not authorized by specifying on the prescription "medically necessary" on a paper prescription, or uses electronic indications when transmitted electronically, or gives instructions when transmitted orally that the biological product prescribed is medically necessary.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. This amendment was brought forward by request from virtually everybody that looked at this bill to align biosimilar processes with generic drugs. And remember as I just said before, biosimilars are biological drugs as opposed to chemical drugs so no strain is ever identical in the way that a generic is but in terms of just generic policy this would align biosimilars with generic policy. And everybody supported it.

Amendment to SB 383

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a commission to recommend policies that will enhance access to affordable health care for all New Hampshire residents.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Statement of Intent. The general court recognizes that despite dramatic changes in the federal health insurance programs, many residents of New Hampshire remain uninsured or under insured, and costs continue to soar. The general court further recognizes that the state has an interest in containing the costs of delivering care within the financial means of the stakeholders in our state. Because of the unique demographic, economic, and fiscal characteristics of New Hampshire, improving access to affordable health care should be carefully evaluated and considered. Therefore, the general court hereby establishes a commission to recommend policies that will enhance access to affordable health care for all New Hampshire residents.

2 New Subdivision; Commission to Recommend Policies That Will Enhance Access to Affordable Health Care for all New Hampshire Residents. Amend RSA 126-A by inserting after section 74 the following new subdivision:

Commission to Recommend Policies That Will Enhance Access to Affordable Health Care for all New Hampshire Residents

126-A:75 Commission to Recommend Policies That Will Enhance Access to Affordable Health Care for all New Hampshire Residents.

I. There is established a commission to recommend policies that will enhance access to affordable health care for all New Hampshire residents.

(a) The members of the commission shall be as follows:

(1) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

(2) Three members of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(3) The insurance commissioner, or designee.

(4) The commissioner of the department of health and human services, or designee.

(5) Two public members who shall represent New Hampshire patients, appointed by the governor.

(6) A representative of the New Hampshire Hospital Association, appointed by the association.

(7) Two representatives of the New Hampshire Medical Society, appointed by the society.

(8) One member representing the private health insurance industry in New Hampshire, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(9) A representative of the University of New Hampshire Institute for Health Policy and Practice, appointed by the institute.

(10) A representative of the Business and Industry Association of New Hampshire, appointed by the association.

(11) A representative of organized labor, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(12) A member representing mental health patients, appointed by the governor.

(13) A member representing persons with substance use disorders, appointed by the governor.

(b) Legislative members of the commission shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the commission.

II.(a) The commission shall review costs of health care and health insurance in New Hampshire and review policies that will improve access to affordable health care. The commission shall include in its study a review of state and federal policies.

(b) The commission may solicit input from any person or entity the commission deems relevant to its study.

III. The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the commission shall be called by the senate member. The first meeting of the commission shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Nine members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

IV. The commission shall make an interim report with its findings and any recommendations for proposed legislation on or before November 1, 2018 and a final report on November 1, 2019 to the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives, the senate clerk, the house clerk, the governor, and the state library.

3 Repeal. RSA 126-A:75, relative to a commission to recommend policies that will enhance access to affordable health care for all New Hampshire residents, is repealed.

4 Effective Date.

I. Section 3 of this act shall take effect November 1, 2019.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a commission to recommend policies that will enhance access to affordable health care for all New Hampshire residents.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to move that SB 383 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill seeks to create a commission to recommend the policies that will enhance access to affordable health care for all New Hampshire residents. New Hampshire has some of the most expensive health care in the country, as we know. It is important to make sure the state is doing everything it can to ensure that consumers are able to access the cost effective health care they need. This commission will allow all of the stakeholders to get together and study the issue to guide legislation. Please support SB 383 as amended which received unanimous support from the committee. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise not in support of the amendment or the bill as introduced with good respect to my friend from Hanover. We know and we have seen in this body over the past four years that our good friends to our left or west, Vermont, actually gave consideration and have talked long and actually passed a bill for health care for all, single-payer health care system. Over the course of some four years that legislature who actually wanted to implement a single health care payer system was unable to find any way to do so, less it would double the size of the state budget and still require that any company that had locations in Vermont and out of the state would end up paying double, both the current taxes, both the current health care they had, as well as into the health care system it is. Single payer health care system has proven itself to be financially non-viable and would be a risk to our budget so therefore I'd ask the body to reject any attempt or discussions to try to implement it for the people of this state because I believe it sends a wrong message and I'd like a roll call. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. I just want to stand up and say I agree with my colleague from Hanover and I agree with my colleague also from Bedford. But I just want to say, just for the record because there's been a lot of discussion about what the committee amendment which we just adopted actually does or doesn't do. I think when the bill started there was an indication that we would look at a single payer system. What the amendment that we just adopted says we want to study how we can make and improve access to affordable health care for New Hampshire residents. So I think that that is not a single payer initiative. There may be some in this room that support that, that's fine, we know that, but this study committee is not intended to introduce a single payer system in New Hampshire. What it is intended to do is find ways whether our friend from Bedford might think across state purchase of health care, or others might think in something very different. It will have the opportunity to explore all those options. I salute my friend from Hanover who is willing to compromise with me on this language which I think gets to a goal that all twenty-four of us can share; improved access to affordable health care. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you, Senator Bradley for taking my question. Is it not true that the amendment transformed this bill so it was no longer about a single payer plan and could you speak to the changes that were made in this bill so it is more inclusive, and does allow us to continue to examine the question of why we have the highest health care costs in the nation and how we might be able to reduce those?

SENATOR BRADLEY: And again, you know it's funny, I've been around here a long time. I just learned something earlier this week, and that being that until we actually adopt an amendment and then move it as an Ought to Pass, we don't change the title of a bill. That's why the title of the bill in the calendar says health care for all. What the committee amendment does, and I thank, you know, all of the committee members for being willing to vote for this bill, is it will give the legislature an opportunity to study expanded access to affordable health care for New Hampshire residents. I think that's something we probably all agree on.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment.

Amendment to SB 453

Amend the bill by inserting after section 2 the following and renumbering the original section 3 to read as 5:

3 New Hampshire Drinking Water and Groundwater Advisory Commission Established. Amend RSA 485-F:4, I(g) to read as follows:

(g) The director of economic development, department of [~~resources~~] business and economic [~~development~~] affairs, or designee.

4 New Hampshire Drinking Water and Groundwater Advisory Commission Established. Amend RSA 485-F:4, VII(a)(5) to read as follows:

(5) The project provides funding through cost-sharing grants to municipalities, municipally-owned water utilities, and privately owned water utilities [~~regulated by the public utilities commission~~] that are public water systems as defined in RSA 485:1-a, XV for the design, construction, and extension of public water systems, and the establishment and expansion of wellhead protection areas where they provide the most cost effective method for providing safe and clean drinking water.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 453 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill changes the requirements for rulemaking for a competitive grant program for drinking water protection. This bill addresses the Advisory Committee for the New Hampshire Drinking Water and Groundwater Trust Fund, a program that allows entities to apply for grants and loans to address water infrastructure projects. As the law is currently written, the Department of Environmental Services is charged with such tasks as creating application requirements, criteria for the selection of awards, the approval process. Senate Bill 453 would take those duties that currently belong to the Department of Environmental Services and place them under the Advisory Commission of the program. Since the Advisory Commission is charged with making the decisions about which projects are funded, it only makes sense that the Advisory Commission determine the application requirements, their criteria for the selection of awards, and the approval process. The amendment makes some technical changes to correct a reference to the Commissioner of the Business and Economic Affairs and to better define what water utilities can apply to the trust fund. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on Senate Bill 453. Thank you, Mister President and thank you for your leadership on this program.

Amend RSA 77-A:5-c, I and II as inserted by section 6 of the bill by replacing them with the following:

I. Business organizations shall file an election with the commissioner to be a qualified regenerative manufacturing company with respect to any taxable period on a form prescribed by the commissioner at any time on or before the fifteenth day of the third month immediately following the end of such taxable period. Such an election shall be effective for the taxable period of the qualified regenerative manufacturing company for which it is made and for all succeeding taxable periods until such election is terminated as provided in this section.

II. The election to be a qualified regenerative manufacturing company shall expire for taxable periods beginning after December 31, 2027. No subsequent election may be made after the expiration of an election, with respect to either the business organization or the active regenerative manufacturing business conducted by such business organization or any successor business organization.

Amend the bill by replacing section 8 with the following:

8 Applicability. The provisions of sections 2 through 6 of this act shall apply for taxable periods beginning after December 31, 2017.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 564-FN-A Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill establishes a Business Profits Tax and Business Enterprise Tax exemption of 100 percent for certain qualified regenerative manufacturing companies in New Hampshire. Senate Bill 564-FN-A also establishes the Regenerative Manufacturing Workforce Development Program, and a State Regenerative Manufacturing Workers Development Fund to be administered by the Business Finance Authority. The committee amendment clarifies that business organizations shall file an election with the Commissioner of the Department of Revenue Administration to be a qualified regenerative manufacturing company with respect to any taxable period at any time on or before the 15th day of the third month immediately following the end of such taxable period. The amendment also provides that the election to be a qualified regenerative manufacturing company shall expire from taxable periods beginning after December 31, 2027. No subsequent election may be made after the expiration of an election. Lastly, the amendment changes the date of application for certain provisions of the bill. The committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 564-FN-A as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

I. Business organizations shall file an election with the commissioner to be a qualified regenerative manufacturing company with respect to any taxable period on a form prescribed by the commissioner at any time on or before the fifteenth day of the third month immediately following the end of such taxable period. Such an election shall be effective for the taxable period of the qualified regenerative manufacturing company for which it is made and shall be applicable only where, as reported by New Hampshire department employment security, the average quarterly employment of the business organization in the taxable period is greater than the average quarterly employment of the business organization in the preceding taxable period. A valid election shall be applicable for all succeeding taxable periods until such election is terminated as provided in this section.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, some folks oppose the first part of this bill, the tax exemption loophole, whatever folks want to call it. Some folks oppose the second part, some folks support both parts, some folks oppose both parts. A lot of those folks are on House Ways and Means, in particular. But this amendment is to improve the first part in my view. Just to be clear, this bill sets up a ten year carve out for a specific industry, albeit for a significant and substantial public benefit, ten year carve out from all taxes to the state. Let me just read a few quotes about that particular provision.

"We appreciate everything Dean Kamen does for New Hampshire. It would be fantastic if ARMI grew into a leading biotech hub. That does not justify mucking up New Hampshire's business tax code with special treatment for favorite firms." That's not me, that's the Union Leader.

Another quote. "Empowering the government to arrange the economy as it sees fit, to rig the rules so that the government preferred groups are favored over others does not protect the unconnected unless powerful from the connective and powerful in terms of government and to all the powerful and well connected." That's not me, that's the Josiah Bartlett Center for Public Policy, about this bill.

Here's another quote. "You're either on the bus, or you're off the bus." That's not me, that's our friend from Bedford.

In this particular case, basically everybody's on the bus, but some people are now off of it. And some people are now off of it Mister President, without any accountability. My friend from District 3 says the best social program is a job. Well, if this is about jobs this amendment is about accountability that jobs are created. You get your tax loophole exemption if you create jobs. That's it. Jobs go up and the tax will too as compared to the preceding period, you get your tax loophole. Accountability. One sentence of accountability. That's it. One sentence, and it's about jobs. So I encourage us to vote for this Floor Amendment 1159s. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise and ask my colleagues to vote against the current amendment that's before us. Let's just look at this thing as it stands. We have an opportunity, we have an opportunity, and I say we I mean the whole state of New Hampshire, to support something that's really, it's out of my league in terms of its concept. They are going to try to take the DNA of people and create organs and create flesh so that people who need these items don't have to wait for years for a transplant or don't have to wait for the rest of their lives with the inability to function as they should function.

We've been in the war in Afghanistan for seventeen years. People don't die in war anymore, our soldiers because of the advanced medical situation, they get taken care of. But they come home maimed; arms legs, head injuries, lose organs. This is an opportunity for us to make their lives whole. And creating jobs, it's going to create jobs, but they're going to be engineers, PHDs, you've got to go out and find those people. And you've got to induce them to come to New Hampshire. Dean Kamen has engineers. This is going to require very experienced, very well educated people. That's why the second part of the bill talks about a way to take care of loans. How many times in your life have you been given an opportunity through science and technology to make somebody's life better? And this is an opportunity. Remember that Kamen is a very bright very capable guy. The wheelchair that he's developed, the Segway that he's developed, the ability to purify water has been developed, the automatic arm that he's developed, the wheelchair that can climb stairs. These are all innovations that have come out of his company. He's a brilliant guy. We have an opportunity to aid a cause that they're committed to. Now we've got to bring people in to make this cause a reality. That's a big job and ARMI isn't going to be a separate entity, that entity has got to go out and recruit people, has to recruit the best and the brightest.

So how do you say, because you didn't bring five in, you don't get the tax benefit? I don't think you can say that. Look at, we can't find people today to do menial jobs. We can't find them. I talked to the police department in Manchester yesterday, we've got three people retiring. We can't fill those positions. We just can't fill those positions. So this is a humongous task to begin with. Regardless of how much money we got from ARMI and how much money we're going to raise, we've got to find the people to do this work. And I'm probably not going to be alive when this comes to hopefully a very successful conclusion, because it's a project that's going to go on and on and we are investing per se. Nobody's ever paid any Business Profits Tax, how long does it take for an entity like this to pay it and they don't pay any Business Enterprise Tax? We're not losing anything but what we're doing something for the public good. We're making an investment for the public good.

I just, I hope that my colleagues will think about that when you cast your vote. Everybody has their own opinion. I understand that and I respect that. But the entity is located in the 20th Senate District, those mills pay real estate tax, significant real estate tax to the city of Manchester. That is going to continue. Hopefully the people that come into our state will buy homes, will reside in our state and will make our state an even better place than it is. So I ask my colleagues to think about this. We had good discussions in the Ways and Means Committee about this. I think we made a favorable recommendation, I hope that you will support that, vote down this amendment and look at the bill and hope that you will support the bill. Thank you, Mister President.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. It's my pleasure to introduce one of my younger brothers and my nephew, Brandon Giuda and Ian who are with us in the gallery today. Please welcome them.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. I rise opposed to Floor Amendment 1159. Look, I really as a sponsor of the bill appreciate the bipartisan support for this all across the state. This technology of organ and tissue regeneration is in the stage now where it's going from being able to happen to commercialized and that's what will enable us to help veterans, help firefighters, police officers, people that serve us in so many different ways as they are wounded on the battlefield or wherever. This is not a question of if the commercialization technology succeeds, it's a question of where. And we have an $80 million head start because of Dean Kamen's efforts through ARMI. If we adopt this amendment, we totally make what we're trying to do uncertain. And uncertainty will kill the investment in New Hampshire for this kind of technology. And therefore it would an absolute disaster to pass this amendment. We might as well gut the bill and if we pass this amendment. So I would urge everybody that supported this bill so far to reject this amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to this amendment for a couple of reasons. Veterans notwithstanding, that in and of itself is a huge reason. I spent days at Walter Reed talking and working with Vets who are missing various parts of their bodies. This is a godsend. This should transcend tax policy. That said, we're not exempting these businesses from property taxes, and as this ARMI core starts in Manchester, like ripples from a pond, from a rock thrown into a pond there are going to be ancillary businesses in regenerative manufacturing, they're going to spread out throughout the area and throughout the state. This is just the incubator, and to offer this kind of incentive gives us the opportunity to set the standard for a new world industry. That is something I want for our state. I think our people, businesses and institutions all benefit and ultimately will profit as well. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR GANNON: I like to be 100 percent on the train and understand what's going on, Senator. So your amendment is going to take away the tax exemption, no? Am I wrong? That's just what I want clarified. It's still '27 right now but your amendment would take it away sooner?

SENATOR FELTES: No. Thank you very much Senator Gannon. The amendment doesn't take away the tax exemption at all. It says that there's accountability in the way tax exemption operates. In other words if employment goes up in the taxable period, as compared to the preceding taxable period, then you get the tax exemption. If it goes up one employees on an average quarterly basis, you get the tax exemption. The major argument we heard in committee is about getting the jobs and expanding operations. But you could create a business organizations and maybe you hire a bunch of people initially and then maybe you lay off everybody and you got to automation. Should you continue to get the tax exemption? I think not, I think other folks think continue to get the tax exemption. So if it's about jobs, then this puts in place the tax exemption with some accountability tied to jobs.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I just want to give one example where I saw a ten year tax exemption work. We'll go back to Ireland like yesterday. In the 80s Ireland was one of the poorest nations with the most unemployment. They had a great young workforce and so what they did was give a ten year tax exemption, and it got companies like Digital to go over. They had no, no desire, no one was going to Ireland at the time and it totally turned them around until they were the Celtic tiger, the envy of the rest of Europe, and it was on a ten year exemption. Sure some of the companies did leave at the end of the ten year, but they picked up tens of thousands of jobs. This ARMI program is a very risky; at best the chances of us in Manchester surviving and being a place with all this biological stuff that Senator Lou and I just a little bit understand. Seventy-five percent that it's going to totally fail and it's going to go somewhere else, so we need to reward the people who are willing to make such an investment in New Hampshire by giving them their ten years. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and ask the body to reject the amendment because you know I try very hard not to talk about things I know very little about. But as a business owner, when I see something that says, you're only qualified for an incentive or a tax credit only in the quarters where you raise more employees. I ask the body to think about that for a second. So we have an opportunity here that people will come and they'll work in engineering, but if the second quarter they haven't had any adds to staff, because it says, effective for the taxable period of the qualified regenerative business for which it is made and shall be applicable only where the average quarterly employment of the business organization in the taxable period is greater than the average quarterly employment of the business organization in the preceding tax period. So the only way you get the credit is if you add the staff.

As my colleague from District 15 said, if you have a bunch of employees and you automate and lay them off, you should lose your exemption. But there's a process of creation, there's a process of research and development. There's a process of trying to encourage companies that come to our state and invest their resources, their time, their money to create something. It's not going to happen overnight. It's not going to happen in the first reporting quarter, maybe the second, third, fourth, fifth all the way up until the fiftieth quarter. To tell the business community that they can only come here and receive the benefit if they make adds to staff every quarter, defeats what it means for businesses to run. So I'd suggest that the body reject the amendment and we'll move on with the bill as presented. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I just rise in opposition to the amendment. I think we just need to keep it simple. Keep it simple and pass this bill as is. We have a great opportunity here and we have a wonderful opportunity to attract a new workforce, people in New Hampshire. Let's keep it simple. This complicates things too much. So please vote down the amendment and pass this bill.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Hennessey, Feltes, Reagan.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 4 - Nays: 19. Failed.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the bill, but I want to say first that maybe we should have a Floor Amendment to say that we're going to regenerate a clone of the Dean, okay? Kamen's going to take care of you, Buddy. Just hang on. We'll do it. You know I saw this bill and I really saw the future. Here's potentially the next greatest generation of change, and I'm for all parts of it, too. This can work, will work, it has worked in the past. I just want to remind folks who may not have been here two years ago, the effort to bring in Safran-Albany up to Rochester and you know I happened to be up there on Tuesday with the Dover Learning Center, touring the facility that Great Bay opened and they had about 150 people there in the job training programs. Incredible demand for them in composites, in computer numerical manufacturing, particularly in non-destructive testing. I was told that they get fifteen phone calls from around the country for every graduate that they are producing, let alone the folks that go up and work at Albany-Safran. Using YOLA funds they're using private industry funds, they have a capacity of 250 and they're just looking for people to come in there. So it really works. And you remember a few years ago, you know Safran, the plane was going to land you know. It's coming in. Can you turn on the lights of the runway? Yeah we can turn the lights on the runway. And what it meant was that everybody here and Governor Lynch worked to make that commitment. They were going to build that center, wasn't a tax credit there but they said look, we will do the workforce development, you know we'll build that center, Great Bay stepped up, it's a beautiful facility, Great Bay stepped up, they have adult learning center folks and faculty drawn from all over the place and what a great place. See, and that's what this is going to do. It's going to be jobs, it will work.

And secondly, I think that the parts in here looking at that pipeline development to make sure that we can increase the capacity of the biological sciences at our universities and colleges and say look, if you want to come into this field, we're going to help you with some scholarship funding. And you're going to come out and you're going to get one of the best cutting edge, hottest jobs anywhere in the country and it's going to be right here in New Hampshire. And it says, yeah we've got a problem with student debt. We have talked about that a lot, the student debt problem. And I know there are those who would say, and I agree, we ought to address that globally. You know we ought to have some programs here and some you know some companies just are coming up from school districts, some companies who are offering this and that's great and I wish we could do it and stay awake. But the point here is that here is a targeted industry that needs this that we know that the capacity at UNH and then other students who may come from somewhere else with a lot of student debt they know that after a certain number of years they're going to get that debt paid down. That to me is just such a win-win and I hope we will you know move forward and join the march for the ARMI folks. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise to remind this body about the opportunity we have and to speak to some of my friends on the other side of the aisle who might at some point as this bill heads over there listen to the testimony as many of them always do. Our opportunity to try and help solve one of our biggest problems which is the health of our people, especially those veterans who may have been caught up in a bad situation in conflict or someone like your next door neighbor who might be caught in a burning car or burning house. Our ability right here in New Hampshire to be the forefront to truly help people regain their life and health with skin or a kidney or a liver or an eye or whatever it is, is about as earth-shattering of an opportunity as we've ever seen.

Now I know my friends on the other side of the aisle and I, and typically as you would know, always get a little as I say wiggly and weak in the knee when I talk about exempting some people or as my friend from District 15 said, let some people off the bus while we make other people stay on the bus. Is that fair to us? But I want to remind my colleagues that I think many people in this room supported increases in the research and development tax credit to provide specific exemptions and encouragement to specific companies and specific industries because they know there's a chance to make it grow. I know my friend from the North Country fought long and hard for a specific tax benefit, first up in the North Country, this year we've brought it all the way down to many parts of the state to encourage companies to come, grow and expand. I know we've done much on the first time home buy credit, first time home buyers. I think everyone on this body also supported that. But what good is having a first time home purchase opportunity if there's no job for them to come here and benefit from? Our tax policy is very holistic and I know there's days and early this morning we had a robust discussion about looking at tax policy in a vacuum. One tax cut, potentially one benefit or one detriment to the people of our state. But the truth is our tax policy is very, very holistic. But all of it works together in ebb and flow to make our society here in New Hampshire better.

This, as the Senator from District 20 said, is a chance of a lifetime. This is a chance of a lifetime that we have not seen in maybe all of our lives. When have we been on the cutting edge and the cusp to truly cure life threatening injury from our little state right here? Yeah, sure I hear look we're providing an exemption for up to ten years, from the first start. We made the amendment to make sure it could not go into perpetuity. Some people have suggested it's not constitutional, we have seen a letter from the attorney general, it is constitutional. Some people have said we have never done this and shouldn't do this, and the fact is we have done this in this state several times before. Most recent one we have to remember was when we looked to exempt investment income from retirement accounts. And as a result of that they've become, you know that industry has become the second largest employer in the state of New Hampshire, for good high paying jobs, that makes our economy grow.

And lastly I would add, I think it's important that we remember, there's more than just the entities themselves that would be involved in regenerative design. We have to think about the ancillary companies. Who's going to help with the construction to build it, who's going to help with feeding them, who's going to help with property maintenance, who's going to help with building equipment and supplies and test tubes? And all the other potential economic opportunities that we have if we see today with the $80 million up front and a promise of another I think it's 240 million on top of that. Nearly $350 million of committed money to whoever lands this opportunity. That will bring continued expanded economic development to our state. It will bring opportunities that I believe as the Senator from District 20 said, an economic opportunity in our state that we may have never seen before and may never see again.

If there are things we should, as my friends say, be investing in, even though this is an exemption and not an investment, because it's money not realized, I can think of no better opportunity, no better opportunity that we have to invest in our people, our veterans, the sick, the hurt. This is a program that I believe in, I believe the promise is there and I believe our state will truly see benefits. And as I said a few weeks ago Mister President, this is a case where the juice will be worth the squeeze. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

Senator Feltes is in favor of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on SB 564-FN-A.

SB 569-FN, relative to animal cruelty and establishing a commission to study certain language applicable to the transfer of animals.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 4-2. Senator Feltes for the committee.

Senate Finance
March 20, 2018
2018-1157s
08/05

Amendment to SB 569-FN

Amend RSA 437:1, III as inserted by section 2 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

III. "Breeding female" means an unspayed female dog, 24 months of age or older kept or maintained for the purpose of breeding and selling the dog's offspring. An unspayed female dog that is bred prior to reaching 24 months of age shall be considered a breeding female.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 569-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill; number one; requires inspection of premises before issuance of a license to transfer animals or birds. Number two; allows the suspension or revocation of a license to transfer animals or birds if conditions under which the licenses issued are not maintained. Number three; allows for a person caring for an animal confiscated during an animal cruelty trial to petition the town for a bond to cover the cost of animal care. Number four; makes a $200,000 appropriation to the Department of Agriculture, Markets and Food and authorizes the Department to hire two additional inspectors for oversight and inspection of pet vendors; and number five; establishes a commission to study certain language applicable to the transfer of animals. The committee amendment clarifies the definition of "breeding female" so that an unspayed female dog that is bred prior to reaching twenty-four months of age shall be considered a breeding female. The Senate Finance Committee recommends the passage of Senate Bill 569-FN as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you for taking my question. My question is on the animal– actually I have three questions– the animal shelter facility. Does this include foster homes who foster more than one dog?

SENATOR FELTES: I don't believe so but I'll defer to the Senate Majority Leader, it's his bill. So I'll defer to him on that question.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Mister President, will the good Senator from District 3 be speaking? Because I can wait. I can hold my questions until he speaks.

PRESIDENT MORSE: No let's get it over with.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: So does animal shelter facility include foster homes who foster more than one dog?

SENATOR BRADLEY: I think, Senator you would have to if you looked at the bill that we passed a couple of weeks ago, the amendment or the bill on the first page of the bill lines 21 through 26, define what an animal shelter facility means. It includes the building, the immediate surrounding area used to house or contain animals, owned, operated, maintained by a duly incorporated humane society, animal welfare society or others like that, and also a public pound for the housing of strays or a pound operated by a person. So it doesn't specify a number, but that's what an animal shelter facility is.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: So if I'm transporting a rescue dog from Connecticut up to New Hampshire to its final destination to someone and the dog is basically surrendered to let's say Poodle Rescue of New England who I volunteer with, that final destination is a foster home, if they have two or three rescues from Poodle Rescue, I'm presuming that would be considered an animal shelter facility?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Or an animal rescue facility which is defined earlier in the language. And I would just say this, while this section is repealed and re-enacted, it's largely based on the definitions that were in place prior to introduction of this bill. The main change is in the definition of commercial kennel and the number of breeding females. So this was intended by re-enactment to simplify all of the definitions.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: So, let's move to the pet vendor, which means any person engaged in the business of transferring live animals or birds customarily used as household pets to the public with or without fee or donation required, whether or not a physical facility is owned, would that mean someone like myself who would pick up a rescue poodle from Connecticut, transport it up to New Hampshire, would I be considered a pet vendor?

SENATOR BRADLEY: A pet vendor would mean under this definition and again largely intact from prior, from the current law, any person engaged in the business of transferring live animals or birds customarily used as household pets to the public with or without a fee or donation required. And then it says pet vendor includes and then it goes on, animal rescue facilities, animal shelter brokers, commercial kennels and pet stores. So I think the definitions are pretty clear. I'm not exactly sure what you do, you probably would better know how you fall under these definitions if you even do.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Are the license requirements new to the pet vendor arena?

SENATOR BRADLEY: No. What this bill is seeking to do is have inspections primarily of commercial kennels that have seven or more breeding female dogs. That's what's new in an attempt to rectify some of the very significant animal cruelty cases that we've witnessed in New Hampshire over the last couple of years.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SB 577, requiring the public utilities commission to consider its order affecting the Burgess BioPower plant in Berlin, prohibiting the import of certain liquid fuels, and relative to the production of useful thermal energy.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 3-3. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 577 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill requires the Public Utilities Commission to initiate a proceeding to consider changes to its order affecting the Burgess BioPower Plant in Berlin. It prohibits the import of certain liquid fuels and prohibits the sale of such fuels in 2019. SB 577 also changes the inclusion of Electric Renewable Energy Class I for methane gas. The prime sponsor of the legislation explained to committee members that he was approached by the Burgess BioPower Plant to file the legislation, which seeks to ask the Public Utilities Commission to open such a docket to determine if the PUC's original 2014 order creating the plant's ability to sell electricity to Eversource Energy at above market prices, should be extended. He explained such action may impact the ratepayers of Eversource Energy, the property tax base of the city of Berlin, the bio-mass industry in the state of New Hampshire and jobs in the North Country. The prime sponsor also indicated if the PUC rate order is extended, rates would probably remain consistent. Committee members questioned if it was appropriate for the state to step in and solve the problem, as Burgess BioPower could have gone directly back to the PUC rather than have taken the legislative approach. Unable to come to an agreement, the Senate Finance Committee offers a motion of Inexpedient to Legislate on Senate Bill 577, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I rise in opposition to the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate, and thank you, Mister President for recognizing me to speak on behalf of the bill as it came before the Energy and Natural Resources Committee.

First I would like to refer the Senators to the findings in the bill itself. The General Court finds that the continued operation of the Burgess Bio plant in Berlin is important to the economy of the North Country and the city of Berlin, as well as to the forest products industry and the importance for retaining a renewable energy portfolio standard goals and the environment. The bill directs the PUC to offer proceedings and directs them to consider whether it is in the public interest to increase the amount of the cap on the level of the communicative reduction vector, or to make other adjustments or revisions to the order, so that the Burgess Bio plant can continue to operate. Particularly it calls upon the PUC to examine the importance of the plant for the city of Berlin for the renewable energy for the state and also for jobs in the North Country while at the same time the PUC is to examine the impact on ratepayers. It makes sense that the PUC is the best entity to measure the pros and cons of keeping a cross subsidy for the Burgess BioPower plant. One of the reasons that this request of the PUC is important is because we've seen that the fuel cost for natural energy, natural gas continues to go down and therefore puts many of our other energy producing entities in the state at risk. And puts at risk, jobs within this state and also puts at risk the money that's being spent on energy here in the state, rather than sending it out of state to pay for natural gas.

Let me just speak for a moment to the importance of the Burgess BioPower plant. It was developed on the site of the Frasier Mills, which many of you know closed in 2006 and left the North Country and Berlin at great economic disadvantage. It is the largest renewable energy generator in the state, it is a dispatchable resource that when natural resources such as natural gas is constrained which we have seen happening not infrequently over the last several years, and also for other renewable sources, wind and solar being constrained are not available. The plant is crucial to the city of Berlin's redefinition and the effort to become a sustainable economy in the heart of the North Country. The plant accounts for 10 percent of the annual sewer fees to operate the municipal waste water system. The plant accounts for 25 percent of the annual water fees to operate the municipal water system and it also accounts for 9 percent of the annual tax base in the city of Berlin. These monies have made it possible for the city of Berlin to invest in other infrastructure projects such as New Hampshire Route 16, and revenues will be able to be continually invested if the plant is allowed to continue, for other capital improvements in the region. It provides a vital economic impact not only to Berlin, but also to the surrounding communities, ensuring that we continue employment for loggers and sawmills as example. And the use of the renewable sources such as the Biomass from the Berlin power plant will increase fuel security for all of New England. It is for those reasons that I believe it is important that we overturn the ITL of the Finance Committee and send this bill both to the House and ultimately to the PUC to make sure that it is effectively evaluated because of the tremendous economic impact it has had and could be lost if the plant were to close. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to overturn the committee recommendation of Inexpedient to Legislate. We talk all the time about jobs, we talk all the time about energy. We need to understand that when the natural gas prices spike, because it's extremely hot or extremely cold we need baseline energy. This is 100 megawatts of energy we're talking about within the biomass industry. We lose that we lose the ability to back up and recover, we start talking about brown outs. We need to talk about the fact that we're seeking energy independence as a nation. We have the ability to do that as a state. When we passed 129 last year I testified for that bill and in the House testified that we're looking for a window of time to rearrange the entire paradigm of the biomass industry. Specifically looking towards microgrids. Wood fuel and microgrid operation with multiple biomass plants is feasible.

The study is beginning and it will be ongoing to see if we can maybe build some more of these so that we can attain energy independence, completely. We don't need oil from Iraq or Venezuela, we don't need natural gas from Texas or anywhere else. We have the resource to fuel our own microgrids up north. The wood is ours, the people who cut the wood are ours. They're New Hampshire jobs moving the wood to the mills which will suffer significantly if this bill is defeated, because those mills take 6 percent of the wood they cut as low grade wood and send it to the biomass plants to burn. The biomass plant operators, the truckers, the people that get rid of the wood ash from the residue from the biomass process, the engineers that work on it. We're talking roughly 1,000 jobs. And so this is uniquely an opportunity to let New Hampshire take a look at trying to attain energy independence at least within one of its own economic eco-systems, a term I like to use. Giving these people a chance to work their way out of the problems. Most of the cost of your energy is not the energy. It's the transmission and the distribution, and that's a problem we have to solve. That's really the problem. Microgrids can be part of that process of solving that as well as the energy cost. I ask you to please support, for the sake of the New Hampshire jobs, for the sake of our potential energy independence and for new technology going forward, to opposing the ITL motion so I can introduce an alternate motion. Thank you, Mister President.

Amend the bill by replacing section 5 with the following:

5 Department of Health and Human Services; Appropriation; Foster Care and Adoption Programs and Services. The sum of $1,100,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2019, is hereby appropriated to the department of health and human services for the purpose of funding foster care and adoption programs, rate increases, and services pursuant to RSA 170-G:3. This appropriation is in addition to any other funds appropriated to the department. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for said sum out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Amend the bill by deleting section 6 and renumbering the original section 7 to read as 6.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Directs the department of health and human services to conduct an assessment to determine appropriate caseload and workload standards for child protection staff and makes an appropriation for such purpose.

II. Makes appropriations to the department of health and human services for additional child protection staff, and for foster care and adoption programs, rate increases, and services.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. As the Senate member of the DCYF Advisory Board, I move Senate Bill 582 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill does three things; it requires HHS to conduct an assessment to determine appropriate caseload/workload standards for the DCYF, and appropriates $100,000 in FY '19 for this purpose. Second it establishes 13 child protective social worker positions and two supervisor positions within DCYF, and appropriates $1.1 million for this purpose in FY '19 and there are federal funds that supplement the General Fund appropriation. In addition, the committee amendment appropriates $1.1 million in '19 for the purpose of funding foster care and adoption programs, rate increases and services pursuant to RSA 170-G:3, with federal matching funds also supplementing this General Fund appropriation. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 582-FN as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

Recess. Out of recess.

SB 590-FN-A, making a supplemental appropriation to the state loan repayment program and relative to emergency involuntary admissions, the child protection act, and the developmental disabilities wait list and making appropriations therefor.
Ought to Pass, Vote 6-0. Senator Feltes for the committee.

Recess. Out of recess.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 590-FN-A Ought to Pass. This bill number one: clarifies admission to receiving facilities and other services for persons who are involuntarily committed under RSA 135-C. Number two: makes a $1.1 million General Fund appropriation to the Department of Health and Human Services for the purpose of providing additional funding to the state loan repayment program. The Department will utilize the additional funds for loan repayments. Number three: clarifies the determination of "Unfounded, but with Reasonable Concern" for possible abuse and neglect under the Child Protection Law, and enables the Department of Health and Human Services to offer voluntary services to the family. Number four: appropriates $1.5 million in FY 2019 for funding voluntary services under RSA 169-C. Number five: appropriates $1.5 million in FY 2019 for funding community-based prevention programs under the Child Protection Act. Number six: establishes that the New Hampshire Home Visiting Program shall be available to Medicaid-eligible families without restriction. Number seven: makes a $310,000 appropriation to the Department to hire three attorneys for the Division for Children, Youth and Families. Number eight: provides approximately $1.1 million for the Developmental Disabilities Wait List. Number nine: requires the Department of Health and Human Service Commissioner to issue requests for proposals for a behavioral health crisis treatment center and, contingent upon available funding, an additional mobile crisis team and apartments; and ten; clarifies DHHS' authority to consent to medical treatment for a minor in foster care.

All of the above have different varying federal matching. The Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 590-FN-A, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to SB 590-FN-A

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT making a supplemental appropriation to the state loan repayment program and relative to emergency involuntary admissions, the child protection act, and the developmental disabilities wait list and making appropriations therefor; and relative to school food and nutrition programs.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 22 with the following:

23 School Boards; Food and Nutrition Programs. Amend RSA 189:11-a, I to read as follows:

I. Each school board shall make [~~a~~] at least one meal available during school hours to every pupil under its jurisdiction. Such meals shall be served without cost or at a reduced cost to any [~~needy~~] child who [~~is unable to pay the full cost of said meals~~] meets federal income eligibility guidelines. The state board of education shall insure compliance with this section and shall establish minimum nutritional standards for such meals and shall further establish income guidelines setting forth the minimum family size annual income levels to be used in determining eligibility for free and reduced price meals. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the operation of both a breakfast and lunch program in the same school. Further any requirement of this section which conflicts with any federal statute or regulation may be waived by the state board of education.

24 School Boards; Food and Nutrition Programs. Amend RSA 189:11-a, VII(b) to read as follows:

(b) Such school which demonstrates to the department of education that an approved school wellness policy, as required under the [~~Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act of 2004~~], Richard B. Russell National School Lunch Act 42, U.S.C. section 1758b is in effect, and that such school is providing breakfast meals to pupils that meet or exceed the United States Department of Agriculture's child nutrition criteria may apply for and receive a 3 cent reimbursement for each breakfast meal served to a pupil. The department of education shall request biennial appropriations in an amount sufficient to meet projected school breakfast reimbursements. The department of education shall prescribe forms as necessary under this paragraph. In addition to the $.03 state reimbursement for each breakfast served to all pupils, the department of education shall request biennial appropriations equal to the difference between the reduced and free federal reimbursement rates for breakfast so that pupils eligible for reduced price meals are offered breakfast at no cost.

25 Effective Date.

I. Sections 7-12 of this act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

II. Sections 23 and 24 of this act shall take effect July 1, 2019.

III. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Clarifies admission to receiving facilities and other services for persons who are involuntarily committed under RSA 135-C.

II. Makes a supplemental appropriation to the state loan repayment program.

III. Clarifies the determination of unfounded but with reasonable concern for possible abuse and neglect under the child protection law, and enables the department of health and human services to offer voluntary services to the family.

IV. Makes appropriations for voluntary services and community-based prevention programs under the child protection act.

V. Provides that the New Hampshire home visiting program shall be available to Medicaid eligible families.

VI. Makes an appropriation to the department of health and human services to hire additional attorneys.

VII. Makes an appropriation to the department of health and human services for the purpose of funding the developmental disabilities wait list.

VIII. Requires the commissioner of the department of health and human services to issue requests for proposals for a behavioral health crisis treatment center and, contingent upon available funding, an additional mobile crisis team and apartments.

IX. Clarifies the department of health and human services' authority to consent to medical treatment for a minor in foster care.

X. Requires schools to make at least one free or reduced cost meal available to children who meet federal eligibility guidelines and directs the department of education to request an appropriation sufficient to provide a free breakfast to students eligible for reduced cost meals.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. This amendment contains the language from the previous Senate Bill 577. The intent of this legislation is to provide more children with the most important meal of the day. If we do nothing, New Hampshire will remain the 49th or second to last in the country in the participation of the national school breakfast program for low income students and their families. I would ask you today shouldn't our children be our first priority? Yesterday nearly every Senator in this room testified to the fact that we want to keep our children safe. Today, why don't we also want to make sure that each child in New Hampshire has the chance to thrive by offering breakfast at no cost to children who live with a food insecurity?

Numerous studies over the years have shown that students who eat a healthy breakfast are much more likely to perform better in school, have better test results, better attention in class and better interaction with their fellow students. Most New Hampshire schools understand this research and ensure on test days that all students receive breakfast. If your school has chosen to not participate in the national breakfast program, passing this legislation will not impact your school in any way. Mister President, this is the case with the Salem High School, but not for Salem's elementary schools, where 30 percent of their students participate in the free and reduced meals program. Nor is it the case for elementary schools in Conway, where 61 percent of their students are eligible for the free and reduced meals program as well as for the city of Manchester, where one of their elementary schools, and this is just one of them, has a 97 percent of their students participating in the free and reduced meals program. Providing breakfast at no cost to all these eligible students and more would ensure that each one of them gets the best possible start to the day and protects the school from any debt they currently incur from parents who fail to pay their share of the reduced breakfast charge.

If your school district has a sizable portion of students receiving breakfast under the national breakfast program, this change in law would benefit not only students but also reduce cost to the school and reduce paperwork, tracking and data by the state. The cost of this program to the state would be approximately over two years, $772,000 and would be matched by $2 million $7,200 from the Federal Government, enabling more than 7,000 school age children currently eligible for reduced cost breakfast throughout the state to receive breakfast at no cost. I'd like to stress that in the budget this applies to the FY 2021 budget and would not have any impacts on cost for FY '19. I ask you today to please join me in favor of the amendment so that we may provide breakfast to this more than 70,000 additional children in our state. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I think this is an important debate, I think it's an important issue. I think it's important for us to try to hear each other and speak to this. I was at the– we talked yesterday about Hinsdale School District. I was there for their school and town meeting this weekend. Six hundred students it's a district that goes K through 12. Small school. Border town. Tough times come through Hinsdale in waves. It's not the richest time right now for them. It's a tough time. The Hinsdale Superintendent described to me when I talked about school breakfast program he said, you know what our principals need to do? They go chase the parents for the twenty-seven cents for breakfast, and the forty cents for lunch, at the end of each month. Some of those parents, they don't pay. They can't pay. What does the school district do? Well, they don't pay.

I checked, we've got Impact Monadnock in my district. It's something that has traditionally studied the kids in Cheshire County. A third of those children are being raised by one parent, a third. I don't know if Cheshire County's aberrant to the rest of the state, my guess is it's a reasonable microcosm. Not all of those single parent households are going to be qualifying for free and reduced meals, but those that do you might ask so what's their income profile. Free and reduced or free meal goes to those whose incomes, family and household income is up to 130 percent of the poverty level. A reduced meal cost goes to a child whose household is up to 185 percent of the poverty level. So according to the New Hampshire Department of Education website, those incomes are at 130 percent free meals, go up to those households with incomes of $21,112. What we're talking about is helping out the families that are between $21,000.00 in annual household income to $30,044. That's what it is. Now do you know a single parent with one kid that's in that income bracket, and is it possible, do you know those parents and you know those children? I do, I think we all do. We should all, because there's 7,100 of those kids throughout New Hampshire.

So I've had to ask myself over the last month, while this has been slowed down and slowed down and we haven't voted, why does this trouble me so? Why is it this issue on children's meals so troubling to me? So here's my immigrant story. My parents came to the country in 1940, they fled Germany, Jewish family, no choice. Stay, face extermination, leave, live the immigrant's story. Wasn't a dream. For their first twenty-five years in this country it was an immigrant's story. It's hardscrabble. Twenty-seven cents is what we expect a kid who needs a breakfast to pay to get that breakfast. That income that kid whose family income is between 20 and $30,000. I never had twenty-seven cents that I took to school in the morning. That would have been $1.35 a week. Lunch on the reduced meal plan, that's forty cents. That's another $2.00 a week. I was lucky. I lived right across the street from the elementary school. I could stay in bed a little bit later, I could eat breakfast. Breakfast was cereal. But I had breakfast, I walked across the street, and I think back about our New Hampshire kids. There aren't a lot of New Hampshire kids that live across the street from their schools. A lot of them board buses, a lot of them are in transportation for a long period of time. A lot of them leave the household and may not have breakfast. Well we know that's true for 7,100 kids, who don't have–, well maybe it's true. But why should we even doubt that fact? Why shouldn't we know that all of those 7,100 kids have breakfast? Here's the point; if I knew that at the end of the month my family was going to be billed $15.00 for me to eat breakfast and lunch at school, would I have gone without a meal? And I would have, I think I would have. I wouldn't have wanted that burden on them. I never went without a meal by the way. I always felt that my parents were taking good care of me. But I walked back and forth to school for breakfast, for lunch. My mom came home from work, we had dinner. Would I have been that kid in the school waiting for the school bus to take me home and possibly going without a meal because our family income was between 20 and $30,000?

How do we help underachieving kids? How do we help underachieving schools? We make sure that kids are ready to learn. That's what this is about. We can talk about the money. This is about, is a kid who goes to school, the bell rings and they are ready to learn like every other student in their class. I've gone to schools, I've heard from those young ages, this kid comes from this kind of background. It's tough for this kid to concentrate in class. We shouldn't have kids starting school with insufficient food. Food insufficiency is something that we should take responsibility for. If families are in that kind of financial shape, we can do this.

We were told when this bill 590 was introduced to us how this was an important allocation of five and a half million dollars. To go towards children and family welfare in this state. This is $345,000 per year. We're already spending three cents. Three cents is what the state's putting towards that thirty cents that the Federal Government doesn't pay for. This is raising it by twenty-seven cents. We should be working together on this. We really should see this as a bipartisan effort. We saw Medicaid and granted advantage as a bipartisan issue. We see child and family welfare as a bipartisan issue. We should see a meal subsidy for families who are food insufficient for kids who need an equal start to their education, an equal opportunity, we should help underachieving kids, underachieving schools, food insufficient kids to have the same kind of opportunity as all other kids, as all other school districts that face better economic situations. I ask my colleagues consider this bill, consider this amendment, $345,000 on a $5.6 billion annual spend. In comparison to $5.5 million that we're putting towards children's welfare. This is a good investment. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Bradley presiding.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to this amendment for a number of reasons. First we have a budget and while it might be tempting, we're responsible to try to adhere to the confines of that budget. That's the least important reason. Let's go to the New Hampshire Constitution. If the family is indigent to the point that they cannot afford twenty-seven cents a day, every single town in this state is required by the constitution to provide them with assistance. There isn't a town in the state that couldn't provide the money for a child to eat at school. The very best welfare programs are those that are administered locally by people who know the people that are in trouble, not 7,100 students with an indeterminate number, but we're going to fund it for everyone just in case. That's not responsible tax policy or spending policy. No evidence was presented other than from those who engaged in the government aspects of gaining money from the taxpayer.

I have not heard from one child, from one teacher, from one principal from one superintendent and I have very poor schools in my district. Our communities take care of our poor. We don't need to overreach them and establish yet another state program, with taxpayer funding that removes the control of a very important aspect from those best suited to deal with it. I don't know what happens in the District 10 schools, I don't know what happens in your schools, I know what happens in mine and I also know and have every faith that when a family in need goes to the select board in our town or the welfare administrator in any of your towns that they will be taken care of. I trust those local officials, I believe in their compassion, I've seen it, as I've done it as a selectman. I'm a member of the school board. We take care of our children. To insinuate otherwise and to state that the state has an obligation to fill in just in case, is a specious argument. Our towns do an excellent job of caring and I submit to you that not a single town in your district or mine would deny twenty-seven cents a day for one child or ten children for a family that is in need. I ask you to oppose this amendment and support the bill as written. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. Once again I have spent a lot of time in schools and I'm not sure how many people have taught elementary school students for example in this body, but I don't know if you know how many people actually, how many teachers keep food in their drawers. They are not only buying supplies for their children, they are not only spending their own money on books for their children, but they're spending their own money on food, that's how the local, that's how it's being handled in many towns that don't have any extra money in their budget for something like this but they certainly aren't going to let a child go hungry in the morning before school. This is another one of those that I see as, the amendment is asking us to take care of children so now, so that we don't later have all the expenses that go along with getting behind in school, being labeled as disabled when in fact they may just be hungry. I have seen the children who cannot attend to what's going on in the classroom, over and over and over again because they didn't have breakfast. And they may not have had breakfast for several days. So I'd like to believe that we all care as much about the children whose families can't afford thirty cents or whatever it is for each child in their family, which of course then multiplies. I've been very fortunate never to be there but that doesn't mean I don't care about those who are. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: I rise having been at the hearing here and in light of what my friend from District 2 said, I would like to note that it was the great eloquence of Senator Stiles who spoke on behalf of, testified on behalf of this. We all know her extraordinary history in trying to provide nutrition for our public school children and I just wanted to make sure that we didn't leave with the impression that only people who were self-interested somehow were there to support this. And I'll also just note as well the experience I had when I invited Commissioner Edelblut to come to Somersworth, you know he was new to the job and I wanted him to see the most recently opened kindergarten in the state and it happened to be in Somersworth and so we visited all the classrooms and you know how the commissioners like to get down on the floor and play with the kids and doing the good experience and then we gathered all the teachers, all five of the teachers of the kindergarten classes at lunch time and asked well you know what's the best effects of this and they said, well you know we're already seeing educational advances in first grade, we're seeing better test results you know this is really on social development so on but then one of the teachers jumped up and said we get to feed them twice. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the amendment. Been listening intently to the debate and you know I haven't heard one number of people who are actually not eating. I've heard 7,100 students that are eligible, but because they're eligible does not mean, nor does it equate to the fact that they may not be eating. Neither does underachievement as it was brought up. Underachievement does not necessarily equate to the fact or the possibility that they're not eating. We don't know and no one has bothered during this debate to bring forward a number. I heard the member form District 2 state that he had heard from a number of different ones that we haven't received any input. We've had people that have talked with their district, they said there's no problem. I mean we live in one of the best educated states in the country, we have some of the highest income in the country and the lowest unemployment. We're talking twenty-seven cents a day. I think any parent would be able to find twenty-seven cents to make sure that their child has a meal before they go off to school. When we sit here and we talk about local control, that's all I heard about yesterday. Gee today we don't talk at all about local control, about the local welfare offices taking care of these. You know there seems to be, you know depends on the debate that you want to have. But I don't see the need for this, the amount that's out there that would call for this. If we ever dug down to find out how many people actually need it out of those 7,100 people. Then it might be a question also is to what priorities there are in making sure that the children are fed before they go to school. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to give my honorable colleague from District 11 some numbers. I checked with the Nashua school systems and there are 6,779 students on free and reduced lunch from elementary school through middle school through high school. Four of those schools feed a population of over seventy-five percent. Now with all due respect you know some of those may be getting a second meal, but I truly doubt it, and I do know from my campaigning from talking with the school system that these are children that really need these meals. Whether it's to do better in school or whether it's just to have a meal for the day. So there are some figures and if you want I'm happy to take any one of you on a tour of Nashua's schools so that you see the faces of these children that need this assistance to eat. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I'd like to take the Senate back to 1973, when I sponsored the School Feeding and Nutrition Act. It was a very difficult act to get passed and it took us almost the entire session to get it done, but when we finally got it done, the bill called for a couple of things. One was a meal, should be served in every school in the state of New Hampshire, a meal. And we were able to accomplish this because there was a situation in a city where one child was eating at one school but his brother could not eat at another school so we had a very, very much of a prejudicial situation. So we passed the bill. The discussions on the floor were should the family be responsible for feeding the child? Can't the child get a meal someplace else? All of these discussions have been hashed and rehashed and rehashed. But let me give you some numbers because I think numbers are important. We all like data, we're a data driven society.

Let me tell you about the schools that I represent in the city of Manchester that are in my district. Central High School, West High School, Parkside Middle School, Gossler Park School, Northwest Elementary School and the Parker-Varney School. For the month of September 2017 at Central High School, 1,592 free breakfasts were served. At West High School 1,738 free breakfasts were served. At Parkside, 696 free breakfasts were served. At Gossler Park 1,525 free breakfasts were served, this is over a fifteen day period. At Parker-Varney 3,210 free breakfasts were served. Percentage of the schools, I may not give that but for the month of October at Central High School 2,216 free breakfasts, at West 2,408, at Parkside 1,098, at Gossler 2,291, at Northwest 2,293, at Parker Varney 5,078. In the month of November at Central High School 2,064 free breakfasts, at West 1,948 free breakfasts, at Parkside 1,011 free breakfasts, at Gossler 1,994 free breakfasts, at Northwest 1,891 free breakfasts and at Parker Varney 4,292. This is aggregate over the month. In the month of December at Central High School 1,798 free breakfasts, at West 1,997, at Parkside 1,022, at Gossler 1,582, Northwest 1,506 and at Parker-Varney 3,705. My children all went to the Parker Varney School, my wife went to the Parker-Varney School as a child growing up in Manchester. I don't think I need to go through the rest of the months of January and February, but what I need to say is there are 328 homeless students in the Manchester School System, homeless. They don't know where they are. They don't know where they sleep, they don't know who's taking care of them.

Alright we talk about the wealth of our society and the ability to take care of people, well we have a difficult situation in the city of Manchester. There are children who depend upon the breakfast and the lunch. Many of these children get food packed up for them at the end of the day to take home. On Fridays packages are sent home with children. I'm just giving the emphasis of the need for the meal and the fact that they can't afford it.

We have a food pantry in St. Raphael's Church. I was married in that church, fifty-seven years ago. We have a food pantry on Mondays, Mister Majority Leader, we have a food pantry on Mondays, the line is out of the building. We have a clothing giveaway on Monday evenings. Father Jerome runs it, a Benedictine. These are in existence as we speak in the city of Manchester. On Tuesday I went to the breadline at New Hampshire Horizons, the breadline. It was out of the building, out into the street and the breadline on Tuesdays you don't have to say you're a citizen of Manchester. Anybody can go to the breadline.

So when we talk about thirty cents, who can't afford thirty cents, thirty cents times five if you have a couple of kids it becomes an expensive situation and single parent families. That's a difficult situation. Then I looked at the truancy rate. The truancy rate in the city, 1,000 kids a day do not go to school. A thousand children a day don't attend. Why don't they attend? Is it because the family doesn't want to send them, are they embarrassed to go? There's probably 1,000 reasons. But a truancy rate of 1,000. There are children in our, my district, without this meal they're not going to survive, you know they're just not going to survive. And I can remember Chris Spirou telling me in the House back when and I think Mister President, you were there at the time. If it weren't for us feeding him, he wouldn't have survived. He was forced to eat breakfast and it was a free giveaway when he was in Greece.

So X number of dollars is required. I worked with Nancy Stiles in 1973, when she was President of the New Hampshire School Food Workers Association. We worked to get that bill through. I'm sure that the former Senator has been in touch with many of our colleagues here to speak for this piece of legislation. Thirty cents, not a lot of money, not a lot of money. This is how the numbers work out as we speak. The Federal Government will give us $1.75 for every free meal we serve. The state will put three cents in for every meal that we serve. If there is a severe case of abuse, severe the Federal Government will pay $2.09 for each free meal, the state will put in three cents. Three cents. I mean what can you buy for three cents today? What can you buy for three cents? You know when I was a kid you used to go in the subway and you went to the gum machine and for a penny you could get a piece of gum. That package of gum costs what a dollar today? So think about a three cent reimbursement. What can you buy for three cents? You can't buy anything for three cents. And if we didn't have the federal participation where would we be when you think of thousands and thousands of meals being served. So I ask my colleagues, think about it.

You know, think about your kids. Boy, I could tell you that when our neighbors came to our house, they hadn't had breakfast, my wife fed them. And we had a neighbor next door that had four kids, they were in our house all time for breakfast. All the time. My wife would make breakfast for them. When I was teaching and coaching I would bring kids home to my house to have breakfast, to have lunch, to have dinner. I had a family when I taught at Kennett High School in Conway where the father had to jack deer in the winter to provide enough food for the family. Those boys would come to my house and believe me when I tell you I lived in the back of a shoe store in an apartment that cost $55.00 a month, okay? Fifty-five bucks a month. The biggest room in that apartment was the bathroom. The kitchen the living room and the bedroom were very small. We would bring kids in to eat. So there is a need, there really is a need and we've got to address that need. We talk about the opioid problem, we talk about the alcohol problem, I could go on and on and on about that Mister President, but there's a need. And that need is omnipresent in the district that I represent. They need us, those children need us, those families need us. And indeed if we can do something to help them we ought to do it. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR GRAY: In your testimony you pointed out that the effective date of sections 23 and 24 is July 1, 2019. I have a problem with trying to bind the future legislature with something that we pass today. If this bill were not inactive until the next session and still had an effective date of July 1, 2019 would anything be different for the children?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: The reason that you have a bifurcated, fix on when the bill would take effect is one; to have the Department of Education file a request in the next budgetary two years for this additional money to be included in their budget to go for reduced lunch for children, but it wouldn't cover that lunch program until the years of '20 and '21. So it has the potential to take effect but it will again have to be considered as part of the overall budget. But we want to make sure it's a priority that goes forward in terms of shaping the budget for the next two years. I heard Senator Giuda say that he had difficulty as I understood it, with changing the budget for FY '19. We corrected that to make sure there was no misunderstanding, and that there are two parts to this legislation. Obviously if it doesn't make it through the budget, then there is no money to fund this program.

SENATOR GRAY: Again, I don't know that you actually answered the question, was that I understand from your answer that there would be pre-planning. But going through the budgetary process here, I believe all the things that you mentioned would happen next year if the bill were passed, so again I ask the question, would anything change so that students if this bill were passed next year with the same effective date?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: No, but it would not ensure that it made it into the budget process.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for taking my question Senator Fuller Clark. There's some concern about potentially affecting the next budget. Didn't we in the prior budget that we just passed last year, that we voted against accelerate business tax reductions and therefore revenue loss in the next budget?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: We certainly did.

SENATOR FELTES: And the state's share, can you say what the state's share of this would be and how much federal money would be able to come into the state of New Hampshire?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Yes I can do that. I have that in my original remarks. I would give it to you again and in responding to that, I feel it's important to also respond to the comment that was made that we can leave this to local communities to pay for children who aren't getting breakfast. The reality is local communities don't qualify for the federal share. They would have to pick up the total cost and in return it would impact on our property taxes. But this is what it would do. If the state would be expected over the next biennium to allocate $772,000 which would be automatically matched by over $2 million from the Federal Government and we know that since the 1970s, the Federal Government has decided that food insecurity for children is not an appropriate situation to leave our children in, and they have been promoting this program all over the country because they know how important it is that we invest in the next generation and that we all have a responsibility to partake in doing that.

I would agree that on one level, you know, as we heard any parent should be able to afford twenty-seven cents a day. But the reality is if you listen to the very fine remarks of Senator Kahn, that that's not the case and I would ask everyone here why are we punishing children because they either have families that are irresponsible or they have families that simply are so economically stressed that they are looking for every assistance that they can get, and we're going to turn our backs on providing this money, the bulk of which comes from the Federal Government.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Senator.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I stand, I represent the towns of Hampstead, Windham and Derry, three entirely different types of towns. Very diverse. Derry, and I understand Windham and Hampstead, to say that we're turning our backs on our children, we are not. My towns take care of their kids. Derry provides breakfast and lunch to all their students. I understand, I'm waiting for Windham and I understand Hampstead does too. But to say that we're turning our backs on our kids. I'm not turning my backs on our kids. I support my towns so thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. Bromides and platitudes, the air is full of them today. The fact is the Senator from District 20. You stated thousands and thousands of children that are receiving free breakfasts. The system is working. To insinuate that Republicans are heartless and want to harm children is unconscionable. We are spending hundreds of millions of dollars on various programs in our state to help kids, okay? Prior Governor didn't. We established those programs, okay? And we are fulfilling our obligation to our children. I resent the insinuation that our communities aren't capable or willing to care for their children. I would submit that if a school sees a child that is starving at breakfast, maybe DCYF deserves a phone call. We have agencies in place to car for kids that are abused and I would consider starvation a form of abuse. I resent the insinuation that our towns are not capable or willing of caring for the families that live therein. They are the best qualified, the most knowledgeable and I believe the most willing to do the right thing regardless of circumstance, because when you put a program like this in the hands of the state or Federal Government, local control, accountability and effectiveness all go out the window. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: So, back to the Hinsdale School. To qualify for free and reduced lunch, welfare, I can't put myself in the welfare office, I just know that their first response really ought to be, did you file the papers for free and reduced lunch subsidy? That should be the first question right? And we know that families don't do that. We know it, we hear that in every school district. There's the embarrassment, there's the bureaucracy there's I have to declare my sources of income, when I'm working, if I'm not. And there are reasons people don't follow through with it. You've seen that commercial, Mom I got a job. You're Dad provided for us. It's on all the NCAA tournament games. That's the position that I'm trying to say, I would have found myself in. I think kids are in that, fifteen dollars a month. Mom, Dad, I could contribute that by going without a meal. Kids shouldn't be in that position. That's what we're talking about, that's what I'm talking about here. It's child's welfare, it's trying to just do something that'll attract money into the state that limits– School principals, superintendents shouldn't be going chasing the parents you know pleading to fill out the paperwork, due on your fifteen dollars for this month and that month. Let's get on with the business of education and do the best that we can for the kids and the schools in our state. That's what $345,000 a year will buy us.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President, and thank you for taking my question. I was hearing what the Senator from District 2 was saying about calling DCYF when children are coming in without breakfast. Do you think that would increase the likelihood that they would fill out forms asking for help or decrease?

SENATOR KAHN: I'm a little unsure, I do know that we are making an appropriation of $5.5 million which includes voluntary services, which we would expect then if a kid is neglected and the parent, and that's reported and we know that our schools will report neglect. Hopefully that family would receive the kind of assistance to make sure that they do that. But we also know that there are kids who are returned to their households and that paperwork is not completed, and those kids continue to struggle with their environment and in their school. Thank you for the question.

Without objection, Senator Birdsell moved the question. Adopted.

(The Chair recognized Senator Morse.)

SENATOR MORSE: Well, I oppose this amendment but I really stepped down to clarify something. You know when we're in committee, it was spoken about Salem. When we came to the Senate floor today it was spoken about Salem. If you don't think I didn't pick up the phone when it was first mentioned, then I picked it up again this week and called and asked where are we with this? I would have thought as a Senator I would have heard about it by now. I would have thought somebody would have called me as someone that's very involved in the community, certainly helps on all the organizations that Senator D'Allesandro talks about that are helping in his community and I was told there isn't a problem in my community. So to the Senators that suggested, I will go take that tour down there. Because I certainly when I heard about guns, I called my best friend on the school board and I said call Perry Plummer and get on this committee. I want your opinion, I'm not sure it's like mine, I didn't give a damn. But I asked him to do it.

And then as we talked today and we go further, there's no lock on our lives I can tell you that much. I ate toast with sauce on it and a piece of cheese and that was considered pizza. And cereal was dinner in my house. And my father had mental illness. So as we talk about are we doing enough for the people in the state of New Hampshire, we just passed a budget that I firmly believe doesn't put us back into 2008, ever. Ever. Because if you remember in 2008 we didn't have anywhere to go. We didn't have a bucket of money to draw on. We just raided accounts from there on in, to survive as a state. We weren't driving business into New Hampshire, we were upping the tax rates. And we're upping the fees. I firmly believe the reason that we're solid right now and remember, the liquor tax? Underperforming. Homes? Not selling as well. Business taxes? They're up. I know, I just paid my federal one. They certainly got more money towards the trillions that they're missing, out of me. But I felt obligated to do it, just like I felt obligated as a ten year old to do better than my Dad could do for the family. He couldn't provide a penny. When my mother first went and got that box of cheese it was the last time she went, and I've told many of you about that. She never did it again. She was embarrassed. And I don't honestly believe there's a teacher out there that gives a damn if somebody fills out a form if a kid's hungry. I honestly believe they'd do it for them. I honestly believe they care. But what the debate comes down to is, we just passed the budget. This wasn't in it. And I love Senator Stiles, but the same Senator Stiles sent me a document that said on education funding eliminate the subsidies. So Manchester? You're done. Derry? You're done. That's 50 million bucks. I've already heard from both of you about the fact that I reduced it by 4 percent for twenty-five years. She sent that because it's a fairness issue. Well it's a fairness issue here too. We passed the budget.

You're about to vote on 8.2 million Senator Bradley, and I don't believe we can afford it, in three bills. It originally started at 4.5, I added a million dollars for the disabled community, TANF went away, rose up to 7 million. LBA gave me the score yesterday, it was 8.2 million. I don't believe we have it. I don't believe we should be spending it. Yet we're going to pass it out of the Senate today, probably with my vote, because the policies should pass. But this issue, we didn't talk about in the budget. The issues that are being finished up today and those three bills were certainly talked about in the budget and we said we're going to get to them and talk about them and we even said as a Senate, we don't believe the House is doing it right with the disabled community. We knew it we had a solution, but the House wouldn't accept it.

I can't support this because the reality of the whole thing is, I checked with my communities and they're telling me they're taking care of it. You know, you voted for the Boys Club to get funding, after school programs to make sure that kids were being taken care of after school. Single parent families, you voted to send them money. I can tell you who took it out of the budget, when I left here in '06. It was in there from me. It certainly wasn't us. They took it out because Morse put it in. And here we are this year we just put it back in because you know what; the best thing we could do is after school programs. Because for those families, they've got to work to the end of the day and there's nowhere for those kids to go.

This Senate has done a heck of a lot to put New Hampshire in a better position financially and to grow in the future. And as we debate issues like this, I firmly don't believe that anyone, I don't care what community you come from, has a lock on taking care of people and doing it better than the next. I know most of you and what you do in your life when you leave here. I know most of you call and say I've got to help someone else, I've got to do something. We've got to find a way. Isn't that what this state is about? I don't think we're doing anything today that isn't already being done. I don't support this amendment and I hope we can vote this down and move forward. And as we go to the House, I think we have work on these three bills that we're passing financially. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Lasky, seconded by Senator Feltes.

Amendment to SB 592-FN-A

Amend the bill by replacing section 5 with the following:

5 Department of Health and Human Services; Supplemental Appropriation.

I. The sum of $445,160, for the biennium ending June 30, 2019, is hereby appropriated to the department of health and human services for the purpose of funding the following positions, as either state employee or contract positions within the department:

(a) Eight child protective services workers, who shall be designated resource workers.

(b) Two licensed alcohol and drug counselors, who shall contract with the department.

II. The appropriation in paragraph I shall be in addition to any other funds appropriated to the department for the biennium ending June 30, 2019. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for such amount from any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 592 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill does four things: Excludes the costs of voluntary services from the parental reimbursement requirements under the Child Protection Act. Second, expands home visiting services and funds these services with federal TANF funds. And third requires the Department of Health and Human Services to use allowable TANF funds to contract with a family resource center of quality specialist. And fourth establishes a committee to study family drug court models. The committee amendment appropriates the sum of $445,160 to the Department for funding eight child protective service workers and two licensed alcohol and drug counselors. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 592 as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

Amendment to CACR 22

Amend the resolution by replacing all after the resolving clause with the following:

I. That the first part of the constitution be amended by inserting after article 14 the following new article:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request. This section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the State, any political subdivision of the State, any officer, employee, or agent of the State or of any of its political subdivisions, or any officer or employee of the court.

II. That the above amendment proposed to the constitution be submitted to the qualified voters of the state at the state general election to be held in November, 2018.

III. That the selectmen of all towns, cities, wards and places in the state are directed to insert in their warrants for the said 2018 election an article to the following effect: To decide whether the amendments of the constitution proposed by the 2018 session of the general court shall be approved.

IV. That the wording of the question put to the qualified voters shall be:

"Are you in favor of amending the first part of the constitution by inserting after article 14 a new article to read as follows:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request. This section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the State, any political subdivision of the State, any officer, employee, or agent of the State or of any of its political subdivisions, or any officer or employee of the court."

V. That the secretary of state shall print the question to be submitted on a separate ballot or on the same ballot with other constitutional questions. The ballot containing the question shall include 2 squares next to the question allowing the voter to vote "Yes" or "No." If no cross is made in either of the squares, the ballot shall not be counted on the question. The outside of the ballot shall be the same as the regular official ballot except that the words "Questions Relating to Constitutional Amendments proposed by the 2018 General Court" shall be printed in bold type at the top of the ballot.

VI. That if the proposed amendment is approved by 2/3 of those voting on the amendment, it becomes effective when the governor proclaims its adoption.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move Constitutional Amendment-Concurrent Resolution 22 Ought to Pass with Amendment. Upon passage by the legislature the question of whether the rights of victims should be enshrined in our constitution or not, will be before our citizens in the next election. This amendment would make it a constitutional right that a victim be treated with fairness and respect in terms of their safety, their dignity, and privacy. Furthermore, upon request, the victim would also be afforded the rights to reasonable and timely notice of, and be present at court proceedings, that those proceedings be free from unreasonable delay, that they be afforded reasonable protection from the accused, to refuse an interview or deposition request made by the accused, that they would be able to confer with the State's attorney about the disposition of the case, that they would be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused, that they be reasonably informed of the release or escape of the accused, to full and timely restitution, and to be informed of all of their rights under this amendment.

Throughout the hearing and exec'ing process on this amendment there has been much discussion regarding what rights this will actually establish. To be clear, this amendment will not give victims the right to an attorney at the cost of the state, the ability to veto any plea agreements, nor any unnecessary or over burdensome protection for their physical safety provided by the state. At its core, this amendment will simply give victims a voice and a seat at the table.

I have sat as the chair of Judiciary for several years, and from time to time, I have heard firsthand testimony from law enforcement, prosecutors, victims, and the victims' advocacy community that our criminal justice system is stacked in favor of the accused or the convicted. Currently, the accused and convicted are afforded the protections of constitutional rights throughout the state and federal constitutions, while victims are simply protected by state statute. When these rights bump up against one another, constitutional rights always trump statutory ones, constructing this unbalanced system. In fact, the justice system has in many ways left the victim out, muting their voice and giving them no formal place in the process. New Hampshire is one of just 15 states that afford victims absolutely no constitutional rights. Victims deserve a justice system that is fair, equal and balanced, and that affords them no more rights than the accused or the convicted. They deserve a voice and they deserve to have that voice heard.

I have worked closely with Attorney General MacDonald and the Department of Justice on the committee amendment before you today. This amended language truly represents a New Hampshire solution to the inequity playing out in our courts every day. I want to thank my fellow committee members, Senators, and all the advocates who have worked on this issue, the survivors and their families who have bravely shared their stories to shed light on this issue. Ultimately, the question as to whether or not this language should be enshrined in our constitution should be answered by the voters, and it is time that New Hampshire's citizens be given the opportunity to make that decision. Therefore, the majority of the Judiciary Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on CACR 22. Thank you, Mister President.

Recess. Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of CACR 22, I'm just going to call it 22, as amended. This is now a good bill. Actually it was a good bill before it was amended, now it's a really good bill. As my friend from District 3 as you often say, don't let the perfect be the enemy of the good. I learned, takes a little time. Mister President, I support 22 because I believe that our crime victims deserve a balanced and level playing field in our criminal justice system. When victims of a crime confront the justice system here in New Hampshire, they do so at a disadvantage. They're already feeling isolated, vulnerable from the harm that they've suffered at the hands of an offender. But once their case enters the courts those feelings are often compounded as the process they use behind victims, they're left voiceless and they are left alone. Offenders and their attorneys have numerous statutory and constitutional rights afforded to them within the criminal justice system, and this is rightly so.

All victims are asking for here is to be on the same level of rights, no more but also no less. Right now thirty-five other states have recognized this imbalance, incorporated some very basic rights for victims of crimes into their state constitutions. Twenty-two will provide equal rights for crime victims without taking away any rights from those accused and convicted of a crime. So if passed, victims of a rape would have the right to know when the rapist is being released or paroled. If passed an owner of say a pub restaurant, here on Main Street in Concord would have the right to know, I'm sorry, who has suffered a financially devastating burglary, would have the right to court proceedings free from unreasonable delay that could further harm their livelihood. All victims of a crime would have the right to be treated with fairness, dignity and respect. These might sound like simple courtesies that should be the norm in our criminal justice system. Unfortunately because victims lack state constitutional rights, they are not.

Over the last past month, our Judiciary Committee, thanks to our chair who has done an excellent yeoman's job, we have reviewed testimony from several victims and family members who describe the system that at best silences them and at worst re-victimizes them. As we learned in our committee CACR 22, also known as Marsy's Law, doesn't give victims veto power over the cases. It gives them a meaningful voice, it gives them a seat at the table. Nonetheless, some have come forward with concerns that CACR 22 might infringe upon the rights of the accused. One thing I found very productive in our committee hearings was listening to all involved and finding some significant compromises that will protect both the victims and the defendants and they are here in this amendment. The amendment supported by the attorney general's office is designed specifically to protect due process rights. In the spirit of compromise, it removed a directive that the courts enforce victims' rights in a manner no less vigorous than the rights of the accused. In addition the amendment requires victims to request specific rights, clarifying the existing opt-in system. It also narrows the times at which a victim may request to be heard in court and removes the right of a victim to refuse pre-trial discovery requests from the defendant. I believe these substantive changes strike the right balance between some different viewpoints. I'm hopeful that we can come together in support of this compromise. Although this measure has been implemented in other states, CACR 22 has many differences now and it has been designed to make it New Hampshire specific. This is a measure for the crime victims of our state, New Hampshire. It's in a manner to make it work best for us. In conclusion Mister President, Granite Staters are resilient people who value fairness. We don't like to be labeled as victims or to feel powerless and alone. But when citizens suffer because of a criminal wrongdoing, they deserve dignity, basic fairness and a voice in the judicial process. In New Hampshire, we rally around our neighbors when they are victimized. I hear that all the time from the good Senator up in the North, and that's the way it is in all twenty-four districts. In return, all they ask for is fairness and to have their basic enforceable rights. They seek to be notified, they seek to be heard. Basic judicial concepts. They deserve these rights and that's why I support the amended version of CACR 22 and I ask my colleagues to do so also. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise to speak in support of the committee amendment to CACR 22. In passing CACR 22 as amended by the committee, we have an opportunity to ensure the most vulnerable citizens in our state are treated with fairness and respect that they deserve. Our legislature has a long and impressive record of working together to protect the rights of crime victims. But until we grant victims constitutional protections that are on par with the rights we provide those that are accuse and convicted, our system will never be truly just. CACR 22 as amended by the committee provides basic rights to victims of crime and gives direction and clarity to the courts about how to enforce these rights.

Each of the rights enumerated within this amendment serve a specific purpose and address gaps in our state's current system. The committee amendment is the result of extensive collaboration between the attorney general's office, the Judiciary Committee and stakeholders. It is truly a New Hampshire amendment and made considerable concessions from the original language. Throughout the amendment this language makes it abundantly clear that a victim must proactively, proactively request specific rights. They're not automatically applied as they have been in many other states, which was a problem. We fixed that. And this will most likely reduce the number of victims who assert these rights, reducing the overall impact on our criminal justice system. Rather than allowing a victim to request to be present at all hearings involving the criminal or delinquent conduct, it says that a victim may request to be present any time the defendant has the right to be present.

This change assures both parity and clarity. And in that same vein, the amendment narrows the time at which a victim may request to be heard in court, which again reduces the overall impact on our criminal justice system. Significantly, this amendment removes the right of a victim to refuse pre-trial discovery requests that come directly from the defendant. New Hampshire has an established procedure based in case law for courts to review documents that a defendant requests from the victim. This modification ensures that CACR 22 comports specifically with the existing New Hampshire law. Some have claimed that this amendment will somehow take away the rights afforded to those accused and convicted. This is simply not true. The amendment elevates victims' rights to the same constitutional level as the rights afforded to the accused and convicted. In the nearly forty years that states have had victims' rights in their constitution, there has not been a single case to show that providing victims with constitutional rights diminishes the rights of a defendant. Nor would those of us who care about civil liberties support an amendment that would do so.

Right now when a defendant's rights and a victims' rights come in direct conflict with one another, the court has to default to the constitutional rights. This amendment fixes this imbalance and allows courts to weigh the rights co-equally. Courts are accustomed to considering and conducting these assessments and making a fair determination. That is not something new for our court system. In fact CACR 22 as amended by the committee tells the court when victims' rights are applicable and how they should be weighed against the rights of the accused. Enumerating specific rights is both necessary for a victim's rights to be meaningful and to provide clarity to the courts. This amendment is clear and concise, striking a balance for a New Hampshire constitutional amendment.

You know, I've heard some say that this amendment is too long for our constitution. I'd like to point out that the New Hampshire Constitution currently has five separate sections, sections 15 through 20, dealing with defendants' rights. This would simply add one section for victims. Victims' rights need to be clear and be given equal weight to defendants' rights. Particularly since victims have not had long standing constitutional protections like defendants have and therefore cannot rely as defendants can on pre-existing court interpretations of their rights. I know in many of my conversations with some of you there was concern expressed initially about the length of the amendment, but as I remind most of you, the language in our constitution dealing with defendants has been enumerated, has evolved and been interpreted in court cases and I daresay the stack of cases if we were to put them one on top of the other would probably be as tall as I am and I'm wearing heels today.

One of the most important pieces of this amendment though is the enforcement mechanism that it provides. CACR 22 as amended by the committee explicitly outlines that a victim has a constitutional right to be made aware of the rights they're afforded. How they may assert those rights and at which point during the criminal justice process their rights apply. I was proud earlier this year to testify before the Judiciary Committee in support of this amendment alongside a remarkable victim from my own district, John Cantin. John's daughter Missy was a victim of domestic violence who was shot and killed by her estranged husband. And when talking about the importance of providing victims with constitutional rights, John shared, when a family has lost their child like I have, there should be guaranteed equal rights to the murderer. They should be treated with fairness, dignity and respect. They should be part of the process. They never should be re-victimized by the criminal justice system itself. Each one of us has constituents like John living in our districts that have been victimized and we have a responsibility to each and every one of them to make sure that they face a system that does not ignore or silence them, that allows them to participate. You know there have been a lot of statements made about this amendment about its length, about what rights might be afforded. Some statements that I think might be misleading, some that I think frankly were untrue. But the fact of the matter is victims of crimes have been through enough and at the very least, they deserve a seat at the table, and they deserve to have their voice heard in this process. I believe this amendment as amended by the Judiciary Committee is clear, fair and a necessary New Hampshire solution. Let me emphasize a New Hampshire solution as redrafted to a New Hampshire problem. I would ask all of you to join with me in giving my constituent John Cantin, your constituents and all those that have been victimized in this state a voice in this process. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Carson.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 22 - Nays: 1. Adopted.

MOTION OF RECONSIDERATION

Senator Bradley, having voted on the prevailing side, moved to reconsider the following action taken by the body on CACR 22, relating to rights for crime victims. Providing that crime victims shall be afforded constitutional rights.: Reconsider the vote on the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

Floor Amendment to CACR 22

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph I with the following:

I. That the first part of the constitution be amended by inserting after article 14 the following new article:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an unnecessary interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request. This section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the State, any political subdivision of the State, any officer, employee, or agent of the State or of any of its political subdivisions, or any officer or employee of the court.

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph IV with the following:

IV. That the wording of the question put to the qualified voters shall be:

"Are you in favor of amending the first part of the constitution by inserting after article 14 a new article to read as follows:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an unnecessary interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request. This section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the State, any political subdivision of the State, any officer, employee, or agent of the State or of any of its political subdivisions, or any officer or employee of the court."

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you. I was saying I really do respect and honor what everyone has said so far in this room. And I hope we will all respect each other's opinions on a matter as difficult as this. I think it's extremely important to balance the voice of victims with what is the best we can do, it may not be perfect, but what is the best good we can do for all. I just want to say before I sit down that part of what has made this so challenging for me is hearing from people pleading on both sides of issues and what I really needed was more time to have a discussion about it and I'm disappointed that it felt like this was, we didn't have that time. I'd also like to say that the other piece that makes it very difficult for me is that I was a victim of assault. As an undergraduate and at a previously all male college in the first class of coeducation, many of us were victims of assault. I believe I know what it's like to be a victim. Nonetheless, I am going to submit this amendment and another amendment later that I believe make this bill and this amendment even better. Thank you, Mister President. Oh I didn't even say what it was. I'm sorry. I take back the thank you, Mister President. If you look at the amendment on page 12 there is one word added. Line 12, page one, the line starts with refuse and we added unnecessary interview or deposition. That I believe I'm quite sure is reflecting the current statute, and I would like to add that one word. So to refuse an unnecessary interview or deposition request made by the accused. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President I rise in support of Floor Amendment 1200s. I refer from my colleague from Manchester that this does not change existing law with respect to interviews and depositions, and discovery requests. This Floor Amendment makes that clear. The standard is necessity with respect to discovery requests and unnecessary is the language that's been incorporated here, so it makes good sense to make that clear so that we avoid any ambiguity or any uncertainty in interpretation. Everybody here I think understands that we're trying to codify existing law with respect to depositions and discovery requests. This makes it much more clear and so I support the Floor Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to speak against the proposed Floor Amendment 1200s. My friend from colleague 15 is correct. What is in statute is a necessary interview. Now if you look at what we just voted on, it says outright, to refuse an interview or deposition request made by the accused. That's very clear. They have the right to say no. Who here is going to determine what is unnecessary? Are you going to have to go to court? You're going to have to ask the court to tell you whether or not this is a necessary deposition. This weakens Marsy's Law as we just passed the amendment. I just Mister President, I'm just surprised after what we just passed, a very strong statement for victims' rights and now we're trying to water it down. And I would ask the body to join me in saying no to amendment 1200s. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of this amendment. I think it is both appropriate and necessary and I refer to article 15 of the constitution which states, and I quote, "every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself to meet the witnesses against him to face to face and to be fully heard in his defense by himself and counsel." Anything that would infringe on that other than that which is perhaps judicially mandated for the protection of minors or other situations that are extraordinary, I think would cause harm to the intent of this and also to the constitutionality of it. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Just briefly, if we are doing what we say we're doing with respect to the committee amendment, existing law would have a court determine whether or not it's necessary to have a deposition. So this just clarifies, it makes it clear so that anybody on the ground when they're interpreting this knows what we are thinking with respect to this provision. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: I would like to point out that during the public hearing we had testimony about how the interview or deposition process is being used to continually batter victims. This is in here, this absolute right to refuse is there to protect victims from being battered again and again and again by the accused or the accused attorney. And I want to make that point very, very clear to everyone. And think of this, if you have been someone who has been assaulted or you have been raped, physically harmed in some way, you're going to get dragged into court, another expense by the way, to face this person. You are being told you must sit across from the person who has violated your very person and why? So they can depose you. We are only one of seven states that allows this pre-trial. Mister President, I would ask you to please say no to this amendment and protect victims' rights and protect what we just passed. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR LASKY: So Senator, if adding this word to this would not take away the ability for the victim or anyone to have a deposition then would it? It just means an unnecessary request, correct? And again I have concerns as our colleague from District 14. How would unnecessary be determined?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much for the question, Senator Lasky. Unnecessary is going to be determined based on whether or not it's unnecessary which is existing state law. Necessity of the deposition is evaluated by a court, it's quite frankly, rarely granted and in my view if you want to codify the existing law, which is what the intent is, and quite frankly the intent of people, the proponents of this bill, so then let's just add the word. It clarifies things and makes it clear. I respectfully disagree, it doesn't change things other than the committee amendment. It makes it clear, existing law.

SENATOR LASKY: The question I had about depositions, it does not change the ability for that to happen, unless the victim refuses to?

SENATOR FELTES: Correct, so under this, Senator Lasky, if the victim wants to refuse a deposition it would go through the same process as of right now and they can refuse it, if that deposition is not necessary. So it's the same standard right now, it's a high standard to meet for the accuser to get the deposition, it's rarely granted under existing law, this codifies existing law.

SENATOR LASKY: This would enshrine it in the constitution, what you say is happening now?

SENATOR FELTES: Yes.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Senator for taking my question. If this is something that is rarely given, why do we need to do this?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Senator Carson. There is due process rights and other constitutional rights for defendants to be able to undertake discovery where it's necessary. And under existing state law, you've got to go through a process of demonstrating that it's necessary. This just makes it clear. But I thank you, Senator Carson for all your great work on this. Senator Soucy and others have articulated which is that we want to codify state law with respect to this.

SENATOR CARSON: Senator, you know again, I think in the amendment we very clearly said that they have the right to refuse and I think by adding this language here it makes it unclear and I think that again, would you believe I guess or there's a question in here someplace. Would you agree with me, that it states here very clearly they have the right to refuse? In the proposed amendment it says well, you know the defendant can still do this and you're going to have to go to court and you're going to have to face me, which is probably what most victims don't want to do. This can be used as a tool and I think we all know in the past that it has been used as a tool to batter victims. Would you agree with that?

SENATOR FELTES: Senator Carson, that's why only necessary depositions are allowed and that's exactly what the Floor Amendment does.

SENATOR CARSON: I respectfully disagree. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you for the opportunity to speak. I support this amendment because without it we run the risk of foreclosing on the rights of the accused that are guaranteed under article 15 creating a constitutional conflict that will have to be adjudicated over time. It's a direct head on. You have a right and then this amendment as written says no you don't. When you put in unnecessary as explained by our colleague from District 15, already exists the legal qualifications, though rarely used, the bar is high in court meaning a judge would have to say you know that's a valid request and though it's unpleasant it's still constitutionally required. That's a very high bar, so I'd ask you to please support the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

Floor Amendment to CACR 22

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph I with the following:

I. That the first part of the constitution be amended by inserting after article 14 the following new article:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request. This section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the State, any political subdivision of the State, any officer, employee, or agent of the State or of any of its political subdivisions, or any officer or employee of the court.

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph IV with the following:

IV. That the wording of the question put to the qualified voters shall be:

"Are you in favor of amending the first part of the constitution by inserting after article 14 a new article to read as follows:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request. This section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the State, any political subdivision of the State, any officer, employee, or agent of the State or of any of its political subdivisions, or any officer or employee of the court."

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you very much. In this amendment there is a word omitted from line 6 on the original pad. If you read across it said criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and approximately etcetera, etcetera, so or delinquent act are the three words that are omitted in amendment 1196s. So instead it now reads a victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense is committed. It doesn't say the criminal– Line 5 and 6, the words were taken out on line 6 after criminal offense it said or delinquent act. So those are the three words I took out; or delinquent act. In the current statute RSA 169-B, the juvenile justice system it's carefully implemented differently from the adult system and I believe that they should be different.

It lays out distinct victims' rights in cases of violent and non-violent crimes as well. So the substantial difference in a victims' rights between non-violent and violent juvenile offenses are completely eliminated the way the amendment is written and the amendment we passed. The result would lead to severe erosion of the confidentiality needed for the juvenile system to function and the current goal to provide restoration and rehabilitation for our youth. It is well known now that juveniles' brains are different from the brains of adults. Juveniles seventeen and under, their brains are not as fully developed. And I think it's extremely important that we are providing adequate rehabilitation and restoration for those who really and truly have an opportunity to be rehabilitated, for our youth. It also provides increased pressure as it is written now for punitive actions against juveniles. This would be compounded exponentially if the prosecutor were to be, as she or he could be under the AG's and Senator Carson's amendment, with representing the victim during any part of the proceeding. I urge you to consider Floor Amendment 1196s. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for taking the question. I want to make sure I understand you because I may be a little confused. So are you suggesting that you'd like to take out the or delinquent act on line 2, which if I'm reading this correctly would exclude all juvenile crime from the same protections you're trying to embody within Marsy's Law today that would not have the protection of victim rights if you remove that for juveniles?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Well, no I don't agree with the way you phrased that. I believe that the way that the statute now protects juveniles should be retained. And it does.

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you very much. And I respect your opinion but I'm not sure I agree with your preposition on the fact that if we're contemplating a constitutional amendment, specifically to give protection to victims by removing juveniles from the protection, which is what this would do, would remove them from having the victims' right protections from underneath the constitutional amendment. Please help me explain this.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: It removes the delinquents who are the accused from being under this same overall victim protection. So, I mean the victim– What am I trying to say, I'm so flummoxed. A victim of a crime would include somebody who has any person against whom the criminal offense which assumes is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed, so yes if you had a sixteen year old as opposed to an eighteen year old, one would be seen under the current statutes, which also have victims' protection and the other, and I believe should be done differently because we, as it is now, we treat juveniles differently and I think that we should. Treat them differently than adults.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Can a juvenile commit a criminal offense?

SENATOR FELTES: Well he can commit a delinquent act.

SENATOR GIUDA: I'm not familiar with the law. The reason for my question is, I'm wondering if removing delinquent doesn't accomplish the objective of the Senator from District 5.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much for the question, Senator Giuda. Based on my reading, based on what I have heard, my understanding of the Floor Amendment is that taking out delinquent act would take out the application of this to victims for the victims of a delinquent act of a minor. So that's my understanding of the Floor Amendment. I hope that answers your question.

SENATOR GIUDA: It does.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: When I look at the amendment 1196 and I look at the amendment that was just passed 1200, I notice the language in 1200 is not contained in 1196 and it would appear to me that we would undo by passing this the language that we just passed.

PRESIDENT MORSE: You're absolutely right, Senator and you could have pointed it out in speaking, you didn't need– But we'll continue.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. That was my same concern.

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: That was my observation.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon for a question of Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR GANNON: Senator Hennessey, it's been a while, I think thirty-five years ago I was involved in a juvenile case. It was a heinous case and at that one they had a transfer hearing, there was some group of boys they did whatever they did and at the transfer hearing some were fifteen, some were fourteen, some were sixteen. Are you going to take all of those, are you going to let people be tried as adult if they do a heinous crime at a certain age, or are you saying that even at seventeen you can't be transferred, which I think would be a change to the law? Maybe Senator Feltes could help me with that. If you can't, Senator Hennessey.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: I mean I can tell you my interpretation of it but I don't think it changes.

SENATOR GANNON. My first would be to you, do you want to take everyone out if someone at seventeen that does a heinous crime?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: If it's been deemed that they be tried as an adult then they would still be tried as an adult.

SENATOR GANNON: And then Marsy's Law would apply to them?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: That's right.

SENATOR GANNON: So even at sixteen, fifteen, fourteen?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: If the court decides they should be tried as an adult.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Whether or not you're voting yes or no on this Floor Amendment, regardless of how you feel about it and how you're going to vote, assuming it passes, is the Clerk authorized to make adjustments reflecting the fact that we just passed a separate amendment and make those kind of adjustments?

PRESIDENT MORSE: It would be the Chair's determination that it's a flawed amendment. So you would, can spend the afternoon correcting it. So, right now the way the amendment's presented it wipes out what just happened and that's what you're voting on. So if you want to withdraw this and correct it, you can do that.

Recess. Out of recess.

Senator Hennessey withdrew Floor Amendment 2018-1196s.

Floor Amendment to CACR 22

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph I with the following:

I. That the first part of the constitution be amended by inserting after article 14 the following new article:

[Art.] 14-a. [Rights of Victims of Crimes.] A victim of crime has the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety and dignity, the right to fair notice of relevant proceedings involving adjudication of an accused's guilt, sentencing, and post-conviction release of a convicted defendant, and the right to be heard at such proceedings, all of which rights shall be enforced consistent with the rights guaranteed to others involved in the criminal justice system.

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph IV with the following:

IV. That the wording of the question put to the qualified voters shall be:

"Are you in favor of amending the first part of the constitution by inserting after article 14 a new article to read as follows:

[Art.] 14-a. [Rights of Victims of Crimes.] A victim of crime has the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety and dignity, the right to fair notice of relevant proceedings involving adjudication of an accused's guilt, sentencing, and post-conviction release of a convicted defendant, and the right to be heard at such proceedings, all of which rights shall be enforced consistent with the rights guaranteed to others involved in the criminal justice system."

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I've been in a constant conversation with retired Justice Conboy of the State Supreme Court, working in collaboration with Professor Scherr from UNH. The words in this amendment are theirs. They are recognized as eminent scholars and participants in, for decades, our judicial system. Their concern is that the language in the committee amendment and as the following amendments opens to interpretation things that will be challenged when what we're really trying to do is establish a constitutional basis for victims' rights.

This amendment would do that. It would then allow the legislature to craft laws very similar to but probably better the existing victim rights statutes in chapter 21 of the statute. And so it's brief, but encapsulates the concept of victims' rights and enables the legislature to put specifics into the law. It also enables us to use that constitutional basis for these rights as a reason for a remedy for them. It isn't specific, and in being non-specific it enables us as legislators to enact laws and as in the future terminology, the nature of crimes, new laws and constitutional interpretations both at the state and national level will take place.

We won't have to amend the constitution every time a word or a phrase or a concept is amended at the state level or the federal level in the Supreme Courts. Wording is very simple. Victim of a crime has the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victims' safety and dignity. The right to fair notice of relevant proceedings involving adjudication of an accused guilt, sentencing and post-conviction release of a convicted defendant. The right to be heard at such proceedings all of which rights shall be enforced, consistent with the rights guaranteed to others involved in the criminal justice system. It's deliberately crafted to be non-specific to avoid the legal conflicts that will ensue from the language in the current amendment. And I have utmost trust in the competency and the good intentions and the legal knowledge and the drafting ability of a retired Supreme Court justice and the eminent scholar of the law, Professor Scherr. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR AVARD: Senator Giuda, thank you for taking my question and thank you for bringing this amendment forward. Is it your understanding that without this amendment all of which rights shall be enforced will not be enforced? Is that your understanding? I notice that you have that in these words.

SENATOR GIUDA: We're leading into my next amendment but the answer to this is yes. Under present law, under the proposed amendment the victim is afforded rights up until the point that the victim is re-assaulted or murdered or in any other way victimized, at which point the state, which is the sole entity under the amendment constitutionally authorized to apply those rights and responsible for providing those rights is indemnified from any accountability for failing to do so. So we say you have rights as long as you're alive, but if you get killed or maimed, then sorry. You don't have recourse. I think that is simply unacceptable, if we're seeking to really enshrine women's rights and the rights of victims and children in the constitution we do it in such a way that a failure to enforce those rights brings accountability. Else we have a paper tiger that sounds good and makes us feel good but produces no improvement whatsoever from the status quo. Thank you.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you for taking my question again. One of the comments that was brought earlier in bringing this constitutional amendment was the fact that Marsy's Law will allow the victims to be heard. Do I read correctly that this also guarantees the right of the victim to be heard?

SENATOR GIUDA: Absolutely. And the right to be heard in such proceedings.

SENATOR AVARD: And shall be enforced?

SENATOR GIUDA: Correct.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Senator.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I haven't fished in a while, I might need to go up North with the Senator from District 1. There's a couple terms way back again to law school. Void for vagueness comes to mind. Fairness, respect, dignity. There's no teeth, you've taken away the victims right to privacy, the right to notice, their right to, they're not at the table anymore. They are not protected from the accused. It's an empty bag here. Fairness, respect, dignity are so vague, they give the defendant no rights. Are we treating them fair now, are the being respected now? The amendment and the bill as amended give specifics. This is so vague I know I'm only a night law student who graduated but I did pretty well in com law and this would fail. It would fail any first year law professor's if they had to write a bill. All respect to the good ex-Supreme Court but this is horrible. Again, you are taking, it is three legged chair we were making, the victim was going to have seat at the table, and you've taken everything away from them. So this would just destroy the day. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Senator Giuda, did you present this amendment to the committee?

SENATOR GIUDA: I can't hear you, Ma'am, I'm sorry.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I wanted to know if you presented this amendment to the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: The amendment was presented, I believe to the committee.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: And would you tell me what happened to this amendment in the committee?

SENATOR GIUDA; It was voted down I believe 4-1. It was not seconded, that's right, it was not seconded.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much for answering my question.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. There's been a lot that's been said about this amendment and I'm rising to ask the body to not accept this amendment, because it's basically what I like to call Marsy's Law Light. It's a light version of the other. And it's too vague and I would like to just show all of you, we tend to give these to the children who come to visit us when they're in fourth grade. If you at the New Hampshire Constitution, the first part; Bill of Rights, there are thirty-nine stated rights. Some of them are one sentence, some of them are paragraphs. This is just a very simple paragraph but just very vague. If you look at our federal constitution, which by the way is really kind of interesting and I'll put my historian hat on here, because when you talk about the ratification and the arguments that surrounded our federal constitution. There was a huge argument between the Federalists and the Anti-Federalists about whether or not to include a Bill of Rights in our constitution. Thank God that Thomas Jefferson and the Anti-Federalists won the debate. Because we now have enshrined in our constitution the first ten amendments which considers our Bill of Rights. And we always have great arguments about those rights; Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Religion, very clearly stated. If you look at this amendment, one thing that's glaringly different is they've taken out the victims' right of privacy. That is very, very concerning. Just because you become a victim, do you lose your right of privacy? I would argue not. I would think you would want to protect that victim's right to privacy, but this amendment basically guts that. There's a couple of other points here that I'd like to, points I'd like to make, and it's on line 6, and it says the right to fair notice of relevant proceedings. Well who gets to decide what's relevant? It's going to be the court. And part of the problems that victims face is the delay, the delay, the delay tactics of the defense. To put this off and in fact we heard from someone during our public hearing, that a young girl came forward at age six to say that her grandfather had sexually molested her. He was able to successfully put that trial off until she was ten years old, excuse me, twelve. So let me ask you the visual here. You have a six year old little girl sitting there talking about what happened to her versus a twelve year old. And finally it wasn't finally adjudicated until she was eighteen years old. Let me ask you, was that fair to the victim? I would argue that it was not.

One other thing that's been brought up has been the indemnification of the state. Well, during the public hearing we heard that Oh my goodness, this is going to create a situation where somebody's constitutional right was violated and now they have the right to sue the state and what if they're poor, we're going to have to provide them with an attorney, and this is going to put a huge burden on the state budget. Well, in the spirit of compromise we took existing language, it's already in statute, to indemnify the state. Does this mean that people cannot bring a case against the state? Of course not. People sue the state all the time. But what it does do is when you stand in front of a judge and you say; Judge my constitutional right was violated. I was not heard in this proceeding. That carries more weight than someone saying well, your honor, they violated RSA so and so and so and so. We heard from Thomas Velardi, who's the Strafford County Attorney and he said the statute regarding the victims' rights evaporates, it evaporates in competition against the constitutional rights of the defendant. All this does, the amendment that we have voted on by the committee, is attempts to balance. This is too vague, it's too, too vague. And victims are going to find themselves in court over and over and over again as that case law gets established. That's unfair to the victims, Mister President. It's very unfair and it is yet another delay, delay, delay tactic to keep the victims out of the process and keep them out of the court. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, could you tell me in this amendment that's before us who is a victim? I've looked for a definition and it' unclear to me who would actually be a victim under these circumstances.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much for that question, Senator. I would argue that it doesn't even define what a victim is. So what are we talking about here? Did I answer your question?

SENATOR SOUCY: You did, thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR AVARD: Senator, thank you for taking my question. I've heard that the phrase right to be heard, but I see on line 19 that it does say that the victim basically has the right to be heard at such proceedings, all of which shall be enforced. So there seems to be some teeth into this. Help me understand this.

SENATOR CARSON: Okay. Thank you, Senator. And again we have two documents, we have proposed amendment 1181s that says that the right to be heard at such proceedings, okay? What does this amendment say? It says, and it's very specific, it names all of those rights, much like we see here. Let's see, they have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victims' safety, dignity and privacy and upon request, because remember this is opt in, to reasonable and timely notice of and to be present at all court proceedings. This does not say anything about that. Including post-conviction proceedings on the same basis as the accused, to proceedings free from unreasonable delay, and again we've changed this, it says here to refuse an interview or deposition request made by the accused, to confer with the attorney for the state about the disposition of the case, to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing and parole of the accused, to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused, to full and timely restitution and to be informed of all rights under this article. You have that and balance that with the right to be heard.

SENATOR AVARD: Recently we passed the rape shield bill and that was to protect privacy. How does this affect that? Marsy's Law?

SENATOR CARSON: I would think that it would enhance it, Senator. Unfortunately, if we had had victims' rights at that time that were constitutional rights that decision by the Supreme Court probably would have not gone forward. That dragged the family back into court. After someone had been found guilty of murdering their child, they had to go back in and defend their daughter's privacy.

SENATOR AVARD: And so based upon what you said, there are certain protections for victims that we as a body have passed?

SENATOR CARSON: Yes, Senator. Again, I would say yes they are, but again I would go back to the testimony that we had from Mister Velardi. The statute regarding victims' rights evaporates in competition against the constitutional rights of the defendant.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. With respect to the Senator from District 23, there are rights enumerated in this. The right to fair notice of relevant proceedings, relevant meaning anything related to the case as it's moving forward. The right to be treated with respect, fairness and respect for the victims' safety and dignity. The right to be heard at such proceedings, meaning any proceeding involving the adjudication of an accused guilt, sentencing, a post-conviction release of a convicted defendant. All of its rights shall be enforced consistent with the rights guaranteed to others involving the criminal justice system. This balances this amendment. So your statement, Senator was utterly incorrect and misleading. There are specific rights enumerated in this amendment. The next thing this amendment does, it puts teeth into Marsy's Law. It gives enforcement a place where the current amendment removes the ability in the event of the most egregious breech of the victims' rights, the re-offense, the murder, the rape, whatever it is. And we indemnify the very people and the only people responsible for enforcing those rights from the failure to do so with horrific potential consequences.

This does a wonderful job of protecting the system as it changes nothing, it puts nice words into the constitution and then removes accountability for failure to exercise those words. We already have victim statutes, twenty-three items and one I would call it an adjunct item, that are not being enforced but putting it in the constitution will not bring enforcement, but neither the constitution nor the statutes are self-enforcing. They require human interaction and when that interaction fails, and a victim dies, we do a great disservice to the women, the children, the men whoever it is that the victim might be. Because we will have knowingly put into the constitution an escape clause from accountability for failing to enforce the very things we say we're providing. I cannot support this language in the current amendment. I ask you to implement a constitutional amendment that gives broad authority, establishes specific rights and achieves a remedy if those rights are not exercised by the only authority, law enforcement, parole, sheriff's departments, judiciary with horrific consequences to the very victims we're trying to protect. I ask you to support amendment 1181s to CACR 22. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. Again, this, the amendment that the committee passed incorporates statutes that we currently have. This is based on New Hampshire law. We heard from Attorney Ward from the AG's office that many police departments, the courts, they're already doing this. This is already happening today. Many, even police prosecutors, police departments have victims' advocates on staff to help people so we're not re-creating anything really new. We are taking statutes that in some instances we have voted for, and putting them together as a constitutional amendment to protect the rights of the victims. I've already spoken to why the indemnification is in there. It doesn't stop anybody from suing the state, they can do so if they choose to. We, the state, are just not going to pay for it. We are not going to provide them an attorney. And that, again, that language is in place in various statutes that we have. So it is not something new that was created just for this.

And again Mister President, I just want to go back again to what Attorney Velardi said; the statute regarding victims' rights evaporates in competition against the constitutional rights of the defendant. If you don't state and be specific what those rights are, you will find yourself constantly in court. And again, that comes back to delay, delay, delay. And we don't want that. We don't want that for the victims of crimes here in the state of New Hampshire. Earlier we heard testimony about the learned scholar, Judge Conboy, who by the way did not come in to testify to the committee. But we did have testimony from Attorney Chuck Douglas, another individual who has served on our State Supreme Court. And he said victims should be treated with respect for their safety, dignity and privacy. Make no mistake, this proposal and this proposal that he's speaking of was an amendment that was brought forward that was a little bit longer than this but basically the same thing, would render the constitutional amendment meaningless and would lead to decades of litigation over its true intent. If you want to treat victims with fairness, respect and safety, you need to do more than just say it. He goes on to say that this amendment is a poison pill that would invalidate the proposed rights of the victims under CACR 22 and would maintain a system where the rights of the defendant and criminals are given greater weight than the rights of the victim. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I, as a member of the Judiciary Committee am, you know, have been living with this bill. This was presented to us the first week of February and in all fairness I don't believe there is one person that came in to testimony or one person that I have heard from. Because I've struggled with this. One person that I've heard from of all the stakeholders who hasn't said no we don't need any kind of victims' rights. I believe that the issues have been as to how to best achieve that. When we are putting something or plan to put something in the constitution, that is one of the most serious things I believe that we do here as a legislator. And I believe that this committee has looked at it very seriously has brought in you know, stakeholders again and people that are concerned with this. And certainly any one of us, there has been no dearth of people who have not come in to my office if I've asked them to explain one thing or another. I'm not an attorney, so there are things in the law that do need to be explained. What I want to say is that I do think that the product we have, while not perfect, is certainly a good start. And this will go on to the House, they, you know what the House does, they will have you know, four-hundred opinions, as it should be. And I think that again, the subject matter is certainly worth, it's worth all this debate, it's worth anything we can put into it, but I do believe at this point in time that the committee has worked long and hard, we've tried to balance and that's what this is about; balancing the victims' rights with the defendants' rights and it's very serious business but I do think and as I said, I haven't heard from anyone that something does not need to be done. So I urge you to pass the amendment as presented by the Judiciary Committee and I do believe that that's the best way to go. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. When a statute conflicts with the constitution it should evaporate. That's why we have a constitution. Is to make sure that laws aren't made by people with unjust purposes that do not reflect the values established by the founders and changed or removed or improved over the centuries. Chuck Douglas is an honorable jurist, Chuck Douglas is very well paid for the testimony, he is a paid lobbyist on this issue. He was paid to say what he did, and he's a friend of mine. He appeared in my office with an orange badge saying you should vote for this. And I said no, because it does not solve the problem. It elevates language, then it takes the teeth out, just like the existing statute does, so that victims when most egregiously offended by a parolee who then rapes or murders, have absolutely no recourse and the state has failed to provide them the notice, the state should be held liable. It's just that simple. We make people feel good with this language, we don't accomplish anything, we elevate a statute into constitutional standing. And we also with the only, only language in the entire constitution despite various statutory exemptions, this is the only amendment that places an exemption for those who fail, into the constitution. The only place in that entire document. We have numerous places in the law where we provide immunity, partial immunity or it's implicit. In this case we're making immunity a constitutional right for those who failed to protect the people we're trying to save. That's unconscionable. I ask you to support this amendment and then I'll introduce a later amendment to rectify. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you for taking my question. I just, with regards to the immunity of those that fail to enforce this. Do they still have immunity?

SENATOR CARSON: This says that they do, but you can sue anybody for anything, anybody will tell you that. It won't be for a criminal offense, but it could be for a civil offense.

SENATOR AVARD: So if the state fails to enforce these constitutional rights, where does the victim go?

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you for your question. As I said earlier, the victim can go in front of the court and say my constitutional rights were violated. I was not given the right to be heard or whatever they claim has been violated and the court has to address those.

SENATOR AVARD: So then if the court fails the victim by not helping the victim with the constitutional right under Marsy's, can the victim sue the court for failing to, because they failed the victim?

SENATOR CARSON: Senator, now you're really getting into the weeds, I am not an attorney, and I don't pretend to be one. But if you remember we had Mister Ward in our caucus this morning talking about the fact that the judges oftentimes ask the victims, did you participate in this, where's the victim, had they been heard, so again, we're not creating anything new. These are things that are already happening in our court system now. We're just saying okay we're going to put them together, they will; be in constitutional amendment that recognizes the victim and when we look at that scale of justice because right now it's like this. All constitutional rights belong to the accused. The victims have nothing. It's an attempt to try to get a balance and that's all this is, is to recognize that victims have rights as well. Not affecting anything that is attached to the defendant, but they have rights as well.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Senator.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. The committee amendment as amended states this section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the state, any political subdivision of the state any officer, employee or agent of the state or any of its political subdivisions or any officer or employee of the court. Black's Law defines damages as, and I quote, "A pecuniary compensational indemnity which may be recovered in the courts by any person who has suffered loss detriment or injury whether to his person, his property, his rights through the unlawful act or omission or negligence of another." With this language we foreclose on the ability of a victim to sue the court and deny them the most essential of rights, that being life and safety.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator French, seconded by Senator Avard.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, French, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, Ward, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 5 - Nays: 18. Failed.

Recess. Out of recess.

Senator Bradley moved to Lay on the Table CACR 22. Adopted.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a commission to study the funding and operations of the presumption under workers' compensation requiring reimbursement of costs associated with firefighters who have cancer.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 541 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill sought to establish a fund to reimburse costs associated with firefighters who have cancer. The fund as proposed would be supported by an annual assessment by the Insurance Department on carriers and self-insurers issuing homeowners and business insurance policies. A majority of the committee support the concept of the bill, but feel serious questions remain unanswered, such as causality, cost and the appropriate funding source. No committee member questioned the possibility that cancer could be contracted as a result of fighting fires. The committee amendment establishes a comprehensive commission to develop answers to the remaining difficult questions. The goal of the committee members is to fund the bill in the next budget cycle. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of Senate Bill 541 as amended, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. I'd ask that we turn down the committee amendment so I can introduce a Floor Amendment.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Failed.

Senator Bradley offered a Floor Amendment.

Floor Amendment to SB 541-FN-A

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a fund to reimburse costs associated with firefighters who have cancer and establishing a commission to study the funding and operations of the presumption under workers' compensation requiring the reimbursement of costs associated with firefighters who have cancer.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Workers' Compensation; Firefighter With Heart, Lung, and Cancer Disease. Amend RSA 281-A:17, II to read as follows:

II. Notwithstanding the provisions of RSA 281-A:2, XI and XIII, 16 and 27, there shall exist a prima facie presumption that cancer disease in a firefighter, whether a regular, call, volunteer, or retired member of a fire department, is occupationally related. In order to receive this occupational cancer disability benefit, the type of cancer involved must be a type which may be caused by exposure to heat, radiation, or a known or suspected carcinogen as defined by the International Agency for Research on Cancer, including such types and variations as colon, lung, melanoma, mesothelioma, multiple myeloma, non-melanoma skin, prostate, rectal, non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, and stomach. However:

(a) A [~~call or volunteer~~] firefighter shall have the benefit of this prima facie presumption only if there is on record reasonable medical evidence that such firefighter was free of such disease [~~at the beginning of his or her employment~~] for 10 years after completion of the comprehensive medical physical. It shall be the duty of the employer of [~~call or volunteer~~] firefighters to provide the required reasonable medical evidence as outlined by the National Fire Protection Association standard 1582 or another evaluation mandated by the fire standards and training commission under RSA 21-P:25. [~~If the employer fails to do so, the call or volunteer firefighter shall have the benefit of the prima facie presumption regardless of the absence of said reasonable medical evidence.~~]

(b) A retired firefighter who agrees to submit to [~~any~~] a compliant physical examination [~~requested by his city, town, or precinct~~] during employment and meets all other standards pertaining to this section shall have the benefit of the prima facie presumption for a period of 20 years from the effective date of such firefighter's retirement.

(c) To qualify for treatment under this paragraph, a firefighter shall:

(1) After completion of a comprehensive medical physical determining the firefighter is cancer-free, document a tobacco-free lifestyle.

(2) Have continuously served at least 10 years in the fire service.

(3) Have completed courses and training in accordance with certification for firefighter I in accordance with RSA 21-P:25.

III. There is hereby established in the office of the state treasurer a fund to be known as the firefighters with cancer disease fund. All moneys in such fund shall be nonlapsing and continually appropriated to the commissioner to be used for the sole purpose of reimbursing costs associated with medical physicals under subparagraph II(b) and additional costs in workers' compensation coverage. The state treasurer shall disburse moneys from the fund only upon written order of the commissioner. The commissioner, with the approval of the fiscal committee of the general court, shall disburse moneys from the fund to the political subdivisions of this state and to the public risk pools covered under RSA 5-B. The commissioner shall conserve the assets of the fund. The attorney general shall appoint an employee of the department of justice to represent the fund in all proceedings brought to enforce claims against the fund. The commissioner shall adopt rules, pursuant to RSA 541-A, relative to the proper administration of the fund.

2 New Subparagraph; Rulemaking Added. Amend RSA 281-A:60, I by inserting after subparagraph (aa) the following new subparagraph:

(bb) The administration of the fund established in RSA 281-A:17, III.

3 New Subparagraph; Special Fund Added. Amend RSA 6:12, I(b) by inserting after subparagraph (339) the following new subparagraph:

(340) Moneys deposited into the firefighters with cancer disease fund, established in RSA 281-A:17, III.

4 New Section; Commission to Study the Funding and Operations of the Presumption Under Workers' Compensation Requiring the Reimbursement of Costs Associated with Firefighters who Have Cancer. Amend RSA 281-A by inserting after section 17 the following new section:

281-A:17-a Commission Established.

I.(a) There is established a commission to study the funding and operations of the presumption under workers' compensation requiring the reimbursement of costs associated with firefighters who have cancer. The members of the commission shall be as follows:

(1) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

(2) Three members of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(3) The labor commissioner, or designee.

(4) The commissioner of safety, or designee.

(5) The insurance commissioner, or designee.

(6) A representative of the New Hampshire Municipal Association, appointed by the association.

(7) A representative of the New Hampshire Association of Counties, appointed by the association.

(8) A fire chief, appointed by the New Hampshire Association of Fire Chiefs.

(9) A representative of the Professional Fire Fighters of New Hampshire, appointed by that organization.

(10) A representative of the New Hampshire Public Risk Management Exchange, appointed by that organization.

(11) An attorney practicing in the field of workers' compensation defense, appointed by the governor.

(b) Legislative members of the commission shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the commission.

II.(a) The commission shall study:

(1) The costs that have been incurred to date under RSA 281-A:17.

(2) How to conclusively determine that the cause of cancer is occupationally related.

(3) Reasonable methods and practices to screen out non-occupationally related cancers, that are a result of, including, but not limited to: other employment, genetics, and lifestyle choices made before, during, and after service.

(4) The annual costs to provide physicals and the additional workers' compensation coverage and how they should be funded.

(5) An appropriate, stable, and long-term funding mechanism and the costs of administering the funding mechanism.

(6) Whether the funding mechanism should include an insurance assessment against carriers issuing certain insurance policies.

(7) Any other issues applicable to the subject matter of RSA 281-A:17.

(b) The commission may solicit input from any person or entity the commission deems relevant to its study.

III. The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the commission shall be called by the senate member. The first meeting of the commission shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Seven members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

IV. On or before November 1, 2018, the commission shall submit a report of its findings and any recommendations for proposed legislation to the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives, the senate clerk, the house clerk, the governor, and the state library.

5 Repeal. RSA 281-A:17-a, relative to a commission to study the funding and operations of the presumption under workers' compensation requiring the reimbursement of costs associated with firefighters who have cancer, is repealed.

6 Effective Date.

I. Sections 1-3 of this act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

II. Section 5 of this act shall take effect November 1, 2018.

III. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a fund to reimburse costs associated with firefighters who have cancer. The fund shall consist of moneys from an annual assessment by the insurance department against each carrier and self-insurer issuing homeowners and business insurance policies. This bill also establishes a commission to study the funding and operations of the presumption under workers' compensation requiring reimbursement of costs associated with firefighters who have cancer.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. I have to do a mea culpa here. I have not been at all involved in this bill so let me do the best I can to explain this amendment from 100,000 feet and perhaps others are going to have to answer questions about it. My understanding of what the amendment does is that it takes out the assessment on the premium tax knowing that we're setting up the fund and that it has to be funded in the next budget. That's what this does. I hope that in the spirit of bipartisan cooperation that with the unanswered questions about how much money is necessary and where it will come from so that we can move forward with what had been the position of the Finance Committee to create a commission to look at this with the indication that this amendment indicates that it will be funded in the next budget after a determination is made as to how great it is, the expense. Maybe we should switch positions and I'll let the Senate President explain the amendment. Senator Bradley presiding.

(The Chair recognized Senator Morse.)

SENATOR MORSE: The amendment's drafted this way: The original bill basically acknowledges that we want to create a fund and then along with that the original bill used an insurance tax to cover the fund to the tune of $3 million. But one thing that isn't figured out yet is, one; I think the committee was pretty much under the understanding that the insurance tax piece wouldn't work. The Governor had another idea of bonding, which I believe may be the way we end up on this, but like any bond in the state of New Hampshire, you've got to have a solution for paying it back. So basically what I did in this amendment was set up the system, there is no, anything in this bill that says this is going in the next budget, however I can tell you the Governor wants this in the next budget. What I didn't have answers for was how we're going to set up that system to fund it. So you set the buckets up in the treasury, you acknowledge that we're going to put this policy in place, that's what's being passed.

The committee that is going to do the work is basically looking at four or five different things on how to set this up. And that has to report out by November, so that it can go in to the next budget. I don't think there was anyone, well I shouldn't say that because there might be other people on Finance that disagree with me. I believe that we should be solving this problem. What I don't believe is we have the solution yet of how to solve it financially, and that's why I'm proposing putting these people together to solve those. Other people want to solve some of the other problems. I guarantee when this gets in the House, they only have two months but the solution will be worked on while they're in the House. If they can't get it done then we go to the committee that's being adopted but I believe it needs time to develop what the solution's going to be. I don't think anyone, if you vote on this today and vote on what's being proposed in front of you, you're voting to set up the system. That's what you're doing. So with that, I guess we're going to recess.

Recess. Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Morse.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for taking my question. Mister President, you had mentioned that this would be funded in the next budget. Just reviewing this I do not see any language that–

SENATOR MORSE: I think I made it perfectly clear. There is no language in this bill that says it's funded and I stated that. What I said was we have to report out by November 1, on the funding source. I made that pretty clear.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. This bill is a bill that I put forward and I think it's an important issue for us to address. And I may have mentioned previously that my father-in-law passed away in December, he was a firefighter, non-smoker, died of lung cancer. It's sometimes difficult to establish causality but we sure as heck have correlation that shows that firefighters have a higher degree of certain cancers than the rest of the population. And the purpose of this bill was to help firefighters and their families who find themselves facing cancer that is very likely related to their job and their daily activities. While I understand this amendment and what it's trying to do, I like it because I think it's important that we find the right source of funds and one that we can rely on and the fact that we'll have an identifiable source by November that we can work into the next budget, I think is a good thing. The original proposal I didn't think was bad, I made the argument in committee it was pennies for consumers and it was. But this feels better in a lot of ways. The House has a crack at it, the Governor will work with them I'm sure and I will if I can help and I do believe that we'll get the fund established as we need it and we'll find a way to get the money into it. Will it happen tomorrow? No, but will it happen with the next budget? I'm confident it will. And I ask you to please support the amendment.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to ask the body to vote down this proposed amendment. This Floor Amendment basically replaces the original bill with a study commission that delays action on an issue of importance to those who protect us, the citizens and the visitors of the state of New Hampshire. This issue has been debated in our body before, to the extent that in 1987 when the original statute came before the legislature, the full Senate voted 22-1 in favor of the bill. Four years ago we agreed to study this matter, to fine tune the statute. Our colleague from District 17 served on that study committee which came with some strict qualifications to pursue this coverage. The fire service in New Hampshire is quite diverse. It is career firefighters such as in my towns of Hudson and Londonderry, and volunteer departments that serve Meredith, Barnstead and New Boston. And mixed departments of career, on-call and volunteer firefighters such as in Auburn, Danville and Milford. The original bill as drafted encompasses all firefighters answering the call in our diverse state and draws revenue from the very industry that profits off the success of our fire departments. It is now our turn to answer the call and protect those who protect us, not study this issue any longer. I ask you to vote down the committee amendment. Mister President, time and time and time again in this chamber we have talked with great pride of our first responders, and the job that they are doing for us, especially now since we find ourselves embroiled in the opioid crisis. They're the ones that will appear with ambulances to homes where parents, young adults have overdosed. They go to cars, when people who have gotten into accidents, to pull people from cars because they've passed out and caused an accident. If we truly value what they do we will today recognize the fact that they have problems, health issues related to cancer that are directly related to the job that they do. It is time, it is time for us to stand up and do the right thing. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, having filed a conflict with the Clerk, I will be participating as this is an issue that may impact my client. I have to say I'm dismayed by the amendment. I'm dismayed for a couple reasons. Most notably though, I find it very hard that this body, actually this entire state government, thirty years ago, thirty years ago recognized that cancer was a significant problem because of the nature of the work that these men and women do every day to protect each and every one of us. The presumption that cancer happens on the job is well settled. As I said, thirty years ago. And here we are thirty years later saying, you know we're almost there, but we're not quite there. Do you know how many people have died, how many firefighters have died because of on the job related cancers, because we haven't come up with a funding source yet? Well, I'm going to keep working at this and I believe the funding source proposed make a lot of sense. But let me say this; what doesn't make a lot of sense and what I find downright offensive in this amendment, is line 12 of page 2. Because what we are saying is that if you're a firefighter, you have to go through physicals, you have to do all of these various things, all of these expectations in order to prove that your cancer was related to the job. And once you've done that, we set that very high bar, once you've done that, the Commissioner of Labor then says we're going to pay for your services. But what do we do? So the commissioner, you've proven the bar, the commissioner has granted you this authority. We have statutorily said, this is what you have to do, but the commissioner is going to go to Fiscal. And what if Fiscal says no. What then? What does that say to these people if we set up yet another political hurdle? That is simply wrong, simply wrong.

Now we can debate what the funding source should be, but to suggest that we have set up a scheme for which people can be compensated in small part for the cancers that they have caught, that they acquired because of the things they've been exposed to, saving us and saving our constituents? It's to me unconscionable, and for that reason I can't support this amendment, never mind that the study committee that we're setting up, a member from the association of counties, really? Counties have fire departments now, that's news to me. I don't know what they're doing here. Line 17 of page 3; how to conclusively determine that the cause of cancer is occupationally related. Really? Thirty years later we're still trying to figure that out? My friends, today is the day to take action on this bill. There's no doubt that there are brave men and women every day exposing themselves to chemicals and carcinogens that may eventually lead to their death, and they're doing it and will continue to do it and we at the very least, at the very least should be able to pass the original version of this bill. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for taking my question. Senator, you just mentioned the language starting on line 11 going to line 14, on page 2. While we've just seen this language about ten or fifteen minutes ago, would you agree with me that subjecting individual workers' comp cases to the whim of a political body presents serious constitutional and due process problems?

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator not only do I think it presents very serious constitutional and due process problems, as I stated I think it's unconscionable to do that, thank you.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I'd like to address some of the comments that were made earlier about how it's so unconscionable. The fund that currently exists in statute right now, the first part of it deals with heart and lung disease, the second part deals with cancer. In twenty-nine years there have been two hearings based on claims against cancer. One was settled with a $1,000 lump sum settlement, the other the claimant withdrew the quest on appeal. The funding source that we're talking about and that we're trying to find, some find so acceptable now. Let me just share some data with you that approximately twenty-one states have some kind of a fund in regard to cancer right now. But not one of them deals with it the way that we're proposing. They deal with it with a workers' comp trust fund or insurance carriers. I mean we would be the only state that is looking to tax property and casualty insurance companies for this. This is what we're trying to deal with and find a way that is acceptable so that you're not targeting one segment to fund a service that everybody benefits for. So I rise in support of the amendment, ask that you support that. Let's go forward, put the program in place and let us work to find the funding mechanism for the next budget. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise against the amendment. I think I'm the only one here who's here because of the bravery of firemen. As a kid I lived on the third floor of a building in East Boston on Gladstone Street. House burnt to the ground, to the ground. My mother, my father, my brothers, my aunts and my uncles were taken out by firefighters. They went to the third floor of the building that I was living in as a babe, they took me in their arms and took me down. They didn't ask if there was asbestos in the building, they didn't ask if their lives were in danger, they went up to the third floor, picked me up out of my bed and took me down. I'm alive because of the bravery of those guys. How can I not support something that supports them? We have a Manchester firefighter who's dying of cancer now. That person needs our help, needs our help. These men and women who are firefighters risk their lives every day. They risk their lives every day, and as I said, I'm here, my brother is alive because of what they did. It's the highest compliment that I can pay to anybody. Let's take care of them. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Morse.)

SENATOR MORSE: Thank you, Mister President. No good deed goes unpunished I guess. The reality is, I haven't been here thirty years, but once again the Senate is solving a problem and I think we're doing it the logical way that the Senate does things. We didn't have 2000, 2002 they passed a drug and alcohol bill, Senators were here for years and it was under our leadership that we now fund the Governor's Commission. Not at 3.4, we doubled it, and now we're taking it to $10 million. It was our leadership that did it. I made it very clear, the Governor is going forward with this bill. I made it very clear, so I'm not walking away from it. I support it, you have until November to come up with the ideas of how we believe it should go in the next budget. Otherwise the structure's already done because this puts that in law, so I can go home and hold my head up just fine. I support it. But the reality of financials in the state, I'm not afraid of Fiscal, I'm not afraid of Governor and Council, because I think that's a responsibility of the Senate that we have. And I don't believe anyone brought a solution to that problem yet. It was pretty obvious hitting the insurance fund was not going not going to be the solution. That's been obvious for quite a while now, because the reality of doing that is, who's next? Who's next? I mean we're certainly singling out the firefighters here which I support, but who's next? And that's what we'll be putting on the insurance policies.

So I said let's come up with a solution that works for the state of New Hampshire, but I don't have it, and no one else brought it forward. So all I suggested was let's get it done before November. I'm telling you right now the Governor supports this bill. That's why I suggested putting the structure in place today. And that's what we're doing. If the House were to come back to a committee of conference, or come back with an idea that you could agree with without a committee of conference, I'm sure you'd support it here in the Senate. But no one brought an amendment forward to say how it's going to be fixed today. And I think you need to do that. I think it's responsible and I think you're making a statement today that you support it and I could just as equally argue that voting against it says you don't support it. Because you are putting it in place with this amendment. So I ask for your support on this amendment today, I think it's the right thing to do, I think the Senate's always been responsible and then you have two months to go work the House and find a solution or let this committee develop the solution. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Morse.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for taking my question, Mister President. This language, which we are still digesting says, correct me if I'm wrong, that an individual workers' comp case is decided and then the commissioner must go before Fiscal to fund that individual workers' comp case of a firefighter. Is that right?

SENATOR MORSE: Senator, I took the language from the original amendment that I picked up and put it in this bill. There were two pieces. There was the original bill, then there was an amendment to do a commission to study this. I just tried to marry them with what we could do today. If I've made a mistake, you're setting up the system. I have no problem acknowledging today in the Senate that we're setting up the system and we need the funding source. Beyond that, I do believe that we move this along in the process with the understanding that the House will fix this and make it work. If they can't get it done, I'm sure all of us can go to the House and say these things need to happen in that committee that's going to work the next six months. I'm sure we can get there. So if I failed, I'm sorry. But I intend to get this done.

SENATOR FELTES: One last question. Thank you, and I appreciate the intent. In Senate Finance I did present an amendment to fund it in the general fund in the next budget. So that proposal was made, it was rejected. I'm wondering why we don't fund it in this actual amendment. Why don't we fund it?

SENATOR MORSE: And ultimately, you're letting me answer a question that Senator D'Allesandro asked too. Ultimately we may have to set up that system, but ultimately, by doing what you suggested in Senate Finance we were nailing in on $3 million. I'm not sure that's the right answer because I know Senator Giuda was getting ready to jump up and say, you know he's studied data that it's a half a person every two years or something like that. I'm not ready to come up with that number. But as for the person with cancer in Manchester right now, it was the intent of the original legislation that this go in the next budget. So I don't think we're slowing anything down by doing what we're doing. The intent was to put it in the next budget, and whether it goes in the general funds or not Senator, it's going to be one of us that's going to be on that committee that basically figures out how to do it.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Reagan, Morse, Gannon, Innis, Bradley.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 12 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you for taking my question. Could you explain to the body and help us understand, because I have not heard it in the debate or anything I've seen presented. Clearly this is an issue, clearly this body wants to try and do something. But what part or what role is there or should there be or has there been, in the local communities that actually hire and support the local first responders. Are there systems or funds set up or is this a co-payment system or is this in absence of it or help the body understand what the state's responsibility is or what we're debating as relates to the communities that are actually hiring and supporting and paying for first responders?

SENATOR DANIELS: Okay, thank you for the question. Typically when a firefighter gets hired by a municipality they go through an examination. My understanding is the examination is being proposed in the legislation is a more comprehensive examination to make sure that they're free of the cancers that are listed. That examination runs about $900 per examination. Also during that time that they are firefighting they would be covered under the municipality insurance, but they can reach a point where someone has contracted a cancer and that cancer may have gotten so bad that they cannot perform their duties anymore. And so they may be released from service with that municipality. At that point in time they could pick up COBRA, but COBRA is only for a certain amount of time as well. Once that COBRA runs out is where the problem runs in and that's what we would be looking for in here is to see what would be available so that we'd be able to continue taking care of that firefighter.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you for your answer, I appreciate it. So is the question one of the policy consideration is to fund long term health insurance payments for firefighters who may have conducted cancer or is it to create a presumption that a firefighter got cancer while on the job and the job was responsible for it, of which there was worker comp payments would do both medical and indemnity for life? Or both?

SENATOR DANIELS: The presumption already exists in the statute now. That reference I can't think of, it was something seventeen. But there's two parts in there now, lung and heart disease and cancer. There's a prima facie presumption already that if you're firefighting you develop cancer that it was a result of the occupation. So I believe that needs to be looked at, I don't know how you conclusively tell, I think there's times that you can certainly come to a conclusion that there is, that the cancer exists because of the firefighting activities, and I don't think anyone disputes that the activity of firefighting exposes yourself to chemicals that could cause that. What you don't know for instance, and skin cancer is one of those things that is listed as a presumption if you end up with skin cancer and you're a firefighter, it was because you were exposed to the heat of fire, fighting fires. It doesn't seem to give any regard to the fact that if you were a teenager laying on the beach during the summertime fourteen hours a day, or if you're currently a construction worker working out in the sun all day long, that that may have contributed to it, so I think those are some of the hard questions we need to look at as we go about developing this whole policy.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Sir. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I listened with great interest to what our good colleague from District 11 had to say in answering the question from the Senator from District 9 and it kind of prompted my memory a little bit. And I just wanted to give some more information out to the body so they can hopefully help them make a decision. In the fall of 2013, the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health released a study looking at the mortality of cancer incidents in a pool cohort of U.S. firefighters from San Francisco, Chicago and Philadelphia, from 1950 to 2009. The findings of this study are consistent with other studies and strengthen the evidence of relations between firefighter's occupational exposure and cancer. Most important to note are cancers of the respiratory, digestive and urinary systems. The study concluded that even after passing the healthy worker test required of those protecting us, firefighters around the county are 9 percent more likely to be diagnosed with cancer and therefore, 14 percent more likely to die from cancer.

I'd just like to inform the body as well that over the past seven years five New Hampshire families have lost loved ones who served New Hampshire when the bell rang for automobile accidents, house fires, commercial fires and hazardous material incidents, and put them in harm's way. Mister President, I will vote for this because I think something is better than nothing but I am very concerned. This has been something this body has looked at for years and yes, hopefully, we'll have something to put forward in November, and then we're going to wait until June and I would sincerely hope that we don't lose another firefighter to cancer while this is going through a process. Thank you very much, Mister President.

Recess. Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I will vote for this amendment with full confidence that the President of the Senate as he has articulated will work to solve this problem. I trust him, I believe in him, I have every confidence that it will happen. And for that reason I'm going to support this amendment. The President is true to his word, always has been true to his word as it relates to me and any action I've had with him. So I express confidence in the President that we will solve this. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of this amendment and I can assure you that Mister President, there isn't a member in this body who isn't appreciative and admiring of respectful of and grateful for the service of the fire professionals who save our families, our homes, our property day after day around the state. Finance Committee worked very hard on this because there are some questions, legitimate questions whether or not how do we raise the money, is it equitable to the taxpayers of the state? That also must a consideration of this body and that's a consideration of the Finance Committee. We are charged with it. The Senate President has come up with an exceptionally good idea that establishes the premise, the fund, the structure and does the homework we need to make sure that the financial decision that we make that will go forward I would say in perpetuity. It is the right one for both the firefighters and the people of our state. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise to state that I will vote for this amended legislation, but in doing so, in doing so, I trust that as we continue to work on this, we also address what I believe is an unconstitutional issue. On page 2, line 12 where we set up a process to adjudicate a workers' comp claim, determine it's a legitimate claim, have the Labor Commissioner make that determination and then insert what is a political process into that. That is not constitutional, that as we work forward needs to be removed. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator Avard.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Morse, Gannon, Innis, Bradley.

The following Senators voted No: (None)

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 23 - Nays: 0. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

SENATOR BRADLEY: And while the President resumes his position up here I'm going to take personal privilege and introduce my wonderful Fiancée, Karen McNiff.

President Morse presiding.

MOTION TO REMOVE FROM THE TABLE

Senator Bradley moved to remove CACR 22 from the Table. Adopted.

JUDICIARY
CACR 22, relating to rights for crime victims. Providing that crime victims shall be afforded constitutional rights.

The pending motion is Ought to Pass with Amendment.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Are we speaking of amendment 1202?

PRESIDENT MORSE: We're speaking of amendment 1202 that says Hennessey, Feltes and Giuda so it was picked up as Hennessey. So are you offering Floor Amendment 1202?

SENATOR GIUDA: I am now, Sir.

Senator Giuda offered a Floor Amendment.

Floor Amendment to CACR 22

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph I with the following:

I. That the first part of the constitution be amended by inserting after article 14 the following new article:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an unnecessary interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request.

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph IV with the following:

IV. That the wording of the question put to the qualified voters shall be:

"Are you in favor of amending the first part of the constitution by inserting after article 14 a new article to read as follows:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an unnecessary interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. This amendment has come a long way, and it's been a difficult process. At the end of the day, what we're seeking to do by protecting victims' rights is in effect to protect their lives and safety in this exceptional circumstance. When the state, which is the sole provider and overseer of those rights, fails in the course of a judicial proceeding, a motion can be entered, a complaint can be filed, the judge will be, I'm sure, under the constitutional onus of this rights, willing and able to provide a remedy. But what happens when the system fails and the state as a sole arbiter of these rights, fails to notify a victim and that person is then offended again, relives, revisits, perhaps raped or killed? The existing amendment, which we choose to change with 1202, establishes that the only remedy is an apology from the state. When we leave exemptions in for those who are sole stewards of these rights, we invite a lower level of scrutiny and application of those rights when we put teeth into this law, this constitutional amendment. We say that we value the lives of women and children and men and all who are victimized. We value not only their right to due process, but we value their lives.

This amendment gives full credence to that value and gives the victim any person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who's directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act, in this case re-offense, rape, murder, whatever it might be, we give them the right to say the state failed and I or my loved one suffered a terrible consequence. That is the reason we have victims' rights. And I would submit to you that without this amendment, we perform chicanery that sounds good, but in fact really doesn't honor our obligation to the most fundamental of all rights for victims and that is to stay alive and free from harm. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in support of the amendment 1202s. Let me just explain what this does. In line 12 of the amendment it incorporates the word unnecessary which this body has already adopted. And then the second thing it does is it deletes the sentence, this section, this what the sentence says that's being deleted, this section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the state, any political subdivision of the state, any officer, employer agent of the state or any of its political subdivisions or any officer employee of the court. So ostensibly what we're debating here is the deletion of that sentence.

The Senator from District 14 is accurate that even with this sentence, nothing precludes the victims from going to court to seek restitution, to seek redress, to seek injunctive relief. Nothing precludes victims from potentially filing a class action lawsuit against the state for the failure to implement the provisions. However the specific language of this sentence that is suggested to be deleted says individuals who are aggrieved for the failure to fulfill these rights and these standards don't have access to compensation or damages. What this amendment does, it says victims whose rights are aggrieved can get compensation and damages in individual cases. That's what it says. So I think we all want to stand up for victims, to preclude victims in individual cases for not getting compensation or damages I think is not a reasonable way to go. So the deletion of that sentence makes sense. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Mister President. I rise to speak against amendment 1202s. Mister President, we've already had a pretty extensive discussion about the state being given indemnity and again it is something that is throughout our statutes, but I'd also, Mister President, like to remind everyone of something that I had said. We had testimony that claims that if this indemnification was not put in, that people would have the right to sue the state and if they could not afford an attorney, we would have to pay for it, which is a, could be a huge expense. There are remedies Mister President, there are. And I've already stated them. If someone believes that their rights were violated, they can stand up in front of the court and say my constitutional right, just for example, to be heard has been violated and the court has to address that. So are we now going to have victims suing prosecutors, because you didn't do what I wanted you to do? You did a plea bargain, I didn't support that. So now I get to sue you. And now again, more delay while this gets sorted out through the court. This is not the right way to go, Mister President. The language that was in the amendment that was passed by this body and passed by the committee has been fully vetted by the attorney general's office. Mister President, the only thing I can conclude is this is yet just another poison pill to destroy the possibility of our state's citizens voting on Marsy's Law. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. The only poison pill in the existing statute as we have amended it, without this amendment, is the poison pill that denies a victim who's killed or raped from any access to judicial action in their own defense. I would also submit that you can't stand in front of a judge if you're dead. You deny the family of those victims the right to do so. As I said, indemnity in courts, let's talk about that. This is the only place in the entire body of law in the state of New Hampshire where we're taking and indemnify those who have the sole right and responsibility of enforcing the statutes that protect victims from failing to do so. No other place. There are numerous places in statute, in statute, not in the constitution in which we afford such exemption, including the existing victims' rights statute. I would remind this body that the first duty of the attorney general of the state is not to victims, it's to the state. And that is why this is in here and I would expect them to put it in. I would also expect us as a body to remember that we're representing people and victims and our obligation is not to the state, our obligation is to justice, to those blind scales for the people we represent. And if we leave this clause in, we do them a grave disservice and we support the fact that we believe that the state has the ability to exempt itself from responsibility for its own failures when such failures cause the death of another citizen. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you for taking my question. Is it correct to say that one of the reasons we're passing this amendment is because we heard from people who said that despite the victims' bill of rights and even if it wasn't on a constitutional basis sometimes people in the system were not following that?

SENATOR FELTES: Correct.

SENATOR WATTERS: And another question if I may follow up. So here's a hypothetical; if someone is not notified that someone has been told say or has been released or otherwise and that person comes and attacks the victim, if we have this provision, that sentence is in there, that person would have no recourse?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for the question, Senator Watters. With this provision in there that person would have no recourse for compensation or individual damages against the state or the subdivisions. As the Senator from District 14 noted earlier, that person could still go and get individual injunctive relief by the court, whatever that may be at that point. And it doesn't prohibit class actions for injunctive relief either. But in terms of individual compensation and damages, it would prohibit that.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you for classifying that, thank you for taking the question. I guess I'm not going to ask you to speak for other state constitutions, but if we were to have such language within the constitution, would that not be a unique incidence in our constitution, to have such language?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Senator Watters. I think in terms of our constitution part 1 article 14, we've talked about access to justice and getting remedies. So I think to some extent this sentence which would limit victims' individual remedies, compensation and damages, I think would be something that's new in terms of our constitution. I can't speak to you know constitutions around the country.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thanks for taking my question. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. What we have in the passed amendment is the way the law works right now. It's been in our laws for hundreds of years; goes back to feudal days that the king is immune because there could be a million mistakes, they're in every single trial. You're going to open up every single one of them. Someone's going to find some little thing and you're going to have the most litigious society you've ever had. A lot of lawyers going to make a lot of money, but that's not what we're here for. It's just opening up a can of worms by putting this back in. Again, we do it in Transportation. The state is often immune and has limits to the damages that can be sued. So it's not a new concept, it exists all over the law. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. With all due respect, we're talking about the lives of citizens here. Heinous crimes committed because the state failed. This would be a first. I think it's a necessary first. If you truly support victims' rights, then you take that support pass paperwork in courts and injunctions and motions and pleas, and you take that support for victims' rights to the point that we actually believe their life if forfeited because of the failure of the state, deserves some recognition and their relatives deserve some compensation. Yes, it is a first. I think this makes victims' rights the best in the country, and I'm proud to be a co-sponsor of this amendment. I ask you to support it and do what's right for the victims. Not for the attorney general or the lawyers, okay? But for the victims. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Mister President. In regards to what my colleague from District 2 has just said, the state is not immune from heinous acts. In fact right now, we have a number of lawsuits that have been filed against DCYF for negligence, for things that they did not do that they were supposed to do. And children have been harmed. So by any means, if anybody, a heinous act was committed that person would have the right to sue, they would be able to do that beyond this. They just couldn't sue under this section. There are other sections that they could sue under and again that was explained to everyone this morning in the Republican caucus by Attorney Ward, okay?

Now the other thing that I wanted to talk about was that my good colleague from District 15 brought up about Article 14; legal remedies to be free, complete and prompt. Every subject of the state is entitled to a certain remedy, but it doesn't say what it is. It just says a certain remedy, leaving it up to the court to determine. By having recourse to the laws for all injuries he may have received in his person, property or character, to obtain right and justice freely without being obligated to purchase it. Completely and without denial, promptly and without delay, conformably to the laws. That already exists. And in as far as the indemnification, we are all indemnified, we cannot get sued by our constituents, because they don't like the way we voted on any one particular issue. Can you imagine what it would be like for any sitting representative to not have that protection? We'd be in court all day. Who here wants to give that up? Which one of you wants to say oh no, that's okay, you can go ahead and sue me whenever you want, if I don't do what you want. I don't want to give that up, I don't want to spend my time in court, and I don't think anybody else in here wants to spend their time in court as well. That is there for a particular purpose. And there is a remedy, you get to stand in front of the judge and argue that your constitutional rights were violated. Now if this passes, your honor, my constitutional rights were violated. Pay me. Really? Is that what it's come down to? I want you to pay me. The prosecutor, Mister President, didn't do what I wanted them to do. So now I'm filing suit against the prosecutor. Pay me. Is that what justice is about? I would argue no it isn't. Are mistakes going to be made, Mister President? Of course. Justice is not perfect as much as we would like it to be. It makes mistakes. But there is a remedy, maybe not under this section, but under other sections in the law. So if somebody feels that they have been aggrieved by this process, they can sue. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Bradley presiding.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you for your indulgence. That is what we call in political parlance a pivot. The DCYF suits are brought under statute, okay? That any exemption that might exist is in statute. But their brought into statutes that allow. Our statute currently doesn't allow for victims. The current statute does not. This amendment isn't a broad exemption, doesn't include political action or politicians or statesmen or people in elected office. It very specifically lays out the rights that are expected to afford to victims. There's no broad, you just killed an amendment that would have given broad jurisdiction. You've gotten specific, so now we are specific and our obligation must be to protect those specific rights as enumerated very clearly by the amendment and produced by the chairman of Judiciary. Let's protect those rights up to and including the point at which a victim is denied the basic fundamental right to life by an action caused by the failure of the state. There's no political risk here, we're not going to get sued. This is a very explicit statute, I'm sorry, amendment. It is a very explicit exclusion and it very clearly demonstrates our commitment to people that have suffered through horrific events and who with the worst possible incidents that occur from the states' failure have lost their lives or been re-assaulted or any number of horrific possibilities you can think of. This amendment truly brings victims' rights to where they need to be. If you're offended or you are killed, you and your family have a right to hold the state accountable. This is new ground. Victims' rights elevated in this state to a constitutional level is new ground. We have the opportunity to make it the best it can be to truly make sure that those victims' rights are carried through all the way, not just in a paper drill in the courtroom. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR AVARD: Senator in light of this amendment, in part 1, article 32 of breeches of grievances it says. Basically we're codifying, we're putting into our constitution, it's on page 182. We're putting into our constitution an immunity, right? Basically if we do not adopt this amendment. This article 32 says; "The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceably manner, to assemble and consult upon the common good, to give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by way of petition or remonstrance, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer." Does Marsy's Law affect this or could it affect this part of our constitution? Withholding the ability for people to redress and petition their representatives?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Senator Avard. I don't think that CACR 22 is going to inhibit the application of Part 1 Article 32. I do agree with the Senator from District 14 as a general matter, the state has, generally speaking, the statute RSA 541-B, relating to negligence, and where there could be individual damages claims and it could elevate into the constitution a specific prohibition of compensation and damages, potentially from negligence for failure to follow something. There may be an implication that in other provisions there is a cause of action for damages and compensations in the other provisions. I don't know how a court's going to review it. The safest thing is to keep the sentence out in my view. I understand and respect the opinion of others but the safest thing to do if you don't want to open up the floodgates, is to keep this out so that courts don't interpret other provisions that's potentially allowing compensation and damages types of claims. That's my view anyways.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you.

President Morse presiding.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you. I have not participated all that much in Marsy's Law. I think everybody knows I'm pretty busy, from the other things that we've been debating. I've never seen a debate, though on an issue as important as this going sideways as this is going. We all may think we're doing the right thing by voting for this amendment. This amendment to me, maybe I don't know well enough, is a poison pill. Unmitigated disaster, unmitigated exposure to the state for mistakes, human mistakes the prosecutors can make. If this amendment is adopted, somebody please tell me why I should vote Ought to Pass as Amended afterwards. I think we're better off tanking the whole thing if this amendment passes. So I urge the body to vote against this amendment. I can't do it in stronger terms. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Wasn't the question already called?

PRESIDENT MORSE: I didn't accept that call. I was going with the fact that I had no more, but if you want to stand up after this speaker and do that I'll accept it.

SENATOR GIUDA: Yes, this opens the state to liability for its failures. During the judicial process that liability consists of pleadings and emotions and remedies in a courtroom and discussions between people. But when the state ultimately fails and a life is forfeited, yes I believe, especially for victims who have already suffered heinous crimes against them that we have an obligation, not to the state's treasury, but to the lives and the welfare of people who have already suffered. And I think the responsible thing to do is to support this because in so doing, we support victims' rights and if we fail to do it, we foreclose on the most egregious of offenses against the victim because of the failure of the state. Thank you, Mister President.

Recess. Out of recess.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator French, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Hennessey, French, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Feltes, Innis.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Bradley, Watters, Gray, Ward, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 8 - Nays: 15. Failed.

Senator French offered a Floor Amendment.

Sen. French, Dist 7
March 22, 2018
06/01

Floor Amendment to CACR 22

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph I with the following:

I. That the first part of the constitution be amended by inserting after article 14 the following new article:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any natural person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an unnecessary interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request. This section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the State, any political subdivision of the State, any officer, employee, or agent of the State or of any of its political subdivisions, or any officer or employee of the court.

Amend the resolution by replacing paragraph IV with the following:

IV. That the wording of the question put to the qualified voters shall be:

"Are you in favor of amending the first part of the constitution by inserting after article 14 a new article to read as follows:

[Art.] 14-a [Protection for Victims.] A victim of crime includes any natural person against whom the criminal offense or delinquent act is committed or who is directly and proximately harmed by the commission of the offense or act. A victim shall have the right to be treated with fairness and respect for the victim's safety, dignity, and privacy, and upon request: to reasonable and timely notice of, and to be present at all court proceedings, including post-conviction proceedings, on the same basis as the accused; to proceedings free from unreasonable delay and a prompt conclusion of the case; to reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process; to refuse an unnecessary interview or deposition request made by the accused; to confer with the attorney for the State about the disposition of the case; to be heard at any proceedings involving the release, plea, sentencing, or parole of the accused; to reasonable notice of the release or escape of the accused; to full and timely restitution; and to be informed of all rights under this article. The term "victim" does not include the accused or a person whom the court finds would not act in the best interests of a deceased, incompetent, minor, or incapacitated victim. The victim, the victim's attorney or other lawful representative, or the attorney for the government upon request of the victim may assert in any trial or appellate court, or before any other authority, with jurisdiction over the case, and have enforced, the rights enumerated in this section and any other right afforded to the victim by law. The court or other authority with jurisdiction shall act promptly on such a request. This section does not create any cause of action for compensation or damages against the State, any political subdivision of the State, any officer, employee, or agent of the State or of any of its political subdivisions, or any officer or employee of the court."

SENATOR FRENCH: This is a very simple issue. I sat there and I heard the families of murder victims looking for relief, I heard people who were raped that were victims and wanted to be heard. We want to protect the most vulnerable citizens. But my question to you is do we also want to protect 21,000 businesses within the state, and call them victims in crimes? So I can understand for murder, I can understand for rape, but I can't understand why we would define a person as a business so I added "natural" in front of person so it's actually a person and not a business. I ask you to go with me on it. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: You know how this is going. Thank you, Mister President. So my good friend from District number 7 doesn't think that the business community ever gets victimized. So when someone comes in and burns down some small little restaurant or steals a bunch of cars and goes and hits someone with it, or breaks in and terrorizes people within the organization or if you're a condo association and something bad happens the condo members don't have a right to find out about what's going on in the proceedings. Sure today we, you know we, I don't think we want to have today a conversation on Citizen's United and our corporations people too, so I'm trying desperately Mister President, to stay away from that debate. But I think it's incredibly important if we respect the 146,000 individual entities in this state, with 76,000 individual owners, that bad things happen on commercial property, bad things happen to companies. If someone comes in to a business and assaults somebody or worse, don't you believe that that organization has the right to find out when the court date is? So I'd ask the body to reject my good friend's amendment and recognize the fact that victims come in all shapes and sizes and they should all be treated equally. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to speak against amendment number 1204s, and our colleague from District 9 is exactly correct. Business owners are victims of crime as well. He owns a restaurant down the street with big glass windows. So, decide someone wants to break those windows and rob his establishment, are you telling me that he is not a victim? Mister President, you own a business, you own a nursery. What happens if somebody comes, oh well two nurseries, and they destroy a good part of your nursery. Are you not a victim as well? Currently businesses do have standing and they do have rights. To remove them, Mister President, I at this point I'm a little speechless. Believe it or not at the end of the day, thank you, well, hey it happens, what can I say, usually I'm quiet, but, our businesses deserve the same protections because they are and can be victims and that their status should be protected as well. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you. These rights do not get extinguished, these rights are still set forth in statute. All I'm saying is do we really have to give them the same level within our constitution as people, actual people, not Wal-Mart, not the NRA and not Planned Parenthood? As people, that's all I'm saying. Give it some thought.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Mister President, once again I will repeat something, testimony that was given to the committee, by Thomas Velardi, the Strafford County Attorney who states the statute regarding victims' rights evaporates in competition against the constitutional rights of the defendant. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator French.

The following Senators voted Yes: Hennessey, French.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Gray, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 2 - Nays: 21. Failed.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I know the hour is late, the dog is hungry and your concern of the other bodily functions to get home in time so I'll do my best to be brief. From this debate I've heard today, it's clear that we all believe there's a problem. We all believe there are victims from crimes who feel they are not being represented at any sort of an equal level. But my question is how do we solve that? And this is what I've been struggling with all day and I came in today truly in an unknown position. One of the rare times for me, that I was not pre-disposed one way or the other because I really didn't understand where the debate was going. And I wanted to hear what you said.

There has been precious little time talked about the fact that we actually have statutes, statutes, we have laws that are supposed to be protecting victims in crimes. But I've heard precious little reason why we're not beefing up the statutes or enforcing the statutes or penalizing anyone for not following the statutes. Instead we're having debate about changing the most precious document our state has and frankly it makes me nervous. Because for ten years I have walked these halls and for eight years as a State Senator, we are still fighting over the words adequate and cherish. Just two words, and that battle rages still today. And yet we use the legislative process to dance around it like a hot summer night.

Now for the record, my family is a victim that would be recognized under Marsy's Law. Someone got out of prison after serving nine years in August, in October committed a crime in my family. Got arrested in February. That was the last we heard. Never heard of the arraignment, never heard of the charges, never heard a court date, never heard there was a plea deal, never showed up at court. Never heard they got put up in Concord prison, never heard there was a parole hearing after eighteen months and let out onto the streets of Concord. It's amazing how many of us have had a bad experience with our judicial system. I'm not here to try and fault them, for my family it was complete failure. Not a single communication throughout an entire process. At all. Clearly I believe something's wrong. But I'm challenged today that I'm not sure this fixes it.

I'm not sure and I guess I have yet to hear this compelling definitive position I was hoping to hear today that this will solve our problem. What I hear is 8,700 amendments, people fighting on both sides, still squibbling over words, without resolution. I hear fights relative to whether or not a constitutional amendment should be a conceptual statement which would leave the legislature bound to crafting specific statutes to fix, or if we look at the constitution as a place to provide absolutely no wiggle room and solve all of the potential outcomes and embed that into our constitution. So I remain as confused now as I was at, what time did we start Mister President, 10:00 a.m. This is not to be disrespectful to all of you and your debating and all of your amendments, because I know everyone is very passionate about their side on this. But for me Mister President, at this point I want to vote on something, let me be very clear. In my eyes and my family's eyes, the system is broken. I know my family is not the only family that feels that they have been disrespected, left out in the cold and completely ignored by the system. But the truth is I don't think this product is ready for prime time I don't think, but I don't want to see it die either. So I guess my message to the body is, I know you've all worked real hard and I compliment you all for it, but as a Senator who sits here I am still struggling with what our path is and whether or not this is the right path. Thank you for allowing me to give my statement Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Mister President. I've listened very carefully to the testimony we had in committee and the arguments that have been put forward today and unfortunately, there seems to be a disconnect someplace. And to the Senator from District 9, you're right. What your family has gone through is very sad. But if we had Marsy's Law in our constitution, your family would have been able to go to that court and say my constitutional rights have been violated. I demand the right to be heard. I demand the right to be noticed. Statutes really don't carry that same weight. And again, I repeated over and over and over and over today that statute regarding victims' rights evaporate in competition against the constitutional rights of the defendant. You have statutes and the constitutional rights. Those take precedence. So any statute we might have, sure the court can look at it, but the court has to honor those constitutional rights before they honor the statutes. This elevates victims. Are they going to be completely equal? I would argue, close to it. But we weigh so heavily in on the rights of the accused, because here we are actually talking about in a criminal case, depriving somebody of their liberty. They face the possibility of going to prison and years of well over 200 years ago, this country decided that that was important. The other thing to remember at the time the constitution was put together, victims brought suit against people who hurt them. The state was not involved. And in the process of evolving the role of the state, the victims have been left behind.

This bill as amended, this CACR, tries to balance that out and I think it's done a very good job. And I would like to applaud the attorney general's office for crafting something that's for New Hampshire. Looking at our existing statutes, and embodying them into a constitutional amendment that will protect every victim in the state of New Hampshire. Mister President, we, you're right we've had a long discussion and I'm sure a lot of people are tired, you've got to go home and feed the dog, some of have got to go home and, pardon? Alright, well that's good. Some of us have to go home and feed our families as well, although I suspect tonight might be a takeout kind of night. But I think we have had a good and robust discussion on this issue. And please join me in supporting CACR 22 as amended so we can begin the process of recognizing the fact that our citizens who through no fault of their own become victims, will have constitutional protections. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition. That's probably not a surprise. We pass this legislation as it is, we as a body are telling every victim in the state, hey we're with you 100 percent as long as it's in a courtroom. But when the state is charged constitutionally to protect your rights, fails and you die, I can see neither you nor your family has any recourse because we think it's more important to protect the state, than it is to protect the victims that we say we're helping here today. That's the big lie. It feels good, it sounds good but when the chips are down and it's your son or daughter or husband or wife laying dead on your kitchen floor, and you seek redress, it's not there. It's a constitutional requirement that we not be able to have the victims that suffer and are killed because we fail, have no recourse. That is something I cannot support in conscience, and I certainly hope you won't support with your vote. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in support of this amendment and there's been a ton of debates, discussion, a lot of it very challenging, a lot of it very emotional. But I rise in support of the amendment because since I've been in the Senate, worked on a number of pieces of legislation. A lot of them dealing with victims' rights, and they've always been bipartisan issues, we've worked on them together, we recognize that we can always do more and always do better. And I heard today a statement that I often think about in many of the things that I do which is, we can't let the perfect be the enemy of the good. And today we've certainly had a lot of issues raised. The fact is we're taking an important first step. The fact is the twenty-four of us are not going to make this decision. This decision is too profound for the twenty-four of us or the 424 of us. The fact of the matter is this decision should be made by the people of the state of New Hampshire when they go to the ballot box. When they cast their votes, when they decide who their leaders should be, they should also make the decision and they should do it by a significant majority as our constitution requires, to afford rights to victims that are on par with those of defendants. I do not believe for a second that we in any way diminish any existing constitutional rights. We merely are trying to elevate rights to put them on par for victims. And with that I would ask my colleagues please, please listen to everything you've heard today, but please recognize that the people outside of these walls are the ones who are going to make this decision, who should make this decision, but the only way they can, is with us moving this question to them. With that, I thank you Mister President and ask for your support.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, we've heard something earlier about making this New Hampshire. And I appreciate all the work that has gone into this because, you know what? It shouldn't be drafted by a billionaire from California, it should be drafted by people here in New Hampshire. And you know what? I think it went a long ways to making it New Hampshire. This is on the right track. I agree with a number of the Floor Amendments. I do think there's still redress in many situations. It is much more New Hampshire than it started out to be. Substantial changes were made, including getting rid of no less vigorously enforcing these rights, including putting the opt-in language, including more closely aligning with the statutory rights, including what we adopted today, on a 14-9 vote, clearly setting out what is existing law with respect to depositions. So Mister President, it isn't perfect, but the people in this chamber went a long ways to make it New Hampshire, and I appreciate that. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Feltes.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Kahn, Daniels, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Sanborn, Avard.

The following Senators were excused: Cavanaugh.

Roll Call, Yeas: 20 - Nays: 3. Adopted by necessary 3/5 vote. Resolution ordered to Third Reading.

Amendment to SB 318

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT amending the prohibitions on youth employment and relative to documentation requirements for the department of labor.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Legislative Findings and Purpose. The general court finds that:

I. There is a significant and ongoing need in this state to encourage businesses to grow and hire here, particularly small businesses which are the backbone of New Hampshire's economy.

II. Our current laws relating to employment tend to discourage employers from hiring with heavy handed enforcement of excessive and unnecessary laws and with costly, time consuming audits and fines.

III. The overall purpose of the legislation is to significantly reduce the excessive and unnecessary documentation and regulatory (red tape) burdens, both in laws and in rules, that are inhibiting employers from hiring and growing, and preventing people from working.

IV. It is time to change the culture of state government from one of enforcement, fees, fines, assessments, and delays, to one that encourages responsible business activity and hiring with a "how can I help you succeed?" customer service approach instead. This legislation is necessary to move us in the right direction and reset the tone and actions of government.

V. Making our state significantly more attractive and friendly to employers with passage of this Red Tape Reduction Act will enable our economy to flourish.

VI. The goals of this Red Tape Reduction Act shall include the following:

(a) Written documentation is not required to meet the intent of the law and paperwork discrepancies will not be fined.

(b) Reduce limitations and allow flexibility on working hours for individuals 16 and 17 years of age (if parents approve, then any hours are okay).

(c) Allow employees to buy company clothing.

(d) No need for employee signing/documenting when leaving before 2 hour minimum on their own, when correcting hours to be paid due to their clock-in errors, when receiving pay increases, etc. (verbal is okay).

(e) No random or targeted industry/employer audits (burden of proof on department of labor to show need for audit/investigation due to a pattern of documented complaints or known problems for that specific location of multi-site business).

(f) Expand flexibility with unpaid internships for people of all ages if both parties agree with express understanding that there is no workers' compensation, unemployment, or other benefits provided.

(g) Reduce record keeping requirement from 4 to 3 years.

(h) No fines for not posting laws in "conspicuous" place.

2 Labor Commissioner; Inspections. RSA 273:9 is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

273:9 Inspections. The commissioner may visit a specific location of a manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment in the state at a reasonable time for the purpose of ascertaining whether the laws with reference to employment are complied with after a pattern of documented complaints to the department or known problems for that specific location of the business has been identified within the prior 12 months.

3 Protective Legislation; Definition of Terms. Amend the introductory paragraph in RSA 275:4, II to read as follows:

II. In this subdivision, "employee" means and includes every person who may be permitted, required, or directed by any employer, in consideration of direct or indirect gain or profit, to engage in any employment, but shall not include any person exempted from the definition of employee as stated in RSA 281-A:2, VI(b)(2), (3), or (4), or RSA 281-A:2, VII(b), or a person providing services as part of a residential placement for individuals with developmental, acquired, or emotional disabilities, or a person who volunteers to work for an employer for a learning or charitable opportunity and who explicitly agrees in writing to the absence of wages and benefits for a specified period of time not to exceed 6 months, or any person who meets all of the following criteria:

4 Protective Legislation; Day of Rest. Amend RSA 275:33 to read as follows:

275:33 Day of Rest. No employer shall operate any such business on Sunday unless he or she has [~~posted in a conspicuous place on the premises~~] made available to employees a schedule containing a list of employees who are required or allowed to work on Sunday and designating the day of rest for each[~~, and shall promptly file a copy of such schedule and every change therein with the labor commissioner~~]. No employee shall be required [~~or allowed~~] to work on the day of rest designated for him or her. [~~Whoever violates this section shall be fined $50.~~]

5 Required Pay. Amend RSA 275:43-a to read as follows:

275:43-a Required Pay.

I. On any day an employee reports to work at an employer's request, he or she shall be paid not less than 2 hours' pay at his or her regular rate of pay[~~; provided, however, that~~]. If the employee chooses to leave work after reporting, the employer may, without penalty, elect not to pay the employee.

II. This section shall not apply to employees of counties or municipalities or ski and snowboard instructional employees at ski resorts, provided that these employees receive other compensation that is at least equal to their rate of pay, and provided further that no employer who makes a good faith effort to notify an employee not to report to work shall be liable to pay wages under this section. However, if the employee reports to work after the employer's attempt to notify him or her has been unsuccessful or if the employer is prevented from making notification for any reason, the employee shall perform whatever duties are assigned by the employer at the time the employee reports to work.

6 Protective Legislation; Payment of Wages. Amend RSA 275:48, V(b) to read as follows:

(b) "Uniform" means a garment with a company logo or fashion of distinctive design, worn by one or more employees, and serving as a means of identification or distinction. No employer shall require an employee to wear a uniform unless the employer provides each employee with a uniform at no cost to the employee. An employee may purchase any other company garments or items if the employee chooses.

7 Protective Legislation; Notification, Posting and Records. Amend RSA 275:49, I-II to read as follows:

I. Verbally or in writing notify the employees, at the time of hiring of the rate of pay, and of the day and place of payment;

II. Verbally or in writing notify his or her employees of any changes in the arrangements specified above prior to the time of such changes;

8 Protective Legislation;Notification, Posting, and Records. Amend RSA 275:49, VI-VII to read as follows:

VI. Make such records of the persons employed by him or her, including wage and hour records, preserve such records for [~~such periods of time~~] 3 years, and make such reports therefrom to the commissioner, as [~~the commissioner shall prescribe by regulation as necessary or appropriate~~] are required in statute for the enforcement of the provisions of this subdivision; and

VII. [~~Keep posted in a place accessible to his or her~~] Make available to employees the following information: "It is illegal in New Hampshire under both state and federal law to pay employees different wages for the same work based solely on sex. If you think that your employer has violated this provision, please contact the New Hampshire Department of Labor." This notice shall also include the address, phone number, and email address of department personnel to be contacted with complaints under this subdivision, as well as an Internet link to RSA 275:37.

9 Youth Employment Law; Prohibitions. RSA 276-A:4 is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

276-A:4 Prohibitions.

I. No youth shall be employed or permitted to work in any hazardous occupation, except in an apprenticeship, vocational rehabilitation, or training program approved by the commissioner.

II. No youth under 16 years of age shall be employed or permitted to work without a certificate except:

(a) For his or her parents, grandparents, or guardian;

(b) At work defined in this chapter as casual;

(c) As farm labor; or

(d) With the permission of a parent or legal guardian.

III. No youth under 16 years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in a dangerous area in manufacturing, construction, and mining and quarrying occupations, or in woods and logging.

IV. No youth under 12 years of age may be employed or permitted to work except for his parents, grandparents, or guardian, or at work defined in this chapter as casual, or in the door-to-door delivery of newspapers.

10 Youth Employment Law; Enforcement. Amend RSA 276-A:6 to read as follows:

276-A:6 Enforcement. The commissioner shall have the responsibility for enforcing the provisions of this chapter. [~~Investigators and truant officers shall visit and inspect all places of employment and cause the provisions of this chapter to be enforced as directed by the commissioner. For this purpose they shall have the power to serve warrants.~~]

11 Youth Employment Law; Certain Labor. Amend RSA 276-A:11 to read as follows:

276-A:11 Certain Labor. In addition to the prohibitions listed in RSA 276-A:4, [~~III, IV, V, VI, and VII~~] no youth shall be employed or permitted to work at manual or mechanical labor in any manufacturing establishment more than 10 hours in any one day, or more than 48 hours in any one week. No youth shall be employed or be permitted to work at manual or mechanical labor in any other employment, except household labor and nursing, domestic, hotel and cabin including dining and restaurant service operated in connection with such service, and boarding house labor, operating in telegraph and telephone offices and farm labor, or canning of perishable vegetables and fruit, or as a laboratory technician, more than 10- 1/4 hours in any one day, or more than 54 hours in any one week.

12 Youth Employment Law; Additional Prohibitions. Amend RSA 276-A:21 to read as follows:

276-A:21 Additional Prohibitions. The prohibitions under this subdivision shall be in addition to those prohibitions listed in RSA 276-A:4[~~, III, IV, V and VI~~].

13 Youth Training and Employment in Firefighting; Limitations on Youth Training and Employment. Amend RSA 276-A:23, V to read as follows:

V. Fire organizations shall follow the requirements of [~~RSA 276-A:4, VIII and~~] RSA 276-A:24 and rules adopted by the commissioner when employing or permitting 16 or 17 year old youths to work in support of firefighting.

14 Employer's Records; Records of Hours and Wages. Amend RSA 279:27 to read as follows:

279:27 Records of Hours and Wages. Every employer of employees shall keep a true and accurate record of the hours worked by each, wages paid to each, and classification of employment when necessary, and shall furnish to the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized representative upon demand a sworn statement of the same. Employers shall retain employee records for 3 years and such records [~~shall~~] may be open to inspection by the commissioner or the authorized representative at any reasonable time, provided that a pattern of documented complaints to the department of labor for the employees of a specific location of the business has been identified within the prior 12 months. [~~Every employer subject to a statutory minimum wage shall keep a copy of such statutory minimum wage posted in a conspicuous place in every establishment in which employees are employed. Employers shall be furnished copies of posters on request without charge.~~]

15 Repeal. The following are repealed:

I. RSA 276-A:5, relative to youth employment certificates.

II. RSA 276-A:13, relative to youth night work.

III. RSA 276-A:14, relative to a special agreement for youth night work.

IV. RSA 276-A:20, relative to posting of notice of meal breaks permitted to youth employees and maximum allowed hours for youth employment.

V. RSA 276-A:22, relative to evidence of violations of youth employment in certain jobs.

16 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill repeals certain provisions of the youth employment law governing the employment of youths 16 and 17 years of age. This bill also modifies notification requirements regarding work schedules and payment of wages, and deletes the requirement that investigators visit places of employment.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass with Amendment on Senate Bill 318. This bill repeals certain provisions of the youth employment laws governing workers that are sixteen and seventeen years old, including a restriction on the amount of hours worked. The committee amendment makes several changes known as the Red Tape Reduction Act, removes the requirement for a business to post in a conspicuous place Sunday's schedule. It will be required to be made available to employees. An employee may buy additional work garments other than the work uniforms without the employer being fined and employers may discard an employee's record after three years. This is a very busy, a business friendly bill so please join the Commerce Committee in voting Senate Bill 318 Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. I actually ask the body to overturn the committee amendment so that Senator French can introduce a Floor Amendment.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Failed.

Senator Bradley offered a Floor Amendment.

Floor Amendment to SB 318

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to posting and notification requirements for employers, establishing criteria for workplace inspections, and amending certain provisions of the youth employment law.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Labor Commissioner; Inspections. RSA 273:9 is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

273:9 Inspections. The commissioner may, subject to the provisions of this paragraph, without notice, visit, at a reasonable time, a manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment in the state for the purpose of ascertaining compliance with the laws adopted under this title. The commissioner shall only visit such a specific location upon receipt of a complaint, with knowledge of other information that causes the commissioner to have an articulable suspicion that the violation identified in the complaint or other information will be substantiated by the visit to the location, or upon request of the employer to visit other specific locations.

2 New Section; Labor Commissioner; Proportionality of Inspections. Amend RSA 273 by inserting after section 9 the following new section:

273:9-a Proportionality of Inspections. All inspections performed by the commissioner shall be proportional to the seriousness of the violation which the commissioner has an articulable suspicion to believe exists. "Proportional" in this section shall be determined with reference to the importance of the issues at stake in the inspection, the degree to which the alleged violation involves risk of physical injury, the potential for lost wages, the amount in controversy, the parties' relative access to relevant information, and the parties' resources.

3 Protective Legislation; Day of Rest. Amend RSA 275:33 to read as follows:

275:33 Day of Rest. No employer shall operate any such business on Sunday unless he or she has posted [~~in a conspicuous place on the premises~~] and made available to employees a schedule containing a list of employees who are required or allowed to work on Sunday and designating the day of rest for each[~~, and shall promptly file a copy of such schedule and every change therein with the labor commissioner~~]. No employee shall be required [~~or allowed~~] to work on the day of rest designated for him or her. [~~Whoever violates this section shall be fined $50.~~]

4 Protective Legislation; Payment of Wages. Amend RSA 275:48, V(b) to read as follows:

(b) "Uniform" means a garment with a company logo or fashion of distinctive design, worn by one or more employees, and serving as a means of identification or distinction. No employer shall require an employee to wear a uniform unless the employer provides each employee with a uniform reasonably suited for the conditions in which the employee would be required to wear one, at no cost to the employee. An employee may purchase any other company garments or items if the employee chooses.

5 Protective Legislation; Notification, Posting and Records. Amend RSA 275:49, II to read as follows:

II. Notify his or her employees of any changes in the arrangements specified above prior to the time of such changes, provided however that there shall be no penalty for failure to provide notification to an employee concerning changes to the minimum hourly rate pursuant to RSA 279:21;

6 Protective Legislation; Notification, Posting, and Records. Amend RSA 275:49, VI-VII to read as follows:

VI. Make such records of the persons employed by him or her, including wage and hour records, preserve such records for [~~such periods of time~~] 3 years, and make such reports therefrom to the commissioner, as [~~the commissioner shall prescribe by regulation as necessary or appropriate~~] are required in statute for the enforcement of the provisions of this subdivision; and

VII. [~~Keep posted in a place accessible to his or her~~] Post and make available to his or her employees the following: "It is illegal in New Hampshire under both state and federal law to pay employees different wages for the same work based solely on sex. If you think that your employer has violated this provision, please contact the New Hampshire Department of Labor." This notice shall also include the address, phone number, and email address of department personnel to be contacted with complaints under this subdivision, as well as an Internet link to RSA 275:37.

7 Youth Employment Law; Prohibitions. Amend RSA 276-A:4, VI-VIII to read as follows:

VI. (a) In any employer's predetermined designated work week during which school is in session for 5 days, no youth 16 or 17 years of age who is duly enrolled in school shall [~~be permitted to~~] work more than 6 consecutive days or more than 30 hours during [~~the school calendar week, which shall be Sunday through Saturday~~] that work week.

(b) In any employer's predetermined designated work week during which school is in session for 4 days, no youth 16 or 17 years of age who is duly enrolled in school shall work more than 6 consecutive days or more than 40 ¼ hours in that work week.

(c) In any employer's predetermined designated work week during which school is in session for more than one but less than 4 days, no youth 16 or 17 years of age who is duly enrolled in school shall work more than 6 consecutive days or more than 48 hours in that work week.

VII. No youth 16 or 17 years of age who is duly enrolled in school shall work for more than 6 consecutive days or [~~48~~] 56 hours in any one week during school vacations, including summer vacation. For purposes of this paragraph, "summer vacation" means June 1 through Labor Day. This prohibition shall not apply to youths 16 or 17 years of age who reside and work at a summer camp for minors.

VIII. No youth 16 or 17 years of age[~~, except a youth 16 or 17 years of age who has graduated from high school or obtained a general equivalency diploma,~~] shall be employed by an employer unless the employer obtains and maintains on file a signed written document from the youth's parent or legal guardian permitting the youth's employment. A youth who is 16 or 17 years of age who has graduated from high school or obtained a high school equivalency credential shall not require permission of a parent or legal guardian.

8 Youth Employment Law; Enforcement. Amend RSA 276-A:6 to read as follows:

276-A:6 Enforcement. The commissioner shall have the responsibility for enforcing the provisions of this chapter. [~~Investigators and truant~~

~~officers shall visit and inspect all places of employment and cause the provisions of this chapter to be enforced as directed by the commissioner. For this purpose they shall have the power to serve warrants.~~]

9 Youth Employment Law; Hours of Labor. Amend RSA 276-A:11 to read as follows:

276-A:11 Certain Labor. In addition to the prohibitions listed in RSA 276-A:4, III, IV, V, VI, and VII no youth shall be employed or permitted to work at manual or mechanical labor in any manufacturing establishment more than 10 hours in any one day, or more than 48 hours in any one week. No youth shall be employed or be permitted to work at manual or mechanical labor in any other employment, except household labor and nursing, domestic, hotel and cabin including dining and restaurant service operated in connection with such service, and boarding house labor, operating in telegraph and telephone offices and farm labor, or canning of perishable vegetables and fruit, or as a laboratory technician, more than 10-1/4 hours in any one day, or more than [~~54~~] 56 hours in any one week.

10 Youth Employment Law; Notice of Hours. Amend RSA 276-A:20 to read as follows:

276-A:20 Notice of Hours. Every employer shall post [~~in a conspicuous place in every room where youths are employed a printed~~] and make available to all employed youths a notice stating the hours of work, the time allowed for dinner or other meals, and the maximum number of hours any youth is permitted to work in any one day.

11 Employer's Records; Records of Hours and Wages. Amend RSA 279:27 to read as follows:

279:27 Records of Hours and Wages. Every employer of employees shall keep a true and accurate record of the hours worked by each, wages paid to each, and classification of employment when necessary, and shall furnish to the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized representative upon demand a sworn statement of the same. Employers shall retain such records of hours and wages for 3 years and such records shall be open to inspection by the commissioner or the authorized representative at any reasonable time, subject to the provisions of RSA 273:9. Every employer subject to a statutory minimum wage shall [~~keep~~] post and make available to his or her employees a copy of such statutory minimum wage [~~posted in a conspicuous place in every establishment in which employees are employed~~]. Employers shall be furnished copies of posters on request without charge.

12 Repeal. RSA 276-A:22, relative to evidence of violations of youth employment in certain jobs, is repealed.

13 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes criteria under which the commissioner of the department of labor may conduct a workplace inspection; amends certain notification and posting requirements; amends certain provisions of the youth employment law; and amends the requirements for employer retention of hour and wage records.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. I'm going to speak to sections 1 and 2 of the bill and I'm going to let others speak to the remaining portions of the bill. And let me just say this, a lot of work went into this amendment over the last few days. Our attorney Rick Lehmann was very involved with the Commissioner of Labor and the Deputy Commissioner of Labor. I think it represents a reasonable compromise on how we can proceed with this bill. The first section talks about when the Labor Commissioner can do inspections. And so what's very important in this amendment is the commissioner can only visit a specific location upon the receipt of a complaint with knowledge of other information that causes the commissioner to have an articulable suspicion that a violation has occurred. Translated; no inspections on fishing expeditions.

The second section; when there is an inspection and they found a violation, the penalties need to be in proportion to the scope of the violation. And not a lot of us that are here from 2011 when we passed the statute that created a warning. But there were a number of incidences that had happened in virtually all of our districts when the Department of Labor went in and inspected, came up with any number of violations, kind of threw the book at people and then settled for something that was much less. What this does is say that there has to be an articulable suspension again that would cause the inspection and then any penalties have to be proportional to the scope of the violation. I think this is a very fair and balanced way that both continues to protect what the Labor Department does, which is the health and safety of our workplaces and our workforce but at the same time does not lead to over exuberance of inspections and fining and some of the things that went along with that. So I'm going to stop there and let others talk about the balance of the amendment.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I'll pick up after where Senator from District 3 just left off. So globally there are two issue that we're trying to solve in this amendment. We have one issue where in discussions with the assistant commissioner of the staff and the business community, there's clearly been some friction and acknowledgement from the commissioner and assistant commissioner that there may have been a little bit of over exuberance and lack of clarity in how the Department of Labor was applying some of its rules and laws.

The second part of the bill looks to better define of what truly has been confusion between the department, business and families about how those under eighteen work. What this legislation does is specifically look at sixteen and seventeen year olds, so it does nothing, does not change a single word in the statutes of fifteen or under. So we're focusing on labor just sixteen and seventeen year olds. So what the legislation does is to say that with parental permission, because we all know it's important for parents to be involved in this discussion, that with parental permission, sixteen and seventeen year olds can work a certain length of time during the school year, we modify it a little bit on days where the school is not meeting five days a week, to provide a little more flexibility and we provide clarity that when the school is out and it's truly a vacation time. And in doing so we've changed some parts of the statutes just to make it consistent where previously it wasn't.

The other part of the legislation again has to do with this confusion and concern from the business community relative to what they can and can't do and where there are or are not places where the agency may have been using this statutes in a more punitive manner. For example; during some examinations the statute specifically says that all postings must be conspicuously displayed and we know that some people and some agencies have made their self-determination of what conspicuous means, and penalized against that. Additionally we have seen where there's a requirement for early clock in or clock out without definition of hours, or whether or not a company is keeping records where traditionally the statute said you have to keep records but left it to the discretion of the agency to determine whether or not you were keeping records for a long enough period of time or not, and again penalizing for that. So we've put down in statute that specifically there shall be three years' worth of records.

In addition to that we happened to see that there is a requirement that if you change someone's pay, pay raise or pay cut, the employee has to sign off, but when there are changes to the federal or state minimum wage, which can affect every single employee at once, that three day notice could again be a notice of violation so we provided for an exemption that if the state or the Federal Government does it.

So in the end Mister President, because at this point I'm not even sure we have a quorum left in the room, so I'm talking to myself, what was a twenty-seven item piece of legislation, we've whittled down to eight or nine places where there is agreement on every single side, that the commissioner, the assistant commissioner and members of the Senate and the business community all agree that everyone got a little, everyone gave up a little. But we think it's a step in the right direction. So I'm happy to answer any questions and I commit this amendment 1198, to the body for its approval. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for taking my question. On page 2, lines 4 through 7 in this amendment adding; "no employer shall require an employee to wear a uniform unless the employer provides such employee with the uniform, reasonably suited to the conditions in which the employee would be required to wear one, at no cost to the employee." Does that now apply to the Department of Transportation plow drivers who don't have up to date boots?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. I cannot answer whether or not state employees are bound by the Department of Labor and if the Department of Labor is an examiner and overseer of the state of New Hampshire employees. That I can't answer but what I can answer on this is clearly there has been some question, and the statute has been very clear, the employer is responsible to provide employees with a uniform, but was never really clear to what extent. Do you need to give them a long-sleeved t-shirt in the summertime and then do you have to buy them a, I'm sorry the wintertime, buy them a short-sleeved t-shirt in the summertime? So we actually just included the reasonably suited, to try and embrace and encapsulate that we do recognize that if a business, business, I'm not sure if government is a business, if a business has a uniform and it requires its employees to wear it, that employees have to be provided free but at the same token, the other operative word we put out which was not there before was some employees like to buy extra because they want it in a different color, they want a hoodie, when it's not needed for work and we're giving them that ability to buy that extra uniform or pieces of it if they'd like.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Senator. Section 6 changes how long the records, wage records are kept which were in rule but now you're limiting it to only three years. What happens if there's a wage and hour claim that involves wages and documentation of wages that stretch back further than three years?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. This actually shows up in two different parts of the statute and you'll see within this amendment, shows up in two different places. Traditionally it only said that a business owner had to keep records for such period of time. It actually didn't say anything you could have thrown them out in a week, but it left the discretion and the determination to the department to determine what that length of time was. So what we're trying to do is use commercially reasonable standards and the same types of standards we see throughout all the other statutes relative to business records and record keeping and find something that is reasonable and rational. So we went from no definition to three years.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Senator. Page 3 line 4 changing the hourly cap on youth employment for sixteen and seventeen year olds, per week, in any one week from forty-eight hours up eight hours to fifty-six hours. So if this passes, sixteen year olds could be in a situation where they're working up to fifty-six hours a week, in some situations?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. I appreciate that. What we tried to do in the statute was the hour numbers were different throughout the statute, so we tried to find consistency, you'll see so where it was forty-eight going to fifty-six and in full acknowledgement, it was fifty-four. So at the request of Senator Innis to try and find eight hours a day, seven days a week as the outside, we had to come up with some reasonable number that we could actually justify the math. Now remember this fifty-six hours is only during the summer, summer vacation. So not during any school hours so we had to take in consideration that what about those weeks when a sixteen or seventeen year old is working at the fair or working at a golf course or something seasonal to try and provide some guardrails without making it excessive. Because for the record, I would have eliminated any hour requirements and let parents decide how much their kids work, so this was kind of a compromise number for all of us.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the Floor Amendment. When this committee, Commerce Committee, considered the legislation, the legislation came in as changes to the youth employment law and I had some concerns with the policy at that time had asked some questions of the Department of Labor. And lo and behold the committee adopted an amendment, I was not present at the time, that made a whole host of changes to our labor laws, and interestingly enough those proposed changes had been defeated in the other body, had been heard in ED&A and we had also defeated them and yet they continue to come back. And I do have a concern because they're issues that have truly not had, when they had a public hearing people have been opposed to them, they're not changes that people are in support of.

In particular I would note with respect to inspections, we are significantly limiting the authority of the Commissioner of Labor. The Commissioner of Labor has authority right now without a complaint to investigate if there is the potential for harm. That's being taken away and now we're also limiting the spoke of an inspection to proportionality of inspections. There's an attempt at a definition starting on 21, that's determined with reference to the importance of the issue at stake, the lost wage, I mean, how is an inspector on duty going to do that. You know, if something pops up and the commissioner is in the midst of a hearing, I don't know how that's going to happen. Very, very, very unclear.

Some of our clear posting laws which are being changed to make available to the employee. You know that cuts both ways, the reason for clear posting laws is not just to inform the employee of wage an hour. The reason for the posting laws is also to cover the employer. So that the employer is protected. So some of these changes I question.

But most importantly, and I do agree with my colleague from District 15, I find the uniform portion interesting given that's been a continual issue for our DOT employees and we haven't been able to resolve that yet. But I am particularly concerned Mister President, with what was the original issue and with what this amendment purports to do to our youth employment laws. This amendment, I think, you know, I know we've heard some testimony that this is about trying to help the situation for parents, but when the original bill was heard making changes, I specifically asked the Assistant Commissioner of Labor, do you get complaints about these issues, and he said yes. And he gets them routinely from parents and frequently when Department of Labor steps in, it's at the behest of parents because their children do not, their children want to work more hours, or there's a conflict between the children and the adults. I think this goes way beyond what we should expect of sixteen and seventeen year olds. I think this actually interferes with the parent child relationship. I see this as going down a really bad path. You know we discussed earlier, we were talking about Marsy's Law, juveniles and how certain laws impact juveniles. This is not going to be good for juveniles. Now, for some businesses it might be great because they're having trouble finding employees they can get kids working a lot longer. But sixteen and seventeen year olds working these kind of hours, I think is really poor policy. I do think that if we'd had a public hearing, that more parents would have weighed in with concern about this. I've actually heard a couple people who work in this building express concern about the very language in this amendment.

And lastly I would just state that on the last page on page 4, the section where repealing is about evidence of violations of working hours, which says, the employment of any youth in any place or establishment defined in RSA 276-A:11 at any time other than the posted hours of labor shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of the subdivision. How are we going to prove violations of this subdivision without that section? For these reasons Mister President, I cannot support this amendment, I cannot support this original legislation. And I think it's a slippery slope and I think we're doing a disservice to the parents of this state. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thirty seconds, I'm done. I'll use my announcement time too. I want the kids to do better. I know you're job at Brigham's Futures you had to work, your job out in your landscaping company's great, maybe I can get one of my kids there and teach him how to really work. But couldn't just put in words you didn't hear yesterday. Saint Paul's summer program, they take one kid from every high school, this is sort of the deal, if you're going to request, and that creates so much opportunity for her to get into an Ivy League, a little ivy, her life has taken a different path because that one thing. If you worked anywhere near these hours, even half of them you're not going to, I don't mind the summer hours, you can break your back then. During the school year it's just too much. I want the kids studying more. I'm sorry. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of this amendment. I am meeting next week with three businesses who are closing in my district because the Departments of Environmental Services, Safety and Labor. The one business, a $28,000 fine for having people checking out two minutes late. But they mitigated it to 5,000. We need to allow our businesses a little bit of flexibility, we also need to get the niggling bureaucrats who love to get in and drive these businesses crazy with inspections for any reason whatsoever that they can find, out of the way. We're not going to harm anyone with this. Parents are going to authorize their kids to work. My son was working, when my son was working, I knew where he was working and for how long. I can't imagine that a parent takes so little interest that the parent's not going to say no. Or if it's inappropriate. We have a major problem in the business climate in this state and it is vested in the bureaucracies which go with unlimited scope of authority and unlimited access at any time and hamper businesses from doing what they're supposed to do. There is more than ample room in the statute if this is amended, for those agencies to do their jobs. But what it takes away is the absolute tyranny that they have exercised over three of my businesses that are closing. And these are significant businesses, they are leaving New Hampshire. A convenience store, a restaurant and an inn, because they have been inspected to death, harassed and fined over and over and over for as I said, niggling little deficiencies in the code. We need to let these people do their jobs so our kids can get jobs, learn how to work and participate in the workforce. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and answer a couple of concerns from a couple of Senators. First and foremost, I'd like to reiterate to my colleague in District number 18 that this is language supported, involved in and agreed to and signed off on by the Commissioner of Labor and the Assistant Commissioner, so they are fully involved in the construct and feel very comfortable that they have the ability to enforce the statutes. And in fact it was the commissioner himself that said we actually do not go out to do any investigations unless there is a complaint. So it was his recommendation that actually put that into statute to provide to the business community some level of comfort and knowledge that their not trying to go fishing.

In addition to that you had indicated on the last page the repeal of RSA 276-A:22 is, again this is language in a request specifically from the commissioner, because it is rhetorical and duplicative in nature because then he has other powers that remain in statute that give him the ability to seek penalties if either, and it comes from two ways, if either an employee is working beyond the posted schedule or if an employee is at a manufacturing or high risk environment when technically they're not working because in our statutes presently that also constitutes potential for fine. So again, that specifically came as request from the commissioner himself.

And to my friend from District number 23, who I'm very happy and glad that your daughter got into Saint Paul's because we know the expense she's going to have carrying you around in later life. Very, very high.

But the expense that the hours worked for those while in school when the school's meeting during the week have not changed in this bill that is current in existing law that has not changed. So there's a level of consistency there.

So again I would submit to the body, truly a compromise legislation where everyone involved, including the commissioner, who still recognizes and has said more times that I care to repeat, that his number one job is to represent the employees and not the businesses and I believe there should be a balance so he clearly represented that side that this is a reasonable compromise that everybody agreed to. And I would ask the body support the amendment. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you for taking my question. On page 2, line 33 to 35; "in an employer's predetermined designated work week, during which school's in session for four days, no youths sixteen or seventeen years of age…" So on and so forth. Can an employer require them to work that?

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you so much for the question. The simple answer is an employer can't force anybody to work, because that is against the law. It's called servitude. So in general, just to back up to the problem was there has been a problem in the Department of Labor statutes that the Department of Labor looks at a work week, looked at a work week from Sunday through Saturday, and not all businesses use a Sunday through Saturday work schedule. So they are constantly getting caught up in how the department was examining employers for compliance to the thirty hours or the forty-eight hours or the fifty-four hours fine print. So what we looked to do in addition to that, there's always been a challenge that we know today in school systems, as those of you with kids in school know, that the school calls school on like August 30th on Thursday and then let them out for Friday for Labor Day weekend. But because they show up for one day that traditionally has been considered a whole school week. So it again changes the laws of how many hours someone can work. So we came up with this compromise to recognize that if the school is in session for five days, there is that limit of thirty hours. If the school is completely out in the summertime, we have the upper limit and if the school is only holding classes one day a week or two days a week, we're providing a little bit more flexibility for both the student to work and the employer to be able to allow them to work.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition. I think the hours are crazy and I don't know how many kids get out of school at sixteen years of age, graduated from high school. We've raised the age to eighteen now, so they aren't graduating and I don't think that they're getting GEDs at that age and what parent, what parent in their right mind would let a kid work fifty-six hours a week? Come on the kid's got to, they have to be home, they've got to be, they have to be studying. I've got three, I think my son got caught up in this when he was a kid, working too many hours. And luckily we were able to bring him back into the fold. But I think it's preposterous, really. It just doesn't make any sense to me. And I would hope that my colleagues would feel the same way. It just doesn't make any sense to me at all. And the uniform situation is another thing that doesn't make any sense. If you're driving a truck and you don't have decent boots, you're in trouble. You're in big trouble. We've got to address that. And it's getting late in the day, I know I have a couple of things that I'd like to talk to you about later, but indeed I have to say this. You know I'll stay here all night to kill this one. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. Some of us when we were young grew up in families that didn't have money. Didn't have money. Coca-Cola was a luxury. McDonalds was too expensive. When I was sixteen I was told it was time to buy my own clothes, to buy my own car, to pay for my car insurance, oh and by the way, start saving for college. It's hard to do. But I found a job, I went to work and for six years I worked in maintenance on a golf course. The grease is just now coming out of my fingernails. And I worked long hours, especially in the summer. Sometimes over fifty hours a week and I saved that money to go to college. Because my parents couldn't help me, they had nothing to help me. I picked up a great work ethic, I learned things on the job. No one said to me, the law says you have to work fifty-six hours a week. The law puts that as an upper limit, and if parents and the child decide that they're getting too many hours at a particular employer, they have a couple of options. Negotiate fewer hours or quit the job and find another. There are plenty of them available at this point. I don't believe it is our role as the state to tell parents how much their kids should work. It's a family decision and parents know what's best for their kids. And that's why I support this amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to respond to my friend from District number 20. Senator the GED language was already in statute, we did not change that, so while I know you might be concerned that a sixteen or seventeen year old has a GED, that exists in other parts of the statute. Number two, again as we talked to hours, it was already fifty-four hours in statute, no one had ever brought in a bill to change it, no one ever disputed it, never heard it from either side of the aisle, and just the conversation to round the number off was how the good senator from Portsmouth came up with it. I know, it's Rye or Newcastle but he would love to be in Portsmouth if he could. And Senator D, District number 20, the uniform section actually expands to your benefit, better protections for the employees that didn't exist. So that's actually a move more towards employee protection and away from where it was before in the statute. So I hope that would something again you would support it, because it's going in your direction versus my direction. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Feltes moved to divide the question.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, this is a big and complicated amendment that we're debating so I'm going to move to divide the question starting first with section 7 VII, which is on page 3, section 7 VII on page 3 and the effective date, 13, would be the first vote. The second, we just start there and go to, or just list them out?

PRESIDENT MORSE: One at a time, Senator.

SENATOR FELTES: Okay so I understand this is divisible. This is what we'd be voting on right now is just the provision increasing from forty-eight hours to fifty-six hours during the summer. And I agree with the Dean, those hours I think he said are crazy. So I would encourage us to vote this down; section 7 VII that says sixteen and seventeen year olds should work fifty-six hours a week. Please vote it down. Thank you, Mister President.

The Chair ruled the question divisible.

Senator Feltes moved to divide the question: Section 7 VII and Section 13.

The question is on the adoption of Section 7 VII and Section 13.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: If I believe that we should proceed and vote for section 7 now, would I vote yes on the prevailing question?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor you're going to say aye. If you're opposed you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. If I believe that all this section does is to match another part of this section which was already at fifty-four hours, and we're just trying to find consistency and clarity for both the Department of Labor and the business community, would I then vote yes?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor you're going to say aye. If you're opposed you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: This vote that we are about to cast is only on page 3, lines 3 through 7. Is that correct?

PRESIDENT MORSE: I'm going to let the clerk answer that.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President.

SENATE CLERK: It's section 7 lines 3 through 7.

SENATE CLERK: Of page 3.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you.

PRESIDENT MORSE: And the effective date.

A roll call was requested by Senator Bradley, seconded by Senator Feltes.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

The following Senators were excused: Watters, Cavanaugh, Reagan.

Roll Call, Yeas: 12 - Nays: 9. Adopted.

Senator Feltes moved to divide the question: Section 8 and Section 13.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Section 8 on page 3, lines 14 through 18 is what we're voting on. This eliminates a great deal of the investigation and enforcement authority of the commissioner with respect to youth employment law. I don't think it's wise, we shouldn't be taking away this authority from the commissioner to investigate and enforce violations or potential violations of legal violations with respect to our youth and employment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator on this issue that you just raised, if we eliminate the sentence starting on line 16, I note that that includes truant officers. They're specifically cited to the extent we delete them. Does the commissioner now lose the ability to include truant officers where they were previously? To engage in these investigations involving youth?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Senator Soucy. If the legislature takes this action we are expressly saying to the commissioner that you cannot use truant officers. We're also saying that by not using them they don't have the power to issue warrants either. So this dramatically curtails the inspection and enforcement powers of the commissioner with respect to the employment of youths, which I think we all agree, and we've taken a lot of votes about child protection, talk about youth employment law, we're also talking about child protection in my view. Thank you, Senator Soucy.

SENATOR SOUCY: So in addition to the Department of Labor, the commissioner not being able to include truant officers, truant officers are not going to be privy to information because they're no longer participating in this activity. So we have limited the power not only of the commissioner, but of those in our schools who are attempting to get children back to school.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Senator Soucy, I believe that's an accurate reading.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and I apologize if I'm confused I thought we were in the voting mode. But, so to answer the body's questions on even though I think we're voting on lines 8 through 13, there's conversations on 8 through 18. Oh we're only on 14 through 18, alright so on 14 through 18 using the truant officers actually came out of, is coming out of the statute, again as a specific request from the commissioner. So let's not confuse the fact that what the commissioner can and cannot do, from a specific request from the commissioner because a) they do not use truant officers anymore in this provision, so they don't use it anymore and b) the commissioner and the assistant commissioner confirm that they have the powers they need to investigate that are still and remain within statute. So this is just clearing up something that they say, they came to us and said they don't use truant officers and that they still maintain the powers that the commissioner has for investigation and enforcement. So I'd ask people to vote in favor of passage.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SOUCY: On line 18 it says that for this purpose they shall have power to serve warrants. Can you tell me where the commissioner, where in statute the commissioner retains the power to serve warrants, if it's not expressed as it is here?

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you for asking the question. The commissioner said he does not serve warrants.

SENATOR SOUCY: He may not as the current commissioner but is there any history in the department of serving warrants, and where in the statute would that be found, if we're removing it?

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you so much for the question and the conversations we had with the commissioner, he indicated that he does not serve warrants, he is not aware that warrants have been used, and that the agency does not use truant officers. So again, he has asked to have it removed.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. This says investigators and truant officers. And then it says for the purposes they shall have the power to serve warrants. They referring to investigators and truant officers, so the investigators of the department don't serve warrants anymore if we erase this. Now I haven't talked with the commissioner about this provision, I don't know what the commissioner has said, I don't know what the commissioner, if he currently uses truant officers. I presume he still uses investigators and I presume those investigators should still have warrant authority. I would hope. So this is dramatically curtailing specifically. If we pass this as a legislature we're saying you can't do this. Your investigators can't issue these warrants. I would encourage us to vote no. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of Section 8 and Section 13.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Mister President, if I know that the commissioner and the assistant commissioner who I think also serves as legal counsel, or at least as an attorney for the Department of Labor, was included and supports this provision that they do not use truant officers and they do not issue warrants and they feel they have all the other powers that they need to enforce the provisions of statute for the Department of Labor and are comfortable with taking it out, would I then vote yes on the divisional question?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of sections 8 and 13 you're going to say aye. If you're opposed you're going to say nay.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator French.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

The following Senators were excused: Watters, Cavanaugh, Reagan.

Roll Call, Yeas: 12 - Nays: 9. Adopted.

Senator Feltes moved to divide the question: Section 12 and Section 13.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. I believe that my colleague from Manchester, District 18 spoke earlier about this provision that's being erased in this amendment. The prima facie evidence, evidentiary standards about how the department conducts its business. So, I mean on the one hand you could say, hey we're getting rid of investigatory powers and warrant authority so why don't we just get rid of evidentiary standards too. But I disagree with that, I think evidentiary standards are good. I think it's good rules of the road for both employees and employers to know it and we should keep it. So vote no on this repeal. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to ask people to support the divisional question and remind the body that some days it's good to actually repeal laws and statutes we don't use or are ineffective or are no longer valid in a practical matter. Again this is something that the Commissioner of Labor and the Assistant Commissioner came to us in our discussions and asked to remove, and let me give a very practical sense; if a sixteen or seventeen year old is standing in a business and not on the clock, they would be guilty of violating something under this statute. So all we are trying to do again, is to clean up the statutes and recognize the fact that the commissioner has the powers of enforcement to ensure that sixteen and seventeen year olds are not working more than the hours that are prescribed, and if they happen to be hanging out at a restaurant or a nursery when they're not on the clock, they're actually not guilty of anything. So I would ask for the body to support passage of the divisional question. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Mister President, if I know that these issues, not these exact issues, but similar issues had a hearing where the deputy commissioner was present and in another committee some of these issues were raised and the commissioner and deputy commissioner were present and none of these things were asked for at those two hearings, would I now vote no so that we can have an open and public and transparent process where we debate these issues? Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of Section 12 and Section 13.

A roll call was requested by Senator Feltes, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Birdsell, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon.

The following Senators were excused: Watters, Cavanaugh, Reagan.

Roll Call, Yeas: 11 - Nays: 10. Adopted.

Senator Gannon moved to divide the question: Section 7 VI and Section 13.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: My kid was lucky, she studies like a dog because I break her back. The kids from Senator D'Allesandro's district probably don't have the same home environment, don't have the educational push. If you then put them into working where their life is going to be work, I have friends, the kids don't think, they just don't think about the possibilities of what they could do because they don't have the time studying if they're always working, working for the car that's going to get them to the job, that's going to get them to a nice at best mediocre lifestyle. I want them all to have the aspirations to be doctors, lawyers, Senate Presidents and it comes with education. It doesn't come with doing a blue collar job, which is a good thing, it teaches you a work ethic but education is the way if you look at any estimate of a study, without education you go nowhere. If you work this many hours, forty and a quarter hours during six consecutive days during a school week, you're going nowhere. Maybe some will, but most won't so I can't support this. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I went somewhere. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. For the record, my parents told me that they could not afford to send me to college. We didn't have anything. I started pumping gas full-time at ten years old. I remember the first time a little Honda 600 came to the gas station, back during the gas embargo and filled up their tank of gas for 38 cents, because that's all that person had in their pocket. It has stuck with me my entire life. So work isn't a bad thing. And some of us have to work and some of us should be able to work. And our parents should have the right to determine what is best and not best. I understand that in society today, some people believe kids shouldn't be working ever. Other families believe they should, other families have to work. All this provision does, it does not change the base that sixteen and seventeen year old kids who are in school can only work thirty hours a week. That is current statute, that doesn't change. We know in conversations with the commissioner and the business community that there's been a lot of confusion about what happens if schools only in session one or two days a week. And then what happens during the summertime. So all this change in the statute does is to clarify and provide some guidance that the statute remains identical if kids are in school five days a week, they cannot work more thirty hours. Current statute, doesn't change the statute. If school is not in session for a day, it says you're not in school so you can work that day, and provides a graduated scale for that to happen. We have to remember all those kids working at Canobie State Park during the summer vacation, we have to think about the kids working up in Laconia at the lakes during Labor Day or Memorial Day weekend, or Christmas or Thanksgiving. They could pick up a couple of hours, make a couple bucks. I know Senator French wants his grandkids to get him something nice, pack of cigarettes, unfiltered Camels, but all this does is provide again a graduated scale that goes up current statute that doesn't change, provides for the fact that if the kids are not in school, they can work. If they're in school, still bound by the low hours. So with that I would commend to the body that they would continue to support passage, which is again just clarifying what we need to do so we don't get businesses, parents or kids in trouble. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you for talking about my former employer. I did work at Canobie Lake Park in the summer. It was a terrible job in the fried dough booth. They told me I was going to get roller coasters and the cool girls all liked the roller coaster guy. Unfortunately in the summer before college I was only seventeen, state law said I couldn't operate the roller coaster, had to go to food. Fried dough was hot, horrible. But it probably taught me something. I'm a blue collar lawyer, I went to law school at night. I did get in B.C.

Law, got no scholarship and the only way I could do it was at night. So I realize I had to hang curtains, I went to work for my uncle in a curtain company, horrible job, still do it but it pays well. And so it did teach me a lot of values but I saw the kids, and my kids who are going to the Connecticut College, they have such advantages, they're getting the world handed to them. They have the opportunity to go to Wall Street, go to Harvard, incomes that we can't imagine. You can't do that if you've got these hours, these thirty hours during a school week, no way, you're not going to do it. AP Calculus, physics. You want to go to these nice colleges that are going to give you a golden life, you've got to be on every sports team, the demands of school are so hard, then you have to get home and study five hours. You do the job five hours a day six hours a day, your future's limited. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I wanted to ask you if you know in today's economy if there's any job that you can work in the summertime, where you can earn enough money to pay to go to college?

SENATOR GANNON: Would depend on the college obviously, but no, certainly not in today's world, no. Your summer jobs are going to pay, if you were lucky, you'd be getting ten or twelve bucks an hour as a kid. Certainly I can tell you Connecticut College is $74,000 a year. No way. All the top colleges that are going to give you those opportunities. You either have to have a great scholarship, being born with the right gene pool. No you can't, these kids aren't going to make it there.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. You think we expired on thirty hours a week yet? No just today. Anyway, I just say, it's really a parliamentary inquiry. I want to make sure that I understand that this separation of the question is on page 2 line 28 continuing through page 3 line 2.

PRESIDENT MORSE. I' m getting nods from the lawyer. I don't have the bill. You're voting on section 7, VI and section 13.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator Gannon I know and understand and appreciate that attorneys are hanging curtains and send their kids to $70,000 colleges, but those of us who come from blue collar backgrounds recognize that one of the best schools in America, Southern New Hampshire University headquartered in Senate District number 20, offers an online degree for $10,000 today. So would you believe that someone working $10 an hour forty hours a week in the summertime for the twenty weeks could darn near pay for a four year education in one summer?

SENATOR GANNON: Oh are advocating a minimum wage higher than 7.25? Is that what you just said? I think you just said, no okay. We do need to address that someday, not this year. No can you afford it, a) I don't pay 74 because they were smart. I got lucky. But so can you go to that school's going to limit your future. You are not going to get into an Ivy League.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Just briefly Mister President, bringing it back to the pending motion. Senator Gannon's motion to divide is lines 28 on page 2 through line 2 on page 3. And the effective date section 13. And just to be clear, it doesn't have anything to do with summertime. We already voted on that. This has to do with the school year. How many hours can employers ask kids to work during the school year? If it's in session for four days or more of school, it goes from thirty hours to forty and one fourth hours. And then if it's between one and four days, it goes from thirty hours to forty-eight. That is substantial increases, and I agree with Senator Gannon, these hours are not, they're not productive for anybody and so I would encourage us to vote no on Senator Gannon's motion.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. Is it not requiring parental permission for a person to work? Number one. Number two; why are we as a state attempting to limit opportunities to work, not everyone goes to college, in fact today I know in my campaigning I ran into about four or five PHDs living with their parents at the age of fifty. So a college degree is no insurance of success. Hard work is one component of success. This is an opportunity for kids to work if their parents allow them to. This is not mandated and if the child doesn't want to work that much, they don't have to. They just go somewhere else or don't work at all. This is about freedom of choice, without the state mandating what you can and can't do in the system where we believe constitutionally that the parents should be the voice of authority over the actions of their children. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Very quickly, Mister President. Coming from the city of Manchester where the textile mills were the place where many twelve and fourteen and sixteen year olds were forced to work many hours, the reason we have limitations in youth employment laws is to prevent exploitation. The policy we have on the books accomplishes that, these hours go way too far and conflict with our policies in trying to educate our children. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. Again, a clarification. We aren't dealing in this with section 8 on page 3, we are dealing only with that section 7, number 7 on page 2 line 28 through page 3 line 2. So we aren't–.

PRESIDENT MORSE: We're dealing in section 7, VI and section 13.

SENATOR KAHN: Yes, and so we are not dealing with the section that deals with parental permission, we're merely dealing with the section that deals with number of hours worked in a week during the school session. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of Section 7 VI and Section 13.

A roll call was requested by Senator Soucy, seconded by Senator Daniels.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Birdsell, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon.

The following Senators were excused: Watters, Cavanaugh, Reagan.

Roll Call, Yeas: 11 - Nays: 10. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of All Remaining Sections and Section 13.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Birdsell, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon.

The following Senators were excused: Watters, Cavanaugh, Reagan.

Roll Call, Yeas: 11 - Nays: 10. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator French.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Birdsell, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon.

The following Senators were excused: Watters, Cavanaugh, Reagan.

Roll Call, Yeas: 11 - Nays: 10. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

RULES AND ENROLLED BILLS
SB 343, relative to legislative ethics guidelines.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-2. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on Senate Bill 343. This bill clarifies certain terms used in legislative ethics guidelines and has two specific parts. The first speaks to the meaning of a rule and means any rule adopted pursuant to the legislative ethics chapter shall not include any rule of proceeding adopted by the House of Representatives or the Senate. The second part of the bill deals with legal representation being considered a gift. This legislation clarifies the word service which relates to the acceptance of legal services on an individual basis when the legislator enters into an attorney client relationship with the attorney, thus clarifying that receiving legal counsel does count as a gift. Please join the committee in voting Senate Bill 343 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Senator for taking my question. Reading this language it says for the purposes of the section "service shall include but not be limited to acceptance of legal services on an individual basis when the legislator enters into an attorney client relationship with the attorney." Having read that, is the goal of this legislation to prohibit any legislator from receiving legal advice pro bono?

SENATOR DANIELS: No. I'll defer to the Senator from District 14.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you. Thank you, Mister President. No it does not. That's one of the things that the Ethics Committee talked at length about was that we as legislators we get free legal advice all day. Many of the lobbyists here are attorneys. So we don't want to catch people in that situation, but when someone does say I am representing you, that means something different than someone giving you legal advice. And so I brought the bill forward because I disagreed with the final ruling of the Ethics Committee. I believe that when you are represented by an attorney, that has value. I think we all know attorneys are not cheap, they can be very expensive, upward of hundreds of dollars an hour. And you can get all the legal advice you want but that changes when the attorney, you enter into an agreement with the attorney that they're going to represent you. That is more than $50, which is allowable under our current ethics law, and should be prohibited.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. None of the Senators here pay for the Senate legal counsel's advice. Anytime you give legal advice the attorney client relationship generally attaches so does this prohibit us from receiving advice from Senate legal counsel?

SENATOR CARSON: Not at all.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you.

Senator Kahn offered a Floor Amendment.

Sen. Kahn, Dist 10
March 22, 2018
2018-1191s
03/10

Floor Amendment to SB 343

Amend the bill by replacing section 2 with the following:

2 Gifts, Honorariums, and Reimbursements. Amend RSA 14-C:2, IV(a)(2) to read as follows:

(2) Any other tangible thing, intangible thing, service, or the use thereof having an individual value of greater than $50. For purposes of this section, "service" shall not include acceptance of legal services on an individual basis when the legislator enters into an attorney-client relationship with the attorney for the purposes of addressing a complaint or petition if the attorney is not a registered lobbyist and not in a law firm or other business organization that has as a member, partner, associate, employee, or other person with a similar relationship who is a registered lobbyist.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. So I think we're all thinking as soon as we ask for somebody's opinion, the clock starts ticking. That's not exactly what this, I've read the hearing notes, by the way our colleague from District 14's answered a lot of questions today. I appreciate her work on this. But I've got to say when I first saw this, this is pretty constraining. It says for the purpose of responding, responding only responding, I can't ask maybe I would want to bring forward a complaint. Responding to a complaint or petition that could result in a member being expelled. So I think we're missing, wrong one? Anyway this amendment makes it clear that's not what we're doing, this is saying, for the purpose of this it shall not include legal services for the purposes of addressing a complaint or a petition. For addressing, it could go either way. I think we should be more thoughtful about our own needs for legal advice, and I felt as I read this that it was more constraining than it needed to be. I think this is a good idea, hope you'll concur. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. I rise in support of this amendment and I also rise because I sit as a member of the Ethics Committee. And we were challenged with this issue when a complaint was brought before us that an individual in the House had sought pro bono legal services to advise that individual when she was called up before the House Committee on Administration which very likely threatened her position in the House. And it was the determination of the Ethics Committee that she was entitled to pro bono support, and that it should not fall under the rubric of receiving a gift. And the issue was we as legislators serve for $100 a year and that there are many people serving in the legislature who are unable to afford the services of an attorney and that if their integrity, if their role as a legislator is being constrained because they cannot seek legal services, we're actually depriving them of due process. And so this amendment has been crafted very carefully to make clear that it says that if a legislator enters into an attorney client relationship, with the attorney, for the purpose of addressing a complaint or a petition, it cannot be a registered lobbyist, cannot be in a law firm or other business organization that has as a member partner, associate employee or other person with a similar relationship who is a registered lobbyist. The purpose for that is to make sure that that attorney cannot gain favor by offering these services to a legislator in need. So I would ask you to support this amendment. I believe it's unconscionable to put barriers around a legislator when she or he is in need of legal support and may not have the ability to pay for it himself or herself. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to speak against amendment 1191s. I find it interesting when we talk about registered lobbyists. As you know we're all on committees and we have a great variety of people who come to speak before us. As the Chair of Senate Judiciary, I've had the pleasure of meeting a number of retired jurists who appear before the committee. They are not lobbyists, they're not connected to a firm anymore because they're retired. But their reputation has value. Their reputation has value. People know who they are, they have spent years establishing a reputation, not only within the legal community, but within the public at large. That has value. You can take whatever advice you want from that attorney. No one is saying you cannot sit down with that attorney, you cannot consult with that attorney. But when that attorney says, I represent so and so, whoever it is, that has value. Even if they're not working anymore, their reputation has value, their name has value. And what the bill tries to do is just says look, we recognize this has a value to it.

No one is trying to deprive anyone of legal representation. Representatives and Senators are free to go out and hire whatever attorney you want and that's between you and the attorney. But when you're talking about getting something of value for free, you are now talking about legislative ethics. And whether or not it is ethical for Senators, Representatives to receive free legal advice. It is a prohibition in my opinion on the gift statute which says we can only receive something worth $50 or less. A lawyer who has spent decades grooming their reputation. You can't tell me that doesn't have value. If they were working what would they charge per hour? Couple hundred, 300, 400, 500 I'm not sure but I do know it's more than $50. So I'd like all of you to think about that for a minute, and how the possibility of abuse can arise. Even if they're not a lobbyist. These folks come and testify in front of us. You can't tell me that somewhere down the line a question might not arise. We're trying to be as transparent as possible. People nowadays really don't trust government that much, and sometimes we give them good reason not to. But we've worked very hard on our ethics laws, to rein in what many have considered to be bad behavior. And I'm not accusing anybody in this room of bad behavior. But we want to be as transparent as we possibly can to our constituents. So I ask you Mister President, to turn down Floor Amendment 1191s. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR LASKY: If in fact one of those esteemed lawyers, and I were in trouble, and were to send me a bill for $35. Would that be okay?

SENATOR CARSON: Senator, that's between you and the attorney. If you reach that kind of agreement, that's what you've agreed. We don't interfere in that. It's only when it's offered for free.

SENATOR LASKY: Okay. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. That's exactly it. This is about interference with the right to contracts. It's about interference with forming those relationships that happen in the legal profession all the time. In fact lawyers are encouraged to provide pro bono advice and counsel. They're encouraged to do it. Especially to the indigent, state legislators. I used to say I used represent low income people now I am low income people. But anyways, interference with the right to contract and in some context potentially infringing on due process rights depending on the context and what's at stake. So with those issues at play, the only way to pass this in a way that I think survives scrutiny is if it's narrowly tailored. And what does this amendment do? It narrowly tailors it, to situations of complaints or petitions number one and number two, who is a lawyer? Is that lawyer a lobbyist? If so, they're out. Is that lawyer affiliated with a lobbyist, or a member or a partner of affiliate with a firm of a lobbying firm then they're out. It's narrowly tailored to the issues at hand and I think it's reasonably crafted and we should adopt the Floor Amendment if we're going to pass this at all. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Senator for taking my question. Does the commission have an attorney or counsel available to them?

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you for the question. There are a number of attorneys that are on the Ethics Committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, and those attorneys provide advice or counsel to the commission?

SENATOR CARSON: They provide, they are not seen as attorneys, they are seen as members of the commission and they take part in every discussion.

SENATOR GIUDA: Is there an attorney or counsel available to the commission as a whole?

SENATOR CARSON: Mister Lehmann does come in from time to time when he's requested to come in.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. Now for my remarks. I'm going to support this amendment, I'm going to tell you why, okay?

Someone levels a challenge against a person's integrity. That's what this is all about, okay? And if a person can't afford it and I don't care if it's in this room or across the hall or anywhere else in this state. When a person's integrity is at stake, they may not be able to afford it. I think this affords a clear definition of what's allowable and not. I think a person has the right to defend their integrity against a council stacked with lawyers who are seeking the truth in the complaint that tries to assail that integrity. This is a matter of the ability of an individual to protect themselves. And I will support this amendment because I think it does what needs to be done. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Senator Feltes, I have two questions for you. One is I just heard that if an attorney made an arrangement with a legislator that the legislator was only going to charge, the attorney was only going to charge $35, isn't that a form of pro bono, because that lawyers services are actually worth much more than that?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Senator Fuller Clark. Yes that would be reduced fee pro bono.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: So, as I understand it, that that would prohibit a legislator from being able to acquire the legal advice and the legal representation when the legislator may not feel that they're qualified to represent themselves. So there's one issue around seeking legal advice, but there's also the issue of being able to have the ability to seek legal representation and without this amendment, that legislator would be preventing form doing that. Am I understanding this correctly?

SENATOR FELTES: I think you are Senator Fuller Clark and your prior question raises something that I think is an additional issue that we haven't talked about. If you do a reduced fee and that reduction in fee is greater than 50, then you potentially implicate this particular bill if we don't amend it. So there's going to be disputes over hey did you get advice and get a reduced fee above 50 bucks? That's going to open up a whole can of worms, so the limitation that we have here in this amendment I think is narrowly crafted and serves a correct purpose.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Okay there's two speakers left and then we'll vote.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I agree with the comments of my colleague from Senate District 2. This is narrowly crafted to the instance where a legislator is defending themselves in the legislative capacity. This isn't about a divorce, this isn't about a closing or a mortgage, this is simply about legislative activities and the ability of someone to be able to defend themselves effectively. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. You know it's really rather interesting. My good friend from Concord gives me free legal advice all the time. He always tells me close the loopholes. So my friend from Concord, you're creating a gigantic loophole in our ethics guidelines if you don't pass this bill as is. We have a $50 gift limit. Probably the best gift I could give to everybody, it's worth a lot more that $50 is to sit down and shut up which I will but I just have to say there is a reason for these ethics guidelines. The public thinks we are above them and if we don't have these guidelines, the integrity of the process gets undermined. I've served as our friend from Portsmouth and our friend from Londonderry have also on the Ethics Committee. The integrity of the process and how the public views us is very, very important. I urge that we vote down this amendment and vote Ought to Pass on the bill.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Kahn, seconded by Senator Fuller Clark.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Hennessey, French, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon.

The following Senators voted No: Bradley, Gray, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Birdsell, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Watters, Cavanaugh, Reagan.

Roll Call, Yeas: 11 - Nays: 10. Adopted.

MOTION TO REMOVE FROM THE TABLE

Senator D'Allesandro moved to remove SB 586-FN-A-L from the Table. Adopted.

WAYS AND MEANS
SB 586-FN-A-LOCAL, relative to casino gambling.

The pending motion is Refer to Interim Study.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I would like the body to vote against the Interim Study so that I can offer another motion and speak to that motion. So I'm asking the body to vote against Interim Study so that I can offer the motion of Ought to Pass and speak to that motion.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Failed.

Senator D'Allesandro moved Ought to Pass.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I'm going to quote Yogi Berra, "It's déjà vu all over again," because nineteen years ago, about this time, Senator Klemm was in the Chair, and together we introduced an amendment to a bill to bring casino gambling to the state of New Hampshire. Now we've been here a long time and I don't want to over play the game here, but I just want to say that since we made that suggestion those many years ago, Massachusetts has accepted it, Maine has accepted it, Connecticut has accepted it, and Rhode Island has accepted it. The only people that didn't listen to me were Vermont. And we're no Vermont! Okay? We're no Vermont. But, everyone around us has accepted the fact that an enhanced revenue producer is casino gambling.

I don't want to go through the bill. You've heard it. You've heard me speak about this bill over, and over, and over again. But, I'd just say, what kind of a psychological exam must we all go through when we've given up a billion dollars in revenue. That's what we have given up from the day Senator Klemm and I introduced this piece of legislation to today–a billion dollars in revenue.

To the south of us there is an institution that's being built and they're spending 2.3 billion just to build a building–2.3 billion. They will employ thousands of people; the average wage will be between 50 and $100,000 a year. And they'll take people from New Hampshire to work at these jobs. We have, during that time period, expanded our charitable gaming. We now have eleven little casinos that aren't really casinos because they're for charitable gaming. So they're charitable gaming casinos. And if you looked at the last little piece of information we got from the lottery commission, which managed these charitable casinos, they did about $30 million worth of business–$30 million worth of business. I don't know how many people are employed, but the charities get 35 percent, 35 percent. So we've got a situation that over the last twenty years charities have become very accustomed to the dollars they get from the little non-casinos, because we don't gamble in New Hampshire. Charitable gaming isn't gambling. What is it? They got cards, they got roulette wheels, they have it all, but we call it charitable gaming.

So, my friends, I don't want to keep going because obviously my level of frustration has increased every year over the last twenty, and we still need money, alright? We still could use the jobs, we could use the revenue; all of these things are still present in the environment. As time has gone on, we've spent time increasing the wage that you spend in charitable gaming, we have added more to charitable gaming, and last year we even brought Keno back. Keno, the worst form of gambling in the world–Keno; addictive, problematic, I don't know anybody who has ever won in Keno. Harold French won! Well, that's a miracle in disguise. He wins at Keno.

I'll tell you, and I know, I wish I could say I was preaching to the choir, but I know a lot better than that. God gave me the ability to count to thirteen, and I can still do that. But I'll just say this; this is probably the last go around for me doing this. My highest level of frustration since I've been around here was when we passed this, we brought it over to the House, and I lost by one vote, and that vote was cast by the Speaker because it was a tie vote. So we lost the vote. At the same time we lost that vote we were cutting the budget because we didn't have any money. We were cutting the budget. So, the fortunes of the time have not shined, has not shone on me all of these years. I think we gave up an opportunity with Rockingham Park to do wonderful things for the community. That's lost.

So what's left? Our bill calls for two licenses. The licenses are worth $40 million each, you'd have to pay 40 million to get the license. I don't have to go through the process with you. That gives you a license that's good for ten years. The renewable fee is 1.5 million. And I looked at the latest financials based on the activity the could take place and it's still between 100 and $150 million a year in revenue–100 and $150 million a year. Okay? That may be chump change to some people, but that's a lot of money to me. And it could make life better for a lot of people.

So, with that, Mister President, I make my last plea for this body to support it, send it over to the House, where the House, at one time, put in a camping tax, a gambling tax, a recreation tax, and then repealed all of them–good conscience. Put a gambling tax on when we don't have gambling! Huh? Pretty good, huh? Pretty smart, huh, brilliant? Brilliant idea! Let's tax gambling! But we don't have any gambling! We don't have any gambling! But let's tax it at 10 percent. The camping tax was even better; let's tax them for going camping! Pretty good, huh, Senator? Huh? A camping tax? That was repealed the next day. Okay? So we've tried all of these things, and we've passed some of them, repealed most of them, and yet gambling, the sinful activity that would produce $100 million. We let them do it in Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut, Rhode Island. You know, as I said, the only place it doesn't exist is Vermont. And Vermont doesn't even have charitable gaming, I think. So there we are, there we are; the people's republic of Vermont, once again. You know. It's like Cambridge, Mass, huh? They're sister cities. Vermont and Cambridge, Mass. Vermont and Cambridge; they have a synergistic relationship.

So, with that, Mister President, we're going to end the day at 10 minutes past 7. It's still a great, great American day. Oh, we've got to vote first! We have more bills. Anyway, anyway, that's my plea; I would hope you could support it. I don't get anything out of this except aggravation. I've had stomach surgery because of it, it kills me. But, indeed, if you think it's the right thing you keep working at it, and I've worked at it for a long time. And I thank Mister President for allowing me to speak. Thank you very much for listening, and I hope you'll support it. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I too rise in support of this finely crafted legislation. We have a problem facing us. Twenty years we've had the opportunity to pass this great bill. Twenty years, I've been going to Foxwoods, all the way to Connecticut to lose my money. We have an opportunity here today. Keno one time on a two dollar ticket I won two bucks. We really do have an opportunity here to pass this. I believe that the good Senator is not bluffing when he's holding his cards and saying this will be the last time he will put it in. So I ask you, please vote for this bill, send it along its way so I can stay within the state, close to the State House and do my gambling here. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise too in favor of, finally putting some legal gambling where we can enjoy the revenue that other states enjoy from it and it will rise and fall, it'll do all the things that other businesses do. It is a business. And we in New Hampshire who claim to be so self-righteous when liquor is the family business for crying out loud. We use liquor to gain the revenues that we do and we look to new and better ways all the time to expand that business. I'm not saying that's wrong, but if we were to have a bill such as Senator D has put forth many times, we'd be able to do something about a lot of things. But in particular, about the things that people say they vote against gambling. You know it encourages gambling, we would have the resources to fight and to help problem gamblers. The bills have always said they would not be in a place that the towns and cities didn't approve. So every person would you know would get a chance to approve it. If you don't want it in your town you don't have it in your town. I think the final straw for me was when we voted, I didn't, for Keno to be used as Senator D said, to help kindergarten of all things. I mean you really lose your moral authority folks. So it is just really ludicrous to me that, and we have passed, I mean Rockingham would have been a wonderful place for a gaming facility. There's land outside of Nashua and Hudson, Green Meadows we went through that land you know two or three times. Would have been another great place. We have been behind the eight ball, we're losing this, in short there probably is very little time to even bother to do this, once you know all the other states have had it. But I do believe it could be done right, it could be done well, Senator D's bills through the years, I believe have taken all the gambling out of it. And I think that we really would solve so many of our problems if we would do this. So, thank you. And I hope you'll vote to pass it.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. It will be of no surprise to many here that I cannot support this legislation. And I cannot agree with the good Senator from District 20 that by bringing gambling to the state of New Hampshire that it would make lives better for people in New Hampshire. One of the problems that we have today is that we have seen now that Massachusetts is investing as you heard more than one and a half billion dollars in a facility in Massachusetts. That facility is not just going to have gaming, it's going to have a number of other venues that bring individuals to the site, including shows, including entertainment, including all kinds of restaurants, including places for people to stay where the cost of staying in those hotels will be very cheap, so that you can afford to go and gamble. And that has the potential, if that were to happen in New Hampshire, to have an enormous impact on so many other aspects of our economy.

I don't oppose gambling on a moral basis, I oppose it on an economic basis, that we have quite an extraordinary economy here that is based on tourism, that is based on outdoor recreation, that is based on cultural recreation as individuals we only have so much time and so many resources to take advantage of that time. This would suck so much revenue out of other elements of our economy and now with this $2.5 billion enterprise being built up in Massachusetts, and again with people having gone to Connecticut, people don't go to Connecticut just for gambling, they also go there for the entertainment value. They go to Las Vegas for the entertainment value. In no way would these casinos that are being proposed in this bill be able to compete with Massachusetts, compete with Las Vegas, compete with Connecticut and so we're going to continue to see people going elsewhere for that type of entertainment. And what will we have left here? We'll have a casino left here, that isn't really a casino, it's going to be a slot barn. All you need to do is go to Oxford and see the casino that has been created there and look at what they promised to build, which was really quite an extraordinary facility, when they got permission to build it in Maine. But that's not what they ended up building. They built a slot barn, and you go there and you see people who used to spend time let's say bowling together, having a cup of coffee together, socializing together. That's not what they're doing anymore. And they're not recreating, they are going to Oxford and they are sitting in front of addictive machines and no, not being able to win, losing money.

We also know when you talk about the wages that have been lost, that the history of these casinos elsewhere has brought in individuals from the outside to which they pay very high salaries, but in terms of the people who work there on a daily basis, they don't receive wages that are much better than the minimum wage. So I continue to argue that bringing casinos to New Hampshire will hurt our indigenous economy, and that it is a false promise in this day and age in terms of the money that it would create for the state. But it will drain money out of the pockets of New Hampshire residents because people from other states are not going to come here, they have more fancy, more lush, more extravagant casinos to go elsewhere. So it's really a false promise and I would urge you to vote against this legislation. Thank you.

Senator Bradley presiding.

Without Objection, Senator Soucy moved the question. Adopted.

PRESIDING OFFICER SENATOR BRADLEY: The chair would ask everybody to hone their 30 second speeches. We have four speakers remaining. I would ask the members to hone their 30 second speeches please. We have Senators Daniels, Giuda, Gannon and Hennessey.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. While I very much appreciate the assistance of my colleague from District 20 I must rise against the Ought to Pass motion and maybe for a little bit different reason. As we have progressed through this session, as Finance Chair I have tried to be very protective of the integrity of the process that we're using in this institution. Every week we take a look at bills that have FNs on them, fiscal notes, we also look at bills that may have a fiscal impact and we sit down and determine whether those will be waived or whether they will go through Finance. I generally set a low threshold and I'll waive those bills that do not have much of a fiscal impact, but on the ones that have a larger amount, I ask them to go to Finance so we can duly assess them. Obviously with this bill here, whether it's in revenue or expenses, this has a tremendous fiscal impact to it. We are on the last day now, it would not have time to come to Finance and I think to protect the integrity and the work that comes out of this institution, I would ask that we vote against the Ought to Pass motion just because we don't have the time to do the analysis that should within Finance. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I would argue that this is a bill about revenue, not about, raising revenue not about spending it. And that on Ways and Means I voted for the bill. I will support it because I would much rather have roulette garden than keno garden. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. If you build it they will come. All my friends from Medford who are police, they go to Cobbetts Pond in Salem and they will come and they will be there every weekend gambling. New Hampshire is open for business, all types of business. Live Free or Die, it's right on my license plate. Individual choice, jobs, jobs, jobs, construction jobs, great jobs at the casino, if you're a dealer, French, you're going to get twenty-five an hour, you're going to be happy. And jobs, I'm over my limit. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you very much I rise to say that I have a conflict of interest because I am psychologist and I stand to gain substantially, the more people that are addicted the better off I do. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A roll call was requested by Senator Lasky, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, French, Lasky, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Morse, Gannon, Innis.

The following Senators voted No: Hennessey, Gray, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Feltes, Fuller Clark, Bradley.

The following Senators were excused: Watters, Cavanaugh, Reagan.

Roll Call, Yeas: 10 - Nays: 11. Failed.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, if I wanted to pull SB 375 off the table. It's already ready for third reading. That would not require another vote after it's pulled off the table and would just go to third reading, or would we have to debate it again?

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator, if the body were to agree to take Senate Bill 375 off the table, I would just order it to third reading at that point.

III. New England Donor Services, Inc.

IV. Sophia's Fund.

V. The New Hampshire Breast Cancer Coalition.

VI. The university system of New Hampshire. Granite state college, Keene state college, and Plymouth state university are each authorized to issue decals, provided that all proceeds shall remain with the issuing institution and be used only for student scholarships.

2018-1149s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill authorizes New Hampshire Catholic Charities, New England Donor Services, Inc., Sophia's Fund, the New Hampshire Breast Cancer Coalition, and the university system of New Hampshire to issue decals for multi-use decal plates.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: This is a bill we had when all the decals started coming out and I just ask for your support. We actually have them all numbered, we have the, I'm not going to name them all, I'm just going to say that they're all numbered appropriately so that we can go ahead and move them on up and out. Thank you, Mister President.

MOTION TO REMOVE FROM THE TABLE

Senator Carson moved to remove SB 461 from the Table. Adopted.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
SB 461, relative to continuing education for real estate brokers and salespersons.

There is no pending motion.

Senator Carson moved Ought to Pass.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Mister President. I move Senate Bill 461 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill was brought forward as a result of a collaborative effort between the New Hampshire Association of Realtors and the New Hampshire Real Estate Commission. This legislation as amended makes three changes relating to continuing education. It increases the required core course from three hours every two years to six hours every two years. It increased the total number of elective continuing education classes from twelve to fifteen and it requires the commission to specify topics or courses which a licensee would need to take prior to their first renewal. This brings New Hampshire more in line with nationwide requirements for a real estate license. The ED&A Committee voted Ought to Pass with Amendment and asks for your support. Thank you very much, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator Carson, the amendment failed. So you can offer an Ought to Pass on the bill and if there's an amendment somewhere that someone wants to add to it, we could do that, but the amendment that was on the bill failed.

Senator Carson moved Ought to Pass.

SENATOR CARSON: Mister President, I took this off the table because a number of Senators came to me afterwards and said, oops, I didn't realize what was going on. I really want to vote in favor of this. So I'm taking it off the table. Please support the committee and thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: I would just like to say Mister President, that the only people that are for this continuing education are the Board of Realtors, they're pushing it, the reason they're pushing it is they offer classes, all the people that don't belong to the board can take the classes for free if they become and join the Board of Realtors. This is adding six more hours every two years to continuing education. I ask you to vote against it so I can bring a motion of ITL. Thank you.

Floor Amendment to SB 576-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to home health services rate setting.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Department of Health and Human Services; Establishing Home Health Services Rates. The commissioner of the department of health and human services shall review Medicaid reimbursement rates for home health services and determine whether they reflect the average cost for providers to deliver services. The commissioner shall consult with stakeholders in reviewing the rates considering the factors of economy, efficiency, quality of care, and access to care, in accordance with guidelines in federal regulations. The commissioner shall report the findings to the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives, the governor, and the chairpersons of the house and senate finance committees for consideration for inclusion in the state operating budget for the biennium ending June 30, 2021.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

2018-1182s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires the department of health and human services to review Medicaid reimbursement rates for home health services.

SENATOR BRADLEY: So when I introduced this bill it was to resume the rate setting proceeding that we have suspended for the past few budgets. This compromise says that the Commissioner of the Department of Health and Human Services shall review Medicaid reimbursement rates for home health services and determine whether they reflect the average cost. And then it goes on to say the commissioner shall consult with all the stakeholders. Look, I think we all know that there are issues with health care provider rates. All this does is send a signal to the Department of Health and Human Services to get started on the discussion about provider rates before the next budget. I thank the Senate President for helping draft this, what I hope is a good compromise. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Just wanted to ensure, I know that the issues that we had before was a direct to the commission to set the rates. It doesn't look like this directs the commissioner to set the rates, but just to review them, is that correct?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Review and consult.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of taking Senate Bill 375 off the table you're going to say aye, if you're opposed you're going to say nay.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Birdsell, Innis, Morse.

SENATOR GANNON: The Sandown Lions are having their world famous Irish dinner at 4:30 in Sandown on Saturday. Any legislator, or anybody up in the gallery, if you come, I'll pay for your nice Irish dinner on Saturday at 4:30. Come on down. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: I just want to remind everyone that we're not having session next Thursday, so Transportation will be meeting at 1 o'clock.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I would just like members of Senate Judiciary to know we are meeting next Thursday at 9:30.

PRESIDENT MORSE: If the Senate could just pay attention for two more minutes, a close friend of mine for the past thirty years, passed away this past week. And it's kind of ironic because when Senator Downing was alive we used to have a St. Patrick's Day party, and we took a year off and then we started it up a year ago. And a bunch of us put together a group called Inspiring Futures and we actually try to help young people with after school programs and projects like that. Chief Consentino came to the event this past Friday night, which was a huge event, and a lot of good friends getting together and when he went to leave I chased him down because he was in a wheelchair and he obviously wasn't feeling good. And he said to me, at the time, this will be the last event that I get to go to, and he passed away. He was one of those guys that did everything for his community, and has been a long time mentor and role model. He served as Police Chief in Atkinson for thirty-five years, was well known for his work for the elderly community serving as Atkinson's Elderly Services Program director for twenty-six years. He's been the driving force behind positive changes in the community in Atkinson, has seen and made caring for the elderly and the disabled a priority in this town. He never stopped giving to the community, having served on the Atkinson Fire Department, as a Selectman, and with the Atkinson Lions Club. He had a hand in many things to make the community of Atkinson great. His unending dedication to the community was obvious even in the last days. He even attended a Board of Selectman meeting last week. He was devoted, selfless and caring–probably the best way to describe Phil. His many contributions and his leadership will sorely be missed, and his loss will undoubtedly be felt by the town for many years. I want to share my gratitude for all the work he has done over the many years in serving the community. He leaves behind his wife of fifty-two years, Jody, and two sons, Philip and David. Susan and I wish them the best, and our thoughts and prayers are with them.

Without objection, all personal privileges and unanimous consent shall be entered into the permanent Journal of the Senate. (Rule 2-16 and Rule 2-17). Adopted.

Out of Recess. Call the Senate to Order.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM LATE SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Late Session.

Adopted. Adjournment from the Late Session.

April 5, 2018

The Senate reconvened at 10:00 a.m., a quorum being present.

The Reverend Jon Hopkins, chaplain to the Senate, offered the following prayer:

Dear God, be with us today, extending your grace, granting your freedom, providing your protection and empowering with your strength. We pray that you would unify us so that we can make a difference in this land. We pray for all of those in authority, that you would give them your wisdom and discernment as they lead. We ask that you would appoint strong, faithful men and women to serve this state and our nation. We pray for your great healing on your land. Remind us today that you have shown us what is good and what you require of us to do justly, to love mercy, to walk humbly. We ask that as a people we may humble ourselves so that we might be servants of one another. Help us in our state to work as never before to strengthen our families and to give our children hope and a moral foundation for the future. May our desire to be, to serve all people in this great state of New Hampshire so that freedom may ring, and when we allow freedom to ring we will speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and gentiles, Catholics and Protestants will be able to join hands and to sing; "Free at last, free at last, Thank God Almighty we are free at last." America, the place of patriot dreams, God shed your grace on thee and on us here today. Amen.

Senator Avard led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Aidan Dennehy sang the National Anthem.

Senator Watters is excused for the day.

INTRODUCTION OF PAGES

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. It's my pleasure to introduce Adam Minahan. Our Senate Page for the day from Keene High School, whose favorite subject is biology, something he intends to study as he moves on to a four year degree upon high school completion. He's currently a junior at Keene High School, a member of the National Honor Society, the Keene Interact Club, the Edge of Leadership and the United Nations Representative for the model United Nations. He enjoys playing violin and guitar as well as running and he works at the Colonial Theater in Keene as the concession manager and he no doubt is looking forward to the Monadnock International Film Festival occurring next, on April 19th. Adam, it's a pleasure to meet you, and to welcome you to the Senate. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. It's an honor to welcome as a page Aidan Dennehy, who just gave that wonderful rendition, also serving two duties today; as a page as well. He's age 12, in the sixth grade, hometown Concord, goes to Concord Christian Academy. His favorite subject is math, his extracurricular activates include drama, Palace Theater Alice in Wonderland, track and field including the 100 yard dash, 200 yard dash, 4 by 1 and long jump. And in the future he plans to be on Broadway. Let's give a warm welcome to Aidan.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. And I apologize to Senator Cavanaugh for introducing his guest but I think it's appropriate that the Democrat leader introduce one of the most successful Republican strategists in the state of New Hampshire and very good friend, Michael Dennehy and I just want to say that before you clap, that I don't know if there's a better father in the world from what I've seen working professionally and as a friend, than Mike Dennehy. He inspires me and everybody every day by what he does and we just love him for his work. Thank you, Mike.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the following bill is special ordered to the beginning of the regular calendar. Adopted.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
HB 1785, changing "hearing impaired" to "deaf" or "hard of hearing" in the New Hampshire laws.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the following bill is special ordered to Thursday, April 19, 2018. Adopted.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1506-FN, relative to regulation of graduate physicians.

FN REPORT FOR APRIL 5, 2018

Senator Daniels recommends the waiver of referral to the Finance Committee, Senate Rule 4-5, for the following bills with a fiscal note or an appropriation of funds:

CONSENT CALENDAR:

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1286, relative to fishing and hunting licenses for permanently disabled veterans.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1441-FN, establishing the office of the ombudsman in the department of state.
HB 1823-FN, relative to layered amortization of retirement system liabilities.

JUDICIARY
HB 1425-FN, relative to simple assault.
HB 1683-FN, relative to the definition of child abuse.

REGULAR CALENDAR:

COMMERCE
HB 1252-FN, relative to certificates of insurance.
HB 1308-FN, relative to non-renewal of lines of business.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1280-FN, relative to bow and arrow hunting licenses for permanently disabled military veterans.
HB 1352-FN, eliminating the nonresident freshwater bait dealers license.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1421-FN, relative to the regulation of event tents.
HB 1506-FN, relative to regulation of graduate physicians.
HB 1676-FN, repealing the licensing requirement for open-air shows and repealing the laws related to the keeping of billiard tables.

TRANSPORTATION
HB 1731-FN, relative to regulating bicycles.

Senator Daniels recommends the following bills be ordered to the Finance Committee upon being found Ought to Pass/Ought to Pass with Amendment:

REGULAR CALENDAR:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1685-FN, establishing a statutory commission for oversight over occupational regulation—if Inexpedient to Legislate recommendation is overturned.

Without objection, the FN Report is adopted.

CONSENT CALENDAR REPORTS REMOVED

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1286, by Senator Feltes

CONSENT CALENDAR

Senator Bradley moved that the Consent Calendar, with the relevant amendments as printed in the day's Calendar be adopted and that all such bills found Ought-to-Pass be ordered to Third Reading.

EDUCATION

HB 1480, relative to the membership of the board of trustees of a chartered public school.

Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Watters for the committee.

This bill would modify the membership requirements of the board of trustees of a public chartered school, changing the ways that parents are represented on the board and making it so that no employee would be a voting member of the board. The committee believes that parent involvement is a vital part of a well-functioning charter school and that having teachers on the board is vital, given their expertise in making decisions that are best for students.

HB 1493, relative to the statewide assessment system of performance in schools.

Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Giuda for the committee.

This bill provides that the statewide education improvement and assessment program shall be designed to measure academic achievement and growth. The legislation also specifically enumerates that the assessments address post-secondary readiness and deals with the criteria to be used in the development of the program. This bill is an important step in aligning education statutes with the state's Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) plan.

HB 1494, relative to the definition of academic standards.

Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

This legislation clarifies the definition of "academic standards" by including what a student should know and be able to do in a course or at each grade level, in order to include students who may be taking courses above their given grade level.

HB 1551, relative to the retention of records of individualized education programs.

Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Watters for the committee.

This bill clarifies requirements to retain records on IEPs and streamlines recordkeeping for school districts. This legislation is important in order to deal with a recent change in rules.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES

HB 1575, permitting hunting with an air rifle.

Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

This bill permits the hunting of small game with an air rifle. This bill comes with the support of the New Hampshire Fish & Game Department. The bill has been tailored to prohibit the firing of an air rifle for the purposes of hunting within 300 feet of a permanently occupied dwelling. Air rifles are often chosen for vermin control and general shooting in compact areas.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION

HB 1441-FN, establishing the office of the ombudsman in the department of state.

Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

This bill was brought forward to establish an office of ombudsman within the department of state. The ombudsman would investigate criminal complaints from the public and from the New Hampshire General Court, and would also conduct investigations of such complaints. The Committee did not believe there were adequate resources to support this, in addition, there were no specific qualifications for this position. The committee felt there were many unanswered questions.

HB 1823-FN, relative to layered amortization of retirement system liabilities.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Carson for the committee.

This legislation incorporates recommendations from the Decennial Commission. It will assist in smoothing out the ups and downs of rates. This bill makes sense for our retirement system's future, in stabilizing the system and in having predictability for the New Hampshire Retirement System employees and employers.

JUDICIARY
HB 1425-FN, relative to simple assault.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

This bill would provide that, for the purpose of the simple assault statute, unprivileged physical contact which does not result in harm or injury to another would be charged as a violation and not a misdemeanor. The Committee believes this would be an unnecessary and confusing change to a statute that is working well.

HB 1683-FN, relative to the definition of child abuse.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator French for the committee.

This bill will amend the definition of 'abused child' to include a child who has been subjected to human trafficking. Enacting this legislation will ensure that children who are sex trafficking victims will be able to receive all available services currently offered to abused children.

PUBLIC AND MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS
HB 1446, relative to childhood cancer awareness month.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

This bill designates September as childhood cancer awareness month. Recognizing that there is a cancer cluster in a five town area of the New Hampshire Seacoast, raising awareness is a priority. This legislation will facilitate the steps needed to encourage research, improve screening, and increase understanding of environmental triggers of pediatric cancers.

TRANSPORTATION
HB 1271, changing the name of Industrial Drive at the Hugh Gallen Office Park to Ratification Way.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Cavanaugh for the committee.

This bill renames a section of Industrial Drive in Concord as Ratification Way. The cost of any signage or other markers will be covered by the appropriation contained in the current capital budget for the archives building project.

HB 1290, relative to vehicle registration for new residents to New Hampshire.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

This bill was requested by the Department of Safety to allow them to issue registrations and number plates to new residents whose vehicles were registered in another state and whose titles are held by an out-of-state lien holder. Current statute requires the department to issue temporary registrations valid for 60 days; however, 60 days has proven to be an insufficient timeframe for receipt of the title. The registrations will be valid until such time as they are due for renewal.

HB 1331, relative to incidental uses for agricultural plates.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

This bill authorizes uses of a vehicle with agricultural plates that are incidental to agricultural uses. Authorized uses include, but are not limited to, stops at a school or place of business during travel. The committee amendment addresses a request of the Commissioner of Agriculture to update RSA 261:84 relative to farm plates so that a driver authorized by the holder may operate the vehicle.

Amendment to HB 1331

Amend the bill by inserting after section 1 the following and renumbering the original section 2 to read as 3:

2 Farm Plates; Use. Amend RSA 261:84, II to read as follows:

II. This section shall be construed as authorizing the holder of farm plates or a driver authorized by the holder to operate the vehicle while it is empty so long as it is being used generally to accomplish the purposes allowed in this section, and to transport within such vehicle incidental personal property such as food, tools, and clothing.

HB 1363, relative to the waiver of vehicle registration suspension fees.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

This bill authorizes waiver of vehicle registration suspension fees in cases where an error resulting in suspension has been made by the Department of Safety, the court, or law enforcement.

HB 1453, relative to the traffic safety commission.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

This bill modifies the duties of the traffic safety commission by adding two members from the legislature. Legislative involvement will help to ensure that the legislature knows about the good work that this commission is doing and so that the commission may become better integrated with both the House and the Senate.

HB 1454, eliminating the commission to study recommendations of the National Transportation Safety Board.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

This bill eliminates the commission to study recommendations of the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB). This commission was formed over 20 years ago and has not held one meeting. Further, studying recommendations of the NTSB is rightfully in the responsibilities of the traffic safety commission.

HB 1517, relative to vehicle inspection failures for rust.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

This bill will amend RSA266 to change rust examination during vehicle inspection and establish a standard for failure from rust that is structural in nature. This change will ensure that vehicles do not fail inspection for rust that is cosmetic only.

HB 1518, repealing the requirement that motor vehicle lighting and safety equipment be approved by the director of the division of motor vehicles.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

> This bill repeals the requirement that motor vehicle lighting and safety equipment be approved by the director of the Division of Motor Vehicles. As part of vehicle inspections conducted every year on vehicles, this is a more proper venue to determine if after-market parts meet the safety criteria. Further, to date, there has not been a request for approval of lighting devices to the director, making current law unnecessary.

HB 1523, relative to heavy duty recovery vehicles.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Cavanaugh for the committee.

> At the request of the Department of Safety, this bill establishes weight limits for heavy duty recovery vehicles, which recover other large vehicles when they go off of the roadway. This bill creates a registration category for these vehicles and allows a permitting process for the weight class.

The question is on the adoption of the Consent Calendar. Adopted.

HB 1785, changing "hearing impaired" to "deaf" or "hard of hearing" in the New Hampshire laws.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Avard for the committee.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1785 Ought to Pass. This bill changes the phrase "hearing impaired" to "deaf" or "hard of hearing" in the New Hampshire laws. The labeling of hearing impaired is an offensive term to the deaf community, because they do not consider themselves as impaired. Updating the statutes in New Hampshire will continue to support the community and to remove the outdated language. The committee received compelling testimony from the deaf community in support of this legislation and now asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1785. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A roll call was requested by Senator Soucy, seconded by Senator Birdsell.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: (None)

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Amendment to HB 1252-FN

Amend RSA 412:6-b, II(f) as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

(f) With the permission of the policy holder, an insurance producer may provide any bank or lending institution with a copy of the certificate of insurance, policy of insurance, or insurance binder relating to the subject property. If the insurance producer provides a copy of the insurance, policy of insurance, or insurance binder, an insurance producer may complete supplemental questionnaires for a bank or lending institution, provided that the insurance producer shall not be required to analyze or warrant any provisions of the insurance policy.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1252. This bill states that with the permission of a policy holder, an insurance producer may provide certain documentation to a bank or lending institution for financing of that property. The bill almost entirely deals with financing and re-financing of condominium units. Often national lenders for condominiums will require an insurance agent to fill out a comprehensive insurance questionnaire and certify that certain coverages are in place, but they don't always comply with the wording of the policy. This bill allows the agents to be in a better position when they are asked to be more candid and accurately provide information needed. The committee amendment was requested by insurance agents in order to tighten up the language in the statute. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1252 Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I would like you all to assist me in welcoming the smartest fourth grade that we have seen in here today from Boscawen New Hampshire. Stand up, guys.

HB 1308-FN, relative to non-renewal of lines of business.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1308. In this bill when an insurance company provides fire or casualty insurance and decides not to renew their entire line of business in New Hampshire, they will be required to provide its appointed insurance agents with 120 day notice instead of the current 45 day notice. It also requires any non-renewal notices to affected policy holders to be issued with an effective date of at least 120 days' notice after the agent's notice. This bill will allow ample time for customers to find appropriate replacement insurance because some types of policies are harder to replace than others. Please join the committee in voting HB 1308 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1374, relative to financial regulation technicals.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1374. This bill is a request of the Insurance Department and makes a few minor changes to their financial regulation statutes. The first change corrects an error in the Corporate Governance Disclosure Act. The word "financial" was incorrectly used regarding information that should be kept confidential when received by the department. Second, the department's current statute requires examination of every company at least every five years, however the language in both the Delta Dental statute and the HMO statute provide for exams every three years. This bill creates consistency between the Delta Dental and HMO statute with regard to exam laws. The third change inserts two statutory references to the Delta Dental statute but will ensure the confidential treatment of information that the department gains during an exam or investigation. The department has always treated information confidentially but there's nothing in the statute requiring them to do so currently. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1374 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1378, relative to domestic insurance company investments.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1378. This bill clarifies the insurance laws requiring investment diversification. The existing language limits an insurance company's ability to invest in any single person. This bill removes the limitations on how much the assets of property and casualty insurers can invest at once if that investment is being made in obligation or enterprises that are backed by the government. Effectively this bill brings the property and casualty investment insurance into line with life insurance investment law. When you clarify language in one part of the statute and not the other, it creates a negative implication and this bill cleans up that implication. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1378 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1379, relative to confidentiality of forms and rates.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1379. This bill was a request of the Insurance Department and clarifies that forms and rates filed with the department are held confidential until the latter of either the effective date or the approval date, at which time they become public documents and are available for inspection by interested parties. This exact bill was unanimously voted out of the Senate last year, but died in committee of conference because a non-germane amendment was added. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1379 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1389, relative to commercial lines modernization.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President, for the third and final time today. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1389. This bill is a request of the Insurance Department and clarifies certain provisions of the law relating to regulation of forms for property and casualty insurance and the filing of aircraft insurance policies. This bill relaxes the regulation of commercial insurance filings by excluding certain types of commercial insurance from the form approval process but allows for sample audits every quarter to monitor compliance. This bill also reduces the aggregate premium amount that qualifies as a large commercial policy holder down to $25,000 from the previous limit of $50,000, to allow more businesses to qualify for this classification. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1389 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1663, establishing a committee to study reimbursement rates under automobile insurance policies.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1663. The collision repair industry in New Hampshire and nationwide is in constant struggle with the insurance companies involved in the repair process. Shops need to repair vehicles as comprehensively as possible to restore the vehicle to pre-loss condition, while insurance companies involved are also aiming to do accident repairs as inexpensively as possible. This creates a struggle and oftentimes very different opinions as to the cost and what should be repaired. In many cases, auto insurance companies will even pay a dealer as much as double the hourly rate, far more than they are willing to pay to a local body shop for the same work. House Bill 1663 creates a study committee that will review reimbursement rates to collision repairers. If the collision repair market in New Hampshire is broken, this is an opportunity to help fix it. The goal of the study committee is to review the current laws and see where they fall short in providing equity and fairness in reimbursement rates for things such as mechanical repair, body labor, paint and materials. The study committee will offer legislative solutions to benefit the insurers and shops but most importantly the New Hampshire consumer, negatively impacted due to a motor vehicle accident. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1663 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

EDUCATION
HB 1228, removing the limitation on a chartered public school incurring long term debt.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1228 Ought to Pass. This bill deletes the limitation on public charter schools that require them to be in operation for five years before incurring long term debt. In the early years of a charter school's founding when dollars are scarce, this legislation allows them an advantage without providing additional funds. It is clear that facilities are very important to charter schools and this legislation provides one way that they can become more efficient with the dollars that they already have. Therefore, the majority of the Education Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1228. Thank you, Mister President.

Recess. Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the bill. I have a school in the 20th Senate District that was built in 1921. Still occupied, 1921. There have been numerous attempts to go to the town to get an appropriation, a bond issue, to embellish that school, either rip it down or redo it. Those bond issues failed consistently on a public vote. This piece of legislation would allow for a group of people who have created an institution to go out and to, by the way accept public money, based on average daily membership, they accept $5,000 for each student they enroll and then if this bill passes after five years of operation, they'll go to the bank and get a conventional mortgage to either buy a facility or to embellish a facility, without any of the public being involved in this at all. But they'll accept public monies and the next thing that they'll be asking for is building aid. That's going to come. There's a path that's now being created. Yet, we say to our public schools, you must go to the public if you're an SB 2 town, you discuss it at town meeting and then they've got to vote on it. If you're a city, like the city of Manchester, it takes a capital appropriation to make a difference in the public schools. We maintain these public schools. Public schools are public schools, anybody can go to these public schools. The locals have been denied the ability to vote on whether a charter school comes in or not, because they get state sanction, the State Board of Education grants a charter. So the public basically has been eliminated.

I have another grammar school in my district that was built in 1951. Hopefully some improvements will be made. The city, obviously because we have a tax cap, significant limitations on appropriations. Building built in 1951. I visit every school in my district every year and see what's available. I think this is not a good piece of legislation. This eliminates the public from the public school concept which the charter schools are called, charter public schools. "Public" is now the key word. As a result of those comments Mister President, I would hope that my colleagues vote down this piece of legislation and we move forward. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to HB 1228. I think there has been a lot of discussion about charter schools being public so once again I think there should be local decisions made about public schools. A school board should be deciding, not the state legislature if this were a private school, it would be different, but supposedly they're public so they have to play by public rules. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: I rise in support of the legislation and I'm very curious by the comments that I hear today. Those who don't support charter schools don't want to give them any financing at all. Every single time, every single year, I've been here for eight years, there's been nothing but work against educational choice. Is it about the kids? Isn't it supposed to be about the kids? We know that not every kid fits in every single hole.

But yet some continue to want to make that mandate that no matter who your kid is, no matter where they come from, no matter what their challenges are, that we have a public only solution to that. There are states across this country that have fully embraced the concept that it's supposed to be about the kids. We don't let charter schools go on to the SB 2 towns, and get more taxpayer money to build. We don't give them the same amount of money that we give our public schools. The fact that they're coming in here today and saying look, we understand you don't like us, you don't support us, but we'll go at our own. We'll go at our own. We'll borrow money because we believe in the kids, because we believe in educating those kids that might not find their round hole and their square peg in the public school system. The fact that we're sitting here today debating allowing an educational facility to go to the private market, not the taxpayer dole, but to the private market, to a bank, so they can build or expand or create some sort of an educational system so their kids get a great education, and we're fighting against that? We can do better than that. Look I'm a proud product of public education, my father was a public school teacher, my sister was a public school teacher. In spite of my challenges I think it turned out okay. Some might disagree in this room, I get that. Especially this guy right here. But we have got to make a decision, are we here to make sure every kid gets a great education for that kid, Senator from District 15 might disagree too I notice but that's okay, or not? This is a solution that a budding industry is creating for itself. They want to be there for our children, they want to give them a good education. How can we say no to that? Unless it's the intent to say that every single thing and every single penny's got to go through some taxpayer funded bond or some taxpayer funded raise. I truly hope you reconsider the position you're at and really give thought to allowing parents and children to find the best solution to their educational advancement. No matter what form that takes. Supposed to be about the kids. Thank you, Mister President.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. Could I have all of the Milford Heron Pond students stand and wave and the Senate to welcome the bright students from Milford Heron Pond School?

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Senator for taking my question and thank you, Mister President for recognizing me. What is the oversight mechanism, if any, with respect to the lending that would be allowed pursuant to this provision?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much. I provide a rhetorical response, what is the oversight provision for any private entity to borrow money and do you believe that there should be?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. As a public school, these are public charter schools, what is the public oversight of the lending provided in this provision?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so very much. So as a public charter school that might receive state funded money, are you implying that every single business and every single entity that gets state money, if we think about the BFA, we think about the ARMI deal and all these, do you believe we should have oversight and what type of oversight should we apply to all of them?

SENATOR FELTES: Is there or is there not any public oversight of the lending provided in this provision for public charter schools?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, again, thank you so much for the question. So, in full disclosure, after spending about twenty years of my life lending industry money, lending businesses money, lending non-profits money, the same non-profits that we give money to here at the state I can assure you that there'll be sufficient oversight by that lending institution as there is for all types of indebt that they make to anyone who comes in to borrow money.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. What was the purpose of the five year limitation to begin with and why do you still support erasing it?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thanks so much for the question. So for the record, Senator, I don't think there should have been any limit. When we first constituted charter schools, when we first made the decision to focus on the children versus the politics, when we first made that decision that acknowledging not every kid fits in every single hole, there are many people in this room and I'm one of them, that has believed that unfettered access to a private charter school. The fact that we put a limitation in requiring five years would suggest the fact that with a compromise, as there's always been a compromise as we have always shortchanged them, we've never given them as much money as other schools and this legislature has battled as you know since you and I have been here, about what type and how much support we should give them. My question to you is, and I'm not trying to be rhetorical is, why should there be a limit? If a group of people want to come together and buy a facility to start a school, and go borrow money how different is it than they would lease real estate somewhere else? In this case, they would own and have a mortgage on it and in other case there are so many charter schools out there that are just leasing space. There's a lease, is a long term lease of indebtedness any different than a long term mortgage is to them? I don't think that it is. And I don't think that our requirement for oversight on a long term lease should be any different than a long term commercial real estate mortgage.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Senator. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR LASKY: Would this bill afford a public school the same opportunity to go to a private lender without any oversight etcetera, as you know, if passed we would allow the public charter school to do?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. I appreciate it. And I have to answer it again in the reciprocal. The fact that a charter school doesn't have the ability to go to the taxpayer and ask them to float a bond. So if they can't go to a town and float a bond, for a charter school, how do they get money in order to operate? Again this comes back to the same contention we have to remember. Today, there has been no outcry from this legislature, there's been no outcry from the Department of Education, there's been no outcry from the Governor or from the House for a charter school that enters into a long term lease. Now frankly, we know that some long term leases we can actually capitalize what actually is looked at as debt on their balance sheet. So if we as a body are okay saying to a charter school, you can enter into a ten or fifteen year lease, how different is that than the same charter school saying I want to buy a piece of real estate and just pay the mortgage on it? Every day in this building, we talk about the fact we believe in the concept of home ownership. And we want people not to rent, we want people to buy and be part of that American dream while as a business owner, we think the same way. Why are we saying charter schools only have to lease, acknowledging it's a long term indebted obligation with a contract with penalties if they don't perform, but if they want to borrow money and buy a building, we're against that? I would suggest to you Senator, that I think we're arguing about something we should all be agreeing on.

SENATOR LASKY: With all due respect, too, you're looking out for the students as you say, what about those students in the public school, who have been waiting years for improvements to be made and have to go through some sort of oversight, whether it's a bond, whatever it might be, to have those improvements or just basic maintenance done to their schools. Are they not at a disadvantage?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. I actually don't believe they are at a disadvantage. So when we go back and look and the Senator from District number 20 remembers the eight or ten years that the town of Bedford, New Hampshire was paying a lease payment essentially to the city of Manchester to send their kids over to West, and Bedford made that decision and said we want to build our own school. And they brought it in front of the voters, Lord knows how many times to try and float that bond so they could build their own school and ultimately the town of Bedford made that decision, they got the votes and they raised the money, they floated a bond and they built what I would consider to be a beautiful school. So in this case, taxpayer dollars go into a public school system and the taxpayers themselves made the ultimate decision to build the school and the kids are at the school and I'm proud to say it's one of the best high schools in the state, year after year after year. In this case, you've got a charter school that people are paying a tuition to, so it's generating its own revenue, that's not taxpayer funded even though there is state dollars coming in, there is supplemental money and I agree with that, but that's how this state has constructed it. And their ability to break out of a lease and borrow money to do the same thing they're doing today, I think is a reasonable request.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you for your indulgence. What about the transportation that the respective cities pay in the public, the taxpayer pays for, you know, children to go to a public chartered school? Is that any different than, you know, taking he money for that, is that in the oversight that that may entail, is that any different than asking for a building loan?

SENATOR SANBORN: Again, Senator, thank you so much for your question. And I'd agree with you, the fact that we use taxpayer money to transfer kids from one school to another school, but if I take a step back and think of it, all over our state we spend money to transfer kids from one public school to another school. In fact, some communities today are even trying to redraw their lines of where kids will go. That's the issue of transportation that yes, we bring them but again, I come back to the premise Senator, that if a public charter school is operating and we have them operating all over our state today, we all agree with that. And they're all leasing premises today, they're paying someone for leases, it's not free. But we haven't required any sort of oversight of making sure that the state pre-approves the lease, so I don't know why we're trying to make the state give this oversight, that pre-approval agree with the mortgage, it's just not balanced there to me, Senator, and that's what I'm concerned about.

SENATOR LASKY: The question, and we can go back and forth forever and I just want to reiterate what the Senator from District 15 said was, oversight may not have to be the state. So–

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you for your point. I appreciate that.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I am a member of the Education Committee. When this came before us I voted in favor of it. I just want to reassure my colleagues on the Education Committee, I continue to support the bill. And I'll also answer my colleague from District 9, I think you've got an excellent public school education and your oral interpretation instructor just must have loved you in his class. So I'm entering into this debate without the history of this body and just the statute in front of me. And I have to say that there are, as our colleague has said from District 9, there are a lot of permissions for charter schools to make, enter into contracts, make final decisions, there's no oversight. And the only thing that this is changing is saying that chartered public schools, and I understand the word "public" is in the charter schools, have been in operation for five or more years before they incur the long term debt. But what we had in the committee was a report from their association detailing all of the schools in the state and most likely they are in former public school buildings that fit the description our colleague from District 12 has said and from District 20, or 13. That we do have public schools that need attention, that are aged. But these chartered schools are in buildings that have been abandoned by the public schools and as they take them over, they need work. If there's somebody who's willing to lend money on a balance sheet that is just starting up, well, obviously there's some other signatures on there guaranteeing their mortgage. And the mortgage lender is really taking the risk and that's the private sector. I understand, rules are different. It may not be fair but it's the rules we've constructed. So my opinion on the bill has not changed and I still think that this is a reasonable action. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for taking my question, Senator. In response to one of your questions, in the committee hearing, the representative from the New Hampshire Charter School Association said, charter schools, this is the hearing report, charter schools did not really have credit when they were first set up. So the question is who then is the mortgagor if the charter schools don't have credit?

SENATOR KAHN: That's a good question and I don't know. Could these be private lenders and not a commercial bank? I suspect that's a possibility.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Not the mortgagee but the mortgagor, who would be the mortgagor? Would it be if not the charter school, who is the person on the hook, who's signing the documents and owes the debt?

SENATOR KAHN: I really can't answer that question. I'm not familiar with their debt instruments, the lender, seems wide open and I always assume that there would be co-signatures in these first five years. That's all I can say.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you for taking my questions. I asked this of the Senator from Bedford, it was probably an unfair question, he was not on the committee, but was there any discussion of the purpose of the five year limitation to begin with, in committee?

SENATOR KAHN: If you're looking at the committee report, I don't believe that there was and all I can imagine is that if one was putting together a pro forma statement, you would have three years of financial history to provide to the lender.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I just wanted to ask you if this legislation goes forward and public charter schools are allowed to incur debt on a building before the five years, and they don't succeed, is there any liability that the state carries at that point for the debt that is still pending out there as a result of the charter school, public charter school failure?

SENATOR KAHN: I don't believe so, there may be others in this body that have better knowledge than I.

Senator Soucy moved to Lay on the Table HB 1228.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator Bradley.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Hennessey, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, D'Allesandro.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Reagan, Birdsell, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Roll Call, Yeas: 7 - Nays: 16. Failed.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I will never read another blurb about this bill. This is serious stuff. This legislature and this state has decided that it's in the best interest of public education to establish charter schools. The specious argument that we are afraid of financial oversight has nothing to do in my opinion with financial oversight, it has everything to do with obstructing something that is fundamentally in opposition to the position taken by people who support public school education. This is public school education and what I hear an argument being made for is, well if we can't get it from the taxpayers in the traditional public schools, we're going to foreclose on the ability of another institution established by this state to provide a better opportunity for people to get an education because we don't like the fact that we can't sell to the public the ability to fund their schools so we're going to deny the charter school ability to raise funds in the private sector. That is hypocritical. We're here to support the kids, we're here to support charter schools, not to try to kill them. That's already established law and I would ask you to support the committee report. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition and I just want to remind our Dean here that, you know, this is a bad idea for his relatively new young school in Manchester, the 20th century one, it's bad for all of our schools, including the Blue School, the only remaining one room school in the state of New Hampshire, built in 1858. It's a bad idea no matter what the school situation is because here you go again, destroying our public school education and creating another one that's going to rob money, rob students and hurt our kids. And I say this as a teacher, and I say this as a Senator from the North Country, where we, this spring are closing down two schools, the school in Jefferson and the Colebrook Academy, obviously in Colebrook. This trend, which is very disturbing and blurring the lines between public and private, where the governing and the support is unknown, not figured out, but we do know the intent. The intent is to break the back of public schools, not support them, not give them the resources that they need. The great enabler, when you look up at those Supreme Court Justice scales, how are we taking care of those who are struggling in our community, those that need a public education to lift them up and provide them opportunity. We need schools that work for everybody, not just those who either have wealth, have parents that are pushing them forward but those who are struggling, kids that I taught every day, the school in Whitefield, the White Mountain Regional High School as well and, you know, when I was a teacher, you look across the classroom and the good kids, the kids that get good grades, they're smart, they're ambitious, they've got good homes, you know, they're going to be successful no matter what I do. But it's those kids in the middle and those kids that are struggling, those kids where I can hear their stomachs growling, those kids who I know what's going on in their home because it's just a little small town. Those are the people being hurt by this. We need to turn this trend around, we need to support public schools. I have in my district, Berlin has the highest tax rate in the state of New Hampshire, and Groveton's the second highest tax rate because of the education funding and we continue to rob from them and hurt them so we need to change our policies and we need to create an education system where everybody can succeed. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I'm having trouble understanding what we're arguing about today. This is making no sense to me. We stand here and talk about opportunity for children and at the same time we talk about robbery. The only robbery that I see taking place, is opportunity for children, because we want to squelch opportunity for children by constricting the finances of charter schools and that's what the game is here. Douglas Pilardi, some of you have met him. Twenty-eight years ago lived in a trailer in Vermont. Neither of his parents ever made more than $20,000 a year. His guidance counselor called him in and said Mister Pilardi, you need to go to another school. You are too creative to be here. You're not going to maximize your potential as a human being if you stay in this public school. I encourage you to find an alternative. He did. He went to work, he got scholarships, he begged for money and he put himself through a boarding school, Putney. He is one of the most creative people I've ever met. He has created three beautiful properties in the seacoast. I don't know how he does it. And he does it because he had a choice, he had an alternative. It would have been great if there was a charter school that could have nurtured that in him, but at that time there wasn't. So he struggled and struggled and struggled. It made him who he is today, but let's not kill charter schools. It's not a zero-sum game. Education is about the kids. I'm not hearing about kids. I'm hearing about oversight, I'm hearing about how loans are structured. Who cares? Let's help the kids. Let these folks get long term debt. Concord Trailways and C&J get indirect state support. They also have long term debt. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: I'm just fascinated by the debate being supposedly about caring about our kids. I mean I have submitted and been on the side of many bills that I thought were caring about our kids, but it only matters when we're caring about giving them, our own kids a certain boost up. And that means we're deciding who gets the boost up. And that to me is not okay. Every kid is entitled to the same thing. I wish all our kids could go to Putney, wouldn't that be great? Unfortunately, Putney actually is a private school, not a public charter school by any means. To say that we are not caring for our square pegs is a direct insult, while I'm trying not to take it personally. I spent my career working in public schools in Massachusetts where there are many charter schools. And I was specifically taking care of the square pegs, many of whom could not afford, nor did their parents have the means even to figure out how to send them to a charter school. Why don't the charter public schools have to follow the same rules? That's all we're asking. Let them follow the same rules. Let's not give them an edge that public schools don't have and watch our public schools and the students who can't access charter schools flounder. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I too have schools in the North Country, not as far north but certainly as rural, okay? And I would submit that if public schools were failing because they can't raise the funds from the tax base they have, they consider a charter school as an alternative with lower costs and at equal or better product. I would invite you to investigate that. There are charter schools up in the North Country that are succeeding and doing exceedingly well. That's an alternative for financial reasons as well as for the square peg in the round hole.

With respect to blurring lines, there's no blurring of the lines whatsoever. Public schools are publicly funded, bond issues or whatever means you choose as a school board, charter schools have boards as well, they proceed and they have fiduciary responsibilities established in statute. They have bond counsel if they need it, attorneys if they need it, there is no mystery here. They are not going to do based on their fiduciary obligations anything foolish that's going to endanger the school they've committed to support. They're subject to the very same laws and the lenders are subject to the very same strictures, both in statute and with respect to common sense lending, but they're not going to let an institution do something stupid, because the bank will be at risk. This is a specious argument to try to stop the movement of education towards where it needs to go in our state, to allow our kids and their parents to choose the institution they want for their child to gain an education. If a public school is that institution, we support those public schools. If it is not, we have an obligation to support the parents who decide that it is not. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I'll rise and attempt to offer some answers to some of the questions that some of my colleagues have brought up, but haven't been answered. If we take the paragraph that we are reviewing and changing, the last sentence of that paragraph answers the Senator's question is that the state shall have no liability for any debt or other financial obligation incurred under this paragraph. And it gets back to if you want to say, let's have some skin in the game. If you're making this charter school responsible for all of these then why would the public need a say? Who is responsible for the debt? Certainly in this paragraph it is not the state. And if we look back into the next section of the law, 94-b:6 the charter school liability, no host sending receiving district shall be held liable for damages in an action to recover for a bodily injury, personal liability, property damages defined by this RSA 507-b and then the, or failure to educate the pupil and it goes on. But again, that's to emphasize that when the legislation for charter schools was set up, they limited the liability because they weren't responsible. So if you're not responsible why should you get to tell me what bonds I can ask for, what funding I can go for? So are we being fair? I think that the legislature passed the original legislation for charter schools didn't have an easy job. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. When the founding fathers of this country looked at what civic responsibility was, what did they say? We should have public schools. In the constitution of the state of New Hampshire, every child is entitled to a free and appropriate education. Our Supreme Court made a decision with regard to that. So public schools, in Manchester we have schools where forty-nine different languages are spoken. Now I don't know about the charter schools, the charter "public" schools, but we take care of every student because it's our civic responsibility. Justice David Souter, retired Supreme Court Justice, said the one thing that endangers New Hampshire and the rest of the world is not war, it's not international trade, it's the lack of knowledge by the individual about their civic responsibility. Read his comments or look at his comments on YouTube. Civic responsibility, public education. We have the oldest public school in New Hampshire in Manchester. Our students still go to that same building. It is 150 years old. Manchester High School Central. Forty-nine different languages spoken in that school. But we teach those students. We teach them because it's a public obligation, it's a civic responsibility that we have accepted.

Charter schools, I served on our school board for ten years, I chaired the curriculum and instruction committee. My goal was to make our public school better. There was an attempt to get charter schools in Manchester, they were defeated. What happened? Those who sponsored charter schools went above the locals. And we always talk about home rule, home rule. What did they do? They went to the state and we granted charters for charter schools through the state Department of Education, without any local appreciation, without any local vote. Charter schools. We pay the tuition for charter schools, we pay it at a higher adequacy rate than we do for our public school students. And yet, the responsibility for those students still remains in the public sector.

And think of the accomplishments that public schools have made. When you think of the great people in this country, those that have risen to the heights. You take a little Greek immigrant, by the name of Rassias. Anybody know him? He produced a methodology for inclusion and immersion in the teaching of languages. The Rassias method, went from Manchester High School Central to Dartmouth. Was a big, big deal on 60 Minutes, the Rassias Method. There's a public high school student from Manchester, New Hampshire. Didn't speak a word of English at the beginning. Becomes one of the great foreign language instructors in the world. His methodology is accepted in the world. Let's go to the other side. Adam Sandler; fairly successful guy. Where did he graduate from? Manchester High School Central. Gave a million dollars to the Boys and Girls Club of Manchester, Mister President, for the enhancement of their building. Civic responsibility. Well educated in Manchester, becomes an enormous success. So we're not arguing about the kids. We have a responsibility to take care of those kids.

All of my children wen to public school. Parker-Varney, Parkside, Manchester High School West, UNH, Plymouth State. Followed the example of President Morse, sent my son to Plymouth State. Big success, I hope anyway, because the bills will come my way if they don't. But we're arguing about something that really there's no argument. There's no argument. If you want an alternative to the public education, you have an opportunity to do that, every parent has that opportunity. In the old days you actually paid for it, if you sent your kid to an alternate school, you pay for it because you made that sacrifice because you realized how important education is. So what's wrong with that today? We have the charter schools now, they take whoever they want to take, educate them, okay, that's fine. We pay, we give them more money than we give for an adequate education for the public schools.

I think this is another step in undermining public education, and I think that's the tragedy because who suffers? It's the student, it's the kid, it's the kid who suffers. We feed our kids in school, we actually clothe them, we give them the basic necessities. I'd like us all to visit some of the schools where they have the clothing box when you walk in, because the kids don't have the proper clothing to go to school with. So, this is not about the students, this is about a program that in essence undermines the public education mission. And by constitution, we have that mission, we've accepted that mission and we will continue to do it. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator Avard.

HB 1258, relative to the advanced manufacturing education advisory council.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Kahn for the committee.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1258 Ought to Pass. This bill permits the Advance Manufacturing Education Advisory Council to accept and coordinate funds from public and private sources to support certain manufacturing workforce development training efforts. The funds will be used to provide grants for training outside of the public education system for areas such as apprenticeships, work readiness and employee training based on funds available which all serve as important preparations for many students. Further, this legislation does not require any state funding. Funds deposited into the advance manufacturing education fund shall be continually appropriated to the Commissioner of The Department of Education to provide grants as determined by the Advance Manufacturing Education Advisory Council. Therefore, the majority of the Education Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1258. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES

HB 1202-L, relative to town revolving funds for group net metering.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Feltes for the committee.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1202 Ought to Pass. This bill permits a town to establish a revolving fund for the purpose of facilitating transactions relative to municipal group net metering. This bill gives municipalities a way to be administratively efficient and transparent in the way they manage the income and expenses from group host net metering projects. House Bill 1202 allows municipalities to establish revolving funds to receive revenue from group net energy metering projects in the form of renewable energy credits and bill credits from distribution utilities. That revenue would then be used to pay town energy expenses and the bonds used to create a towns net metering energy projects. This bill gives municipalities a greater opportunity to invest in clean distributive energy generation, reduced their overall energy costs and increase transparency. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support for a motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1202. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1280-FN, relative to bow and arrow hunting licenses for permanently disabled military veterans.
Ought to Pass, Vote 2-0. Senator Feltes for the committee.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1280-FN Ought to Pass. This bill provides for the issuance of a lifetime bow and arrow license to a totally and permanently disabled military veteran. House Bill 1280-FN will amend current statute to allow a resident of the state that has been permanently and totally disabled in military service to receive a bow and arrow license. A permanently disabled veteran has made sacrifices in service to our country. These veterans have absolutely received the right to receive a lifetime bow and arrow license upon application. House Bill 1280-FN would be a small way New Hampshire can thank them for their service. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support with the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1280-FN. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1349, relative to biological products and diagnostic reagents for animal use.
Ought to Pass, Vote 2-0. Senator Avard for the committee.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1349 Ought to Pass. This bill comes at the request of the New Hampshire Department of Agriculture, Markets and Food. The bill requires a letter from the United States Department of Agriculture to accompany certain biologic and diagnostic reagents. The Department of Agriculture has received a request to approve beneficial products such as cancer vaccines or blood tests for pregnancy diagnosis, which do not carry a licensure required with the USDA. Under current statute, the Department of Agriculture cannot approve them. House Bill 1349 will allow the Department of Agriculture to approve the use of these certain biologic or diagnostic reagents that do not fall under the USDA licensure process, provided that the request for the use of these products are accompanied by a letter from the USDA stating their exemption in lieu of their licensure. This bill is narrowly focused to only those products exempt from the USDA licensing and would not create a means for companies to avoid the USDA process. The Senate Energy and Natural Resource Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1349. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1352-FN, eliminating the nonresident freshwater bait dealers license. Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 4-0. Senator Avard for the committee.

Energy and Natural Resources
March 27, 2018
2018-1238s
04/05

Amendment to HB 1352-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT eliminating the nonresident freshwater bait dealers license and relative to hunting adventure permits.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 1 with the following:

2 Hunting Adventure Permits. Amend RSA 208:1-aa to read as follows:

208:1-aa Hunting Adventure Permits. Notwithstanding the application, licensure, and permit requirements of Title 18, the executive director of fish and game may annually issue, at no cost, up to 2 licenses or permits to [~~Hunt Of A Lifetime, Inc.,~~] the New Hampshire Wildlife Federation to provide hunting adventures to New Hampshire residents 21 years of age or under with life-threatening, critical, or terminal illnesses. These licenses or permits shall be in addition to any limited hunting permit opportunities issued under Title 18, shall be at no cost to the organization, shall be valid anywhere in the state open to the taking of the species selected, and shall be valid to take game as specified in RSA 207:1, IX of either sex during the established hunting season for that species, with the exception of moose permits which shall be valid from October 1st through the end of the regular moose season. If the person using the permit is not properly licensed, he or she shall be exempt from licensing requirements under RSA 214:1 and hunter education requirements under RSA 214:23-a. The hunter shall be accompanied by a properly licensed person who is 21 years of age or older. The provisions of Title 18 and rules adopted thereunder which relate to method and manner of taking and reporting shall apply to hunting adventure permits.

3 Effective Date.

I. Section 2 of this act shall take effect January 1, 2019.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

2018-1238s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill eliminates the distinction between resident and nonresident licenses for freshwater bait dealers. The bill also provides that hunting adventure permits may be granted to the New Hampshire Wildlife Federation.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1352-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill at the request of the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department is at their request. This bill eliminates the distinctions between resident and non-resident license for freshwater bait dealers. The New Hampshire Fish and Game Department currently has four licenses types for freshwater bait dealers based on residency. There are a very small number of non-residents applying for the freshwater bait dealing licenses, so the administrative costs do not justify having a separate license in the fees for residents and non-residents. This bill would restructure those license types into two, a retail dealer or a wholesale dealer. The amendment alters the group that receives up to two licenses to provide hunting adventures to New Hampshire residents twenty-one years of age or under with a life-threatening and critical and terminal illness. This program is in need of the proper people and resources to make it a success. Altering the groups responsible for this program will offer New Hampshire's terminally ill youth the chance to hunt and experience what New Hampshire's outdoors has to offer. Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1352. Thank you, Mister President.

The Chair ruled sections of the Committee Amendment non-germane.

Without objection, Senate Rule 3-17 is suspended to allow consideration of the non-germane Committee Amendment. Adopted by the necessary 2/3 vote.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1421-FN, relative to the regulation of event tents.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1421 Ought to Pass. There are a variety of local regulations regarding erecting a tent on private property and this bill would streamline the regulations for companies across the state. In addition, the legislation exempts a tent used as an accessory for a single or two family household from requiring a building permit or assembly permit. This would allow impromptu tents to be erected in the case of an outdoor activity that must be completed due to weather considerations. The ED&A Committee voted Ought to Pass and asks for your support in their recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1676-FN, repealing the licensing requirement for open-air shows and repealing the laws related to the keeping of billiard tables.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-0. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1676 Inexpedient to Legislate. This legislation would have repealed the requirements for open air shows and collecting taxes on billiard tables. After consideration, the ED&A Committee found this bill would strip towns of local control as well as make it impossible for towns to control open air shows in the future. The ED&A Committee voted Inexpedient to Legislate and asks for your support in their recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. Adopted.

HB 1685-FN, establishing a statutory commission for oversight over occupational regulation.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-0. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1685 Inexpedient to Legislate. The ED&A Committee found this legislation to impose too great a burden on the regulatory boards. Under this legislation, the regulatory boards would be subjected to additional rounds of oversight, many of which already exist within their own boards. Both the House and Senate ED&A Committees have a process in place that allows for oversight of regulatory boards. And by creating an additional commission to study how efficiently those boards work, would be a duplication of what presently occurs. This legislation would also require the commission to review all regulations of all boards and produce recommendations for future legislation. Given how rapidly professions can change, the committee found that a five year review was too long a period of time for the issuance of legislative recommendations. Given the process that presently exists, and the fact that boards are doing a good job with overseeing the regulations, at this time there is no need for this commission's oversight. The ED&A Committee voted Inexpedient to Legislate and asks for your support in their recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and ask the body to vote against the Inexpedient to Legislate so a different motion could be brought in. For the record Mister President, based upon our current ethics laws, I'm in a license industry therefore I may or may not have a conflict but I'm still participating. But the fact is Mister President, nearly every business in our state today is in the license industry. We have become one of the most highly licensed and regulated states in America. Yay. Right? Should I be chanting that? Should we go without fresh leave out today and say hey let's keep all the regulations in place, let's keep all the licensing in place, let's make sure we have slammed the door shut because we don't want anyone else to come in now that we've got a license. Lord forbid. Who cares about the free market, who cares about the fact that every single business owner I talk to says they can't find any employees. They can't even find employees. Some of you might remember we fought not too long ago about even saying if you come to our state, and apply for a license, we'll let you operate under the current one you have for 120 days because we know that our licensing boards are behind and taking months to give people a license. Half the pile of people in this room said can't even do that. Can't even do that. Employees. Who needs employees? What good are they? It's about our economy. It's about for years we have talked about that New Hampshire used to be the best place in America to live, work, have a job.

Mister President, I remember the 80s. And no, it wasn't about big hair and shoulder pads, well it was for Senator Innis, maybe. But it was a time in our lives in this state where we actually had more jobs than people, like we do today. Where people are being offered literally 100 percent pay bonuses to walk across the street to do the same job they're doing today. Today, we can't get people to come here because most people can't afford to wait three or four months in order to get a paycheck. Don't care much about that. We tell people it takes 2,000 hours to get some licenses like cutting your hair, while other states don't require that. Our licensing is out of touch. Our regulations are too steep. Regulatory boards today which are sat on by the same people who have the license, have become exclusionary. Doesn't anyone think we should look at it? Doesn't anyone think we should take a deep breath, take a step back and say maybe the amount of licensing, the amount of requirements, the amount of challenges our state are having today we should look at it? Or maybe we should just let pay go as pay go. Just let it sit and happen.

Last time I checked Mister President, people are overdosing in this state. More today than when we started this fight six years ago. People are dying in this state today. We talk every day about whether or not we're putting enough money to treatment. We talk about whether or not we're there for the people of this state to help in their time of need. What have we done about licensing for LADCs and other people? Clearly not enough. So should we look at it?

We say in this state today that we don't have enough plumbers or electricians, the average age of a plumber in this state, last time I checked when I had a conversation, is like sixty-six years old. How's your toilet going to look in another ten years, Mister President? When you can't find anyone to even show up. Now of course, we have the restriction that if you're a licensed plumber and you're training someone to be a new plumber, we only to let you go one at a time. Can't get two guys on the payroll to make sure we beef up what's coming out. It is restriction after restriction after restriction and I would point out to this body, some of you might remember the WMUR-TV article about a year ago, where two ladies trying to start a business cutting hair in I think Swanzey or Winchester, Senator? Got their license pulled because they had painted red and white stripes on the side of the building and they were found to be in violation. Is that the reputation we want in our state today? Because it is the reputation we have in our state today.

You know we talk all the time and I've heard for eight straight years, our licensing is becoming too egregious. It's becoming too difficult, it's taking too long to get. And as a body we look at one license or two licenses and try and make a little change. And people jump up and down and say oh we're picking on that industry. And you put a bill in to say let's look at all of them and then it's oh, it's too big, it's too hard, it's too bold, too brash. The governing bodies can't do it. It's been like a ping pong ball in this room, like so many issues we talk about, we never want to pass them, we just want to debate them, back and forth and back and forth and back and forth, but let's not ever do anything. We're fighting about a commission to look to see what we can do to make it easier for people to get licenses. Something the Governor's been very clear that he supports, something the business community supports, except some license industries and they want to keep their gates shut right? Don't want any more competition. But how do we make competition if we're using the power of government to limit it? How do we allow the free market to run when we're using the power of government to restrict, to license, to withhold, to penalize? Live free or die. Maybe someday we should bring some of it back. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Reagan.)

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. To give some context to this, this is a bill whose title exceeds the wisdom of the bill. So there's a problem in Washington, D.C. where Congress cedes their authority to create rules to the agencies, to the departments. They give them the authority to create the rules. They have a convoluted process when somebody doesn't like the rules, to change them, to rein them back in. The General Court in its wisdom decades ago, had this system that said we're going to establish the Joint Legislative Committee on Administrative Rules, the dreaded JLCAR Committee. And that's going to be where the buck stops.

So when any of you presents a bill to the legislature and there needs to be some way to effectuate that operation, you in the bill state that somebody, usually the commissioner of whatever the particular department is, has the authority to make the rules, which is fine. And the commissioner has, in most departments they have a rule writer, and some departments don't and they have a horrible time developing rules. But part of the rules process is requires a public hearing. There must be a public hearing and at the public hearing and this is a question, on JLCAR we ask, we ask what happened at the public hearing? And they have to tell us, and they darn sure better tell us the truth. Things didn't go well, things did go well. Usually what happens at the public hearing, when there's objections to rules or portions of rules, the department goes back and changes the rules, to fend off or comply with either good ideas or take out bad ideas. And then people get to weigh in and I could show you the email list of the emails I get when people don't like something, they don't have to hesitate to let us know, and they hit the staff members with emails and they hit the committee members and they say okay, we missed the public hearing but here's what we don't like. And all that goes into the mix. And finally it comes down to one or two Fridays a month the JLCAR Committee meets and we listen to the staff presentation about the rules and the staff's job is to make sure that the rule does not exceed the authority of the statute. And every once in a while, we find that an ambitious rule writer has exceeded the authority and sometimes that's not quite that definite an illustration and so this is what the committee exists for. The committee is then there to arbitrate what the intent of the legislature was. So if there's a rule or regulation that somebody doesn't like, the solution is go to one of the 424 legislators, put in a bill and that will change it. There already exists a process to change the things that slip by the JLCAR Committee. The very thought that now we need to find another group to go through and try to understand what happened and this is an exhausting process for the five staff people of JLCAR to read through these originally, I can't even imagine them trying to do it after the fact but we already have, we have a process that protects over-regulation and over zealousness, it calls for public input and we have the stop gap of the committee that was created to prevent what the complaints are. It already exists, we already have this and we don't need another commission who will not even be able to do this in the first place. So I ask you to support the committee's motion of Inexpedient to Legislate, and this is just, let this bad idea go away.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Mister President. I'm going to try to very hard not to repeat what my colleague from Senate District

There's been a couple of statements that have been said here and I feel that they need to be corrected. There are only twenty state in the United States with California leading the pack that have more licensure than we do. There are six states that have fewer licensure requirements than we do. So I think we're in a pretty darn good place when it comes to licensure, because we are very careful about what we do. And Mister President, it doesn't take 2,000 hours to be a cosmetologist. It's 1,500 hours and by the way contrary to popular belief, we do not have a license for a shampoo person. We already have these procedures in place, we have the Senate ED&A Committee, the House ED&A Committee and JLCAR and again, my colleague from Senate District 17 spoke quite eloquently about them.

But I'd also like to speak to another part of the bill which I find personally just really kind of unbelievable. But it says that the commission's analysis shall employ a rebuttable presumption that market competition and private remedies are sufficient to protect consumers. Now think about that for a minute. One thing we'll do, first thing that should happen is we need to get rid of the Division of Consumer Affairs over at the AG's office. Because the state will have no role in any kind of consumer complaint that gets made. And by the way, private remedies; what does that mean? That means if you've been harmed by somebody, go get a lawyer and sue them. Think about that. What about people in this state who can't afford attorneys who've been harmed? How are they going to get their justice? Because the state has washed its hands of this whole process. And now, it goes on to say the presumption in paragraph (d), may be rebutted if the commission finds credible empirical evidence of a systematic problem that warrants enactment of government regulation to protect consumers and then it goes down a list.

To protect consumers against fraud, the commission's presented recommendation shall be the strength and powers under the state's deceptive trade practices. Well, we've already gotten rid of the Division of Consumer Affairs, so does that mean we now bring it back.

Okay, next one, if someone fails to complete a contract fully, the commission's presumptive recommendation shall be to require that the provider be bonded. Well guess what; we do that now anyway. Same thing with insurance, that you're going to have to require if someone is a transient or fly by night person, just coming in here to do something, you're going to have to register your business with the secretary of state. Again, we do that now anyway. And it goes on and on and on and on about how the government is going to be doing these things and again, we already do these things. So what is the purpose of this commission? It makes no sense Mister President, it's going to take a lot of time, there's a five year timeline here. I would put to you Mister President, there's a better way to do this, and I think that it's something that we can do, but we just need to get the individuals that are involved in this process together. That includes the Executive Branch as well as the Legislative Branch, to figure out how to do this. Mister President, I think at this point I'm going to stop and I'm going to ask the body to uphold the ED&A Committee's recommendation of Inexpedient to Legislate. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Reagan.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, could you tell me if over the last three sessions as a member of both the House and the Senate, you have participated in efforts through ED&A and through Finance to consolidate boards, to make the process more efficient, to update rulemaking so that it's more consistent across the board for all of our licenses? Could you tell me if you've participated in any of that and what decisions have been made?

SENATOR REAGAN: Well, Senator, thank you for that question. I myself this session have put in five pieces of legislation to expedite the process of the Office of Professional Licensure. So, the effort is being made, especially through the ED&A Committees, to expedite things OPLC. OPLC was created all of a sudden by the legislature when we decided we were going to be more efficient and we brought all these people together in the same basket and said, now you're more efficient. And it didn't quite work out that way, so we said okay, in that case, now we'll take all the professional boards and we'll throw them in the basket. The more the merrier and it made it worse. But there's this ongoing effort that will not be resolved by this commission to improve situation OPLC and the legislature has already supported or ask for a higher grade licensing clerks at OPLC and that's had an effect already. Hopefully you've all had fewer complaints by email and phone call about "I can't get a license". So we'll continue that effort. This will not expedite that process. Thank you.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I would invite you and the body to join me in welcoming students from the fourth-grade class of Milford Elementary School at Heron Pond.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President for allowing me to speak a second time. I neglected to speak about one issue that we have had in front of this body and it came out during the public hearing again. And it deals with individuals that find themselves guests of our current criminal justice system. And that it's difficult for them to get a job when they get out of jail. And we found out that our boards already have procedures in place to help these folks get a new start on life. And Mister President, I would be remiss if I did not talk about a young lady whose name is Lindsey Tadlock, who is in cosmetology school. She found herself in a bad place and found herself a guest of the state. And she has made a concerted effort to turn her life around and the cosmetology board, Mister President, has worked with this young lady to get her on the path, the straight and narrow path, to turn her life around and it took an incredible amount of courage Mister President, for this young lady to come to a public hearing and talk about her problems and how this board has been supportive of her and they're helping her get to a new place and she's turned her life around. So again, Mister President, I would like to publicly thank the cosmetology board for their work, and I would also like to offer my support and my thanks to Lindsey in her efforts to build a new life for herself. Thank you very much, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Hennessey, Gray, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Bradley, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Roll Call, Yeas: 15 - Nays: 8. Adopted.

Senator Bradley moved to Lay on the Table HB 1685-FN. Adopted.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
HB 1273, suspending state licensure laws for physicians and physician assistants employed by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs. Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1273 Ought to Pass. This bill suspends New Hampshire state licensure laws, rules and regulations for certain physicians and physician assistants employed by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs. This bill also changes the reporting requirements for the state Veterans Advisory Council. Governor signed an Executive Order suspending the licensure requirements after a flood forced the Manchester VA Hospital to close for repairs. His order has allowed the veterans to continue receiving high quality health care close to home in our local hospitals. This program has been a great success for the veterans and our state, and this bill would seek to make this program permanent. Second part of the bill would change the reporting requirements for the state Veteran's Advisory Council from biannual to annual reports. This will allow the council to more efficiently report to the legislature on any recommendation for future legislation. The Health and Human Services Committee asks for your support in the motion Ought to Pass on House Bill 1273. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Fuller Clark offered a Floor Amendment.

Sen. Fuller Clark, Dist 21

April 5, 2018
2018-1369s
01/04

Floor Amendment to HB 1273

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to licensure of health care professionals employed at the Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Licensure of Physicians; Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center; Suspension During Biennium. Notwithstanding the provisions of RSA 329, the requirements for licensure of certain physicians in New Hampshire employed by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs at the Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center shall be suspended beginning on the effective date of this act and through the biennium ending June 30, 2019.

2 Licensure of Nurses; Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center; Suspension During Biennium. Notwithstanding the provisions of RSA 326-B, the requirements for licensure of certain nurses in New Hampshire employed by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs at the Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center shall be suspended beginning on the effective date of this act and through the biennium ending June 30, 2019.

3 Licensure of Physicians Assistants; Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center; Suspension During Biennium. Notwithstanding the provisions of RSA 328-D, the requirements for licensure of certain physicians assistants in New Hampshire employed by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs at the Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center shall be suspended beginning on the effective date of this act and through the biennium ending June 30, 2019.

4 Applicability. The suspensions provided for in sections 1, 2, and 3 of this act shall only apply to those medical professionals employed by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs at the Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center (VAMC), located at 718 Smyth Road in Manchester, provided that the medical professional:

I. Is acting within the scope of his or her employment at the Manchester VAMC; and

II. Possesses a current license in good standing in his or her respective state or country of licensure; and

III. Is certified by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs and maintains that certification; and

IV. Is credentialed by any medical facility licensed in New Hampshire.

5 State Veterans' Advisory Committee; Report. Amend RSA 115-A:8, III to read as follows:

III. The committee shall issue [~~biannual~~] annual reports of its actions, findings, and recommendations on [~~May~~] October 1 [~~and November 1~~] of each year to the speaker of the house, the president of the senate, the governor and council, and all veterans' organizations in the state.

6 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill suspends for the biennium ending June 30, 2019 licensure requirements for certain physicians, nurses, and physician assistants employed by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs at the Manchester Veterans Affairs Medical Center.

This bill also changes the reporting date of the state veteran's advisory committee.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much. This amendment simply substitutes Senate Bill 488, which we already passed and was introduced and sponsored by Senator Bradley. What this bill does is, creates a better piece of legislation than what has been sent over to us from the House. It does not make the ability for physicians and nurses, physician's assistants who are working for the Veterans Affairs Medical Center to permanently not have to get a New Hampshire medical license and meet our standards. It simply provides for this waiver or suspension to begin once this bill is passed, which we already passed once in the Senate, and would continue through the biennium of June 30th, 2019. It is more comprehensive in what it requires in terms of the qualifications that these individuals must possess. It also includes in addition to physicians and physicians' assistants; nurses and I've added to Senate Bill 488 the language that would change the reporting deadlines for the Veterans Advisory Council. I'm concerned with the open endedness of the bill that is coming before us from the House and also that it doesn't put in the same level of standards or requirements that have to be met by those individuals. For instance, what is missing from the House legislation is that the individuals have to be certified by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs and maintain that certification. And certainly if we were going to allow this to become permanent law, we would want that requirement as well. But I think we should look at how well this serves us during a time of crisis when we know that we need to suspend this licensure, but that I think it's putting our medical consumers at great risk over a longer period of time if we are to suspend that licensure requirement in New Hampshire permanently. And I hope that you would vote for this amendment. Thank you.

Recess. Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. I appreciate the spirit in which our friend from Portsmouth offers this amendment. Especially since it was my bill. However, I'm going to rise and support the committee position on the underlying bill for a couple of reasons. The big difference in the two bills is that the underlying Bill 1273, makes this change permanent and given the fact that the Manchester VA is not a full service hospital and the likelihood of ever getting a full service hospital in New Hampshire is very limited, having advocated for a full service hospital when I was in Washington, I know how difficult it's going to be and knowing that the VA is dispersing more services I actually think that this change to make the license that they're federally licensed, to be able to treat veterans in other hospitals is appropriate on a permanent basis. But one other difference is that in the Floor Amendment nurses are not taken into account. I will ask the House reconsider the Committee Amendment, I'm sorry I'm backwards. The Floor Amendment considers nurses, my bill considers nurses, the underlying bill does not. I will ask that they use my bill to make sure that they fix this for nurses. So thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I'm wondering if you could tell me what is the difference between the regulations for federal licensure under the VA and our requirements for licensure in New Hampshire, and why would we be substituting on a permanent basis federal licensure over state licensure?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Well I would answer that this way; I can't tell you exactly what the differences may or may not be, so I don't know, but there's actually no opposition as you know to either bill. The Hospital Association was there for both bills. I specifically asked on House Bill 1273 because it was permanent if the Hospital Association had any problem whatsoever because remember, those VA personnel are working in other hospitals under their federal license. They had no problem whatsoever, so I don't see that as being a problem.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you for taking my question, twenty-one. I had problems with this yesterday, and I tend to lean towards your side. Would you feel comfortable taking one of these federally licensed doctors or would you feel more comfortable with a state licensed doctor yourself?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Clearly, I'm bringing forward this amendment because I feel in the long run that I would like to see all physicians practicing in New Hampshire be required to meet the state standards.

SENATOR GANNON: Do you feel less comfortable from someone say who got their license in Mississippi, Arkansas, some of these other states?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I do.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Fuller Clark, seconded by Senator Gannon.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Hennessey, Sanborn, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Birdsell, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Roll Call, Yeas: 12 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

MOTION TO REMOVE FROM THE TABLE

Senator Bradley moved to remove HB 1685-FN from the Table. Adopted.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1685-FN, establishing a statutory commission for oversight over occupational regulation.

HB 1685-FN is Inexpedient to Legislate.

PRESIDENT MORSE: What you've done parliamentary wise is the motion was Inexpedient, the bill was Inexpedient, it will leave the Senate and go to the Secretary of State and die a slow death.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
HB 1606, relative to naturopathic health care practice.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1606 as Ought to Pass. This bill makes various changes to the regulation of Doctor of Naturopathic Medicine, including the procedures of the Naturopathic Board of Examiners. The bill also adds a member of the Naturopathic Board of Examiners to the Controlled Drug Prescription Health and Safety Program Advisory Council. An audit of the Naturopathic Board of Examiners was conducted and raised some concerns. This legislation seeks to correct some of the concerns and lays the groundwork for proper oversight and increase efficiency for the board. The Health and Human Services Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1606. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1741, relative to a definition of "contracted copayment" for purposes of the managed care law.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1741 as Ought to Pass. This bill establishes a definition of "contracted co-payment," for the purposes of the managed care law. Current New Hampshire insurance rule dictates that a consumer must be given the lowest possible price for a prescription. This bill seeks to move the bill into the state statutes to ensure that consumers are always paying the lowest price for their medication. Drug prices continue to rise exponentially, and consumers are forced to, sometimes forced to ration medication or choose between filling their prescription and buying groceries. This legislation seeks to ensure that if there is a lower cost payment option, the consumer will be able to pay it. The majority of the Health and Human Services Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1741. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and respectfully in opposition to the pending motion of Ought to Pass. Appreciate the work of the committee, however, there's already rules on this and by doing this statutory definition, you're going to set in motion another rulemaking process and I can tell you along with my friend from District 17 on JLCAR, this was probably one of the more contentious, long lasting, debated issues that came before JLCAR probably in the last three or four years. So, do we want to set in motion by changing the statute another contentious long-lasting debate amongst all of the stakeholders in Rules? I don't. In part because I serve on the committee, but we worked really hard Mister President, to bring people together and work together. We have the rules in place, I think they're doing just fine, so I respectfully encourage that we vote down the Ought to Pass motion and do a substitute motion of Interim Study or ITL. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I would have a question of either the Chairman of the committee or a member who could speak to what this changes and why it does that?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. The Insurance Department testified in support of the bill. What they testified to was, the change in the legislation clarifies the rule as well as places it in statute. They said that the area's a little gray. This is a technical change to clarify, and the point is to make sure that the patient him or herself always pays the lowest amount as opposed to having an overage charge on the prescription. And so that's why the Insurance Department and the majority of the committee supported the bill as introduced.

SENATOR GIUDA: And there is, I think statutory or rule assurance that by going to the least expensive, the doctor has to know it's not going to cause harm to the patient?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Well, that is a question about whether it's a generic or non-generic. That's a different situation than buying as I understand it at least, a specific drug that has, whether it's a co-pay or not, the issue is about the specific drug, not the difference between a generic and a non-generic are the same drug. And by placing this in statute, according to the testimony of the Insurance Department, it buttresses the current practice already at the Insurance Department and ensures that the patient pays the lowest price.

SENATOR GIUDA: For that specific prescription?

SENATOR BRADLEY: For that specific drug. It doesn't get into generic versus non-generic.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I too rise in opposition to the pending motion and ask my colleagues to vote it down so that I could offer an Interim Study motion. This is an issue that we've been debating before this body and the one on the other side of the wall for many, many years now. And in fact House Bill 1208 which passed in 2008 into law, provides that a pharmacy has to charge the lower of the usual and customary charge which is cash price or the patient's co-pay. Now there are some things complicating that and I have another piece of legislation to deal with that, to deal with gag clauses and also to deal with clawbacks where that doesn't happen, but the issue here is not the definitions of the statute and frankly, I find this legislation to be the department attempting to do an end run around the legislature. This legislature is clear. Every one of us has at some point, and the folks on the other side said, we want to ensure that a customer purchasing drugs pays the lowest price, whether it's the price on the card or whether it's the price that it actually costs if they pay cash. We want people to be informed of those choices, so that they get access to their drugs at the lowest cost possible. What has happened though is because the Insurance Department doesn't have direct regulatory authority over pharmacy benefit managers, they keep saying that there's a problem with the statute that they're unable to enforce this law. Well, the problem is not creating new definitions, the problem is getting some enforcement so that the costs are communicated to the consumer and the consumer can make the best decision possible for them. As I said, there is no enforcement mechanism because PBMs are not regulated. Here's our problem, right? We have the pharmacy statutes, we have the insurance statutes and somewhere in between we have the pharmacy benefit manager. So if they're acting as a mail order pharmacy, yep, they're regulated by pharmacy. If they're acting in their PBM capacity, there technically is a reach through, through the insurer that they're working for. But the ability for the department to reach through to enforce complaints which the department has received and done nothing with, is what the problem is. This isn't going to change that. So if what we want to do is make sure that consumers are helped, doing this end run around what this body has said and what that body has said multiple times which is that we want people to pay the lowest price, isn't going to help them. What this is going to do is exactly what my colleague in District 15 did and what my poor colleague from District 17 had to suffer through, was this rulemaking process. This is just going to create a whole new one. This isn't solving the problem. So I ask all of you please, we all, this is not a partisan issue, this is an issue where we all in unison agree. People should pay the lowest price for their drugs possible. It is a national issue, it's a federal issue and isn't a lot we can do to regulate. But we can't let this go through the way it is. I would encourage you to vote this down so we could vote interim study and continue to look at this in a more thoughtful way. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise to second my friend from District number 18. This is not a partisan issue because I'm with her on this and I will tell the body that when I was chair of Health and Human Services, we voted on this same issue against the policy that you're in front of today. When I was chair of the Commerce Committee, again we voted on this issue again, against the policy of today. Please don't get me wrong, I'm not trying to be disrespectful, disparaging on the HHS Committee, but this issue continues to highlight the fact as the Senator from District 18 said, we have an industry, the PBMs, and there's constantly this battle about whether or not they are regulated by the Department of Insurance or the Pharmacy Board. It would be much better for us to go back, and we have had these conversations as well, about making the decision that we're going to bake all regulation into the Pharmacy Board or are we going to bake all regulations into the Department of Insurance Board. But this jumping back and forth from time to time does continue to make a significant amount of confusion and might not be getting to the true root of the problem, and I think we all agree the problem continues to be wanting the end consumer to have the best price. So I would either suggest the body would vote against passage, for an interim study or to table it and for those of you who are here next year, eight years now that Senator Soucy and I have been dealing with this. It's time for us to have this discussion holistically, and not piecemeal it like we've continue to see. But let's go back and have that discussion of are PBMs pharmacists under the Pharmacy Board or do they need to be regulated under the Department of Insurance Board or heck, should we just eliminate them in their entirety? Because remember many PBMs also operate as pharmacists. So I do know that the Independent Pharmacy Association, Independent Pharmacists are against this and if anyone has ever fought to try to make sure people have the lowest price possible and to help their customers, it has been the Independent Pharmacists. So I would ask that the body overturn the Ought to Pass, where I'd jump back up and make tabling motion if the body would like.

(The Chair recognized Senator Reagan.)

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. If you're paying attention to this and don't quite understand it, your question is how did this happen and where did this come from? So the issue came up in Rules, that the members, the rule writers from the Insurance Department would say if only the law said this, then there's a rule that we would like to have which we believe sincerely is good for the patient, then we would have the authority to write the rule. But what they forgot was that they had to have the law changed first. And they've assumed that we would like their idea for a law and then allow them to create a rule with the authority being their imagination. So this is offensive to people in this rules process to come up and say this is a great idea, you should allow this rule. And we don't and I personally spoke to the Commissioner and asked them to please stop doing this and he told me he would and before he's out the door in his retirement, his staff is back doing the same thing again. So for that reason, you should overturn this Ought to Pass and kill this.

Senator Sanborn moved to Lay on the Table HB 1741. Adopted.

PUBLIC AND MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS
HB 1303, relative to the purposes of revolving funds in towns.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1303 Ought to Pass. This bill is enabling legislation that adds fire services to the purposes for which a town may establish a revolving fund. It brought us a definition and adds more latitude to municipalities as some towns operate an ambulance service within the fire department. I ask that you please support the committee's recommendation of Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

RULES AND ENROLLED BILLS
HB 1281, establishing an executive order registry.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Fuller Clark for the committee.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1281. This bill establishes an executive order registry to ensure that within seventy-two hours of signing all of the Governor's executive orders are posted on the Governor's website. Governors use executive orders for a variety of purposes, among them to 1) trigger emergency powers during natural disasters, energy crises and other situations requiring immediate attention; 2) Create advisory coordinating study or investigative committees or commissions; 3) Address management and administrative issues such as regulatory reform, environmental impact, hiring freezes, discrimination and intergovernmental coordination. Executive orders contain important information for the general public to know and to be able to find quickly. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1281 Ought to Pass and thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1675, relative to state house Internet service and relative to calendars and journals of the house and senate.
Interim Study, Vote 4-0. Senator Bradley for the committee.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move to Refer to Interim Study on House Bill 1675. This is a bill which requires members of the legislature to be provided with access to secure wireless internet. It also requires the House and Senate Calendars and Journals be made available to the public through an email subscription service. The Rules Committee heard testimony at the hearing from both the House and Senate Chiefs of Staff that the legislatures already provided with secure wireless internet access. The email subscription services also being worked on by our IT Director as well as all calendars and journals are posted on the General Court website as soon as they are available. It is important that these issues are dealt with internally and not in statute, which is why the Rules and Enrolled Bill Committee voted House Bill 1675 for Interim Study. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. I'd just like to speak to the legislation is that allowed or permissible at this time? I am in favor of it. But what I would like to do is to draw the Senators' attention to the hearing report and to point out some critical information that would be helpful to you in terms of dealing with your constituents. House and Senate Calendars are immediately available as soon as they are produced, and in many instances, the Clerk's Office is required to stay until the calendar is available online, both in the House and the Senate. They comply with the right-to-know law which is a minimum requirement of five days and then if anyone wishes to get a paper calendar, they may subscribe. One of the questions that we asked was, is the general public aware that they can do that and how much would it cost? They're going to look into how much it would cost, but they agreed that they would make available information on the website for anyone who wanted to have a subscription for the printed calendar. We also heard as the Senator from District 3 commented, that there is underway now work to improve our website and they will make sure that the placement of the calendar and the journals is high up in sort of the layers as you go through the website for the House and the Senate so it'll be easier for ordinary citizens to find.

There was also discussion about the fact of, with regard to security and they let us know that they have recently upgraded and added an additional level of security. When we go on the website here as a legislator or as a staff person, and that if we wish to have, there is encryption and we know about that encryption because we use it every time we come to the floor of the Senate. If you wish to have even more robust security, you would need to have your own subscriber. But just so that you understand that that also has been upgraded. The Wi-Fi has been strengthened and so a lot of the pieces that were in this legislation are being taken care of. But I think the most important thing is to be able to let your constituents know about how they can access the calendars and the journals so that they have the ability to track more successfully what's going on here in Concord.

The other request that we heard was related to audio and visual and many of you know that we have hearing reports that we can use when we go to the House or if we want to refresh our memory in talking to a constituent or weren't able to go to that particular hearing. There are no such hearing reports the same level of information that are currently being produced in the House, and so one of the issues going forward is what is the best way to be able to provide a more transparent and full record of House hearings, and that is going to continue to be explored so thank you very much for giving me this opportunity to share with you the technicalities of what's going on, to continue to improve our internet services and I know that they will continue to look at what else can be added going forward. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Adopted.

TRANSPORTATION
HB 193, relative to traffic control measures.
Interim Study, Vote 5-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move that House Bill 193 be Referred to Interim Study. This bill would permit cities to adopt bylaws and ordinances relative to temporary traffic and control measures. Included in these bylaws and ordinances would be the ability for cities to decide whether or not to require police details or flaggers during certain traffic or safety projects. The committee heard ample testimony during the public hearing both in favor and in opposition to the legislation. It became clear that this bill was an attempt to bring a one size fits all measure to an issue that cannot be made to fit this mold. When members of law enforcement are present during a traffic detail, they bring thousands of hours of training with them. This allows drivers, workers and other members of the public to feel safer should an emergency arise such as an accident on the worksite or even an emergency nearby. Flaggers often do not have much training before they begin working on a traffic or safety project and therefore do not bring the same level of expertise to the scene. However, the committee also heard ample testimony for various utilities who must pay higher cost due to their requirement of having police details during their line of work, while others are only required to have flaggers. This can be an additional and burdensome expense. Because of the extremely important nature of the safety issues at stake, the committee believes that this bill is best sent to Interim Study. All stakeholders must come together to work towards the goal of providing the highest level of concerns for drivers, members of the public and those who may be working on the scene. Stakeholders have given me their word that they will work diligently on this legislation and I have every intentions of making them live up to their word. Therefore, all members of the Transportation Committee ask for your support in the motion Refer to Interim Study on House Bill 193. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. As a co-sponsor of this bill and having been a prime sponsor of this bill in the past, I do appreciate the fact that some of the interests that are opposed to this bill have committed to our friend from District 19 that they're willing to work with her on future legislation. It's getting kind of ridiculous that we haven't been able to get this bill passed because of entrenched opposition and quite frankly, not enough advocacy by our friends on the utility side of this bill. There was a recent Union Leader story that kind of outlined what happens when you have the option of using flagging details as opposed to special police details. In Nashua, the cost of the projects were about $40,000, in Manchester about $400,000. So, I know that, you know I stood right here and defended, you know, the 900 jobs in the North Country and that has led to increased electric rates. But this seems easy. Because what it says, what the bills have said, this bill and in the past is the same standards that the state uses whether to use flaggers or police details on state highways which are bigger, more traffic, more safety issues that you'd use on town roads. That's it. Simple. Follow the state policy that's never been a problem and when you have a 10-1 differential, good luck to my friend from District 19 trying to negotiate that with the entrenched interests that are opposed to this bill. I'll be watching carefully. But I urge the body actually to vote against the Interim Study motion so I can introduce another motion. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to Interim Study. Financially, those most strongly opposed to this bill have a vested financial interest in seeing it go away. And I can't tell you and I imagine you'd be in the same boat, how many times you're driving down a highway or a street in your town and there's a policeman there and he's getting paid, and he's sitting in his car. And you're no safer with him there than you are with a flagger. It's just that simple. Statistics prove this, okay? So the point here is we enable our communities to save money, we enable our utility bills to be lower, we don't reduce the thousands of hours of training in traffic control, really? That's to me a little bit inane. A flagger gets training as well, okay? Not as much, but certainly we don't need an armed police officer, sitting in a cruiser charging $70 or $80 or $60 an hour for a job that can be done by someone for 20 or 25. It's just that simple. So I ask you to overturn Interim Study. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. While I, I don't agree with you, but I value what you say, but I will remind everyone that in my town of Derry, it's not a choice. It's already baked into the police officers' contracts. So until we start looking at some of those issues, nothing's going to change, and if they're baked into the contracts, how is this piece of legislation going to impact them? And my town is not the only one, there are other towns that have it baked into their contracts. So until we get some solutions with that, please support the committee's Interim Study.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you for taking my question. Does this bill not allow the municipality the option, it doesn't mandate, it allows the option to use state criteria for flaggers, and in that sense would it not then not in any way violate a contract, you still have the ability locally to negotiate that, but it just gives the community an option, it doesn't mandate it. Is that true?

SENATOR BIRDSELL: It is true, however, okay…

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. I rise in support of the committee's recommendation of Interim Study. A lot of this has been wrapped up in the argument about rates. There is no requirement of rate reconciliation, at all. So this is a complicated topic and it's been through a number of different committees on this, but unless and until it's studied and made to appoint where some of the major arguments for the bill are actually incorporated in the legislation, I think Interim Study makes good sense. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Hennessey, Ward, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon.

The following Senators voted No: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Sanborn, Reagan, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Roll Call, Yeas: 15 - Nays: 8. Adopted.

HB 492, relative to electric personal assistive mobility devices.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Mister President, I fixed your sign. I'm sorry about that. I move House Bill 492 Ought to Pass. This legislation redefines electronic personal assisted mobility devices or EPAMDs. It repeals provisions regarding speed and local regulation, and it establishes progressive fines. The House Transportation Committee discovered an opportunity to move these devices for those who are impaired to this section of law. Section 2 of the legislation defines the behavior that these devices need to be adhering to in order to be operated safely. This legislation also helps to reduce financial hardship on those who are using EPAMDs. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 492. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1227, relative to an unattended idling vehicle on private property. Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1227 Ought to Pass. This legislation provides that a person may idle a vehicle unattended on his or her own property. The committee believes that individuals should have the right to idle their own vehicle on their own property. At the public hearing members of the House explained that not one citation had been issued for violating this law. For example, if one has a remote starter, one may idle their vehicle. If one does not have a remote starter, he or she may not idle their private vehicle to warm it up or to cool it down. This legislation would fix that. For these reasons, the Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1227. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1364, relative to use of amber lights on vehicles.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1364 Ought to Pass. This legislation eliminates the authorization to use amber emergency lights while towing or transporting a vehicle. Tow truck drivers would not be required to use their amber lights unless they were actively engaged in activity that would influence safety. This legislation will strengthen the move over law. Emergency lights can be overused and the less they are used outside of true emergencies, the better. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1364. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1455, relative to vehicle operation at uncontrolled intersections.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1455 Ought to Pass. This legislation clarifies rules of the road at intersections where traffic control device is not operational by correcting an omission in the law. According to this legislation, the driver shall obey the rules of the road applicable to intersections without a traffic control device. Therefore, this legislation codifies common practice by common sense drivers. This is current practice that is also taught in Drivers Education. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1455. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1581, relative to commencement of an administrative license suspension.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I'm done soon. I move House Bill 1581 Inexpedient to Legislate. This legislation requires that a driver's license revocation or suspension resulting from a hearing commence no sooner than the day of the hearing at 11:59 PM. According to testimony during the public hearing, these issues simply do not take place. One example the committee heard in testimony was that conflicts with our habitual offender law would have placed the suspension the day after, therefore giving the person the ability to drive home that day. In summary, this legislation is unnecessary as these instances do not occur. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1581. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1651, establishing a committee to study the use of liquid de-icers on roads.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 4-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

Senate Transportation
March 20, 2018
2018-1163s
06/10

Amendment to HB 1651

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a committee to study the use of liquid de-icers and solid salt on roads.

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 Committee Established. There is established a committee to study the use of liquid de-icers and solid salt on roads.

Amend the bill by replacing section 3 with the following:

3 Duties. The committee shall study the use of brine, liquid calcium chloride, other liquid de-icers, and solid salt to remove ice from highways and roads, including the effect of such de-icers on vehicles and the environment.

2018-1163s

This bill establishes a committee to study the effects of using liquid de-icers and solid salt on roads.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Last one. Thank you, Mister President. Well, hopefully last one. Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1651 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This legislation establishes a committee to study the effect of liquid de-icers on roads and vehicles. The amendment changes the language to represent both liquid de-icers as well as solid salt and also studies the effects that de-icers have on our environment. This is a large issue within the commercial vehicle industry since brine and salt can damage their vehicles. This legislation is important in order for stakeholders to further examine this important issue. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1651. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1731-FN, relative to regulating bicycles.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1731 Ought to Pass. This legislation allows crossing an unbroken traffic line to pass a pedestrian or device moved by human power, modifies hand signal requirements for bicyclists and allows flashing headlamps on bicycles. This will clean up the current laws in place. The first part of the bill would make it so that vehicles have the ability to pass when safe to do so. The second portion allows a change in hand signals where cyclists can use both hands to signal. It is much safer for cyclists to be able to use whichever hand is more convenient. The final section of the bill deals with individuals who have been cautioned or ticketed about using flashing lights on bicycles. It is essential that defensive lighting be allowed for bicyclists so that others can see them traveling. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1731. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1795, eliminating the oversight commission on motor vehicle fines. Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. Let's wrap up Transportation. I move House Bill 1795 Ought to Pass. This legislation eliminates the oversight commission on motor vehicle fines and was requested by the oversight commission on motor vehicle fines established in RSA 262:45. This commission was established to address a certain issue. With the issue having been resolved, the commission has not done much since, not at all. Their productivity's gone, it's time for them to go and representatives believe that this commission should be eliminated. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1795. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. To the committee; is there someone that oversees motor vehicle fines, other than this commission and what they're set at and so forth?

SENATOR BIRDSELL: I'm not sure, I'll have to look into that for you. But I would presume the Department of Safety since they have requested this, they're probably the ones that are overseeing them.

SENATOR GIUDA: Is not the Department of Safety the one that was the problem for which this commission was assembled, that the fines were getting outrageously high?

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Honestly, I don't know.

Senator Giuda moved to Lay on the Table HB 1795.

A division vote was requested.

Yeas: 7 - Nays: 8. Failed.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES

HB 1286, relative to fishing and hunting licenses for permanently disabled veterans.

Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Fuller Clark for the committee.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you, Mister President. This bill will insert a provision in statute allowing New Hampshire veterans who are 80 percent to 99 percent disabled to purchase a lifetime hunting and fishing license at a 50 percent discount. Such veterans must have received a discharge other than dishonorable from service in any war or police action in which the United States has been engaged. This bill will have a minimal fiscal impact on the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department and offers more opportunities to New Hampshire veterans. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator D'Allesandro offered a Floor Amendment.

Sen. D'Allesandro, Dist 20
April 5, 2018
2018-1367s
04/10

Floor Amendment to HB 1286

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Hunting, Fishing, and Trapping; Permanently Disabled Veterans. Amend RSA 214:13 to read as follows:

214:13 [~~Veterans, Totally and Permanently Disabled~~] Permanently Disabled Veterans. If the applicant for a fishing and hunting license is a resident of the state, has received a discharge other than dishonorable from service in [~~any war or police action in which the United States has been engaged~~] the armed forces of the United States as defined in RSA 21:50, II and is [~~totally and~~] at least 80 percent permanently disabled from such service-connected disability, the executive director shall issue a special veteran's license to said applicant. Said license shall be perpetual. The executive director shall retain the records for such licenses for a period not less than 7 years. Loss or destruction of the license after 7 years shall obligate the licensee to re-establish eligibility. A $10 administrative fee shall be charged once, upon application to the executive director for such license.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect January 1, 2019.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill authorizes the executive director of fish and game to issue a lifetime license to a veteran who is at least 80 percent permanently disabled.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, less than 1 percent of the population of the United States of America serves in the military. Less than 1 percent. It would seem to me that if we were doing our civic duty and our civic responsibility, we would say a disabled, a permanently disabled veteran, with his disability between 50 and 99 percent, should be granted a free hunting and fishing license. There are a lot of things we do for veterans but there are a lot of things we don't do for veterans. But it seems to me if a disabled veteran wants to hunt and fish in New Hampshire, and has to under the statute pay, to me that's a terrible disservice on our part. I've worked for years to try to get more money for Fish and Game, and I understand that they're a self-funded entity and so forth and so on. But indeed, if we can't offer a disabled veteran a free hunting and fishing license, then I think we're in trouble. We're in trouble as a society. And we just heard what today, that we're now going to take our National Guard and we're going to insert them on the border in Mexico, another responsibility. And in today's world, about half of the action taken by our military is now taken by reserves or National Guard people, because we can't fully fill all of the requirements for the military. If I had my way I'd bring back the draft, if I had my way. Everybody should serve. That's in my opinion, but indeed if we can't take care of disabled people by giving them a free hunting and fishing license, then we're in trouble as a society. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for taking my question and I have a couple of the President will allow, just trying to understand the width and breadth of your policy consideration. My understanding is about 10 percent of the residents of New Hampshire are veterans, which we're very thankful for. How many are disabled, and I guess I might want to say, how big is this consideration we're looking at, what kind of money is it for a license, how much is it a year, acknowledging we know that the Fish and Game, generally accounts always seems to be a little shy?

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: First of all thank you for the question. I think we do have a large number of veterans in the state of New Hampshire, retired but I'm not sure about the disability component as to the percentage it is. But if you, and I haven't got the numbers for the Fish and Game licenses. I could get those for you, but I believe it would be de minimis in terms of its impact on Fish and Game.

SENATOR SANBORN: And I guess my question, it might be too late in the second to ask the question, although I'd be supportive of it, why give them the annual license, if we are just going to give them the license, make it a lifetime license?

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Great, thank you, great question. I'd be more than happy to do that. I think that's what we're trying to do. I thought that's what this amendment did. So correct me if I'm wrong, but I thought that's what–

SENATOR SANBORN: It is. My apologies, I misspoke– Thank you, Sir. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in support of Floor Amendment 1367s. What this Floor Amendment does, as the Dean had noted, it makes the hunting license and fishing licenses free for those at least 80 percent, at least 80 percent permanently disabled with service-connected disability. Disability has to be related to your service. It gets rid of the requirement that you serve in a combat zone because a lot of veterans get disabled other ways. So, this still maintains the requirement of service-connected disability and I think it would, in my view, based on the record of the hearing and based on the discussion it would expand, certainly the free licenses. However, I think it's a reasonable expansion with likely de minimis impact. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator French.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: (None)

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Roll Call, Yeas: 23 - Nays: 0. Adopted.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I will support this motion as amended. I'd like to rise for the record though and inform the body that there are numbers of discharges that are not honorable discharges that are not dishonorable. There's general discharge, bad conduct discharges, these are veterans whose service has not risen to the par of acceptable to the military. So I will vote for this, but in the future if I'm back here I'm going to move to respect the honorable discharges of the millions or thousands in our state that have served honorably without besmirching the honor of the service. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

MOTION TO REMOVE FROM THE TABLE

Senator Avard moved to remove SB 586-FN-A-L from the Table. Adopted.

WAYS AND MEANS
SB 586-FN-A-LOCAL, relative to casino gambling.

The pending motion is Refer to Interim Study.

SUSPENSION OF THE RULES

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate suspend all rules necessary to permit consideration at the present time of SB 586-FN-A-L. Adopted by the necessary 2/3 vote.

PRESIDENT MORSE: The current motion is Refer to Interim Study. Here's the deal. The current motion is Refer to Interim Study. That was made by Senator Daniels. He can withdraw it, or we can have a vote on Refer to Interim Study because my understanding is Senator Avard wants to get to Ought to Pass and offer an amendment.

SENATOR DANIELS: I will maintain the Interim Study motion.

SENATOR BRADLEY: I ask for a roll call.

PRESIDENT MORSE: So the roll call is on the Refer to Interim Study motion.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. If I wish to move this legislation forward would I then vote down the motion of Interim Study?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Interim Study, you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Mister President, whether I'm for or against the passage of this bill, would I vote down Interim Study to at least entertain the Floor Amendment so that we can have discussion about what's being offered by Senator Avard?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Interim Study, you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say nay.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Mister President, if I believe that there could potentially be an amendment with very significant changes to public policy that have not been publicly discussed or debated at a hearing, would I vote in favor of the Interim Study?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Interim Study, you're going to say aye, if you're opposed, you're going to say nay.

A roll call was requested by Senator Bradley, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Bradley, Hennessey, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Reagan, Fuller Clark.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Giuda, Gray, French, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Roll Call, Yeas: 8 - Nays: 15. Failed.

Senator Avard moved Ought to Pass.

Senator Avard offered a Floor Amendment.

Floor Amendment to SB 586-FN-A-LOCAL

Amend RSA 284-B:2 as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

284-B:2 Gaming Regulatory Oversight Authority. The gaming regulatory oversight authority, through delegation to the division of gaming enforcement, shall establish, staff, manage, and operate video lottery and table games at video lottery locations licensed under the provisions of this chapter. Facilities provided by the facility licensee shall contain non-gaming resources such as, dining, liquor, hotel, and any other support resource approved by the gaming regulatory oversight authority. The facility licensee shall, at a minimum, provide and pay for heat, electricity, water, sewer, maintenance, and security surveillance infrastructure for the video lottery location for which the facility licensee shall receive remuneration pursuant to RSA 284-B:15.

Amend RSA 284-B:3 as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

284-B:3 Duties of the Gaming Regulatory Oversight Authority. The authority shall:

I. Issue licenses after completion of the investigations set forth in this chapter. All license applications shall be approved or denied no later than 150 days from the date of application. No license issued under the provisions of this chapter shall be assigned, transferred, or sold, without a complete application and the approval of the authority and payment of a $150,000 application fee. No person or entity may own or have an interest in more than one facility license.

II. Collect all license fees imposed upon any applicant and all fees imposed by this chapter.

III. Certify net machine income by inspecting records, conducting audits, having its agents on site, or by other reasonable means.

IV. Establish a central computer system at a location of its choosing linking all video lottery machines to a central computer to ensure control over the video lottery machines.

V. Enter into lease agreements with up to 3 technology providers to provide video lottery machines to the state. Lease agreements shall provide that the technology provider supply the quantity and quality of video lottery machines determined by the authority in a timely and efficient manner, and shall be paid with a percentage of the net machine income, as provided in RSA 284-B:15. The technology provider shall provide all maintenance and service of its video lottery machines at no additional charge or fee to the state. Each agreement shall also provide that the technology provider shall be required to replace 30 percent of its video lottery machines annually.

VI. Establish technical standards for approval of video lottery machines, including mechanical and electrical reliability and security against tampering, as it may deem necessary to protect the public from fraud or deception and to ensure the integrity of the operation.

VII. Not later than November 1 in each calendar year of this program, provide a report to the legislative fiscal committee regarding the generation of revenue of video lottery machines. Such report shall include any recommendations for legislation and any public concerns.

VIII. Establish a list of approved table games and establish standards and testing processes for electronic table games.

IX. Have the authority to issue subpoenas and compel the attendance of witnesses, to administer oaths, and require testimony of witnesses under oath.

X. Make and keep records of all proceedings of its public meetings. A copy of the transcript shall be made available to any person upon request and payment of the costs of preparing a copy.

XI. Keep and maintain a list of all license applicants and a record of all actions taken with respect to each applicant. A file and record of the actions by the gaming oversight authority shall be open to public.

XII. Maintain such other files and records as it deems necessary. All records maintained by the gaming oversight authority may be maintained in digital format or other technology, provided that such information is capable of being produced in written form.

XIII. Maintain the confidentiality of all information and data obtained by the authority. Such information shall not be revealed in whole or in part except as otherwise provided by law, upon the lawful order of a court of competent jurisdiction, lawfully executed and served grand jury subpoenas, or with the approval of the attorney general, to a duly authorized law enforcement agency.

XIV. Provide notice of the contents of any information or data released, except to a duly authorized law enforcement agency or grand jury subpoena pursuant to paragraph XIII, shall be given to any applicant, registrant, or licensee in a manner prescribed by the rules adopted by the authority.

XV. If necessary, contract for and procure financial, economic, or security consultants and any other technical and professional services as the authority deem necessary.

XVI. Develop and provide an employee training program which shall include, but not be limited to, information on state law, criminal and civil liability, and management practices.

Amend RSA 284-B as inserted by section 1 of the bill by deleting RSA 284-B:12 and renumbering the original RSA 284-B:13-29 to read as RSA 284-B:12-28, respectively.

Amend RSA 284-B:12, I as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

I. The authority shall issue a request for applications within 30 days of the adoption of licensing rules in accordance with RSA 284-B:4. The request for applications shall require all facility license applications to be submitted to the authority no later than 120 days after the publication of the request, provided, however, an applicant who has paid the full application and investigation fees required by this section may receive one extension of up to 30 days upon a finding of good cause shown by the authority. Applications received after the deadline shall not be reviewed by the authority. The authority shall approve, approve with conditions, or deny all applications submitted in accordance with the provisions of this chapter and any applicable rules promulgated by the authority.

Amend RSA 284-B:13, I(d) as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

(d) That each director, officer, or similar principal employee and each direct or indirect owner satisfies the standards for licensure contained in RSA 284-B:12.

Amend RSA 284-B:15, I(a)(6) as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

(6) Credit the balance to the gaming regulatory fund established by RSA 284-B:14, VI.

Amend RSA 284-B:28, II as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

II. All fees collected under RSA 284-B:15, I(a)(4) shall be credited to the fund established in paragraph I.

Amend RSA 6:12, I(b)(340)-(341) as inserted by section 9 of the bill by replacing them with the following:

(340) Moneys deposited in the gambling addiction prevention fund established in RSA 284-B:28.

(341) Moneys deposited in the gaming regulatory fund established under RSA 284-B:14.

Amend 2017, 156:86 as inserted by section 8 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

156:86 Revenue Sharing; Suspension. RSA 31-A, relative to revenue sharing with cities and towns shall be suspended for the biennium ending June 30, 2019. The suspension shall be lifted upon certi- fication by the state treasurer to the secretary of state and the office of legislative services that he or she has received revenue under RSA 284-B:15.

2018-1358s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Allows the licensing and operation of video lottery and table gaming facilities.

II. Requires the gaming regulatory oversight authority to select licensees for video lottery and table gaming facilities and oversee the operation of such facilities.

III. Establishes the gaming regulatory fund.

IV. Establishes the gaming enforcement division of the state police.

V. Establishes the gambling addiction prevention fund.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. My original objection for this whole casino gambling was the fact that it limited it to two licenses, creating what I feel was a monopoly. This basically removes the two and allows it to move forward without any restrictions as to how many licenses will be offered in the state of New Hampshire. That's in essence what this legislation does.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Avard.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for taking my question. I'm just trying to understand because obviously this amendment came in a little late and I'm not sure I understand it all, but are what you're saying that this would open up the ability for anybody to have a one-armed bandit or betting machine in any home or establishment or anywhere?

SENATOR AVARD: That's not what I understand.

SENATOR SANBORN: So it is my understanding that for anyone who ponies up $150,000 and goes through a process they can open up a casino and it would have to be within the casino, but we could have as many casinos as anyone wants to open up?

SENATOR AVARD: Not anyone, they're only allowed one license per establishment.

SENATOR SANBORN: But if I understand you correctly for the record, unlimited number of licenses, one license per establishment?

SENATOR AVARD: Per establishment.

SENATOR SANBORN: So we could conceivably have fifty or a hundred casinos if there are fifty or a hundred people that wanted to pony up $150,000?

SENATOR AVARD: Or two.

SENATOR SANBORN: Or two. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment. The amendment allows for a number of applicants, but the state must approve these applicants and they must meet the criteria and they must go through the process. They pony up X number of dollars and if they want the license, they have to pay 40 million for the license. So indeed, that's something that has to be considered.

As many of you know I've been on this case for a long period of time. I want to create a picture for you. I want you to drive down Route 93 and as you reach Everett, I want you to look to the left and there's a forty-story building there that wasn't there a year ago. There are 1,500 people working in that building, all being paid a decent wage. There are 1,500 of them. The cost of building that entity is $2.3 billion, that's being spent in Massachusetts, 2.3 billion. When that entity is open in 2019, 2,000 people will have jobs. Base salary for most of those jobs will be in the 50 to $100 thousand range. The taxes paid by that entity will be enormous. Just look at the base rate for a property that's worth 3 or $4 billion when it's finished. All of those opportunities were available for New Hampshire. We said no. We said no for a lot of reasons, we're going to have corruption, we're going to have this, we're going to have that, etcetera, etcetera. We had the perfect place for it, where for 100 years we had thoroughbred racing. After thoroughbred racing shut down, we had a charitable gaming entity. We lost that opportunity. The local community voted 80 percent to accept the opportunity. So, this may be our last opportunity to move forward with this. Nothing is guaranteed, if it gets by this body, it's got to go to the House and that's the assembly of 400. I thought Leonidas had a problem when he fought the Assyrians at the battle of Thermopylae, but indeed, the battle that we have against the 400 is even more difficult. I'm telling you that, and I've been to the paths of Thermopylae and I've seen Leonidas' statue, alright? His name is known in history. Well, we've got that challenge, we as a body have that challenge. But indeed it isn't a case of the people don't want this. We've had public opinion polls that say 80 percent of the people in the state of New Hampshire want this. Those of us who listen to Channel 9 have seen the Oxford Casino's ads. They're pervasive. You drive down the turnpike, who sponsors the signs? Oxford Casino. Who's got the bus in Manchester totally covered with Play at Oxford Casino? That drives around the city all day. Now the people at Oxford heard this because they've put a hotel next to the casino because it's doing so well. As a matter of fact it's doing so well, that Churchill Downs paid $160 million for a $40 million investment. That's what the original guys put up.

So my friends, my colleagues, is this the perfect bill? Nah, no bill is perfect. Is it more than I had anticipated getting? Yes. But indeed if it's a compromise and a way to get this thing going, I obviously support it. And as I said, my wife's going to Mohegan Sun next week, alright? What's she going there for? To gamble, because she enjoys it. It's a part of life. People like to do this, and indeed, we have as I said, we have embellished this premise for the last basically hundred years, for a hundred years New Hampshire's been gaming.

When I first came to this legislature, Rockingham Park represented 7 percent of the operating income for the state of New Hampshire. It was in the budget, Rockingham Park, 7 percent. We did that for almost a hundred years. Is Salem better off because of what Rockingham Park did? I think so. Nobody in Salem was complaining, although persons that were complaining were quite much in the minority. So I ask you, please look at this and if nothing else, please, when you're driving down Route 93 and you're just coming up to that rise as you get to Somerville and you look to the left and you see this magnificent facility rising, you say hey, that could have been in New Hampshire. That could have been here, you know it's with great sorrow I say this is what could have been. Well, we still have an opportunity to do something. So I hope my colleagues will consider it and thank you very much, Mister President. And I thank my colleagues in the Senate who brought forth the amendment that put it on the table for discussion. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a question of Senator Avard.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you for taking my question. What is the fiscal impact of your amendment?

SENATOR AVARD: I don't know.

SENATOR DANIELS: So you're asking us to vote on an amendment where we have no idea what it's going to cost?

SENATOR AVARD: Well, I think we have the potential of, one of the first applications if it's approved to get least $40 million.

SENATOR DANIELS: Noticed in the Amended Analysis it establishes the Gaming Enforcement Division of the State Police, we have no knowledge of how big that's supposed to be, what it's supposed to entail or what the cost is. Is that correct?

SENATOR AVARD: That is correct.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment and the bill hopefully as passed if the amendment passes. I do so because 1) there are parts of this state that are in dire need of economic revitalization, and I represent twenty-seven towns in Grafton County, I'm sorry twenty-seven towns, nineteen of them in Grafton County. We're losing population, we're losing jobs, my district has lost 2,000 jobs in the last five years; high tech jobs moving south, okay? So there are parts of this state that are in serious need, right? For us to foreclose on the consideration of locating an establishment that would provide jobs and revenues both locally and statewide, okay, for whatever we choose, education, you pick it. But this would introduce a funding source that is not a tax. It is a voluntary activity enjoyed by many. When I first moved to New Hampshire I heard the term Manchvegas, because gambling is sort of in the life blood and the DNA of our state. I have people in my town of Warren that drive south to Mohegan Sun that go to Manchester and fly to Las Vegas. They like to gamble. Yet we foreclose of that opportunity, not only to allow them to enjoy themselves in our state and generate revenues for our budgets, okay? But also to provide jobs and work opportunities for a workforce that is in serious trouble in the North Country. So for those reasons Mister President, I offer my support for this amendment. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. I rise in opposition to this amendment. I'm not going to repeat what I said two weeks ago, but I would ask you if you had reservations and didn't support legislation that would allow for two casinos in New Hampshire, why would you now go ahead and support legislation that will allow for as many casinos in New Hampshire that can be approved under the original bill? And so I think this just is allowing for the expansion of an industry that will have very negative impact economically on this state. And I'd just like to say that it's my understanding, that we just heard that these jobs were going to pay for the Wynn Casino as much as $100 thousand a person. Well it's my understanding that a large bulk of individuals working at casinos make no more than 30 or $35 thousand dollars a year. They're not earning a livable wage in terms of what you, or close to livable wage but it's nowhere near $100 thousand a year. So, we have to ask ourselves, what kind of jobs would this bring to the state, and what kind of money would it take out of the pockets of New Hampshire residents? Who will no longer, no, because we see that for every casino within thirty miles of a casino is where the bulk of those people go to that casino. People coming from farther away, it's going to be almost impossible to compete with Wynn. And also if you remember that the Wynn casino, includes a number of entertainment venues, you know, if any of these casinos get approved and they are coming in with a project that, you know, can afford to build those type of entertainment venues, can afford to build the stages and the, you know, amusements that go along with that, ask yourselves what is that going to do to all the entertainment investments that have been made here in the state of New Hampshire, rather it's the Capital Center for the Arts, rather it's the development in Keene, rather it's the Opera House in Rochester, rather it's the Opera that goes to the northern part of the state, again, now we need to look at what, you know, and tourism for all of those entities is what helps to drive our economy. It's the third largest source of revenue in the state. They will not be able to compete with casinos here, there and everywhere.

I also, though I'm not opposed to gambling from a moral point of view, I was rather startled yesterday when I came home and I received a packet in the mail that was a publication about this thick, about how we should address the issue of gambling addiction. Now I ask you, if a publication like that is now being put in the hands of all of us here and across the country, does that not say that we are having a growing addiction problem? Why else would we be receiving that type of manual? And again studies have shown that, you know, what we would be talking about for the development of casino that is not on the level of Wynn, it is the majority of gaming that can take place there is with the slot machines. Studies have shown that slot machines are designed to be addictive, and that we don't have the kind of table gaming that we used to have in the past. If you were to visit Oxford, which I have done, you would see that 70 percent of the people there, they're not using those table games, they're sitting in front of a slot machine, not talking to anybody, playing these games over and over and over again. No, they're not socializing, and you know, the risk of them becoming addicted as we talked about. We're all addicted to our cell phones, it's the same kind of play that goes at work, so we do have an addiction problem. But to my mind, the bigger problem is that we run the risk of upending our economy here in New Hampshire. And particularly if we're going to allow, open the door for a number of casinos throughout the state. So thank you very much, Mister President, and I would urge my colleagues to vote down this amendment.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you for taking my question. Would you not agree with me that the game of Keno is highly addictive?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Senator, the good Senator from Nashua, I would agree with you that Keno is highly addictive. In fact, I went before the House Committee this year when there was a bill, asking to undo what we had done last year by linking kindergarten with Keno and abolish Keno in the state. I think it's incredibly disruptive and disappointing that we as a legislative body didn't fund kindergarten as a responsibility of the state and shifted that on to Keno. I think that was wrong. I think it shouldn't have happened. And I think what we're seeing is where Keno is being approved, it's being approved in the communities where I think it has the potential ultimately to hurt the income of people who are in those communities. So anyway, that's my position, I'm happy to answer your question. I don't approve of all of it, for economic reasons. I think it's just draining money out of people's pockets for a type of entertainment that does not benefit us as a state.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you very much. In the research that I've done, I have seen that there is a good many of the biggest casino organizations, and this is a question, actually hire from places outside of the states where they reside and less from within the state and I don't know if you'd seen that same kind of information?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: That is my understanding that the well-paying jobs go to those people who are brought in by the entities that start up and invest in the casino and that the everyday jobs go to residents in the locality. Thank you.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: And also, I wonder if there's any information about the cost of addiction and what the cost both, both in terms of morale, workforce and therapy, my field?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: There are many studies that have been done. I think you'll notice in this legislation, it does acknowledge that addiction is, it comes with casinos and that they provide money to help with people who have addiction to gambling. But I, and I know that there are others studies out there, that it has costs that go beyond just that individual to the family, to the community, to potential crime, to potential suicide. So it has huge ramifications that end up costing us in other ways.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. With reference to the financial situation, LBA prepared a fiscal note to this legislation when it was first introduced and that is still available and I just want to make note that based on their analysis, both the cost and the revenues are available to everyone. The revenues, if one of these entities becomes operational is about $134,900,650 once we're in full operation. So let's call it a $135 million a year we'll be generating. There are costs associated with that that are clearly identified in the fiscal note; what it costs to get the police up and running and all of the other associated costs. So that fiscal note's been around for a long period of time and it's been redone time after time after time. I look at this, this is like the twentieth iteration of the fiscal note. So we update it every two years.

With regard to some of the comments about where the jobs are going to come from, and the problems that are associated with it. We know that the local entity will receive most of the jobs, they'll come from New Hampshire people, just as they came from New Hampshire people at Rockingham Park, when we had Hinsdale and when we had Belmont and all of the local attraction was good and the jobs were there, and the jobs were decent paying jobs, and they will continue to be decent paying jobs, because you can't find people to perform what needs to be done in these entities and pay them inappropriately. They do very well. A parking attendant in Las Vegas makes over $100,000 a year. That's a guy or a woman that just tells you where to park the car. So indeed, they're good jobs, I mean you look at these numbers, I think the numbers clearly indicate that, I hate to say this but it's a good bet. It's a good bet.

And indeed, you know the problem is we, because of our inability to take advantage of this year after year after year, we've not received the benefits but, and with regard to publications that are being printed, I mean the opposition to this has always been in the mainstream of sending material out to individuals and doing other things. The lobbying against casino gambling here in New Hampshire has been persistent and well-funded, very well-funded. So indeed, this opportunity as I say and I think this is probably again, the last chance saloon in that respect because the entities have all listened to us. I mean I think it's amazing when you think that when we started this there was nothing in Massachusetts, there was nothing in Maine, they had de minimis things in Connecticut, they had very, very little in Rhode Island, they had one place, they had nothing in New York. But since this dialogue began, all of those entities have listened to us and have produced some type of advanced gambling, casino gambling. It's taking place around us so what we have sent a message out and others have listened to us. The only people that don't listen are us. You know we turned a deaf ear on, we oh, all these bad things are going to take place. What's going on around us? What's going on in Maine, in Massachusetts, in Rhode Island, in Connecticut, in New York? They have these entities in place, and they have done it since we started talking about it almost twenty years ago. Almost twenty years ago. And what have we done in the last twenty years? We lost Rockingham Park, we lost Belmont, we lost Hinsdale, where are we, and what are we saying? That people are going to go, they're going to go to Massachusetts and gamble, they're going to go to Maine and gamble, and what do we receive in terms of a benefit on that activity? We get nothing. Do we get the headaches? Yeah, because they come back to New Hampshire, and all of those problems that we talk about, if they exist, we have to deal with them, without the revenue source. an inconsistency there.

But indeed, my purpose of rising was to say, to the distinguished Chair of Finance, there is a fiscal note. That There's fiscal note has been done and redone and it's available, It's available and we can have it updated by LBA or anybody else that we want to and the cost associated with it have been clearly defined. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Before we move the question; we're voting on the floor amendment which is a straight fifty plus one vote. After we get through the floor amendment, we're looking for clarification of where the body stands, and I believe that is what Senator Bradley is going to ask on what the vote needs to be on the whole bill if the floor amendment were to pass.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: This bill has a FN. Does it still have to go before Finance?

PRESIDENT MORSE: At this point we've suspended all the rules taking something up past the deadlines, so no.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Again, it's a specific question to the suspension of the rules. Have we suspended the rules to the extent that it only requires a simple majority to proceed to the House, on the final Ought to Pass?

PRESIDENT MORSE: When we get through the Floor Amendment we'll address that.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: I just wanted to make sure I understood the directions of the Mister President that the amendment requires how many votes to be adopted?

PRESIDENT MORSE: It requires a simple majority, Senator.

SENATOR KAHN: Yes, that's what I wanted. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Birdsell, seconded by Senator Avard.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, French, Avard, Lasky, Cavanaugh, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Bradley, Hennessey, Gray, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Fuller Clark.

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Roll Call, Yeas: 12 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

Recess. Out of recess.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Without objection the Senate President's going to rule that this requires a super majority to be passed, to be sent out of this body. I think the sponsor of it understood that when he met with me before today, and I just explained that. What you did earlier, and it bears to pay attention, we suspended all the rules in the Senate when we were being courteous to allow this in. So when you do something like that, the Senate President can fly by the seat of his pants, and that is not a good situation to be in quite honestly, but I'm ruling now and unless I'm overruled, you would have to have a 2/3 majority to send this legislation out of the Senate. I think that's just good public policy when you're past the deadline. I think the end result is pretty understandable at this point in time, unless people change their votes, but the reality of where we are right now, it would require a 2/3 vote.

Without objection, the Chair rules that a 2/3 vote is required. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator Gannon.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, French, Avard, Lasky, Cavanaugh, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Bradley, Hennessey, Gray, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Fuller Clark.

The following Senators were excused: Watters.

Roll Call, Yeas: 12 - Nays: 11. Failed, lacking the necessary 2/3 vote.

Senator Bradley moved to Lay on the Table SB 586-FN-A-L. Adopted.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM EARLY SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Early Session, that the business of the Late Session be in order at the present time, that all bills and resolutions ordered to Third Reading be, by this resolution, read a third time, all titles be the same as adopted, and that they be passed at the present time.

Adopted. Adjournment from the Early Session.

LATE SESSION

LIST OF RULE 6-25'S FOR THE DAY

Senator Sanborn: HB 193, HB 492, HB 1202-L, HB 1227, HB 1228, HB 1252-FN, HB 1258, HB 1271, HB 1273, HB 1280-FN, HB 1281, HB 1286, HB 1290, HB 1303, HB 1308-FN, HB 1331, HB 1349, HB 1352-FN, HB 1363, HB 1364, HB 1374, HB 1378, HB 1379, HB 1389, HB 1421-FN, HB 1425-FN, HB 1441-FN, HB 1446, HB 1453, HB 1454, HB 1455, HB 1480, HB 1493, HB 1494, HB 1506-FN, HB 1517, HB 1518, HB 1523, HB 1551, HB 1575, HB 1581, HB 1606, HB 1651, HB 1663, HB 1675, HB 1676-FN, HB 1683-FN, HB 1685-FN, HB 1731-FN, HB 1741, HB 1785, HB 1795, HB 1823-FN, SB 586-FN-A-L

ANNOUNCEMENTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I had agreed with my good friend from District 19 to do an Irish Cake Bakeoff today, and I forgot to do it. And I would've gotten beat, I think, based on her cake. I am going to make a cake next week, but please remember how good her cake was and compare it to mine. So I apologize to my friend and I will be bringing a cake next week. We'll take a vote on it.

Secondly, on a much more somber note, Mister President, and I'll just enter this, without objection, the obituary into the record. I won't read the whole thing. The Reverend Dwight Haynes of Concord passed away. He was a terrific community advocate, a wonderful friend to me, and many others, and served for forty plus years as the pastor of United Methodist Church here in Concord. For those who may be interested, services will be held at Wesley United Methodist Church at 79 Clinton Street in Concord on April 12th at 2 p.m., and without objection, I'll enter the full obituary into the record. Thank you very much, Mister President.

Dwight Seavey Haynes

January 22, 1937 – March 24, 2018

> The Reverend Dwight S. Haynes, 81, of Concord, NH passed away on March 24, 2018, surrounded by his family. Born in Haverhill, MA in 1937, as a four year old, he was diagnosed as deaf and dumb. Sent home by the experts in Boston, Dwight was operated on in the family's living room by a doctor who lived next door. His hearing was significantly restored, and speech therapy helped him to speak.

A shy and reserved child, (surprising to those who knew him as an adult!) Dwight set a goal giving himself the satisfaction of achievement and helping others at the same time, a quality he displayed throughout his life. As a second grader in 1944, he collected 2,650 tin cans for the war effort. This won him top honors in his city's "Tin-Toter Campaign." Told by his high school principal that he would never make it to college, Dwight earned a Bachelor's degree in philosophy from Bates College in 1959, and graduated from Boston University School of Theology in 1962 with dual Master's degrees in Divinity and Psychology & Pastoral Counseling. A lifelong champion of civil rights, one of his proudest moments was marching on Montgomery with Martin Luther King, Jr. In fact, he had just given a talk on the subject to middle school students in February of this year. Before retiring in 2002, Dwight served 40+ years as a pastor in the United Methodist Church (UMC). In notes made in his late 70s, he tallied having conducted 276 weddings, 280 baptisms, 414 members received, 590 funeral/memorial services, "and thousands of meetings."

In retirement he served four interim pastorates, preached in 46 churches, including two services at Bow Mills UMC on the Sunday before he died, and continued to participate in many volunteer activities. Whether serving as a mentor for local pastors and candidates for ministry, attending political rallies or social justice events, or writing letters to the editor, Dwight never stopped finding ways to contribute in any way he could. This included serving as a Granite State Ambassador at the kiosk in front of the State house for eight summers, as well as president of the Havenwood Resident Association. An avid bicyclist, Dwight completed 36,000 miles by his 81st birthday. Another goal he set and exceeded was donating 112 pints of blood. Dwight traveled as often as he could starting with a summer in Europe in his 20s, and taking trips to Israel and Egypt, Greece and Turkey, culminating in lifetime tallies of five continents, 29 nations, 44 states, and 17 National Parks. When speaking of his travels, Dwight frequently shared that while "people may look different and talk different, we all have the same hurts and hopes." He also liked to point out that St. Augustine said, "The world is a book. Those who do not travel read only a page."

Dwight leaves his wife of 56 years, Maryellen; his daughters, Linda and Judith; his grandchildren, Jessica and Joshua; and one great-grandchild, Asher.

A celebration of his life will be held at Wesley United Methodist Church, 79 Clinton Street, Concord, NH on April 12 at 2 pm. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the United Methodist Committee on Relief (UMCOR) or Wanakee Camperships and mailed to Bow United Methodist Church, 505 South Street, Bow, NH 03304. Memorial gifts may also be made directly to the Audubon Society or the ACLU.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I, too, rise and ask for personal privilege. As I was entering my house last evening, I got a call from George Lamprey, and George mentioned to me that Stewart Lamprey had passed away. Stewart Lamprey was a unique human being. He was Speaker of the House, he was President of this Senate; he became Under-Secretary of Commerce during the Nixon Administration, but more importantly, Stewart was a great friend and, I thought, a really great American.

I first met Stewart in 1968 when Walter Peterson appointed me to the Athletic Commission as a Commissioner. I walked into the office, Ray Burton was standing in one corner, Cynthia Kirby was at the desk, and Stewart was on the inside, he was Chief of Staff; brought me into the office and Governor Peterson, at that time, thought that this Athletic Commission was something more than the boxing and the wrestling and I got approved. From that point on, Stewart really became my friend, and in 1982, Stewart ran my campaign for Governor. We lost in a very close race, and it was the primary. Stewart was a real visionary, a real visionary. In 1972, before he left, he produced a document and talked about legislative changes that should be made. Maybe some of you have read that. I know I keep it in my office and look it over every once in a while. But Stewart had a vision of how this should all work, and did a great job of making things happen, making things happen.

After he left politics, Stewart started a company called New Hampshire Business Sales. And New Hampshire Business Sales was a very successful real estate operation, and he did a great job. And Jeb, you probably remember the work he did in Meredith. That beautiful building he constructed in Meredith. As I said, Stewart was a visionary, but in this business, as I say often, life's all about relationships. I had a relationship with Stewart, and it was a very meaningful one, and go and meet him and we'd talk politics and he ended his life in a nursing home up in Meredith and he passed away there. But, we all need somebody to talk to at some time in our lives, and we get, you know, get an answer to some of the questions that we pose, and that person you have to believe in strongly. And I had that relationship with Stewart. He taught me a lot about politics and a lot about how to do things right, and how to correct things that weren't going so well.

Stewart had a long and very, very successful life; a long and successful life. And I hope that the mark that he left on this state will continue in this context. Government has a purpose. That purpose is important to the people we serve; and Stewart made that happen as Speaker of the House, and as President of the Senate, and that's a great guide, I think, a great guide for me to look at as we move forward. I'm very proud to have known Stewart; very proud to have said he tutored me in the business of politics, and very proud to say Stewart did good things for New Hampshire. He did good things for this state and should be remembered for those things. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much. I request personal privilege? There're some remarks I'd like to share with the body. Many of us here today were either children or young adults in the 1960s, and we lived through a devastatingly painful and shocking period when many of our most remarkable leaders were struck down by an assassin's bullet: President John F. Kennedy, Medgar Evers, Malcolm X, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and Senator Robert Kennedy. Today, on the day after the 50th anniversary of the death of Martin Luther King, we are reminded of that painful time in our nation's history, and of the great loss to our country. Here in New Hampshire, I'd like to share the fact that on October 26, 1952 a 23-year-old divinity student at Boston University delivered a sermon at the historic Pearl Street Church in Portsmouth. Eleven years later, now a Doctor of Divinity, Martin Luther King, Jr. stood before the Lincoln Memorial in our nation's capital to deliver one of the most poignant and powerful speeches in American history. He said he had a dream that one day his children would be judged not by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character, and that one day little black boys and little black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and little white girls as sisters and brothers. And in that speech, he evoked our state, imploring us, quote, "to let freedom ring from the prodigious hilltops of New Hampshire." As you know, fifty years ago yesterday, Dr. King's life was ended by an assassin's bullet. He was a great voice of moral clarity in troubled times; an advocate for peaceful nonviolent protest in a time of violent oppression. His legacy lives on when we, as a country, pause to honor his memory through the celebration of Civil Rights Day. On the night of Dr. King's assassination, Senator Robert Kennedy was speaking in Indianapolis. When he received word of this terrible tragedy, Senator Kennedy, who would himself be struck down by an assassin's bullet just two months later, said in honoring Dr. King's memory, quote, "What we need in the United States is not division. What we need in the United States is not hatred. What we need in the United States is not violence and lawlessness. What we need is love, and wisdom, and compassion towards one another, and a feeling of justice towards those who still suffer within our country. Sadly, that message is as relevant today as it was fifty years ago. I hope we can all take it to heart. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. Senate Finance will convene in room 103 at 2:30.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: I rise to pay tribute to some North Country legends who we have lost recently. Ronney Allen Lyster died unexpectedly, and he came to the North Country to be a logger, got his chainsaw caught in a tree and walked away and started selling cars and created a very, very successful multi-dealership; and owns and operates one of the most beautiful farmsteads in our region. Ronney was a man with a big heart, contagious and infectious smile, constantly in motion. He gave so much to others–his time, his heart, his energy, and his money. He'll be sorely missed.

We also lost a former colleague in the House, Representative Ralph "Buster" Doolan, Jr., who was living in Candia, now. A graduate of Lancaster Academy; excelled in sports, and was a member of the 1951 Class B State Champions; went to Norwich University, the University of New Hampshire; served in the United States Army. He enjoyed a successful and varied career in many different companies: LM Pike, Timberland Machines, Rotobec; and was a pioneer in some of the timber harvesting tools that have come to be known today. He also, along with his wife Jean, found in 1989, Sawlog Bulletin Magazine, an international business journal for the timber harvesters. He was very involved in student's, young people programs to encourage and promote local sports, including the Coos and Upper Grafton Independent Football League. He was involved in the Republican State Committee on the Executive Board, and was elected in 2012 to the New Hampshire House of Representatives. And we will certainly miss Buster. I had a few opportunities to drive to Concord with him, and he was just a great person, cared deeply about people, and we certainly miss him today.

I'd also like to recognize and let you all know that James Hill Fadden, Sr., who came to this body with three generations of Fadden's, a few years back to celebrate our maple sugaring industry, passed. He was born in Lincoln, and was the son of Norm and Marion Fadden. The Fadden family has a deep history; deep connections to the community and to each other. He was a veteran, and also an active member of his community. He also ran, for many years, the Fadden's General Store; and, obviously, the maple sugar operation, which the family is famous for in our parts.

And, finally, just up the road in Lincoln, we lost William Michael Farrand, and he was a truly unique person whose challenges in life started at birth but they never slowed him down of pursuing things that he loved. He was fiercely independent, he loved nature and the outdoors, and his family and friends were all very, very close to him. He found his true calling, Mister President, when he was hired as the Wolfman at Clark's Trading Post; and to be remembered and loved by chasing after children calling to him, "Scram you old Goat", made many young people's lives better. And his footprint is sorely missed today by people, and I'm glad to see the accolades across our newspapers when William Farrand passed, and his memory certainly will be remembered by many, many people to come. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: I just want Senator Watters to know that all our thoughts and prayers are with him, if anyone didn't hear that earlier. Hopefully he joins us next week. If not, I think we'll adapt the calendar to him. I promised him that.

Without objection, all personal privileges and unanimous consent shall be entered into the permanent Journal of the Senate. (Rule 2-16 and Rule 2-17). Adopted.

April 12, 2018

The Senate reconvened at 10:00 a.m., a quorum being present.

The Reverend Jon Hopkins, chaplain to the Senate, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Dear God, we ask that you would bless our country and our state with your wisdom, your love and your compassion. We ask for blessings on our leaders. May these servants who are in positions of authority take that responsibility seriously and do their very best each day. May they make just and wise decisions. May they have passion for people, for truth and for righteousness. We ask for blessings on our service men and women. We ask protection for all our men and women in uniform, both here and around the world. We are grateful for their service and their dedication to keeping our nation safe. We pray that you would keep them safe. We thank you for the blessings of life and liberty. May our country and state continually show love and grace. May our dedication to peace cause us to reach out to all the other nations and people groups with a strong desire for peace and harmony to be displayed whenever possible. And may our desire for peace begin in the New Hampshire state Senate as we work together to make our state better for all of its citizens. Amen.

Senator Lasky led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Senators Soucy and Watters are excused for the day.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I am delighted to introduce my New Orleans branch of the family, my daughter Katie, my granddaughter Ella and my granddaughter Sadie. And then of course my husband Elliot.

(The Chair recognized Senator Cavanaugh.)

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Thank you, Mister President. I just want to start Mister President, by saying I think the best female soccer players in the state are coming from District 16. I'd like to welcome the Division II 2017 Bow High School Girls State Champs. Bow High School is the smallest school in Division II and it's only the second year that they've been playing in Division II, they got moved up two years ago from Division III. This past year they've had an impressive 19-1 record, they had a total of seventy-six goals for with only six goals against. Again, New England ranking is, they're number 4 in New England, and in the United States they were ranked number 20. It's incredible to see these high schools doing that. The Head Coach Jay Vogt could not be with us here today, he's a fourteen year coach, but I'd just like to welcome to the Senate and say congratulations. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I want to thank the New Hampshire Snowmobile Association for the great breakfast this morning, and recognize we have the leadership of our great, great snowmobile clubs in the New Hampshire Snowmobile Association this year, and I just wanted to recognize them, please stand.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. My grandchildren attend Bow High School, and my granddaughter played soccer, but my grandson was the captain of the hockey team, one of the three captains of the hockey team at Bow High School, so great to have the Falcons here. I realize they're flying low today, but thank you for coming and thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: You're welcome, Senator D.

INTRODUCTION OF PAGES

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. It gives me great pleasure to introduce our pages today. We have from Woodsville High School in Haverhill one of the twenty-seven towns that I represent, Roderick Emley. He's the President of the Student Council as well as Youth and Government Club, treasurer of the French Club and involved in Future Business Leaders of America. Plays the trumpet in the band, junior year of high school studied abroad in Leer, Germany. Lived with a German host family and went to a local German high school. Future plans, before attending college he wants to take a gap year to live in France as an au Pair and live with a French family. In college wants to study political science or international affairs and eventually go to law school. Please welcome Roderick Emley.

And also from Woodsville High School in Haverhill we have Nye Adamkowski. Favorite school subject is French and she participates in many sports including, long list, soccer, alpine race skiing, track and field and also does national history day. She's participated in leadership conferences such as YLTA, finally currently a future business leader of America and involved in youth government. Future plans, attending college, hopefully an Ivy League or well-known school after a degree in business, she hopes to attend Boston University Law School, pass the bar and find a position in New York City. Welcome.

Senator Bradley moved that the Consent Calendar, with the relevant amendments as printed in the day's Calendar be adopted and that all such bills found Ought-to-Pass be ordered as follows:

FN bills not waived under Senate Rule 4-5, to the Committee on Finance; non-FN bills approved for referral to Finance by the day's FN report, to the Committee on Finance; and all other bills, to Third Reading.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1474, designating the New Hampshire Red as the official state poultry.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Avard for the committee.

> This bill will designate the New Hampshire Red as the official state poultry. A fourth grade class at Canaan Elementary School researched the chicken and found that it has a rich history in our state and has qualities worthy of recognition. The New Hampshire Red is noted for its intelligence, resilience, and ability to withstand cold winters. Such qualities are representative of New Hampshire residents, making the chicken a good choice for the state's official poultry.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1415-FN-A, establishing a death benefit for a school employee killed in the line of duty.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

> This bill establishes a $100,000 death benefit for the family of a school employee killed in the line of duty. The Governor, with the consent of the Executive Council, is authorized to draw a warrant for said sum out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

HB 1571, authorizing an alternative recovery monitoring program for nurses licensed by the board of nursing.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Cavanaugh for the committee.

> This legislation authorizes the Board of Nursing to operate or contract for an Alternative Recovery Monitoring Program for nurses impaired by substance use disorders or mental or physical illness. This program is similar to those already in existence for doctors and dentists.

HB 1664, relative to terms of appointment of members of governing boards for allied health professionals.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

> This bill clarifies the eligibility to reappoint a member of a governing board of an allied health profession to an additional full term.

This change will allow an individual who serves a partial term on the Board, less than one-half of that three year term, to be able to serve the partial term plus two full terms.

HB 1665, relative to the authority of the governing boards of allied health professionals.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Reagan for the committee.

This bill clarifies the authority of the governing boards of allied health professionals concerning individuals who are certified by such boards. This will give the board clear guidelines in addition to clarifying authority to what they can or to what they are allowed to do.

JUDICIARY
HB 252, relative to pro se litigants under the right-to-know law.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

This bill clarifies the procedures for pro se litigants under the right-to-know law. With this bill, all documents filed with a petition and any responses will automatically be considered evidence in the case, and all documents submitted shall be provided to the opposing party prior to a hearing on the merits. The Committee amended the bill to clarify the language.

Amendment to HB 252

Amend RSA 91-A:7 as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

91-A:7 Violation. Any person aggrieved by a violation of this chapter may petition the superior court for injunctive relief. In order to satisfy the purposes of this chapter, the courts shall give proceedings under this chapter high priority on the court calendar. Such a petitioner may appear with or without counsel. The petition shall be deemed sufficient if it states facts constituting a violation of this chapter, and may be filed by the petitioner or his or her counsel with the clerk of court or any justice thereof. Thereupon the clerk of court or any justice shall order service by copy of the petition on the person or persons charged. Subject to objection by the parties or ruling by the court, or both, all documents filed with the petition and any response thereto shall be considered as evidence by the court. All documents submitted shall be provided to the opposing party prior to a hearing on the merits. When any justice shall find that time probably is of the essence, he or she may order notice by any reasonable means, and he or she shall have authority to issue an order ex parte when he or she shall reasonably deem such an order necessary to insure compliance with the provisions of this chapter.

HB 1420-FN, relative to a criminal penalty for driving after certification as an habitual offender.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

This bill reinstates the misdemeanor offense for driving after certification as a habitual offender. That offense had been inadvertently repealed during the amending of the mandatory minimum sentences statue and this bill will appropriately reinstate it.

HB 1564-FN, relative to sexual assault of a victim who is incarcerated in a correctional institution by a person with supervisory or disciplinary authority over the victim.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Lasky for the committee.

This bill amends the definition of aggravated felonious sexual assault when a victim is incarcerated in a correctional facility. These changes affirm the Legislature's established policy on recognizing that sexual relations between someone in a position of power and authority over someone in custody or detention, including during transportation, constitutes as sexual assault.

HB 1304, relative to the authorization for forensic audits by a county convention.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Kahn for the committee.

This bill clarifies that a county delegation has the authority to appropriate a contingency fund for the purpose of forensic audits of county financial matters. Further it provides that the county commissioners shall approve the expenditure for the forensic audits.

HB 1533, relative to termination of variances and special exceptions.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

This bill clarifies the process for termination of variances and special exceptions that were authorized before August 19, 2013. It allows for enough notice before termination, that property owners may exercise the variance or special exception should they wish.

HB 1593, authorizing a school district meeting to adopt an article authorizing the trustees of the trust fund to charge certain expenses against capital reserve funds.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

This bill will allow school districts to adopt an article authorizing the trustees of the trust fund to charge expenses incurred in employing trust departments of certain financial institutions against capital reserve funds. Municipalities are already allowed to do this and this legislation will extend that authority to the trustee of the school district trust fund.

HB 1638, declaring April 7, 2018 as tabletop gaming day in New Hampshire.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Kahn for the committee.

This bill as amended declares April 28, 2018 as tabletop gaming day in New Hampshire. Over the last decade there has been a huge increase in the industry of tabletop board gaming. EDUCATION

HB 1217, amending the certification requirements for school nurses. Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1217 Ought to Pass. This legislation modifies the certification requirements for school nurses by reverting these requirements back to the standards that were required before the passing of more restrictive requirements last session. This bill still requires school nurses be registered and licensed in the state of New Hampshire. The changes implemented last year placed unforeseen financial and other burdens on school districts and would have resulted in a shortage of qualified school nurses. The Education Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1217. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Reagan.)

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I am Chairman of the Education Committee and I know that we were 4-0 Ought to Pass, but I ask my colleagues to reject the Ought to Pass motion so that we may find this bill Inexpedient to Legislate. There was a panic created when another piece of legislation from the Senate increased the requirements in training for school nurses. In administrative rules, we were able to modify the requirements to allow a six-year period of time for nurses to gain increased training. We found that online course so that these nurses that needed that increase in credits, so that they were able to do this over a period of six years. There are, still may be, things that are objected to but by eliminating all the requirements that were carefully thought out and placed in the previous legislation, we know what happens. When we take the heat off, the pot goes cold and we don't boil up any new ideas or any corrections to what is professionally thought to be the right direction to go for the school nurses. So I ask you to be no on Ought to Pass and at that time I'll offer an Inexpedient to Legislate motion.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the Ought to Pass. I do so because I represent towns upon which even the amended version, which is imperfect, will place an undue burden in the North Country. We have declining populations in our schools, property taxes are going up, nurses are scarce to find and what this will do is make it even harder for school districts to afford a nurse. There's not been a single case of a problem recorded because of the current certification standards, not one. No harm done, no deaths, no physical impairments of any kind. If there is a problem, a school nurse can pick up the phone, can call the hospital, a doctor, another school nurse, the School Nurses' Association or an ambulance. So this is a bill that's put forth by the nurses because it will tighten regulation on nurses and make it more difficult to get a job as a school nurse. We don't need that in our schools and certainly not in the North Country. I would ask you to sustain the Ought to Pass 4-0 by the committee. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, briefly to echo my colleague from District 17. I agree we should vote no on Ought to Pass and yes on ITL. This has been worked on for several years. What we arrived at last year with the leadership of the colleague for District 1 and District 14 and others was a reasonable compromise and what we arrived at in Rules after a long drawn out, another long drawn out rulemaking proceeding was a reasonable compromise. And we had another debate last week about coming in after a long debate on policy and a long debate on rules to just upset the apple cart. Where we're at right now is a reasonable balance in my view. This bill is opposed by disability rights advocates who worry about the impact in our schools. We have a careful balance right now reflecting certification requirements on the one hand and the ability to recruit nurses on the other hand and I think we ought to vote no on Ought to Pass and yes on ITL in light of that. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the Ought to Pass and support the suggestion that we try to move to an Inexpedient to Legislate motion as suggested by the Education Committee chair from District 16. And the reasons, I understand the motivations behind this bill and actually why I voted in the committee in favor initially. It's tempting to want to reduce the regulations here to ease the opportunities of filling the school nurse positions. But it defies the role that school nurses are actually playing today. As I reviewed various testimonies that we've received either in JLCAR, either last year or even this year around a Senate bill that we've passed already and then on this one. What the summary of all that testimony is that nursing today in schools is a frontline health official. It is a person who is examining children and trying to avoid the kind of contagious spreading of disease that can happen in a school environment. That is an important public health role and to define the role more specifically and to the duties that today's nurses need to perform in the schools I think requires the kind of guidance that we've gotten so far and that has moved us to a place in education rules that provides the guidance for the profession. I think we've moved to a reasonable place to fill the needs for schools and I think that these are the kinds of roles that people who've got experience in today's health care professions will want to fill and I don't think that we're going to face that kind of broad shortage that the fear and apprehension of moving to this higher credential is causing. So I think that we're in good ground to reinforce the actions that this Senate has taken previously. Not try to undo all that work that we should defeat this Ought to Pass motion and move to an ITL. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you for taking my question. Senator, it's my understanding for the record having I think voted against this policy when it came up last time, specifically because we heard concerns from schools and from the nursing community that the burden would be so great that it would result in a shortage of nurses at schools and raising the question as to whether or not a school should have to license a nurse. Can you confirm, since I wasn't in the committee, that isn't this bill coming forward because of a specific request from school districts around the state and the nursing community that although we passed policy in good faith last year that the burden was truly too high and it's causing an undue harm to finding nurses and having coverage within our schools?

SENATOR GIUDA: Senator, thank you for the question. I can't speak specifically to whether the origins of this bill were as you state. But what I can speak and have concern about is we are essentially mandating an increased cost to school districts, okay? Nurses are in short supply as we speak, should we mandate higher costs potentially it's a 28A issue. We'd have to look at that. Because we're establishing standards that are going to require a greater outlay of cash because it's requiring higher qualifications and I repeat, there's been no harm done. Again we try, we're trying to get into the business of regulation by hopeful preemption of possibilities. With respect to contaminants and contagious diseases, any school nurse will recognize those signs and symptoms. They do take continuing education courses as they go along now regardless of their level. The state nursing statutes are going to require all nurses to be RNs anyway. So again, we are heaping piles of regulation on a system which is working just fine, out of fear that we might somehow miss something, we're going to heap more regulations on our schools, make nurses harder to find and cause I think more harm than good.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Sir. Thank you

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the motion and I just wanted to respond to my friend from way, way, way down south in Warren, where I don't believe there's any notches in sight. But I was a teacher in Coos County in two different schools in Coos County as well as the Northeast Kingdom of Vermont, and I can tell you how important nurses are, how tremendous the work that they do and we all know that on many study committees about the shortage of nurses and the idea that somehow this is going to make that problem go away is just not the case. There is challenges in that area but we need to have school nurses that are on top of the details, know what's going on, and you know we settled this issue. We settled it last year or two years ago. And we had a little issue and it went to JLCAR and they fixed that issue, the policy has been set. This year you passed a bill that I introduced to create another fix that we passed it and sent it to the House, okay? So those issues have been addressed and I would just say that the needs of kids today, we certify everybody to do everything. Pretty soon you're going to have to be certified to mow the schools grass, okay? If we ever get grass in the North Country. But we need to follow the Senate Education Chairman's advice and do what we need to do here to keep the policy and not be flip-flopping all over the place changing our policies every two years. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in favor of the Ought to Pass motion. And so that everyone understands, my daughter-in-law is one of the school nurses at Concord High School and has gone back and has been re-educated on a continual basis. There is a process by which they go and get hours of study over a period of time. I've been in schools as a high school teacher, and as a college teacher. I find that the school nurses are terrific, they do a great job. In Manchester, we have twenty-two school nurses in our system, twenty-two. If higher requisites were put in place according to our director of public health, Tim Soucy, who by the way lives next door to me. He says that it would put a terrible burden on the city, financially. And that's something that can't be sustained. What they do is very, very good and they are busy. They're busy from early in the morning until late at night and they're doing their job and they're doing it well. You don't need a BSN to do that. You can be an RN, you can be a diploma RN, like the old days. Then we started eliminating diploma RNs and getting rid of all the nursing schools because we put BSNs in place. Now we're restoring all the diploma RNs and hospitals are asking for the two year situation. Why? Because we can't get nurses. We put a 25 percent premium on getting nurses at New Hampshire Hospital because we couldn't find nurses, couldn't find them so we pay them 25 percent more. So indeed, we shouldn't do things that hinder our schools from getting nurses. They do a great job, they're very, very worthwhile. I've been with the nurses since I sponsored the school nursing act in 1973. But I think this is the right thing to do and I hope that my colleagues will support the Ought to Pass motion. Thank you, Mister President.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you for the intro. I want to introduce the best elementary school class from the home of the Republican Party, from the home of Las Olas, the best Mexican restaurant, you should all come down, and Memories Ice Cream which I've been to too many times. The Lincoln Street Elementary School from Exeter, New Hampshire and they are, with your indulgence going to sing one verse from a song written in Exeter. Go ahead my singing troop. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Ward.)

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. As a nurse, I rise in opposition to the Ought to Pass. I think we saw the handwriting, I saw the handwriting in the 1970s when I was a diploma nurse. It was very hard to get a job. The thing is if you're going to work with other professionals, you need to have an academic level equal to that. So that I'm totally in favor of having schools nurses with a baccalaureate degree. I like the fact that the center has provided for six years to get to that point and I think it isn't just a hands on, the practical aspect of nursing, of doing certain things but the intellectual understanding of how the body works and what could go wrong. So I am in opposition to the Ought to Pass and later on I will support the ITL. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator French.

HB 1598-L, relative to the vote to withdraw from a cooperative school district.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1598-L Ought to Pass. This legislation changes the process for withdrawal from the cooperative school district. Currently if a pre-existing district petitions for a withdrawal feasibility study or a cooperative school board undertakes such a study and the plan is approved and sent to the New Hampshire Department of Education, there is no opportunity for the withdrawing district to separately determine if its residents desire to continue with this process. This legislation would make this further consideration possible. The Education Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1598-L. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1674, relative to computer science and digital skills required for an adequate education.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Kahn for the committee.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1674 Ought to Pass. Currently, a substantive education program delivers opportunity for an adequate education in nine areas. This bill separates one of those areas, the one on technology education and information and communication technology. Follow all that? Separates those into two areas, engineering and technologies; and computer science and digital literacy. Placing these two distinct competencies into the K-12 education will help prepare our students to be career and college ready. Further, this legislation does not dictate any courses of instruction or additional requirements to districts. The Education Committee asks for your support in this motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1674. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1335, relative to the cybersecurity software used by the state of New Hampshire.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Carson for the committee.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1335, Ought to Pass. This legislation will prohibit state agencies from using software developed by Kaspersky Lab, which software is most frequently used for anti-virus and cyber security protection. It was brought to the committee's attention that Mister Kaspersky previously worked for the KGB and was trained at the KGB school for cyber security. His company has headquarters in Moscow, under the jurisdiction of the Russian government. In 2017, the National Security Agency reported a successful hack of some computers, by a contract employee who was suspected of taking secret documents home and working on them with a personal computer, which had Kaspersky software installed. Also, the Federal Government is prohibiting their agencies from installing this software. Because of these potential security risks, the ED&A Committee voted favorably, Ought to Pass, and asks for your support in their recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1599, relative to the governor's commission on disability.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Cavanaugh for the committee.

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1599 Ought to Pass. The Governor's Commission on Disability is statutorily present to advise the public, the Governor, and the Legislature on the state of affairs that relate to programs and access to those with a disability in New Hampshire. The bill changes the definition of person with a disability to conform with the definition under the Americans with Disabilities Act; it will change the composition of the commission to maximize a diverse representation. It will institute term limits for both the Chair and new commission members and, it will define their quorum in statute. All these changes bring greater flexibility to the commission. The committee voted favorably Ought to Pass and asks for your support in its adoption. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. We'll do a joint introduction. Roger Brooks' old school, Beaver Meadow School is here, the fourth grade class and it's a wonderful elementary school, it's a wonderful class. I had the opportunity to read to them a couple of weeks ago, and to finish off the introduction and the words welcoming Beaver Meadow School, Roger Brooks, take it away.

DR. ROGER BROOKS, SENATE DOORKEEPER: I'm delighted to see you all in here today and I'll have you know that your teacher, Miss Follansbee was one of our students back in my time, so it's a long, long time ago. Welcome to the Senate.

HB 1622, relative to organization of the department of information technology.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Carson for the committee.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1622 Ought to Pass. This legislation is a result from a performance audit report on the Department of Information Technology. Findings in the report were developed to assist DoIT management to improve efficiency and effectiveness of their operations. This legislation allows DoIT management greater flexibility to reorganize their department to maximize efficiency and effectiveness by making the best uses of the resources they presently have in place. The approach to this legislation and reorganization is not to change everything at once, but by incremental changes to the organization. The committee voted favorably Ought to Pass and asks for your support in its adoption. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1817-FN, establishing the position of state demographer and a commission on demographic trends; requiring state agencies to prepare 10-year current services cost projections; and relative to the inclusion of a demographic analysis as part of the legislative fiscal note process.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Carson for the committee.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1817-FN Ought to Pass. This legislation will establish the position of a state demographer who initially will work as a part-time contractor. It will establish a commission on demographic trends, it will require specific state agencies to prepare a 10-year current services cost projections for identified programs and require the LBA to include a demographic analysis as part of the fiscal note for specific legislation. This bill proposes common sense steps to supply essential data for decision-making, and tools for evaluating proposed legislation for budget forecasting, which includes a limitation for demographic impact notes to twenty bills per year, selected by both the majority and minority. The ED&A Committee voted favorably on Ought to Pass and asks for your support in their recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1736, relative to increasing the threshold required for governor and council approval of expenditures from the dam maintenance fund.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator D'Allesandro for the committee.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I'm big on the dams, always have been. Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1736 Ought to Pass. This bill amends RSA 482:54, by increasing the thresholds at which expenditures of the Dam Maintenance Fund for work on state-owned dams must be approved by the Governor and Council. The current thresholds were set back in 1982. These changes will help the Department of Environmental Services to expedite repairs. HB 1284, relative to the reports required by the incapacitated and vulnerable adult fatality review committee.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1284 as Ought to Pass. This bill changes the reporting requirements of the Incapacitated and Vulnerable Adult Fatality Review Committee from annual to biennial. This committee is charged with reviewing and reporting any trends and patterns of deaths or serious injuries or risk factors, together with any recommendations for changes in the law, policy, and practice that will prevent deaths and related serious occurrences. Changing the reporting requirements will help the committee identify trends and report accurate recommendations to the legislature. Amendment to HB 1468

Amend RSA 126-A:17-a, V as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

V. The commission shall issue an interim report of its findings and any recommendations for proposed legislation to the speaker of the house of representatives, the president of the senate, the house clerk, the senate clerk, the governor, and the state library on or before November 1, 2019, and shall issue a final report on or before November 1, 2020.

Amend the bill by replacing section 3 with the following:

3 Effective Date.
I. Section 2 of this act shall take effect November 1, 2020.
II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1468 Ought to Pass with Amendment. The bill establishes a commission to study legislative oversight activities related to the Department of Health and Human Services. There are many different committees and commissions that oversee different aspects of the Department of Health and Human Services. This new commission would examine all of them to ensure they are meeting all of their duties and goals. The Health and Human Services Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1468. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

HB 1471-FN, relative to telemedicine and establishing a committee to study health care reimbursement for telemedicine and telehealth.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Avard for the committee.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1471 as Ought to Pass. This bill clarifies the law relating to telemedicine services. This bill also establishes a committee to study health care reimbursement for telemedicine and telehealth. Telemedicine has become an increasingly popular option for healthcare delivery in our state. Telemedicine is very important in the treatment with mental illnesses and for patients that live in rural communities. This bill would also clarify that telemedicine may be delivered into patients' homes, which is important for people who cannot travel for their healthcare. This bill would also establish a committee to study reimbursement rates for telemedicine. The Health and Human Services Committee asks for your support of the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1471. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1256, relative to decal fees for multi-use veterans decal plates.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1256 Ought to Pass. This legislation clarifies the decal fees for multi-use veterans' decal plates. When the veterans' decal plate was passed, it was the intent for veterans to pay $10. Since there are two decals on a car it was suggested that the Department of Safety define a decal as two stickers. This legislation will bring this change into law. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1256. Thank you, Mister President.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill authorizes the Daniel Webster Council of Boy Scouts of America and the New England Patriots Charitable Foundation, Inc. to issue decals for multi-use decal plates.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1697-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. This legislation authorizes the Daniel Webster Council of Boy Scouts of America and the New England Patriots Charitable Foundation, Inc. to issue decals for multi-use decal plates. The sale of these decals would allow scouts to go to camp trainings and other onsite location activities. The committee amended to the legislation to add an additional multi-use decal plate for the New England Patriots Charitable Foundation. Over the past five years, the Patriots Organization has provided more than $125,000 to various organizations. Like the other organizations that are currently going through the decal issuing process, the Patriots Charitable Foundation has filed with the secretary of state's office and has completed the requirements to be a 501(c)(3) here in New Hampshire. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1697-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill authorizes the following organizations to issue decals for multi-use decal plates:

I. The Daniel Webster Council of Boy Scouts of America.

II. The New England Patriots Charitable Foundation, Inc.

III. Granite Pathways.

IV. The New Hampshire Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Association.

V. Friends of the Hampton Falls Bandstand, Inc.

VI. Seacoast Youth Services.

VII. New Hampshire Catholic Charities, provided that all proceeds from decals issued by New Hampshire Catholic Charities shall be for the benefit of the New Hampshire Food Bank.

VIII. New England Donor Services, Inc.

IX. Sophia's Fund.

X. The New Hampshire Breast Cancer Coalition.

XI. The university system of New Hampshire. Granite state college, Keene state college, and Plymouth state university are each authorized to issue decals, provided that all proceeds shall remain with the issuing institution and be used only for student scholarships.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. This amendment actually just adds all of the decal plates that we passed, the Senate decal, the bills that we put through the Senate on decals and it also includes all of the House Bills that had decals on it. So we have everything on one so they're numbered appropriately. With that I ask for your vote. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1509-FN, authorizing Granite Pathways to issue decals for multi-use decal number plates.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1509-FN Ought to Pass. This legislation authorizes Granite Pathways to issue decals for multi-use decal number plates. This organization was founded in 2009 and provides services for recovery for mental illness and substance abuse. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1509-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Birdsell moved to Lay on the Table HB 1509-FN. Adopted.

HB 1513-FN, authorizing the New Hampshire Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Association to issue decals for multi-use decal plates.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1513-FN Ought to Pass. This legislation authorizes the New Hampshire Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Association to issue decals for multi-use decal plates. The sale of these decals would serve as a way to support the association's mission of honoring those who have fallen in the line of duty. The Transportation Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1513-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Birdsell moved to Lay on the Table HB 1513-FN. Adopted.

HB 1538-FN, authorizing Friends of the Hampton Falls Bandstand, Inc. to issue decals for multi-use decal plates.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1538-FN Ought to Pass. This legislation authorizes Friends of the Hampton Falls Bandstand to issue decals for multi-use decal plates. This organization provides entertainment during the summer months in Hampton Falls. Come on down with Martha and enjoy a good old time in Hampton Falls. These events are very well attended by those from the seacoast. The money from these decals will be used to continue to fund their programs. The Transportation Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1538-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Birdsell moved to Lay on the Table HB 1538-FN. Adopted.

HB 1546-FN, authorizing Seacoast Youth Services to issue decals for multi-use decal plates.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1546-FN Ought to Pass. This legislation authorizes Seacoast Youth Services to issue decals for multi-use decal plates. This organization provides shoplifting prevention programs, an after school program, and substance abuse prevention programs to many youths in the Seacoast Area. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1546-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

Senator Birdsell moved to Lay on the Table HB 1546-FN. Adopted.

HOUSE MESSAGE

The House of Representatives concurs with the Senate in the passage of the following entitled Bill, with amendment, in the passage of which amendment the House asks the concurrence of the Senate:

SB 539-FN-A, making appropriations to the department of education for adequate education grants and relative to certain provisions for Medicaid waivers.

Senator Daniels moved Concurrence. Adopted.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM EARLY SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Early Session, that the business of the Late Session be in order at the present time, that all bills and resolutions ordered to Third Reading be, by this resolution, read a third time, all titles be the same as adopted, and that they be passed at the present time.

Adopted. Adjournment from the Early Session.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President, personal privilege? We have a colleague who recently passed away, in the House, this Sunday. He was my State Rep at one point, and I served with him in the House. Mister Sean McGuinness established his career as a mortgage banker, and he was dedicated to thirty years in the industry, which also included owning and operating his own business in Downtown Nashua. Sean is a former Ward 1 Alderman, which he served two terms. He was also a former State Rep in Ward 1, and he was a member of the Board of Harbor Homes for many years. In his free time, Sean enjoyed fishing and skiing. I'm going to add he also liked Scotch, and he was a good man. He will be forever missed for the loyal and faithful friend and family man that he was. He truly enjoyed his time with his family and he cherished every minute. And one final note, Mister President, there are very few people that I can say that I've never heard him say a bad word about a single soul. He worked well with both sides of the aisle, and he was a kind man, and he's surely going to be missed. So, I ask that it be put into the permanent record, please. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Just a notice: Stewart Lamprey, former Speaker of the House, and former President of the Senate passed. Stewart's services are on Tuesday in Meredith, and the funeral is on Wednesday. I hope, Mister President, that we might be able to get a group of Senators to either attend the wake or the funeral. Stewart, one of the few men in the history of this state, served three terms as Speaker of the House, and three terms as President of the Senate; resigned as President of the Senate to become Under Secretary of Commerce in the Nixon Administration; but a great public servant, and a great, really a great friend to democracy. So I hope we can do something on his behalf, Mister President. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Mister President, I rise to pay tribute to Clayton Hinds of Colebrook; graduated Colebrook Academy, served in the United States Army, varied career as an aviation mechanic at Pratt Whitney, TW Express before returning home to Colebrook in 1991 to take over his family's business, the Colebrook Country Club, which was a gathering place for all social organizations and community causes of which he was an instrumental part, including the Kiwanis, the Ski-Bees, the Trail Master, the Vershire Center, the 45th Parallel EMS. He is survived by his wife, Michelle, and his two daughters, Megan and Elizabeth, as well as his parents and siblings.

As well, I'd like to pay tribute and honor to George, better known as Dave Roberts, formerly of Lancaster; graduate of local schools; White Mountain Regional High School. Longtime coach–actually coached me many years ago. In 1983 Class I State Championship Team from White Mountain Regional High School. Longtime sports reporter for the Coos County Democrat, and just a great all-around person who cared about people, who cared about kids. I could still see his twinkle in his eye as he rode the mower around the Colonel Town fields in Lancaster, and I just wanted to pay tribute to him.

And, finally, Mister President, we have a birthday that just occurred: Eleanor Brady turned 99 years old. She is the Boston Post Cane recipient in the town of Jefferson. And she is the founder of Six Gun City, and a member of the Hall of Fame of the New England Amusement Park Associations. She is the mother of the big "Brady Bunch" from Jefferson, who spread all over New Hampshire doing many, many great things including Commissioner Tom Brady, and former Secretary in the Reagan Administration, Larry Brady, and many, many other more Brady's, which she very much leaves her impression on all of them, and all of us. So thank you, Mister President, for your attention.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise for a moment of personal privilege to remember Katie Metzger; don't know if folks recall Katie; a ten year veteran in the House, and representing Fitzwilliam and Richmond in Cheshire County. Katie, who was born in 1923 died March 29th in Concord. Katie moved and retired to Fitzwilliam in 1976; we were lucky. She fell in love with New England, and it soon became evident to everyone in Fitzwilliam that she was a leader and a talented one, at that. She served on Fitzwilliam's Town Board as Chairwoman of the Planning Board, and on the Board of Selectmen, and as Chairwoman of the Conservation Commission, always identifying herself as an environmentalist. She was an incorporator of the Cheshire Medical Center as Chairwoman of the Executive Committee, and she was on the Southwest Regional Planning Commission, and the Fitzwilliam Town Library where she helped lead an effort to raise substantial funds for the library's renovation and expansion. Although a go-getter, she was always humble and quick to acknowledge that it takes many people working collaboratively for the success of any project. From 1988 to 1998, Katie served in the New Hampshire House of Representatives. She ended her career in the legislature as the Chairwoman of the Municipal and County Government Committee. She was known as a good listener, fair in her deliberations, and accessible to her constituents. A memorial service will be held in the Fitzwilliam Community Church on Saturday, June 16th at 11 a.m. and the Reverend Curtis Metzger, her son and a resident of Boscawen, will be presiding. It's in deep respect and memory that I ask for that privilege, and thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Just an announcement for the HHS Committee members. We will meet at one o'clock for a hearing. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. As some of you may know, I have two sons who received three degrees from the University of New Hampshire. They made the choice to come to the University on their own, and I'm very pleased to let you know that my daughter is just as smart as her brothers. She's coming to UNH this fall; studying pre-med. So, we will have a fourth degree across three children in four years. I'll keep you updated. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon for a question of Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Senator. I heard that there is a major book announcement. Could you tell us about that, Sir?

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you very much, Senator. As some of you know, for the last two years I've been writing a book, and the book will be published on the 16th of May. Down at the Common Man Restaurant, we'll have the initial book signing of the book. The book talks about my life in politics, and my involvement in presidential campaigns. So thank you, Senator Gannon, that's wonderful of you and you get a free copy. So certainly you're all invited. I'm honored that you would ask, and you're all invited. And the book was reviewed by Mark Shields, who is with National Public Television; Walter Shapiro, who was a writer for the New York Times, and he's a lecturer at Yale University in communications; Tom Sanders, who played for the Celtics for a number of years, and was my business colleague for a number of years. So, hope that you will come. Hope you'll enjoy it, and my wife deserves a lot of the credit because she's lived with me for the last fifty-seven years, and done a pretty good job. She makes good oatmeal, too. So, if you're interested in that I welcome you all to get that oatmeal. Thank you, Senator, I appreciate it. Thank you, Mister President.

Without objection, all personal privileges and unanimous consent shall be entered into the permanent Journal of the Senate. (Rule 2-16 and Rule 2-17). Adopted.

PRESIDENT MORSE: I just want to speak to the body for a moment. I got up at 3:30 this morning and went to work at 4:00. I still have my wool socks on because I forgot to bring black socks. I've unloaded a truck, I've answered every phone call, I've dealt with four House members and one of the things I really respect about myself and I do with all of you is that I treat this job with total respect and total honor. And one of the most humbling moments I've ever had in my life is when the Senate went to the floor and met the public back in '04 or '05, Senator, you remember those days and the next morning they were lined up in front of my office in Finance and to thank me for how we handled the Senate. Well, I can tell you in the last couple of weeks, I've had a lot of complaints. Now I don't know if it's because everybody's living a schedule like mine and we're just too busy and we're forgetting about how we talk to the public and to our colleagues, but I honestly believe we can do better. And I also believe we can do better with attendance. I've certainly been called by Chairs to talk about attendance in their committee, because they're having a tough time getting bills out. I made it very clear in the Republican caucus yesterday, that if I replace a member on a committee, it's not for a day. It's forever, because I'm not going to start alternating memberships every day. So as we go forward I would think, we could treat the business of the state in the next five weeks with total honor and total respect, because I believe in that greatly or I wouldn't be here. Thank you.

This enrolled bill amendment makes technical corrections.

Enrolled Bill Amendment to HB 1551

Amend RSA 186-C:10-a as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing lines 4-10 with the following:

program destroyed at that time or request that the records be retained until the student's twenty-sixth birthday. The parents may, at any time prior to the student's twenty-sixth birthday, request, in writing, that the records be retained until the student's thirtieth birthday.

II. Absent any request by a student's parents at the time of graduation, the local education agency shall destroy a student's records and final individualized education program within a reasonable time after the student's twenty-sixth birthday, provided that all such records be destroyed by the student's thirtieth birthday.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM LATE SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Late Session. Adopted. Adjournment from the Late Session.

April 19, 2018

The Senate reconvened at 10:00 a.m., a quorum being present.

The Pastor Mark Warren, chaplain to the Senate, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

God, we just take a moment to slow ourselves down from the business of getting to this meeting. We settle our minds, we settle our hearts, and we just take a deep breath in understanding that today's a new day, and everything's new each morning. We change our minds now, Lord, just to kind of appreciate these senators who give so much of themselves to the citizens of this state of New Hampshire, and for that, God, we just pray a special blessing on them, prosperity on them. They have given of their time, their resources to serve this state and the people that reside in it. We thank you. There's some work to be done, Lord, today, and we just ask for your wisdom, your discernment, your guidance, your direction, to know that the decisions that are made in this room affect many people; so let us have compassion, let us have grace. Let our words be filled with grace. May the words of our mouth and the meditations of our heart be pleasing to you, O Lord. Amen.

Senator Cavanaugh led the Pledge of Allegiance.

INTRODUCTION OF PAGES

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I am so pleased today to welcome our page from Enfield, New Hampshire which is a wonderful town where I used to actually work at the Enfield Village School. She's sixteen years old, in tenth grade and is attending Mascoma Valley Regional High School. Her favorite subject is history. She's involved in many activities in her school community, as am I, including student council, drama club, interact club, concert band and jazz band. She had representative position on her class council and she's the treasurer of the interact club. In concert and jazz band she plays the trombone and for the Memorial Day parade she's playing the sousaphone. Wow! That's great. In the future she plans to major in a political or a historical subject for her college degree. This would hopefully lead to a career in either field if she were to pursue politics, her dream position would be secretary of state. If she were to pursue history, she would want to be an anthropologist. Either way she's going to do great things. (Chase Johnson)

(The Chair recognized Senator Ward.)

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I am pleased to introduce to the Senate Cameron A. Titus, age seventeen and in grade eleven at Kearsarge Regional High School. Favorite subjects in school are social sciences, politics and history. Extracurricular activities, Youth in Government, the Penn and Yale Model Congress. See as I didn't know what those things were, I asked him, and these are events held by these institutions with the aim of simulating the legislative process of our Federal Government with students interested in learning, modeling and participating in a mock session of government. Cameron volunteers for NEHSA, which stands for New England Healing Sports Association where he assists instructors helping people with physical disabilities, such as amputations or cerebral palsy, for those people to have the opportunity to be on a ski slope and enjoy the outdoors. He is passionate about the social sciences, a more specific scope of his passions include politics, especially public policy, economics, finance and law. In addition to this he also holds down a job. Life has to be balanced, we all know that, and Cameron has learned that. So to offset all the academics, Cameron enjoys skiing, music, particularly 80's rock and roll, movie soundtracks and instrumentals. Welcome to the Senate.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the following bill is special ordered to the next session. Adopted.

EDUCATION
HB 1636, establishing a committee to study teacher preparation and education programs.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the following bills are special ordered to Thursday, May 3, 2018. Adopted.

COMMERCE
HB 1285, relative to dancers and entertainers in premises serving alcoholic beverages.
HB 1690-FN, relative to liquor licenses.

EDUCATION
HB 1498, relative to alternate certification pathways for career and technical education instructors.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1402, relative to ordinances regarding forestry activities.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
HB 1822-FN, making hormonal contraceptives available directly from pharmacists by means of a standing order.

JUDICIARY
HB 1627-FN, prohibiting the transmission of images or sounds of another person who is on private property or to conduct surveillance activity.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR SANBORN: For an inquiry, I guess. Asking, I had on my notes that House Bill 1636 and 1627 were also on my special order list, so I'm just asking for confirmation. Was it 1627, I apologize? I had 1636– Mister President, I apologize. There seems to be some confusion on the floor, could you do the list again? My apologies, some of us seem confused out here.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator Sanborn 1627 was one of them, what was the other one?

SENATOR SANBORN: I apologize, Sir. I apologize so if I could do it over again. I've got in Commerce was 1285 and 1692, in Education it was 1498 and 1636, in Energy it was 1402, in ED&A I don't have anything, in Finance I had–

PRESIDENT MORSE: Go back to Commerce, Senator Sanborn. Was it 1690, not 1692?

SENATOR SANBORN: I apologize, Sir, 1690?

PRESIDENT MORSE: Okay, I think we got them all.

SENATOR SANBORN: And then Finance 1822?

PRESIDENT MORSE: No, we don't have anything in Finance.

SENATOR SANBORN: I'm not wearing my glasses, so I apologize for that. And then 1627 in Judiciary.

PRESIDENT MORSE: I think we got them all but we're giving you a copy of the list.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Sir.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR SOUCY: I'm still not clear as to which bills are special ordered. Could we go through that list one more time, because I, much like my colleague from District 9 had several other bills that you never mentioned, and I think before we move on we should all be on the same page, if we may.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Okay, in Education there's two Education bills, but the first one is special ordered to the next session, House Bill 1636.

So without objection the following bill is special ordered to the next session, House Bill 1636 in Education.

Without objection the following bills are special ordered to Thursday, May 3rd. In Commerce, House Bill 1285, House Bill 1690, in Education House Bill 1498, in Energy House Bill 1402, in Health House Bill 1822 and in Judiciary House Bill 1627.

PUBLIC AND MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS
HB 1473-FN, relative to the timber yield tax.
HB 1579-FN, requiring records to be kept for certain exempt convenings under the right-to-know law.

Senator Daniels recommends the following bills be ordered to the Finance Committee upon being found Ought to Pass/Ought to Pass with Amendment:

CONSENT CALENDAR:

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
HB 1102-FN, enabling the department of health and human services to contract with certain certified physicians.
HB 1356, relative to data sharing between the department of environmental services and the department of health and human services.

REGULAR CALENDAR:

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1592-FN, requiring the commissioner of the department of environmental services to review standards relative to arsenic contamination in drinking water.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND ADMINISTRATION
HB 1104-FN, relative to dredge and fill permit time limits; relative to time limits under the administrative procedure act; and relative to online filing with the secretary of state's office.
HB 1427-FN, relative to membership in the retirement system for certain officials.

JUDICIARY
HB 1316-FN, relative to revenue collected from concealed carry licenses.

Senator Daniels recommends the waiver of referral to the Finance Committee, Senate Rule 4-5, for the following bills which are still in their respective committees:

COMMERCE
HB 1578, (New Title) relative to samples from nano breweries.
HB 1682-FN, (New Title) establishing a committee to study the pervasiveness of foreclosure practices that violate state or federal law.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
HB 1562-FN, (New Title) relative to the role of foster parents.
HB 1816-FN, relative to Medicaid managed care.

Without objection, the FN Report is adopted.

CONSENT CALENDAR

Senator Bradley moved that the Consent Calendar, with the relevant amendments as printed in the day's Calendar be adopted and that all such bills found Ought-to-Pass be ordered as follows:

FN bills not waived under Senate Rule 4-5, to the Committee on Finance; non-FN bills approved for referral to Finance by the day's FN report, to the Committee on Finance; and all other bills, to Third Reading.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1289, relative to trespassing domestic fowl.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Bradley for the committee.

> This legislation establishes a penalty for trespassing domestic fowl and requires enforcement by local law enforcement officials. The bill seeks to protect one's property rights from a neighbor's trespassing domestic fowl. This bill does not prohibit the ownership of domestic fowl on one's own property.

HB 1689-FN, repealing the repeal of the pollution prevention program of the department of environmental services.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Feltes for the committee.

> This bill repeals the repeal of the NH Pollution Prevention Program of the NH Department of Environmental Services. The NH Pollution Prevention Program assists small businesses in preventing pollution and understanding compliance with environmental regulations. The program was established in 1996 with a repeal date of July 1st, 2002. The program's repeal has been extended twice due to its positive feedback. The committee believes it is important to maintain this regionally and nationally recognized program to assist New Hampshire's small businesses and organizations.

HB 1777-FN, relative to energy infrastructure corridor revenue.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Avard for the committee.

> New Hampshire has designated four energy infrastructure corridors for the siting of large energy projects along I-89, I-93, I-95, and NH Route 101. Current statute requires that a developer's lease payments for the use of these corridors go into the state highway fund. However, parts of the corridors are on state turnpikes rather than state maintained highways. This bill corrects an oversight and ensures that any lease payment generated from the use of land on a turnpike will be placed in the turnpike fund.

HB 1810, establishing a commission to study the effectiveness of the current statutes related to management of non-tidal public water ways and the construction or placement of structures within them.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Bradley for the committee.

This bill establishes a commission to study the effectiveness of the current statutes related to management of non-tidal public water ways and the construction or placement of structures within them. The Committee to Study Temporary Seasonal Docks from the last legislative session examined seasonal docks, but found them to be part of a larger problem in the management of structures in non-tidal waters. This study commission would review the way New Hampshire's non-tidal public waters are utilized, their importance to various aspects of the economy, and the criteria and processes under which individuals and businesses are authorized to install structures within them.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
HB 1102-FN, enabling the department of health and human services to contract with certain certified physicians.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Fuller Clark for the committee.

This bill allows the Department of Health and Human services to contract with one or more physicians, who have been certified as addiction specialists, to review medication assisted treatment for opioid dependence. Such physicians would be responsible for providing consultation and guidance to the department. Passage of this legislation is just one more step in increasing mental health and drug addiction services in the state.

HB 1356, relative to data sharing between the department of environmental services and the department of health and human services.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Avard for the committee.

This bill requires the department of environmental services and the department of health and human services to establish a protocol to share data regarding health and environmental information collected by each agency. This will ensure we are using our resources to protect the health and safety of our citizens. The amendment which had its own hearing would provide funding to the Department of Business and Economic Affairs to assist them in relocating their offices to a space more conducive to the job they have been tasked to do.

Amendment to HB 1356

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to data sharing between the department of environmental services and the department of health and human services and making an appropriation to the department of business and economic affairs for relocation costs.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 1 with the following:

2 Department of Business and Economic Affairs; Appropriation: Relocation and Lease Costs. The sum of $75,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2018, and the sum of $392,304 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2019, are hereby appropriated to the department of business and economic affairs for the costs of relocating the department's operations to a new premises and for the costs of leasing the premises. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for said sums out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

3 Effective Date.

I. Section 1 of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

2018-1465s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Requires the department of environmental services and the department of health and human services to establish a data sharing protocol regarding certain health and environmental information collected by each agency.

II. Makes a supplemental appropriation to the department of business and economic affairs for relocation costs.

HB 1577, relative to the administration of anesthesia by dentists. Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Avard for the committee.

This bill regulates a dentist's use of anesthesia, sedation and moderate anesthesia as well as holding dentists accountable for professional misconduct. Comprehensive guidelines are given to dentists to ensure safety for patients as well as clarity for dentists. This will ensure that dentists have the proper training and oversight necessary to be providing anesthesia to patients in an in office setting.

Amendment to HB 1577

Amend RSA 317-A:12, XII-a(g)(1) as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

(1) In addition to the dentist performing the procedure, there shall be a dedicated anesthesia provider present to monitor the procedure and recovery from anesthesia. The dedicated anesthesia provider shall be a dentist who is qualified to administer general anesthesia or deep sedation, a physician anesthesiologist, or a certified registered nurse anesthetist (CRNA). The board may exempt dentists who are board eligible or board certified in either dental anesthesiology or oral and maxillofacial surgery from this requirement.

Amend the introductory paragraph of RSA 317-A:12, XII-c as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

XII-c. The use of minimal anesthesia in patients undergoing dental treatment under RSA 317-A:20, including:

HB 1746-FN, relative to the practices of pharmacy benefit managers. Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Fuller Clark for the committee.

This bill prohibits certain practices of pharmacy benefit managers until June 30, 2020. There was concern with a practice of pharmacy benefit managers requiring accreditation of pharmacies in order to fill prescriptions for certain drugs. These accreditation processes were often costly and onerous to pharmacies. This legislation would prohibit the practice until June 30, 2020 while the stakeholders work together to find a solution for the problem.

HB 1769-FN, relative to maintenance of certification by physicians or applicants for a license to practice medicine in New Hampshire. Interim Study, Vote 5-0. Senator Bradley for the committee.

This bill prohibits differentiating among physicians based on maintenance of certification. The committee heard testimony that the certification board is continuing to work on making the recertification process more efficient and relevant to provider's specialties. The motion of interim study would allow the stakeholders to continue to try and find a compromise and bring future legislation forward.

HB 1782-FN, establishing a committee to study insurance payments to ambulance providers and balance billing by ambulance providers. Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Fuller Clark for the committee.

This bill establishes a committee to study insurance payments to ambulance providers and balance billing by ambulance providers. The committee heard testimony that municipal and private ambulance providers have difficulty in recovering payment from insurance carriers, and that patients receive bills from ambulance providers for costs that are not reimbursed by insurance. This bill, with the amendment, establishes a committee to study insurance payments to ambulance providers and balance billing to patients by ambulance providers.

JUDICIARY

HB 1265, relative to the release of criminal conviction records. Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

This bill clarifies the law to permit the release of New Hampshire criminal conviction records to a defendant in a criminal proceeding or counsel for such defendant. Although it is regularly done, this will simply codify the practice of releasing these records to a defendant's counsel, ensuring the appropriate individuals have access to necessary records.

COMMERCE

HB 523, establishing a committee to study the use and regulation of biometric information.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 523. The collection of biometrics, including fingerprints, DNA and face recognition, as well as ready photographs is becoming more and more a part of society. Biometric identifiers are unique to individuals. They are more reliable in verifying identity than token and knowledge based methods. However the collection of biometric identifiers raises privacy concerns about the ultimate use of this information, especially in regards to stealing someone's biometrics. This bill creates a study committee that will examine the issue and make recommendations on rules and limitations on biometric collection. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 523 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1322, relative to risk-based capital for health maintenance organizations.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. When this statute was originally adopted in 2000, it combined the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, NAIC, model laws for risk-based capital and for health maintenance organizations. In doing so, HMOs were defined under life and health insurers for the purpose of calculating their RBC reports. The Insurance Department now understands that HMOs should actually use the same formula as property and casualty insurers for these calculations, in accordance with the model laws for HMO. This bill makes that correction and also amends the definition of life and or health insurer to clarify that HMOs use a different formula when it comes to calculating RBC. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1322 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1407, repealing the prohibition on the use of milk containers.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Lasky for the committee.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1407. This bill repeals the prohibition on the use of milk containers for substances other than milk. There is a memorandum of understanding between the Health and Human Services Department and the Federal Government that adopts the federal pasteurized milk ordinance so it does not include a financial penalty. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1407 Ought to Pass, so that milk containers can finally be given their just due. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1660, relative to delinquent accounts of liquor licensees.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1660. When a retailer purchases a product from a beverage wholesaler, they have a limited amount of time to pay their bill. When they don't pay their bill within the prescribed time frame, the beverage wholesaler adds them to the delinquent account list. That delinquent account list is updated every day. It's sent from the commission to all of the wholesalers across the state and they are told that this business is in arrears and you cannot deliver to this entity until they clear up their debt. Under the current statute they're required to pay only by cash or check at the site of the wholesaler. This bill allows liquor licensees to use credit or debit cards to pay fees on delinquent accounts. This will allow licensees who are ready to pay their fees to continue to receive deliveries. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1660 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, as a licensee I stand to say that this may or may not affect me and thankfully it does not affect me, but as a licensee I feel compelled to say it could or not based on our ethics rules, I'll still participate.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1692-FN, allowing liquor licensees to select an anniversary for renewal.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1692. This bill allows a liquor licensee to select an anniversary month for renewal. This convenience helps an entity to consolidate multiple licenses that they may hold. This bill also adds a requirement that such selection may only take place after one year of initial licensure, and the renewal month may not be changed again for a period of three years. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1692 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Mister President. I rise as a licensee under the liquor laws and again based on our ethics, I feel compelled I need to say that it may or may not affect me, I do not believe it affects me but I'm still participating anyway.

Amendment to HB 1719-FN

Amend the bill by replacing section 2 with the following:

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1719. This bill allows any New Hampshire non-profit entity to receive donations of beer, wine or liquor from New Hampshire licensees to be sold or given away at an event sponsored by the non-profit entity. Current practice is when the non-profit holds a fundraiser and a sponsor wants to donate liquor, beer or wine to the event, the non-profit must purchase the alcohol from a state liquor store and then a sponsor may reimburse that non-profit for the price of the alcohol. It's a tedious practice for all involved. Many non-profit organizations will benefit from this legislation which will streamline the process by opening doors to vendors supporting community organizations. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1719 Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, again I apologize keep rising so much but on the good part we won't have to do this much longer, based on the fact I am a liquor licensee and every bill we have today seems to be about liquor licensees, based on our current ethics laws I may or may not have a conflict but I'm still participating.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise again I already indicated that I may or may not have an ethics conflict based on our current ethics laws I was the one vote against this not because I'm against allowing liquor organizations any liquor organization to provide alcohol to a charity, in fact I think I was co-sponsor of a bill to do this, I think two or three years ago, Mister President. So it's a concept I support. The problem is as we see on a regular basis when the camel's nose slides so easily under the tent, that the next year comes and it's play ball for everyone, everywhere, anytime, anyhow.

In this case it's not the concept as to whether or not we should allow people to donate alcohol to a charity event, it's that this bill specifically is essentially limitless. The fact that any charity in the state of New Hampshire and we have more charities in the state of New Hampshire I think than any per capita than any state in America, can up to twelve times a year get an unlimited amount of alcohol from every single source that's potentially available.

Now do I believe that everyone's going to abuse this? I do not believe everyone's going to abuse this. But I think this legislation as it's presented in front of you today is too much, too hard, too fast and we need some level of guard rails, because in the worst case, a non-profit could call up a alcohol company and deliver a tractor trailer truck of product to a charitable event every single month and that will be allowed under this law. Is that really what we're trying to do here? Or are we trying to say there's a charitable event and they need a case of wine to raffle off because they're trying to raise money for a good purpose? So again I caution the body, this is one of those cases where beyond any question this bill, if taken to the level that we're about to pass, because I believe the bill passes, has truly, truly far reaching ramifications and as a result of that I just can't support it even though I support the concept in a more limited fashion. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. While I appreciate the Senator's remarks, I do feel that this bill has sufficient guardrails in place and while theoretically one could donate a fifty-three foot trailer of product to a charity, I find such a situation highly unlikely. As an example of the guardrails that are in place; if someone wanted to donate alcohol to the University of New Hampshire, there is only one place that can receive it. A fraternity cannot, a sorority cannot, no other entity, other than conferences and catering. Once they receive the product, to serve it they have to request a license from the Liquor Commission for the event at which they'll be serving. So that is a very substantial guardrail that is in place, in that we need the approval of the Liquor Commission to actually serve this. So I find it highly unlikely, improbable, maybe impossible, that there would be a significant abuse of this particular rule. So I hope you'll continue to support the bill and urge you to vote Ought to Pass.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1720-FN, relative to the storage of beverages produced by contract brewers.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1720. This bill will add the term contract brewer to our statute. Contract brewing occurs when a business hires another existing brewery to produce its beer known as the contract brewer. The contract brewer must have title to the ingredients throughout the manufacturing and shall be responsible for keeping brewery records and labeling the beer. Obtaining necessary COLA's and paying necessary tax on the beer manufacture. Title to the beer passes to the party contracting to the beer production only after tax payment and removal from the brewery.

The party contracting the contract beer need not have its own physical brewery. Still, sometimes a business may choose to retain all the brewery responsibilities and produce beer via the lease of another existing brewery's premises and equipment. In this situation the business is a tenant brewer and it operates through a host brewer in an arrangement called an alternating brewery prior already shipped. Here the two parties alternate use of the brewery and both are separately involved in the manufacture of beer. And this gets even more interesting. The benefit of these alternate brewing arrangements is they allow brewers to save money on fixed costs such as rent and salaries for additional employees, and send more money on activities such as marketing. In addition using an existing brewery may help a brewer meet market demand. If a brewer does not have enough manufacturing capacity itself, leasing the premises of another brewery or hiring other brewery to produce its recipe and will enable further production and a vast increase in output. Please join me and the committee in Ought to Pass on House Bill 1720. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I'm going to wrap these up as quick as I can. Based upon the fact I am a liquor licensee and based upon our current ethics laws I feel compelled I must say I may or may not have a benefit although no benefit that's be more than any other licensee but compelled to declare and I am participating. Thank you.

Amendment to HB 1725-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to beverage manufacturers and nano breweries and defining table wine.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Table Wine; Definition. Amend RSA 175:1, LXIX to read as follows:

LXIX. "Wine-table" means a product obtained by the fermentation of the natural content of fruit or other agricultural products containing sugar and containing [~~more than 6 percent but not~~] no more than 18 percent alcoholic content by volume at 60 degrees Fahrenheit. The commission may approve as a table wine a higher alcoholic content product, not to exceed 24 percent, that is obtained in the same manner.

2 Sales for Consumption; Beverage Manufacturers. Amend RSA 178:12, II-a to read as follows:

II-a. The holder of a beverage manufacturer license may sell beverage samples to visitors of legal drinking age for consumption on the premises where the beverages were manufactured. Sales of samples for consumption on the premises shall be limited to one 4-ounce glass per label per person and 2 pints per person. A maximum of 48 ounces total may be served to a person for consumption on the premises.

3 Sales for Consumption; Nano Brewery. Amend RSA 178:12-a, II(e) to read as follows:

(e) Sales for consumption on the premises shall be limited to one 4-ounce glass per label per person and 2 pints per person. A maximum of 48 ounces total may be served to a person for consumption on the premises.

4 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill expands the definition of table wine and allows beverage manufacturers and nano breweries to sell one sample per label and 2 pints per person for consumption on premises with a maximum of 48 ounces per person.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. As passed by the House this bill allows wine manufacturers to serve samples of wine on premises and allows such manufacturers to serve two five-ounce samples if they serve food. This bill also allows beverage manufacturers to provide a sixteen-ounce sample for consumption and allows such manufacturers to serve two sixteen-ounce samples if they serve food. The committee amended the bill to the Senate version known as Senate Bill 418 which expands the definition of table wine and allows beverage manufacturers and nano breweries to sell one sample per label and two pints per person for consumption on premises with a maximum of forty-eight ounces per person. I would ask the Senate however to please overturn the Ought to Pass on the amendment so I may offer a Floor Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise as a liquor licensee under these current statutes and the 170s, I'm not sure this would affect me but I plan to participate.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a question of Senator Innis.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Looking at line 27 of the amendment, that no wine shall be served or consumed on the premises except that which is manufactured by the licensee on the premise. How does this work with the bill that we passed last year that allowed remote tasting locations?

SENATOR INNIS: I'm not certain I can answer that question, Senator. I might defer to Senator from District 3, but I cannot answer that question. I'm sorry.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator Bradley, do you want to take a stab at it?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you, Mister President. My understanding is that, well first of all I don't believe we've gotten to the Floor Amendment.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator are you questioning the committee amendment or are you questioning an amendment that yet doesn't exist?

SENATOR DANIELS: I thought we were talking about the amendment, I'm sorry.

PRESIDENT MORSE: We are voting on the Committee Amendment.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Failed.

Floor Amendment to HB 1725-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to food service for beverage manufacturer and wine manufacturer licensees.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Paragraph; Beverage Manufacturers; Food Service. Amend RSA 178:12 by inserting after paragraph X the following new paragraph:

XI. Any beverage manufacturer licensee meeting and maintaining the requirements of a restaurant under RSA 178:20, except RSA 178:20, IV and paying an additional fee of $240, may sell beverages for consumption on the premises and not be subject to the limitations in paragraph II-a. Such beverage manufacturer shall comply with the following:

(a) No beverage or liquor shall be served or consumed on the premises except that which is manufactured by the licensee on the premises or manufactured at a host brewer facility.

(b) The licensee may serve beverages to any visitor of legal drinking age by the glass or other suitable container.

(c) The licensee shall not allow any beverage or liquor to be served or sold to any person under the age of 21 on the premises

(d) Food and non-alcoholic beverages may be provided by a properly licensed third party food vendor, prepared on or off the premises.

2 New Paragraph; Wine Manufacturers; Food Service. Amend RSA 178:8 by inserting after paragraph VII the following new paragraph:

VIII. Any wine manufacturer licensee meeting and maintaining the requirements of a restaurant under RSA 178:20, except RSA 178:20, IV and paying an additional fee of $240, may sell wine for consumption on the premises and not be subject to the limitations in paragraph III. Such manufacturer shall comply with the following:

(a) No wine shall be served or consumed on the premises except that which is manufactured by the licensee on the premises.

(b) The licensee may serve wine to any visitor of legal drinking age by the glass or other suitable container.

(c) The licensee shall not allow any wine to be served or sold to any person under the age of 21 on the premises

(d) Food and non-alcoholic beverages may be provided by a properly licensed third party food vendor, prepared on or off the premises.

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill allows the sale of alcoholic beverages and wine produced by licensed manufacturers on their premises if food is served.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. This amendment seeks to alleviate some concerns from the industry. It adds the option of a basic food requirement for full servings of wine or beer at New Hampshire suppliers for $240, the same fee as nano breweries. Brewers and wine makers are requested to compete with surrounding states. The amendment would allow wineries and beverage manufacturers to serve their own product in a full serving with three prepared food options. It's 50 percent less expensive than a beer and wine license, which is attractive to the industry. And it removes the concern of service without food for restaurants, retailers and public safety advocates, which we've heard is important. It represents a practical compromise with the industry and removes the table wine issue which is largely unrelated and complicated and an issue that needs time and effort to further sort out with the brokers, the distributors and the Liquor Commission. Thank you, Mister President. I encourage Ought to Pass on the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell for a question of Senator Innis.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you for taking my question. Would you be open to making the effective date, effective upon passage?

SENATOR INNIS: Yes.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you.

Recess. Out of recess.

Amendment to HB 1495

Amend RSA 193-E:3, I as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

I. Annually, each school district shall report data to the department of education at the school and district levels on the indicators set forth in this paragraph. The report shall not contain personally identifiable information including but not limited to name, gender, or social security number. The department of education shall develop a reasonable schedule to collect the reporting of data required by state and federal law. The requirements for data keeping and the form of the report shall be established in accordance with rules adopted by the state board of education. Indicators shall include the following areas:

(a) Attendance rates.

(b) Annual and cumulative drop-out rates of high school students and annual drop-out rates for students in grades 7 and 8.

(c) School environment indicators, such as safe-schools data.

(d) Number and percentage of graduating high school students.

(e) Number and percentage of graduating high school students going on to postsecondary education, military service, and an advanced learning program leading to a value added skill or career certification.

(f) Number and percentage of students earning a career and technical education industry recognized credential.

(g) Number and percentage of students completing a career pathway program of study.

(h) Number and percentage of high school students who earned postsecondary credit of C or better for one or more concurrent or dual enrollment courses from a New Hampshire postsecondary college or university.

(i) Number of students that completed a New Hampshire scholars program of study.

(j) Number and percentage of students that completed and passed an advanced placement exam with a score of 3, 4 or 5; or International Baccalaureate exam with a score of 4, 5, 6, or 7.

(k) Number of students that scored at least a level III on components of the ASVAB, as defined in RSA 186:68, I, that comprise the Armed Forces Qualification Test (AFQT).

(l) The number and percentage of high school students that either met or exceeded the college and career ready benchmark established by the department for either the SAT or ACT.

(m) Expulsion and suspension rates, including in-school and out-of-school suspensions including data identifying the percentage of out-of-school suspensions of more than 10 days for each school year. This indicator shall be categorized by district, school, and grade level with each category disaggregated and broken down by gender, race, IEP, and eligibility for free and reduced-price meal programs.

(n) Teacher and administrative turnover rates at the school and district levels.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1495 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill as amended adds to the indicators that school districts are required to report annually to the Department of Education regarding delivery of an adequate education. The bill also establishes a rating scale for school districts regarding performance standards. Rating scale scores range from 1, indicating that the school does not meet grade level performance standards to number 4, indicating that the school exceeds the standards. This bill also requires data gathered from public schools to be included in the annual report New Hampshire School District Profiles, which shall be made available to the public on the department website and online at every school administrative unit for public review. This legislation's extremely important to ensure that the standards of an adequate education are being met. Please join the majority of the Education Committee in support of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1495. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1496

Amend RSA 193-E:3-d as inserted by section 3 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

193-E:3-d Performance-Based School Accountability System; Verification Process. Prior to the submission of the final report pursuant to this section, the department shall undertake a process to verify and test the integrity, accuracy, and validity of the performance-based accountability system utilizing the best available data from one school from each of the counties in the state. The commissioner shall ensure, to the greatest extent possible, that the verification process utilizes the best available data from a balance of elementary and secondary schools representing diverse socioeconomic conditions throughout the state. The commissioner shall work with school officials and faculty from the selected schools to implement the performance-based school accountability program and to develop a data collection system which will allow schools to easily report results to the department for analysis and reporting. The commissioner shall review and make recommendations regarding the performance-based accountability system to ensure that the system adequately measures the goals and indicators associated with student academic achievement and growth.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1496 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill as amended modifies the requirements for public school performance-based accountability for an adequate education. Current statute requires schools to demonstrate opportunity for an adequate education by meeting one requirement. Either through the narrative report or by the performance system which identifies academic achievement. This bill as amended requires every public school to demonstrate satisfactory accountability, not only by one system measure but by both systems. This change will strengthen the accountability process and better identify schools requiring corrective and technical improvement. An additional change requires the department to conduct on site school inspection which is at least every five years, whereas current statute requires on site visitation every ten years or 10 percent of schools per year. This bill is one of the three bills that better align New Hampshire education statutes with the Elementary and Secondary Education Act as amended by Every Student Succeeds Act passed by the U.S. Congress and signed into law this past year. Please join the majority of the Education Committee in support of the motion Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1496. Thank you, Mister President.

2018-1593s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill modifies requirements for performance based accountability for an adequate education.

This bill also adds reporting requirements for the civics competency assessment administered to high school students.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. This is a very friendly amendment that Senator Giuda and I have put together which talks about the civics program and the accountability and it says by June 30th of each year, the school district shall submit the results of the exam to the Department of Education and by September 30th of each year the Department shall provide a report to the Senate and House Education Committee Chairs. What we're looking for is how effective the civics education program is throughout the state, and we want to monitor that on a yearly basis. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1497, relative to accountability for school performance.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1497 Ought to Pass. This bill better aligns New Hampshire statutes with the Every Student Succeeds Act, ESSA, by better defining key educational terms such as competencies and emphasizing level of mastery of key concepts, skills and knowledge. The bill identifies all schools, not just Title 1 schools, that fall in the bottom 5 percent in terms of achievement and growth performance. Lastly the bill further defines work study skills by inserting terms recommended and supported by New Hampshire businesses such as communication, creativity, collaboration and self-direction. In addition to knowledge these skills are sought and required by employers when hiring individuals into New Hampshire's workforce. Please join the majority of the Education Committee in support of the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1497. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1499, relative to the focus and components of New Hampshire kindergartens.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1499 Ought to Pass. This legislation works to make kindergarten a play-based education, including an emphasis on movement, expression, exploration, socialization, and music. Kindergarten was intended to be a means of socializing children and preparing them for formal education through exploration. This bill seeks to return those concepts to the kindergarten classroom and will help teachers nurture the talents and abilities of our state's youngest learners. Please join the majority of the Education Committee in support of the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1499. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I've reflected on this bill since we took our vote in the Education Committee. What the bill does is that it amends our statutes 193-E:2 which is a criteria for adequate education. And it adds this section on substantial education content of an adequate kindergarten. Now we don't have grade level standards in any of our statutes. We have educational standards, outcomes that we want from our educational programs. But there is no standard for any grade level in any of our statutes.

So there are three things about 1499 that trouble me. One is that we're setting a precedent for grade level standards. We really ought to think about that before we do it for one grade only. Because I think we got it right. I think we have it right that we don't insist on grade level standards. We allow school districts to set the standards by grade level.

Second, the bill says that we should provide for unstructured time and in the committee hearing what troubled me is that we said that that's the equivalent of playtime. I had to think what was troubling me about the term playtime, and it's our debate that we had last year about full-day kindergarten. Because that was exactly the objection that we heard from the opponents of full-day kindergarten. It's monitored daycare. It's playtime. We knew, I know, that's not what kindergarten is about. Kindergarten is a developmental education that allows for students to advance themselves in preparation of the first grade. But the notion that we are needing to instruct teachers to build in playtime just seems again, why are we doing this for this level of education?

And the third is that there is an implementation period here that's sixty days. And if this is truly a substantive change, why are we rushing this through in sixty days and not giving the school districts more time to actually talk about the topic? I know we had testimony from two Representatives, who care a great deal about this bill, that they had had a conversation with the Department of Education that sixty days would be adequate. But and again reflecting on it, I don't know why the implementation date couldn't be put off until September 1 of 2019, because if this really is substantive, give the school districts an opportunity to talk about what their content of an adequate kindergarten education ought to be.

For these reasons, I think we've got an intent that can be expressed a number of ways, but to write this into the statute for an adequate education I think is a mistake. I recommend that you vote against the Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President, and colleagues. I was unable to attend the hearing on this and would have said some of that then. But I just that so we could avoid having play based legislation, which I fear we're moving towards with this, that I ought to just talk a little bit about where kindergarten came from and where it is now. Now of course you know, Froebel was one of many reformers when he started what he called, a kindergarteners children's garden in 1837, and we had our first one taught in German in 1856 out in Wisconsin, and our first in New England in English in 1860, and I'll talk about that one in just a moment. But what was revolutionary about Froebel, because education didn't start before age seven at that point, because they did not think that children had the capacity in their minds to learn and he said, no, no, no, they have the cognitive capabilities and if we can tap them through their own experiences where they are and develop an education around what they do well, which is play and other forms of activities, that would be a good basis for starting kindergarten.

Now, it also was at a time it was not just in kindergarten but also the common school movement. And I think that's why it's important to know that it was Elizabeth Peabody in 1860 that started the first English language kindergarten down in Boston. And Sophia Peabody was one of her sisters and Nathaniel Hawthorne's wife but her other sister's the wife of Horace Mann, and of course we know Horace Mann because he started the common school movement so we got grade one to eight education as public education in New Hampshire and elsewhere. Now both of them believed that the point of this was that people leaving the farm and immigrants were coming in and what this education would do would be prepare them for industrial employment. That was the nineteenth century.

Now that was a great success, but look what happened in that philosophy of preparing people for industrial employment when the mills closed in Manchester, 90 percent of the men working those mills had no more than an eighth grade education. And so we knew in the twentieth century that an education had to be more than just for industrial employment. And a lot has happened in terms of our understanding from that time, you know Froebel, the German romanticism said, you know the mind of a child is a tiny flower which is going to grow and we should nurture it, and that you know certainly was the spirit of those times. And he invented his Froebel's gifts which were actually abstract geometric blocks that he thought would teach math and abstract geometric concepts that might be needed in the manufacturing or elsewhere. Two of them, good stuff.

But since that time, what else do we now know in the twentieth century about child brain development. E. I. Shay early in the twentieth century, but most particularly in the last decades what we have learned about child brain development. Biologist, cognitive ability, and particularly I'm sure you've all heard about, we understand now that the development of the executive function. And it's been really shown that in that three to six year old group, executive function development, which is so important for impulse control, not just socialization, but also for learning, is something is particularly well developed through early math. Through early math. So, you know, we've come a long way from that. And you know, again, you know play is important, and I, you know, so we won't have play-based legislation.

I hope everybody here has been in the kindergartens in their local schools in the last few years, particularly since we implemented all day to see what is going on there. And of course play is a component of it. In most schools they have morning circle and a variety of activities but includes, they're taught addition and subtraction. They learn that through songs, games and other kind of things that I'm sure we all can imagine. But they also have resources like toys, picture books, crayons and so on. But they usually have some reading instruction, they usually are working on some kind of writing, recognize their letters, recognizing their colors, working through simple math, they usually do single digits on additions and subtraction, they learn to count with more or less games, they become acquainted with a clock, what's a clock, and learn skip counting to prepare them for multiplications, and language arts in particular. You know, it's not only that they get some reading instruction but they learn sight words, cat fun rhyming blends and so on. But they also work on some writing, all of them may draw and do drawings and combine them with words. Then maybe there's a break for lunch, maybe a recess, maybe a nap time, but then they continue some more lessons and they have free playtime and there they are.

So it's a complex plan which recognizes play-based in a lot of ways but also recognizes that we can do these other things and we need to do these other things for children. And you know, when I was at Somersworth Kindergarten, all the kindergartens in Somersworth with Commissioner Edelblut last year and you could see this operation. And often times, multiple activities going on at one time depending on where a child was at that might be in one group, they might have an aide or then a group might be getting together with a teacher to look at a book together, a picture book and then they'd break into groups to make their own drawings and help each other, the ones who couldn't quite form the letters, a little older kid would help them do that. Lots of great things going on.

So, when you look at the language of the bill just be careful what has happened here. You know we got this discussion of Froebel, great but I think it's kind of dated in its own way and limiting. But notice that we can mention music and it can mention literacy through guided reading, but nothing here about writing, and no math. So you know I think about you know back to my really play-based kindergarten. Maybe I should have declared a conflict or taken the fifth, but my first day of kindergarten play-based I pushed a kid in the fishpond in the middle of a culvert. But you know I also began to learn to read and learned to write and got ready for first grade.

And I fear, especially on the math component limited here. And I say once you put it in statute you can bet that there's going to be parents there, it's in statute, you can't teach this you can't teach that we only can do this; and we don't do that. We teach as my colleague from District 10 said, you know we mandate the content and the outcomes you know, but we don't say how to teach it. So I fear that you know, for math, what we'd have, the math we could get is Senate you may take three giant steps backward. Mother, may I? Yes, you may. Let's pause here, let's vote this down or study it, but it's really not where we should go right now. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. Tongue in cheek, I might reflect upon the Senator from District 4's remarks as not dissimilar from activities in present suite. I rise in support of the committee recommendation. Testimony was provided of schools' districts in which kindergarten is having a rigorous unstructured format for children four and five years old who just do not do well there, okay? Six hours, full-day kindergarten in a structured environment for a four or five year old child is impossible, okay? This bill was brought in specifically in response to districts that are formulating that and turning kindergartens into a first grade endeavor for the school districts. And so while the only thing this directs is that some down time be produced in whatever format curriculum that school would like to engage so that kids don't get stressed etcetera.

I would offer another reason for unstructured and yet let's say managed playtime. As you look at societal structure today, more and more of our kids are coming from broken homes, and when they come from a broken home or a single parent environment, into a collection of students with dissimilar tastes, appearances, actions, dress, etcetera, some of that downtime is very instructive in learning the buzz word of diversity and understanding it. Because there's no better way to inculcate that value in our kids than to allow them some time to just relax with one another, and accentuate what we have in common. So I would stand in strong support of this bill as it's brought out of committee. And I thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I stand in strong opposition to House Bill 1499. I'm interested in hearing that the Senator from District 2 is saying children are four and five years old. I don't know if you've been in a kindergarten lately, but most of them are five or six years old and there is in fact a big difference developmentally. In fact they keep upping the age and more people than ever are now putting off kindergarten for another year. It is in fact full of play. The kindergartens, I'd like to see a definition of play-based because when somebody goes out to the blacktop and draws a picture of a clock with chalk and children stand in different places on the clock, that's play. You know we don't have to say okay now you're learning about a clock, you could be playing a game where people are moving on the clock. This is what kindergarten is about. I notice that not a single kindergarten teacher or even school administrator came to the hearing. Anyone who teaches kindergarteners especially in this country, would strongly dispute this I guarantee that. I do understand that in European cities, kindergarten is starting more at three and four years old and that's very different. You know if your child's not ready to go into a kindergarten environment where you're learning while you're playing, then they should wait another year. And you know developmental psychology happens to be what I studied and I studied it with a guy who was an expert on play. So I totally oppose this bill.

Amendment to HB 1612

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Paragraph; Student and Teacher Information Protection; Data Inventory Security Plan. Amend RSA 189:66 by inserting after paragraph IV the following new paragraph:

V. The department shall establish minimum standards for privacy and security of student and employee data, based on best practices, for local education agencies. Each local education agency shall develop a data and privacy governance plan which shall be presented to the school board for review and approval by June 30, 2019. The plan shall be updated annually and presented to the school board. The plan shall include:

(a) An inventory of all software applications, digital tools, and extensions. The inventory shall include users of the applications, the provider, purpose, publisher, privacy statement, and terms of use.

(b) A review of all software applications, digital tools, and extensions and an assurance that they meet or exceed standards set by the department.

(c) Policies and procedures for access to data and protection of privacy for students and staff including acceptable use policy for applications, digital tools and extensions.

(d) A response plan for any breach of information.

(e) A requirement for a service provider to meet or exceed standards for data protection and privacy.

2 Student and Teacher Information Protection; Data Inventory Security Plan. Amend the introductory paragraph of RSA 189:66, IV to read as follows:

IV. The department and each local education agency shall make publicly available students' and parents' rights under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. section 1232g, et seq., and applicable state law including:

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires each local education agency to develop a data security plan.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1612 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This legislation addresses additional information security provisions for local school districts. Districts will be required to have data security plans and policies. District contracts with educational service operators will be required to provide time frames for operator destruction of student personnel information upon request of the district and upon contract termination unless there is consent of the student or parent. The Department of Education or the Department of Information Technology are encouraged to provide guidance to districts on their security plans and contracts. Please join the majority of the Education Committee in support of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1612. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1637

Amend RSA 186:11, XXXVIII(a) as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

(a) Require each school district to establish a policy on school discipline that establishes the criteria for in-school suspensions, short term out-of-school suspensions, long term out-of-school suspensions and expulsions, and the maximum length of long term suspensions. Such policy shall separately describe the criteria for imposition of each level of discipline, with reference to factors such as disruption of school activities, risk of property damage, actual or threatened bodily injury, or other factors determined relevant by the school district.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1636 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill establishes a Committee to Study Teacher Preparation and Education Programs. I'm on the wrong bill. My apologies, Mister President. House Bill 1637, I move it Ought to Pass with Amendment. The legislation requires the State Board of Education to require school districts to adopt policies regarding school suspensions and expulsions. This important bill will ensure that school districts have clearly stated policies and goals regarding suspensions and expulsions and that parents as well understand what these procedures are. The Education Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1637. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1698-FN-L, relative to the cost of special education services for foster children.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1698-FN-L Ought to Pass. This legislation provides that for any child placed in a home for children, the sending school district is required to send the receiving school district the actual pro-rated cost of this special education and related services provided by the receiving district. The goal of this legislation is to make sending school districts liable for the actual cost of the special ed. services. Some have concerns about the ability to capture this change but it's done every day with third party billing and Medicaid billing. The Education Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1698-FN-L. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1744, authorizing a parent to exempt his or her child from participating in the statewide assessment program.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-1. Senator Ward for the committee.

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1744 Ought to Pass. This legislation provides that a student exempted from taking the statewide assessment by the student's parents or legal guardian shall not be penalized. It also requires the school district to provide an appropriate alternative educational activity for the time period during which the assessment is administered, and provides that the name of the parent or legal guardian objecting to the assessment, shall be excluded from access under RSA 91-A. Parents have testified on the difficulties they encounter when trying to refuse the statewide assessment for their children. Schools are required to inform parents about the current state laws that reference opting out of standardized assessments. Transparency will be an ESAA requirement if House Bill 1744 is signed into law. The Education Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1744. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. This bill will enable the state of New Hampshire to raise its test scores dramatically. How? We allow people to opt out. That's it. Okay, we might even coach some people to opt out. We're going to raise our test scores; we'll look great against the rest of the country that recognizes what does it mean to do standardized assessment. Standardized assessment. Here we go. Any test in which the same test is given in the same manner to all test takers and graded in the same manner for everyone is a standardized test. The opposite of standardized testing is non-standardized testing. And non-standardized testing is where either significantly different tests are given to different test takers or the same test is given under significantly different circumstances. Alright, so New Hampshire is going to adopt new circumstances where you can opt out, you can opt out your kid, you can opt out your kid. What do you think? I want your kid in. It's going to raise the test scores. This is blowing a hole through what we have in place for demonstrating substantial significant on grade progress for our schools and our students. One test a year. We've even said you don't need to do standardized testing the same test every year. You can now do it every three years. I just feel like we have missed what we are losing. I understand what we're gaining, an opt out provision on standardized testing. I think we all understand it, but we have not debated what is it that we lose when we let people opt out. And what we're losing is any comparability for our grade level testing with other states. I ask that we vote down the Ought to Pass motion on 1744. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. Without rehearsing debates we've had in previous years on this or what we talked about a couple of weeks ago with opt in or opt out, I just wanted to mention briefly two consequences here. We know that if our participation rate in our standardized testings fall below a certain level, it jeopardizes our federal education funding. That's not something I've made up, that is a fact. Secondly, accountability. You know we're supposed to hold people accountable for how we spend our tax dollars and that's why we have testing based on provision of an adequate education. And you know what, we've just been voting and passing some bills that say that these test scores ought to be collocated at the DOE so they can evaluate across the state which schools are doing better, right? Because we want to know how our tax dollars are being spent and to make sure they're being spent effectively. So, gee, you know, once the participation rates starts to go down and we know we're not going to get good information at the DOE, and we are no longer going to know whether schools are accountable for the expenditure of tax dollars. We ought to vote this down. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Senator Kahn, I'm looking at the notes from the hearing report and Bonnie Dunham spoke to the fact that while teachers may be able to give good information and feedback about individual children, we don't get feedback about how the district is doing as a whole or how the state is doing as a whole. Will you agree with that?

SENATOR KAHN: I do.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: And would you then agree that perhaps when individual families are looking to decide where they want to live, where they want to ensure that their children have a good education, that they're denied a certain level of information about how well education is doing in the community that they're thinking about and how well it's doing in this state relative to other states?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes, I think that's exactly the kind of information that will not be valid as we try to compare ourselves with other states. Even in between districts as was suggested.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Is it not true right now that we have a workforce issue that we need to bring more young families here? And if they can't have access to this information, do you think this would have an additional negative impact on families deciding to move to New Hampshire?

SENATOR KAHN: I don't know that I can make that causal link, but what I do believe is that we'll have invalid information, and I don't think that ever serves anybody well.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR INNIS: Senator in your remarks you seem to imply that students will be likely to score in a lower range on the standardized tests are more likely to opt out. Is that the understanding I should take from your testimony?

SENATOR KAHN: No.

SENATOR INNIS: Alright. Thank you. With that said do we have any empirical evidence from other states or certain school districts that tell us who is likely to opt out and whether or not the numbers are large enough to create a statistical significant difference?

SENATOR KAHN: So what I'm aware of from our college level experience is that students have various testing phobias. We know that. Parents know that. Those that have testing phobias often are around mathematics. And we're going to see, you know whenever that there's the option of alternatives that you know like opting out, people will opt out.

SENATOR INNIS: I understand the line of reasoning there, I just, to restate my question, do we have evidence that there are demographic differences in those students that are likely to opt out as opposed to those that do not?

SENATOR KAHN: I don't have that evidence that demographically this will be any different. I just don't. But what starts with a couple of percent will just increase because it will become a more acknowledged phenomena that, hey, my kid doesn't like taking tests either. You opted out; I'll opt out my kid. We're putting ourselves down a path of invalidating our standardized testing results.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you for taking my question, I appreciate it. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Senator Kahn, perhaps referencing the Senator from District 24. Would you believe that in fact the great legal cases and scandals about testing manipulation in Washington, Philadelphia, some other places revealed in court that not only were teachers holding eraser parties on answers on tests but that there have been a program to discourage students, particularly those who had you know from difficult learning backgrounds or students with disabilities to not take the tests? Would you believe?

SENATOR KAHN: It sounds outrageous, but I do believe.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition, ask my colleagues to vote against 1744. We've heard two things that I think are extremely important; opt out. That sickens me, the opt out provision. Having been a teacher almost all of my life, I tell you that that standardized test is a great element in the educational experience, and it gives you something to look at in how you're conducting your class and how you're doing your best to make every kid succeed. If indeed you allow everybody to opt out, you have nothing to go on. You have nothing to go on. So accountability is the key issue. Both accountability on the way your tax dollars are being spent and accountability on the way that education process is being conducted by that individual who stands in front of that classroom. And that people take pride in that, take a great deal of pride in that because the best product produced is the qualified capable student, that's going to make a difference in this society. That's what we should be striving for and I think that's what the standardized test helps us to do. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1761

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to the math learning communities program in secondary schools and relative to dual and concurrent enrollment agreements between high schools and colleges and universities.

Amend RSA 193-I:2, II as inserted by section 2 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

II. Course I, advanced math foundations, is a review and expansion of a student's understanding and ability to apply fundamental competencies in algebra, geometry, probability, and statistics. This course provides one math credit toward high school graduation.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 2 with the following:

3 Dual and Concurrent Enrollment Program; Definitions. Amend RSA 188-E:25 to read as follows:

188-E:25 Definitions. In this subdivision:

I. "Concurrent enrollment" means courses taught at the high school by high school teachers approved by the community college system of New Hampshire (CCSNH) or the university system of New Hampshire, in which high school students earn both high school and college or university credit while students are still attending high school or a career technical education center.

II. "Dual enrollment" means college courses taught by instructors from the community college system of New Hampshire (CCSNH) or the university system of New Hampshire in which high school students earn college credit while students are still enrolled in high school or a career technical education center.

4 Dual and Concurrent Enrollment Program; Enrollment Requirements. Amend RSA 188-E:27, I to read as follows:

I. An interested high school student in grade 11 or 12 may enroll in a course that is designated by the CCSNH or the university system of New Hampshire as part of the dual and concurrent enrollment program.

5 Dual and Concurrent Enrollment Program; Enrollment Requirements. Amend RSA 188-E:27, III to read as follows:

III. The state shall pay up to $250 to the CCSNH institution where a high school or career and technical education student successfully completes an approved course and the CCSNH shall accept such amount as full payment for course tuition. No state funds for dual and concurrent enrollment programs shall be paid to university system of New Hampshire institutions during fiscal year 2018 or fiscal year 2019.

6 Dual and Concurrent Enrollment Program; School Board Policy. Amend RSA 188-E:28 to read as follows:

188-E:28 School Board Policy.

I. No later than July 1, 2018, the school board of each school district shall develop and adopt a policy permitting students residing in the district who are in grade 11 or 12 to participate in the dual and concurrent enrollment program. The policy shall, at a minimum, include compliance with measurable educational standards and criteria approved by the CCSNH and/or the university system of New Hampshire and that meet the same standard of quality and rigor as courses offered on campus by the CCSNH and/or the university system of New Hampshire. The policy shall also comply with the standards for accreditation and program development established by the National Alliance for Concurrent Enrollment Partnerships. The policy shall include, but not be limited to, student eligibility criteria, standards for course content, standards for faculty approval, program coordination and communication requirements, tuition and fees, textbooks and materials, course grading policy, data collection, maintenance, and security, revenue and expenditure reporting, and process for renewal of the agreement.

II. The department of education and the CCSNH shall develop and approve a model dual and concurrent enrollment agreement that shall be used by the CCSNH and the school board of a school district participating in the dual and concurrent enrollment agreement program. The model agreement shall include standards established by the CCSNH, shall include elements, standards, and criteria that have been approved by the department of education and CCSNH, and shall serve as the framework for the development, implementation, and administration of the dual and concurrent enrollment program in each school district by clearly defining the procedures related to concurrent and dual enrollment of high school students in college classes. The department shall further develop guidelines for the program relating to reporting, accountability, and payment of available funds to the CCSNH.

III. The department of education and the university system of New Hampshire shall develop and approve a model dual and concurrent enrollment agreement that shall be used by the school board of a school district participating in the dual and concurrent enrollment agreement program. The model agreement shall include standards established by the university system of New Hampshire, and shall include elements, standards, and criteria that have been approved by the department of education, and shall serve as the framework for the development, implementation, and administration of the dual and concurrent enrollment program in each school district by clearly defining the procedures related to dual and concurrent enrollment of high school students in college classes.

7 Effective Date.

I. Sections 3-6 of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Requires the commissioner of the department of education to establish and implement a supplemental high school math program for students who require remediation.

II. Extends the dual and concurrent enrollment program to high school courses approved for credit by the community college system of New Hampshire and the university system of New Hampshire.

III. Requires the department of education and the university system to develop a model dual and concurrent enrollment agreement to be used by participating school districts.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires the commissioner of the department of education to establish and implement a supplemental high school math program for students who require remediation.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. The amendment that I'm proposing 1644s, removes the inclusion of the University System of New Hampshire in the dual and concurrent enrollment process. We have an extremely successful system right now with the Community College System. Over 100 high schools that are participating very successfully with criteria for teacher qualifications that the existing amendment we just passed would reduce, and thereby jeopardize the standing of those students in nationwide universities where those kids would be going. The Community College System gets lots of inquiries from across the country, from our kids that are applying to out of state colleges and universities, and it is critically important that we maintain those standards. Additionally, this would create additional unnecessary administrative work, costs, and so forth as we attempt to superimpose or integrate an unnecessary function with one that's already working well. And so for that reason I ask for your support on Floor Amendment 1644s. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. And I thank my colleague from Senate District 2, in the sense that I was advised, don't talk much about this bill, just let it go through. So first off, I just want to correct one statement from the Senator from District 2, and that is this does not talk about teacher qualification whatsoever. That was a part of an original bill, it's been amended, there's nothing in the amendment that talks about teacher qualification. So we're just talking about a bill that we passed last year that enables eleventh and twelfth graders in high school to take college credit courses. Either in their school or at a college near them, that's either a part of the University System or a part of the Community College System. That's all. That's all that this is trying to do, is say, hey, the same thing that we allow for a student to do with the community colleges, we've allowed them to do with the University System of New Hampshire institutions. Because, here's why it's important, this is why it's time sensitive. We put in there that by July 1, 2018 every school district in the state has to have a policy on dual and concurrent enrollment. So right now we're only allowing that policy to take place with the Community College System of New Hampshire. Just by statute.

So, what do we have? We've got who is the primary competitor for the Community College System of New Hampshire for dual and concurrent enrollment? It's Southern New Hampshire University. Surprise, huh? We've got 25,000 students who are juniors and seniors in New Hampshire high schools. During testimony we heard that the ruining start program, that has been successful for the Community College System, has enrolled this year 3,000 students in 5,000 courses. Three-thousand of 25,000 students. We have a long, long way to go if we are going to use dual and concurrent enrollments to reduce the time to a post-secondary education degree and to reduce the price of what students have to pay to get that credential.

Why do you suppose Southern New Hampshire University has created Southern New Hampshire in the high schools? Go on the website. What is Southern New Hampshire in the high school? Designated courses have been aligned to meet the same content, rigor and learning outcomes as that of the university. The high school teachers instructing these courses meet the university adjunct faculty requirements and have been approved by the university. It's the same thing that the Community College System is doing. And, so we're sitting in a meeting with the New Hampshire College & University Council. We were all invited. Quite a number of us went. And on the dais was the principal of Laconia School District, the high school. And the principal says, and I'm negotiating with Southern New Hampshire University for SNHU in the high school. Well, interesting. Competition is destined.

So we've got in the act, currently that we're going to adhere to the standards, national standards for dual and concurrent enrollment. There's an organization, most of the fifty states are members. New Hampshire doesn't have any members in it. You would think we might, at least one, but no. But it's a great resource for understanding where other states are on this. So I've plodded around, talked to Minnesota. I got their suggestion because the state legislature in Minnesota has been working with NCSL and so they–. So I talked to the legislator who follows dual and concurrent enrollment in Minnesota and he says, I asked do you do it for community colleges, yeah, and four year publics too, right? Yeah. Okay. And he said wait, wait we also do it for the non-public post-secondary education institutions. I said why do you do that? Because they might be closer to the high school. Right. That's what dual enrollment is all about. It's not about anything but a high school student taking a course at another college and the high school accepting that credit as a high school credit. But we want to regulate the marketplace. Southern New Hampshire University by the way, for these courses, has a set fee. It's $100 for a three credit course.

You know what I'm glad about? That the competition is currently an in state institution. Because there's another obvious. The University of Maine offers dual enrollment. The Vermont post-secondary education institutions, they offer dual enrollment. Even in Vermont, get this, if you're a Vermont resident you're issued a dual enrollment voucher in a program called the state's Next Generation Initiative. Students receive two vouchers to attend any Vermont college, public or private. This is a pathway; this is what we're trying to do is create a pathway for our New Hampshire students into post-secondary education. Yes, the Community College System plays a role, an important role. But does that mean no other institution in the state of New Hampshire that offers a post-secondary education degree should play a role?

Two of the people that I have worked with on this that have encouraged me to continue to move forward. One is the Representative who authored the dual and concurrent enrollment statute. He's a co-sponsor of this amendment. And he asked me to place this amendment on his bill. It's his bill. A Republican Representative. Commissioner Edelblut has also been one of the people encouraging me, put this dual and concurrent enrollment authorization, amend it to a bill. Find a House Bill and put it on it. He's been a strong supporter. And his metaphor for this is why not use every on ramp we have? Why do we need to travel down a single lane highway on something that everybody else has figured out is a multi-lane road?

In the end, there are two things about this. One, you can't limit the marketplace because as Southern New Hampshire University has shown, people will enter it. They'll find ways to do it better, to do it cheaper. The marketplace is going to have multiple people in it, multiple institutions. And the second point is, this isn't about institutions, this is about students. Yes, I started on this because there was a perceived issue in Keene. But like all of us, we start with a local issue and you begin to see does this local issue have an impact on the rest of the state? That's why I went to the prime sponsor of the legislation to begin with. That's why I went to the Commissioner of Education to talk about this. It's about the student accelerating their time to degree and reducing the price of a higher education. All this amendment does is encourage University System in New Hampshire institutions to get into the marketplace. Why would we want them in the marketplace? The national association says, universities are good at this because they are better resourced, they have a broader curriculum and they're better at professional development. Why are they better at professional development? The offer Masters Degrees, and they can take those non-credentialed great high school teachers that don't have the college level credential and maybe move them along a little faster and accelerate this whole path, add more speed to the highway. Add more capacity to our roads. Help the students in New Hampshire, that's all that this amendment is about.

I ask you, do not pass the amendment that is before you. Let's move forward, let's join the rest of the states in the country. There's only one state that is restrictive as we're about to put and leave in our statute. It's the state of Iowa. And I finally found an answer, my colleague from District 2. The answer is that the Community College System is administered by the Board of Education. Case closed. Alright. Enough, I'd love to talk about this more, but there are probably others who want to enter this conversation. Please don't pass this amendment, and let this go forward as recommended by the Education Committee. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Senator for taking my question. Appreciate all the work that you have done on this along with the Senate Education Committee to put this amendment on. One of the concerns in Senate Finance when this was discussed at one point was whether or not state funds would be at issue or implicated for fiscal years 2018 and 2019. Have you addressed that issue?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes, there is in here specifically in section 4 and 3, no state funds for dual and concurrent enrollment programs shall be paid to the University System institutions during fiscal year 2018 and 2019. I added that following conversations with my colleague from District 11.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Senator. One of the other issues was a question about competitive disadvantage here or there with respect to attracting students in the Community College System. As you noted, Southern New Hampshire University already does this. And so by adopting the language about a model agreement, and a model enrollment with the Department of Education, as oversight, doesn't that address some of the concerns that already exist today and how this operates?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes, I believe so and it models the legislation as currently exists for the Community College System in New Hampshire. There is a master agreement for the Community College System with the Department of Education upon which, school districts and the southern community colleges could then enter into more formal agreements, yes.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President, thank you, Senator. And you worked with the Commissioner of Education on this?

SENATOR KAHN: Certainly since the legislation has been introduced, we have had many conversations about his work for this.

SENATOR FELTES: Great, thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank for taking my question. This is for purposes of clarification. I wondered if you and perhaps my colleagues could turn to page 20 of our calendar to the amendment. Because I wanted to ask specifically about any concern about a change to the standards of the teachers here. So if you look here in section 1 it says, concurrent enrollment means courses taught at the high school by high school teachers approved by the Community College System of New Hampshire, and then or the University System. So the existing language in statute is maintained in your bill, so there's no change in standards?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes. Correct, Senator.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator thank you so much for taking a question. As I'm trying to understand all this, because I, with respect to my friend from District number 10 who might stand up after I speak and I encourage that, I'm reading this I guess in a different vein, from what I hear in the testimony. So my question is, it's my understanding that the concern is that even though you have 180-E:25 and the definitions of the subdivision that is adding University of New Hampshire to the Community College System, but the Community College System's requirements to, for high school teachers to teach high school students is that that teacher must have the same certification level of a professor at a university system. So any classes taught to a high school student from a high school teacher will be viewed by colleges across the country as being the same level in standard as what a college course would be. And the concern is, is that if another post-secondary educational system, in this case maybe the University of New Hampshire, lowers those standards to allow high school teachers to teach high school students, but those teachers do not have the collegiate level of education certification, then therefore it could actually hurt our students and their ability to get credit at the collegiate level for colleges that are looking around the country. Am I understanding this correctly?

SENATOR GIUDA: Yes.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment before us. We've dealt with this subject before. It is substantially the same as Senate Bill 361 which is currently on the table with a pending motion of Inexpedient to Legislate, and that was because the bill wasn't ready for prime time. While some of the things may have been addressed in reading through the amendment, I think there are other things that have been created that still need to be looked at. When you talk about coming up with a policy that has to be approved by the community system and/or the university, it kind of feeds into the question that was just previously asked. Are the standards the same? You know, can a lower standard be accepted over the current one that seems to be working? That's in there in a couple places. And if it is "and," does, you know, it would state that the community colleges and the university have to agree on that policy. But what if they don't? Then it could be an "or," which now you could go to an inequitable level of criteria and standards. My understanding going back to the discussions we had before, that there is, that this came about as a result of one school in the Keene area, and in talking to the community colleges that school had not been willing to enter into the program that would enable them to participate in what existed now. So I would encourage the body to maintain what we've already previously done. Let's stick with the current amendment, which takes out the part that we have already rendered as inexpedient and then put on the table so it could be worked on. Let's continue that process, support the amendment before us, and work on fixing what we need to on the dual and concurrent enrollments so we have something ready for next year. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to inform the body that I may or may not have a conflict of interest because I am an adjunct professor at the community college in Nashua, and I have dealt with students that are in the Running Start Program, and I will be participating in the debate and the vote. I also rise in support of the Senator from the Second District, his amendment. I deal with these students. Most of them on a regular basis, at least one or two per semester. So, I get to see these students and some of them are successful and some of them are not. I have a real concern about these students being in a high school setting, getting a college class. As a college instructor I get to see a different side of these students as opposed to what their high school teachers get to see. So again, I just would like to just inform the body, I don't think this ready, I think there's a lot more work needs to be done on this, and thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and ask my colleagues to defeat the amendment and pass the bill. The dual enrollment provides opportunity for students. This just extends that opportunity and I thought the analogy of highway was a perfect one. We always widen our highways to give more opportunity and we got the best piece of highway in the United States of America from Windham to the Mass line. I drive that and I say to myself, I'm in the best situation I have ever been in.

I was student at the University of New Hampshire, then obviously became a teacher. The kids are way ahead of us. The ability to take a college course at the secondary level provides opportunities. Why deny opportunity to a great university system? A land grant, sea grant, and space grant university. One of a couple in the whole United States of America. That's our university. Why shouldn't everybody have an opportunity to participate? And if you can participate at the secondary level, and enhance your opportunity at the post-secondary level, you've achieved something. You've taken advantage of an opportunity.

All of these schools are accredited by the New England Association of Colleges and Schools. Nobody's going to water down the curriculum, or water down the individuals who are teaching. Because that's part and parcel of the accreditation process. We believe in that because we pay a ton of money to be accredited for a five or a ten year period. So this is an opportunity. We give kids an opportunity. My grandchildren are a hell of a lot smarter than I was as a secondary student. And they should have opportunity. We all talk about costs. This is an opportunity for us to work against those costs. To provide something at a lesser expense and yet it's still the same quality. We're in the business of opportunity here. We have a great public system, both the Community College System and the University System of New Hampshire.

If the outward migration rate continues in this state, we're not going to have anybody in any of these colleges. Keeping them here is providing them opportunity to learn at the secondary level, to participate at the secondary level, and to find out how much quality we have in our post-secondary education system. And Southern New Hampshire is working on it. I met with the President of Southern New Hampshire University what, a couple of weeks ago. They have now reached their 100,000 enrollment in their online program. Why? Because they're marketing it. They're selling it. And why wouldn't they get into the secondary system, of course. There's opportunity there. Opportunity for them and opportunity for the students. So let's not put the kibosh on opportunity. We're all very enthusiastic about providing a pathway for our kids to make their lives better. Defeat this amendment, pass the bill as amended and let's go forward with reckless abandon, as I used to tell my players. I want you to play this game with reckless abandon. And that's how we should be doing in terms of bringing this opportunity forward, with reckless abandon. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I'm not sure we should be passing legislation with reckless abandon, but I truly appreciate my good friend from District number 20's comments, and holistically I agree with most of what he says. Our colleges are too expensive. Easier to find a path. Let's make interstates bigger so we can drive faster. Agree with everything he says. So conceptually I'm with my friend from District number 10. But my struggle in this debate is clearly there remains this question about qualifications and standards. We're hearing that some of our New Hampshire higher institutions say they have one level of standard and qualifications for high school teachers to teach, and then we're hearing that other schools, we're not sure what their qualifications are; that they can set their own standards. So I guess the question that I have to ask myself is, are all of our New Hampshire higher education systems making the same requirements for teacher qualification at the high school level? And if they're not doing that, would it tell us to support this amendment so that everyone can come back to the table and look to make sure those same standards exist? So because of that, Mister President I am supporting the amendment because I believe in the concept, I just don't think the egg is quite cooked yet. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Cavanaugh.)

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Thank you, Mister President. I just want to disclose, I help represent the full-time professors at the Community College System and I do intend in participating. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise only for the second time. But I want to address the quality question. Because if that's where you're hung up, I can help you. So I want to help my colleague from Senate District 9, because if that's a concern, it's addressable. And if I need to use some experience factor with this, I was on the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, their Commission on Institutions of Higher Learning. I helped write the accreditation standards that are currently in place, and here is what they say, specifically, about teacher credentials. It's that if you offer courses anywhere but on your main campus, they should be taught by a faculty with comparable credentials as have been previously reviewed and accredited by the body. That's what it is. Every school has to meet that same standard. There is no deviation from that standard. I don't know how much more I can say about that. I mean every school. So that's why Southern New Hampshire University had said it meets the same standard as our adjunct faculty. Because their full-time faculty are probably ten year track PHDs but their adjunct faculty are filling in the gaps with master's level credentials. It's what the Community College System is insisting on for their baccalaureate courses.

But you know what? All the CTE courses, nearly all, I won't speak for all. Most of the CTE courses are taught by faculty with maybe a bachelor's degree. Maybe not even a bachelor's degree. But those are the comparable credentials to their on campus faculty. So they can make that arrangement for a dual enrollment class at the high school because it's a comparable qualification. You see what it is? There's no fixed line. There's no line that says you must have a PHD, you must have a master's degree. It's how the institution wants to recognize the quality and delivery of its courses. And by and large when it comes to baccalaureate degree comparable courses, English, social studies, math, science the master's degree is the comparable credential. And that's what any institution would probably be insisting upon for their high school teacher teaching their course.

But remember, there are two legs to this stool. One is what you might teach in the high school, the other is what is at the college. And why we would block that path, the fact is we can't block that path. Keene State's been offering enrollment in courses to high school students forever. I was there forever. It's half price. Let the colleges, I mean, let the high school districts enter into agreements and negotiates the best rate for their students. Why are we not encouraging that? So I just, this is ready. This is way more than ready. Every other state in the country is accepting that this is ready. But we're just going to clog up our highway. Let it be the old two lane road and it'll be good enough to get us there. And I really do believe that if you put your student hat on here, we can do better. Thank you, Mister President. Defeat this amendment, please.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Kahn, seconded by Senator Fuller Clark.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

Roll Call, Yeas: 13 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1592-FN, requiring the commissioner of the department of environmental services to review standards relative to arsenic contamination in drinking water.

Amendment to HB 1592-FN

Amend RSA 485:3, XV as inserted by section 2 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

XV. By January 1, 2019, the commissioner shall review the maximum contaminant level for arsenic to determine whether it should be lowered and, if it is determined that it should be lowered, shall initiate rulemaking in accordance with RSA 541-A to establish the new maximum contaminant level and shall submit a report to the house executive departments and administration committee, the senate executive departments and administration committee, and the joint legislative committee on administrative rules prior to initiating such rulemaking.

Amend RSA 485:3, I(b) as inserted by section 3 of the bill by deleting subparagraph (3).

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. This time it's not about PFCs but arsenic. I move House Bill 1592-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill requires the Commissioner of the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services to review standards relative to arsenic contamination in drinking water and make new rules if he or she determines there should be new standards. The bill also requires the Commissioner of the Department of Environmental Services to consider certain criteria before adopting specifications for contaminants in drinking water. This bill would allow for a thorough review of the ambient ground water quality standard and the drinking water maximum contaminant level for arsenic. Currently the New Hampshire DES follows the current federal standard of ten parts per billion. The department has recognized that standard has not been protective, nor nearly as protective as other drinking water standards. More than one-third of public water systems in New Hampshire have noticeable amounts of arsenic in their supply and the bladder cancer rate in the state is 20 percent higher than the national average. It's clear that the high levels of arsenic cause major health problems. Giving the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services the ability to review the standard and propose revised limit would be in the best interest of public health. The amendment makes a technical change to ensure that a report of the department's findings on changes to the drinking water standard are submitted to the House and Senate Executive Department and Administration Committees as well as the Joint Legislative Committee on Administrative Rules. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1592-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for an introduction.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I ask my Senate colleagues to join me in welcoming the smartest, best-looking, and most well-behaved fourth grade in the state from the New Hampton Community School. Welcome to the New Hampshire Senate.

Recess. Out of recess.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the following bill is special ordered to the present time. Adopted.

Amendment to HB 587-FN

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Chapter; Prohibiting Conversion Therapy on Minors. Amend RSA by inserting after chapter 332-K the following new chapter:

CHAPTER 332-L

PROHIBITING CONVERSION THERAPY ON MINORS

332-L:1 Definition. In this chapter, "conversion therapy" means practices or treatments which impose a viewpoint that seeks to change an individual's sexual orientation or gender identity, including efforts to change behaviors or gender expressions or to eliminate or reduce sexual or romantic attractions or feelings toward individuals of the same gender. Conversion therapy shall not include talk therapy or religious counseling that provides acceptance, support, and understanding to that individual. Nor does it prohibit facilitating an individual's coping, social support systems, and identity exploration and development, including sexual-orientation-neutral interventions to prevent or address unlawful conduct or unsafe sexual practices, if such counseling does not seek to change an individual's sexual orientation or gender identity against an individual's will.

332-L:2 Prohibition; Violations, and Enforcement.

I. A person who is licensed to provide professional counseling under RSA 326-B, RSA 328-D, RSA 329, RSA 329-B, RSA 330-A:16, RSA 330-A:18, RSA 330-A:19, RSA 330-A:20, RSA 330-A:21, or RSA 330-C, including, but not limited to, a nurse, physician assistant, physician, psychologist, clinical social worker, clinical mental health counselor, marriage and family therapist, or licensed alcohol and drug counselor, or a person who performs counseling as part of the person's professional training for any of these professions, shall not engage in conversion therapy with a person under 18 years of age.

II. Any licensed professional, as listed in paragraph I, who proposes to engage or engages in conversion therapy on a patient under 18 years of age shall be considered to have engaged in unprofessional conduct and shall be subject to such discipline as the relevant licensing authority deems appropriate.

332-L:3 Non-Infringement. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to infringe on any constitutional right, including the free exercise of religion.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect January 1, 2019.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much, Mister President. I move House Bill 587-FN as Ought to Pass with Amendment. The purpose of this bill is to prohibit individuals licensed to provide counseling from engaging in conversion therapy with a person under eighteen years of age. Currently there is no law in the state of New Hampshire to protect young people from the practice of conversion therapy. Conversion therapy is a dangerous practice of seeking to change someone's gender identity or sexual orientation. This bill would prohibit persons licensed to provide counseling in New Hampshire from engaging in this dangerous and unproven practice. As defined in the amendment, conversion therapy does not include talk therapy or religious counseling that seeks to provide support to individuals and the amendment also does not seek to limit or infringe on anyone's freedom of religion. What I would like you to do however, it says here, please join the Health and Human Services Committee in supporting the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 587-FN. However, I would urge you to vote down the Committee Amendment so that I may bring forth a new amendment that would have the best chance of acceptance by the House without a Committee of Conference. So that's what I'm asking you to do. The language that we attempted to amend in the first section of the bill would create problems for acceptance in the House. And so, I hope that you will vote down the Committee Amendment and then let me speak to my Floor Amendment. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR GRAY: If we were to vote down the Committee Amendment, does your amendment have a replace all provision?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: It does have a replace all provision.

SENATOR GRAY: Then what difference does it make whether we vote for or against the Committee Amendment, since if your amendment carries that it would do a replace all?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: That's a good question, however I do believe that the amendment that I'm bringing forward is the best amendment, and I will leave it up to the judgement of the voters here on the floor of the Senate as to how they wish to proceed.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Alright I'm going to do my best to try to explain where we're at, and explain the issue to the best of my ability to explain. Senator Fuller Clark, our friend from Portsmouth, I apologize for that, her Floor Amendment would be Senate Bill 224 that we voted I believe it was 15-8 last year. So that's number one, just please try to remember that. Number two, the differences between the Floor Amendment that, or Senate Bill 224, let's put it that way, and the Committee Amendment are as follows: If you turn to page 10 of the calendar, let me walk you through the differences. The first difference is on the first two lines of the amendment in the calendar. It adds the words, which impose a viewpoint. The second major change is on the fifth line down when it says, conversion therapy shall not include, then the addition of, talk therapy or religious counseling. And the third significant change between Senate Bill 224 and the committee amendment is in the last line of the definition, gender identity, and then the new words, against an individual's will. Those are the changes between the bill that we voted on last year and the Committee Amendment. So those are the changes.

Now here are the reasons why I think a majority of the committee supported those changes last week, and look, this was a compromise. Compromise, nobody gets everything they want. We're trying to protect counselors, therapists, psychiatrists, folks like our friend from Hanover, who professionally advised youngsters for all of their career. It's important, I think, that they have licensed professionals to be able to go to and talk about these very important issues that affect them, their entire being. And to do so without running afoul of their board for disciplinary purposes. What we're trying to prevent, for lack of a better word, is when an individual, a counselor, would really push somebody against their will by imposing a viewpoint. That's what we're trying to prevent. We're trying to protect counselors to be able to do the very hard work of helping people that are going through issues that a lot of us have never been through, but the kids that are going through it, oh man this is their life. And it's important that they have professional help. We put in the, in the definition on the fifth line down, religious counseling because to her credit, our friend from Portsmouth had the non-infringement language which you see at the bottom of the amendment. And so it mirrors the intent of the non-infringement language at the bottom of the amendment by putting it into the actual definition.

Now I understand that everybody comes to this issue with their own personal point of view. And that's a great thing. It's what makes this body just such a wonderful place to be. And we do it hopefully with respect, especially on these conscience issues, that everybody's opinion, beliefs, principles, are important. But we try, I think the committee tried, and we spent a lot of time going back and forth. As Chair of the committee, normally I try to have fairly loose proceeding but boy, I was loose that day. It was like a discussion. First it was our friend from Rochester and our friend from Hanover. Then it was our friend from Nashua and our friend from Hanover. And then it was our friend from Portsmouth and me. It was like the five of us with a room full of people watching us just having a discussion about how to make this work. And I'm not going to say that all five of us were really comfortable on what this language was, but the majority of us were, and I think it works to do what we're trying to do. Which is ensure that professionals can counsel kids at very difficult times in their life, without imposing a viewpoint or trying to change them against their will, and not being denied the opportunity for religious counseling.

So I would ask that you vote for the Committee Amendment, I understand my friend from Portsmouth thinks that it might have a better chance with her Floor Amendment to get through the House. I understand that and I guess we see that slightly differently. But I think this is a reasonable compromise on a very difficult issue, and I would ask a positive vote for it. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Senator. When I saw the infringement clause here, I thought you wouldn't need the language in the first paragraph about religious counseling, because to me they're one and the same. Is that true or how do you answer that?

SENATOR BRADLEY: I would answer it this way, I think that there was a lot of discussion about that. And I think, virtually all of us, I think, I hope, I'm not speaking out of turn for anybody, felt that it's very important to protect religious liberties. And so if we're willing to protect it with the language here at the end of the bill, there would be no problem putting it here also because it just makes it clear that religious counseling and non-infringement of religious liberties is what the intent is.

SENATOR LASKY: It doesn't give one more importance than the other? Or more important than the other?

SENATOR BRADLEY: I don't believe it does.

SENATOR LASKY: Okay, thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I would join the Senator from District 3 in asking that the people here in this body vote for the Committee Amendment. I believe it improves the bill from what it is. We don't know what is in the amendment that the Senator from District 21, and to vote it down in deference to her amendment when we don't even know what it is, makes little sense to me. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you very much. I would just like to speak to the changes that Senator Bradley mentioned. And to tell you that while we were attempting to incorporate everyone's concerns about this legislation, that we heard after the fact that by adding some of the language, that you heard was added in this bill, that we open it up unintentionally to misuse and for the potential of under the language for conversion therapy to be permissive. In the original bill, which you passed here as Senator Bradley spoke to last year on a vote of 15-8, the definition provided a very narrower definition for conversion therapy and it's clear in all the language, professionals are not kept from hearing the thoughts, ideas, and feelings of people about sexuality and gender identity. I think it's also important to realize that the courts have already ruled that prohibiting conversion therapy is not unconstitutional, and does not violate religious liberty, and does not violate parental rights. A parent could always seek conversion therapy for their child, but what we want to make sure that in New Hampshire, that that is not an acceptable practice. Because we have heard from all of the various professional entities that forcing children to go through coercive treatment to change their behavior is dangerous. That it leads to increased suicide, increased depression, and in actuality it isn't effective.

So I would just say to you that if you really believe that New Hampshire should step forward and ban conversion therapy, that we need to vote down this amendment, and vote for the amendment that will come next. Which is the very same language that fifteen of us voted on last year, which contains as Senator Bradley spoke to, the language about non-infringement that nothing in this chapter shall be construed to infringe on any constitutional right, including the free exercise of religion. You just heard me say that that's been held up in the courts. And I think it's time that we as a state move forward and made it clear that professionals should not be allowed to practice conversion therapy in the state of New Hampshire, and that we want to make sure that we give the opportunity to ban that practice the best possible chance of passing in the House. And so while these small language changes may seem like they're not important, I think they really will put passage of this legislation in jeopardy. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you Senator, for taking my question. In the amendment currently under consideration, on the fourth line it says, conversion therapy shall not include talk therapy. For my own information, what modalities of therapy are there in conversion therapy? Obviously if you're excluding talk there must be some other modalities and I'd be interested to know what those might be?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Well, I think one of the reasons we don't want this amendment to go forward is because there's a lot of confusion about the vagueness of putting language in here about talk therapy. So in the amendment that I'll be bringing forward, that language has been dropped.

SENATOR GIUDA: I'm not sure that you answered my question, Madam Senator. Talk therapy seems to be one particular modality, what are other types of therapy that are used here? Because if we're exempting talk therapy then there must be some other things that are done or practices that are engaged in and I'd like to know what those may be.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Well, I think that there are a lot of other practices that we've heard about that might be used by someone who is practicing conversion therapy. It could be such things as an attempt through physical imposition on a young person to force them to think differently about who they are. That has been known to occur in conversion therapy. But so, but I'm not really sure that I'm still answering your question. I think mostly when we think about therapy, therapy is engaged in discussion, exploration, exchange between the counselor and the patient. So one, as I said to you, I've heard concerns that this is too open-ended, and secondly, that there isn't really a good definition for separating out talk therapy from counseling in general because counseling is fundamentally talk therapy.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the Committee Amendment. Page 10 of your calendar, the definition of conversion therapy, the thing we're just talking about. An exclusion to the definition of conversion therapy is talk therapy, whether the inclusion of this basically eats up the definition of conversion therapy and that's very problematic. So, for that reason, and many other reasons, I oppose the committee amendment. One thing about the Committee Amendment that's consistent with Senate Bill 224, which is Senator Fuller Clark's potential impending Floor Amendment, is the non-infringement language. That's in the Committee Amendment, that's in Senator Fuller Clark's Floor Amendment. That was in Senate Bill 224 and that's a bill that this body, Mister President, voted 15-8 to support including six Republicans. So, to my good friend from Rochester, who voted for that bill last year, Senate Bill 224, but didn't vote for this Committee Amendment, I think I would argue, you would want to vote this down so you can vote for the bill that you voted for last year. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the Committee Amendment. And reading through the hearing report, there, a number of therapists came, it looks like a number of therapists came out very concerned about the original bill. Doctor Calvidish said, psychotherapy is a form of treatment that requires a lot of freedom of thought and speech that needs to allow the patient and the therapist to talk about whatever they would like to. Both parties need a safe space to discuss thoughts and feelings without preconceived notions of the right or correct outcome. They're concerned the therapist might stop a discussion when a patient brings up unwanted sexual feeling because they're worried about violating this act. Doctor Shillaber stated, a mother came to her, said that her daughter was in a lesbian relationship and that the mother wanted her to change it. Doctor Shillaber responded that she would work with the daughter on her personal goals. The daughter was not interested in exploring a heterosexual relationship and it was not discussed because that is not why the girl wanted to be there. Why the girl was really there was because she was raped by her cousin who was a male. So these are the open thoughts and conversations that therapists need to have. And while the good Senator from District 21 says vagueness in the language there is vagueness in an amendment that we have even heard has not even had a hearing. So again, we're voting this down but there was a lot of work that was done. It was discussed in committee and I feel that we need to move ahead with this amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise asking that you defeat the Committee Amendment and I'll tell you, much of what I wanted to say has already been said. But I'd like to say I was part of that discussion in the hearing and there was a lot of misunderstanding. Especially surprisingly by some of the therapists who spoke. Of course a therapist can talk with any of his or her clients about their sexual preference. That is never forbidden. What is forbidden is to take stand and do usually what is also called aversion therapy in order to get somebody to change their sexual preference. That is what is not allowed. Part of my problem with the words talk therapy in there is that those are vague. I suggested at one point maybe talk psychotherapy or something that would be more clear. But of course therapists take a risk every single time you meet with a client, you take a risk. You're not allowed to touch your client inappropriately; you're not allowed to have a sexual relationship with your client obviously. All of those things if you are going into this profession and you don't think you can stop yourself from doing something that is harmful, you should not be in that profession. As I said in the committee, I have to be concerned about the fact that my practice was for a while, I had my own building and then I had a practice in the basement of my house. If somebody went out the front door and slipped on the ice, I also have that responsibility. So honestly, this is part of being a psychotherapist. You take on some of these risks. And as long as you know, you are not doing harm and your goal is not to do harm, it's not going to change anybody's practice. I worry about those people who think they can't do this kind of; they can't have talk therapy or have psychotherapy sessions without doing something that's illegal. They need only to evaluate why they're doing what they're doing and review the ethics standards. So I strongly urge you to defeat the committee amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President and colleagues. I rise just to look at that sentence about conversion therapy exclusions and I hope that this can answer the questions raised by the Senator from District 2. So if you'll open the, to page 10 again, sometimes grammar really matters and it does in this sentence. You see the phrase, you know we have talk therapy, religious counseling, and then you see the phrase that provides acceptance, support, and understanding to that individual. And the absence of commas that phrase applies not only to talk therapy but also to religious counseling. So the exclusion here does not apply to talk therapy. That does up above efforts to change behaviors or gender expression to eliminate or reduce the sexual romantic attractions. And also note as well in the next passage about nor does it prohibit facilitating individual's coping, social support system, and identity exploration and development, including sexual-orientation neutral interventions. So I think that, I hope that offers some clarity here that yes, talk therapies that attempt to change individual's sexual orientation, as noted in that first part, would not be included in that exemption which only exempts talk therapies that provide acceptance, support, and understanding to that individual. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you for taking my question. I think a lot about the debate we had last year on this, right? And if you remember I asked questions relative to trying to understand the legislative intent of what our discussion was. And it was very important to me at that time and it's very important to me today that protecting religious freedom, and the first amendment of being able to speak someone's mind, was really important and how are we trying to parse and parcel our way to ensure people can have a conversation and we can still find protections. So while I'm thankful that you actually put statements in here relative to protecting the free exercise of religion, help me understand. So if I go back up to the first line, for the definition in this chapter of conversion therapy means the practice or treatment which impose a viewpoint. If someone's getting religious counseling, if they have a viewpoint. So when does it cross over from being having a viewpoint versus expressing that viewpoint or imposing that viewpoint? Because further on down below, four lines down, it implies to me, and this where I'm trying to understand, that the counselor must have acceptance, as the Senator from District number 4 had said, must have acceptance of it. So I'm trying to wrestle with and trying to ensure right? So I'm trying to ensure that if someone who has religious convictions and they're providing religious counseling, that we're not inadvertently tripping them up, that they're still allowed to have their belief, they're still allowed to have their convictions, and we're not hog-tying them by specifically imposing versus have and requiring acceptance of it. So how do we protect, how do we protect the religious community in that regard?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Let me answer it this way. This is a very difficult topic. I agree with our colleague from District 4 that language matters. It's the intent of this language that we not undermine the ability of counselors to be able to provide counseling whether it's religious counseling or other kinds of counseling that would help somebody understand what's going on in their life. That's clearly not the intent. And so, the addition of the phrases, which impose a viewpoint, and against an individuals will, are to try to clarify the legislative intent as to what crosses the line. If you are a counselor and you are trying to understand and talk about with your patient what's going on in their life, that's not imposing a viewpoint. But if you're trying to impose a viewpoint, the intent here is that you set a pretty clear line, you're imposing a viewpoint, whether it's yours or somebody else's viewpoint. And the protection that you're doing it against an individual's will is also trying to set that line. Nothing's perfect. This is our best attempt.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you for the answer, I appreciate that. So it's, for legislative intent, it's your belief that having a viewpoint is protected, but imposing that viewpoint on others would not be?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Absolutely.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, thank you.

SENATOR BRADLEY: And I'll answer it this way. Senator, you have all sorts of viewpoints.

SENATOR SANBORN: One, maybe two.

SENATOR BRADLEY: But until you got thirteen people agreeing with you, you haven't imposed anything. That's kind of the difference, well you only need twelve others in this room. You see my point?

SENATOR SANBORN: Yes, thank you.

SENATOR BRADLEY: And I have those viewpoints too. But until twelve people are with me, nobody's imposed anything. And that's what the intent here is.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard for a question of Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Senator for taking my question. With regards to all the conversation that's going on one of the things that I think is important to understand is, there's already an organization that frowns on the practice of conversion therapy. In order for you to hold your license by a particular board, if this particular board found out that you are practicing conversion therapy you would most likely be convicted if you will, or frowned on by your peers, would lose your license already. Is that correct?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: That is correct. But depending on the organization, but yes, the one I'm subscribed to, yes.

SENATOR AVARD: So why do we need this law, if the practice is already, if you practice this, you're already going to lose your license if you're found out?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Well, first of all, this would make it something that you could even advertise. You could act, you could say I'm going to provide conversion therapy which I think is immediately something that should not be allowed. I don't know how many, we've talked about before but I don't know how many people realize there's a significant difference between conversion therapy and regular, what I do, which is regular. It's shaming, it's hurting, it's literally physically hurting at times having rubber bands that you snap against your wrist, and we're talking about people under eighteen years of age. So my answer is that there are lots of things in our society where the association would say you can't do that. You know, the medical association says that the person who was the physician for the U.S. Olympic Gymnastics team would lose his license if he did the things he did. But they also made it so it was against the law. It also is against the law. So it's not, it doesn't have to be one or the other. It's that serious in my mind.

SENATOR AVARD: Just for clarification. If somebody advertised that they had that they were doing conversion therapy, that would alert the boards then to say, to revoke their license to practice?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Somebody has to report it.

SENATOR AVARD: But if you're advertising, you just reported yourself.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Yeah well, I guess you are. As long as people are paying attention to it. Unfortunately many people who get, even those who are in conversion therapy have no idea that's what's going to happen. And so what, if you ask the average person on the street would they even know what conversion therapy is. I have to say, I think these are things that are happening almost entirely underground now. People are not out there because they know that it's against their boards and I believe it would make it even that much firmer if it were also something that we legislated.

SENATOR AVARD: So then are we to conclude that the boards are ineffective as to setting their own rules?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: No, I didn't make that conclusion at all.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR GIUDA: So we're talking religious therapy. So a deacon, or a minster, or a priest, or a rabbi, or an imam, says to a troubled teenager, you know that the Koran, and the Bible, and the Torah, and so forth, view this behavior as sinful, and therefore not good for your moral health. Has that person violated the statute? Because it's not necessarily providing acceptance, support, and understanding. To put in a religious counseling exception that says, you can't profess the very basis of the thing that you are an intrinsic part of, to me seems a very difficult problem, one that's not resolved in this legislation. Can you help me with that?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Well I believe that if you look at the language about non-infringement, it says, nothing in this chapter shall be construed to infringe on the constitutional right including the free exercise of religion. So that would allow an individual, as you referred to as a minster, an individual who is a pastor, an individual who is representing some of the other religions that you mentioned, within their pastoral capacity they are allowed to profess such thoughts as you shared with us right now. They are not however allowed under this legislation to advertise that they are providing that type of counseling and being paid for it. So it has to be within the context of practicing their religion, not practicing counseling professionally because all of the professions that are identified who therapy goes from pediatricians, to different kinds of therapists, have said there is no evidence of any kind that through pressure, or degrading someone because of their feelings, or however else you might try to convert them away from the feelings that they're having is, really possible professionally. And when we've heard that, well why do we need this legislation, we not only need this legislation to make it clear that this type of therapy is not professionally approved but also it provides language here so that if someone, a young person, has been forced to go through conversion therapy they know that that is a type of professional counseling that is not approved and can be dangerous.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you for taking my question.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you. I think our previous discussion with the Senator from District 9, I think we agreed that you can have varying viewpoints on the same issue. Is that a correct statement?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Yes.

SENATOR DANIELS: Okay. So, if you had a viewpoint in support of this and I had a viewpoint opposed to this, going down to line 10, it says a conversion therapy shall not include talk therapy or religious counseling that provides acceptance, support, or understanding of that individual. So explain to me how your viewpoint and basically your imposition of your position on this is acceptable, but it suppressed my constitutional right to give my viewpoint on the same subject.

SENATOR BRADLEY: I think the overarching criteria in the legislation in terms of a religious viewpoint is the non-infringement section at the end. I think our friend from Portsmouth just explained the differentiation of what a religious counselor would mean in the earlier part of the definition. If you were a counselor paying for, or advertising getting paid for, but you're also a religious lay person, or expressing religious beliefs. I think, as I tried to explain to our colleague from Senate District 9, having a viewpoint and imposing a viewpoint are two different things. And I don't believe that talking about viewpoints is imposing a viewpoint.

SENATOR DANIELS: If I am a certified doctor and I am talking to my minor child, how am I protected under this from losing my license?

SENATOR BRADLEY: There is nothing in this bill, and we've had this discussion now I think on three different occasions. There's nothing in this bill that interferes with parent child relationship. This is strictly about licensed counselors operating under a license.

SENATOR DANIELS: Just a final question. So I understand that if you support something it's not imposing, but if I oppose something that's imposing? If I'm supporting something that's not imposing, but if I'm opposing something, that's imposing?

SENATOR BRADLEY: I'm not sure I agree with that. I mean look, I go to the doctor. Doctor tells me Bradley, you got high blood pressure, you ought to take pills, and he further goes on to say, and you're fat, and you're ugly, and you probably snore. I might not be too happy, but I ought to listen to him on the blood pressure medication. I mean, there's no language that's perfect. This is the best language that we can have, I believe, in terms of trying to protect folks that are counseling kids from disciplinary action in front of their boards while preserving religious liberties. While at the same time not imposing a view against the individual's will. That's what we're trying to get at.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Senator for taking my question. The Senator from District 19 mentioned something about our committee hearings and about some professionals that were there. Medical doctors, psychologists, pediatricians, that came out and opposed the overarching understanding of this bill. We know, and we've established in our conversation today, that boards if discovered would pull the license, maybe one board or multiple boards, will pull your license to practice if it is discovered that you are practicing conversion therapy. One of the doctors that testified was very concerned that in his practice of the free thought it will actually pull back and make them think twice before they actually consider taking a case. Do you feel that if we enact this law, that there will be psychologists, counselors, many other people out there who can actually help through this process, pull back and say look, we don't want to leave this up to the lawyers to decide whether I was trying to intervene or help? Is that a possibility that that could happen, that this turns into litigation for false accusations?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I do not believe so and I'll tell you why. And we heard just as many people from the professions that you enumerated, who were in favor of making sure that we clarify that conversion therapy is not a medical practice that should be allowed to exist. If you look at the second half of this paragraph, and we've talked a lot about acceptance, support, and understanding to that individual, that you need to go to the next sentence which says, nor does it prohibit facilitating an individual's coping, social support systems, and identity exploration and development, including sexual-orientation neutral interventions to prevent or address unwanted contact or unsafe sexual practices. It is important it says, if such counseling does not seek to change an individual's sexual-orientation or gender identity. So as long as a practicing therapist makes it clear that they were not seeking to change that individual's sexual orientation or gender identity, they are not going to be deprived of their license. And I believe for many of the people that we heard from, they failed to understand to what degree that language provides a safe boundary for them.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Senator for answering the question, but one of the statements from one of the professionals that were opposed to this bill, was the fact of I believe he used the word perception. If one is perceived to violate this law, if it comes into pass, there will be litigation that not only then takes away this individual's license, but also now they have to pay for lawyer's fees. Could that same individual who feels as though, or the people involved, feel as though they were violated, go to the board and have a license revoked today? Is there anything stopping them from doing that today?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I don't believe that, to answer your question, that being called up before a board necessitates litigation, necessitates having a lawyer. It provides an opportunity for that individual to explain what was going on in relationship to the therapy that they were providing. And then it's up to the board, which is made up of a number of individuals, to decide whether or not that rises to the level of conversion therapy. So it doesn't end up in the courts until such time perhaps if the finding of the board was something that the individual disagreed with. But the whole purpose of the language in here saying that, you know the way this is handled is by going before the boards that grant you a license. So I find it hard to understand that the first step would be litigation. And I believe in most instances that a professional would have the opportunity to explain their practice and if they weren't trying to convert someone's gender identity, that they would be allowed to continue to practice.

SENATOR AVARD: One final follow-up if I may.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I'm finished, thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell for a question of Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: I only have one. Are you aware that last year in the House, Doctor David Pickup, he practices out of Texas, he's a licensed psychologist, testified in the House that in California, and he used to practice in California, California passed similar legislation, I think it's more similar to the House Bill. But because of that many of the therapists in California chose not to deal with any more children who were having sexual orientation or gender identity issues? Are you aware of that?

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I was not aware of that testimony. However, I know that, you know, there is a wide range of therapists that one can seek out so if a particular therapist decides not to practice it doesn't mean that there aren't other therapists that are available.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and ask that we overturn the committee report. You know we've been dealing with this issue again and again and again. I know it's uncomfortable for many on both sides and we want to be talking about things we can expand opportunity but we need to deal with this issue. And lots of discussion, lots of confusion, lots of questions, not a lot of people standing up and defending conversion therapy, but hopefully we'll have the opportunity to hear that. That confusion is just a purpose to try to make this bill unsuccessful. And we have to recognize that this is not a difficult one, this is not a confusing one, this is something that we can do and we need to do. This practice, it's a backward, barbaric practice aimed to scare the gay away. That's what this is about, pure and simple. If we were writing it on a wall with spray paint it'd be a hate crime. This is what we're doing and we need to call it what it is. We need to move forward and we need to overturn this committee report, and go back to the bill that we dealt with a while ago, that Senator Fuller Clark is bringing and move this forward. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I just wanted to answer also, or respond, to some of the questions that we're being asked too. First of all let me just say that two very reasonable people can look at something like this and have a whole afternoon of testimony and remember different people who spoke. So I just want you to know that if you look at the hearing report, there were a lot of very sophisticated people who came to talk in support of the ban of conversion therapy. I also want to say that we got into quite a discussion about the fact that we might be opening up people to leaving the profession or fears of being reprimanded in some way by the professional association. Every single time my daughter, who's an OBGYN, walks into a room with a patient, who's mostly naked, she opens herself up to a lawsuit. Every time she does surgery, she opens herself up to a lawsuit. Every time I met with any child in my house, in my office, behind closed doors, I opened myself up to a lawsuit. That's why I have liability insurance. That's why every two years I have to take more ethics classes to be sure I understand what is ethical and what is not. We all open ourselves, unless you're in the Senate, you open yourselves up to liabilities. Anybody who has a hotel opens themselves up to a lawsuit. That's the nature of our U.S.A. and that's the way we live our lives. If, and I will say it again, I've said it before, if a psychologist, a licensed clinical psychologist, is not going to practice because they're afraid they're going to do something wrong, I worry about that psychologist. If a doctor is not going to see a naked baby in front of them because he's afraid he's going to do something wrong, I don't want that doctor for my children. So, you know that's all I have to say. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. You don't see anything in this bill that prohibits encouraging a conversion to confused child, towards a lesbian gay LGBT lifestyle. This is all one-sided. We're going to stop the discussion of anything that might challenge what you're thinking. We're not going to stop the discussion that it might advance what you might be thinking. That's not a good bill. I would prohibit anything pro or con, shut up and listen and don't say anything. That's really not therapy is it? I would take offense at the remarks of the Senator from District 1 who impugns the questions of the people in this body as being merely a political ploy. That is sheer nonsense and is disrespectful of the body and anyone who asks the question. Thank you for your indulgence, Mister President. There's nothing in this bill that is fair. It is all pushing towards one direction. And I'm very happy to put an amendment in at some point that says let's make this objective. Because there is conversion therapy that goes the other way. We have allowed a certain segment to define conversion, but conversion goes both ways. If a confused teen sits in a doctor's office and says I'm not sure, we're saying we can't tell you, you shouldn't probably go that direction. But there's nothing wrong with telling you that you can. And for that reason I cannot support the bill. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Feltes.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Birdsell, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis.

Roll Call, Yeas: 12 - Nays: 12. Failed.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for an introduction.)

SENATOR FELTES: Mister President, it's my great honor to welcome to the Senate Gallery the fourth grade class, one of the fourth grade class, of the Christa McAuliffe School here in Concord. Let's give them a round of applause.

Senator Fuller Clark offered a Floor Amendment.

Sen. Fuller Clark, Dist 21
April 19, 2018
2018-1654s
01/04

Floor Amendment to HB 587-FN

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Chapter; Prohibiting Conversion Therapy on Minors. Amend RSA by inserting after chapter 332-K the following new chapter:

CHAPTER 332-L
PROHIBITING CONVERSION THERAPY ON MINORS

332-L:1 Definition. In this chapter, "conversion therapy" means practices or treatments that seek to change an individual's sexual orientation or gender identity, including efforts to change behaviors or gender expressions or to eliminate or reduce sexual or romantic attractions or feelings toward individuals of the same gender. Conversion therapy shall not include counseling that provides assistance to a person undergoing gender transition, or counseling that provides acceptance, support, and understanding of a person or facilitates a person's coping, social support, and identity exploration and development, including sexual-orientation-neutral interventions to prevent or address unlawful conduct or unsafe sexual practices, as long as such counseling does not seek to change an individual's sexual orientation or gender identity.

332-L:2 Prohibition; Violations, and Enforcement.

I. A person who is licensed to provide professional counseling under RSA 326-B, RSA 328-D, RSA 329, RSA 329-B, RSA 330-A:16, RSA 330-A:18, RSA 330-A:19, RSA 330-A:20, RSA 330-A:21, or RSA 330-C, including, but not limited to, a nurse, physician assistant, physician, psychologist, clinical social worker, clinical mental health counselor, marriage and family therapist, or licensed alcohol and drug counselor, or a person who performs counseling as part of the person's professional training for any of these professions, shall not engage in conversion therapy with a person under 18 years of age.

II. Any licensed professional, as listed in paragraph I, who proposes to engage or engages in conversion therapy on a patient under 18 years of age shall be considered to have engaged in unprofessional conduct and shall be subject to such discipline as the relevant licensing authority deems appropriate.

332-L:3 Non-Infringement. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to infringe on any constitutional right, including the free exercise of religion.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect January 1, 2019.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: This message is the identical language, or this amendment is the identical language to Senate Bill 224 which passed this body last year by a vote as I understand it of 15-7. I urge the Senate to reaffirm that vote by voting in favor of this amendment and sending this across to the House because it will have the greatest chance of passing. Thank you.

A roll call was requested by Senator Soucy, seconded by Senator Fuller Clark.

POINT OF ORDER

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell for a point of order.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Are we doing a vote now without even a discussion about the amendment?

PRESIDENT MORSE: That's up to you, Senator.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Mister President, can we hear a little bit about the amendment?

PRESIDENT MORSE: That would be up to the body.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Wow.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Alright so, let me try to outline the differences. If you have the calendar and the amendment after the words, means practices or treatments that seek to change an individual's sexual orientation, the words, which impose a viewpoint, are deleted. On line 10 of the amendment conversion therapy shall not include counseling that provides assistance to a person undergoing gender transition. So the phrase, talk therapy and religious counseling, are deleted and at the end of the definition on line 15 the amendment ends at the word, gender identity, and so deleted from the committee amendment are the words, against an individual's will. I believe everything else is the same as the Committee Amendment and Senate Bill 224. Those are the differences. It takes out religious counseling in the definition of conversion therapy on line 10.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you for taking my question. So is it your opinion having chair of the committee, heard the testimony and had an opportunity to review your amendment, this amendment, everything, would voting in favor of this amendment strip away or diminish the protections for people to try and maintain some level of religious freedom in this discussion?

SENATOR BRADLEY: No. And the reason I say no is what's in line 28 through 30. That is an overarching section of what will be Chapter 332-L which will not prohibit any infringement on the exercise of free religion. In the Committee Amendment, in the definition religious counseling was more belt and suspenders.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Lines 28 and 29, nothing in this chapter shall be construed to infringe on any constitutional right, including the free exercise of religion. So are not the licensing boards for these professionals government entities?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Yes, they are.

SENATOR GIUDA: And is not the function of the constitution to prevent, or to protect, individuals from over burdensome intrusion or infringement on the rights if they are engaged with government?

SENATOR BRADLEY: That's correct. The language says nothing shall be construed to infringe upon any constitutional right including the exercise of free religion. The definition in Section 1 and the prohibition in Section 2, talk about professionally licensed counselors, and so that's where the ban on conversion therapy, which is defined in the definition, would come from. For those counselors, but not a religious person operating as a pastor, or you know all of the various roles that a religious counselor might have. But not a professionally licensed one.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. So the first amendment guarantees the right of free speech and if we are seeking to truncate the first amendment with a law for someone that is engaged in a conflict with the government when it comes to the enforcement of that law, are we not then violating that constitutional amendment?

SENATOR BRADLEY: I don't believe we're violating that constitutional amendment. The scope of Sections 1 and 2 in Senator Fuller Clark's bill deal with licensed individuals. Nothing is prohibiting somebody from exercising either free speech of freedom of religion. It only becomes an issue when one is a professional counselor being paid, advertising, subject to the oversight of the boards that they receive their license from.

SENATOR GIUDA: Not to beat a dead horse Mister President, but if the licensing agency's a government entity, this then infringes on the first amendment rights of a counselor in dealing with an individual.

SENATOR BRADLEY: I guess I don't see it the same way you do.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Soucy, seconded by Senator Fuller Clark.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis.

Amendment to HB 298

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to the mechanical licensing board.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Mechanical Licensing; Definitions. Amend RSA 153:27 to read as follows:

153:27 Definitions. In this subdivision:

I. "Board" means the mechanical licensing board established in RSA 153:27-a.

II. "Domestic appliance technician" means any person engaged in the installation, servicing, and repair of liquefied propane or natural gas domestic appliances designed specifically for residential use, limited to residential clothes dryers and their venting systems, domestic stove tops, cook stoves and ranges and their venting systems, or outdoor cooking equipment and pool heaters.

III. "Fuel gas fitter" means a hearth system installation and service technician, a domestic appliance technician, a fuel gas installation technician, a fuel gas service technician, or a fuel gas piping installer regulated by this subdivision.

IV. "Fuel gas fitting" means the installation, repair, alteration, service, demolition or removal of pipes, fixtures, fittings, appliances, equipment, or apparatus necessary for supplying natural gas or propane for residential or non-residential use from the point of delivery and all gas piping before connection to the combustion zone and including the applicable venting of flue gases to the outside atmosphere and the provisions for air for combustion and ventilation.

V. “Fuel gas installation technician” means any person engaged in the installation of inside and outside piping from the outlet of the gas meter or first stage regulator or residential and non-residential fuel gas appliances and equipment, including but not limited to heating equipment systems or water heating systems using liquefied propane gas or natural gas.

VI. “Fuel gas piping installer” means any person engaged in the installation of liquefied propane gas or natural gas piping or who is a New Hampshire licensed plumber, approved by the board through affidavit, experience, education or training in the use of NFPA 54, national fuel gas code as adopted pursuant to RSA 153:5 in the state fire code.

VII. “Fuel gas service technician” means any person engaged in the servicing and repair of inside and outside piping from the outlet of the gas meter or first stage regulator or residential and non-residential fuel gas appliances and equipment, including but not limited to heating equipment systems or water heating systems using liquefied propane gas or natural gas.

VIII. “Fuel gas trainee” means any person engaged in the process of meeting the licensing requirements of this subdivision, who shall work under the direct supervision of a licensed fuel gas fitter in the repair or installation of inside and outside piping from a gas meter or first stage regulator, and the repair or installation of residential and nonresidential fuel gas appliances and equipment, including but not limited to heating equipment systems, hot water heating systems, domestic appliances, or hearth equipment systems utilizing liquefied propane gas or natural gas.

IX. “Hearth system installation and service technician” means any person engaged in the installation, servicing, and repair of liquefied propane or natural gas hearth appliances and venting systems.

X. “Journeyman plumber” means any person who customarily performs the work of installing, maintaining, and repairing plumbing and drainage under the direction of a master plumber.

XI. “License” means any license issued pursuant to this subdivision.

XII. “Master plumber” means any person, firm, corporation, or limited liability company that, as a business, hires or employs a person or persons to do plumbing work, or, without hiring any person, does that work as a principal business or as auxiliary to a principal business for its own account.

XIII. “Person” means an individual, natural person.

XIV. “Plumbing” means the practice, materials, and fixtures used in the installing, maintenance, extension, and alteration of all piping, fixtures, plumbing appliances, and plumbing appurtenances within or adjacent to any structure, in connection with sanitary drainage or storm drainage facilities; venting systems; and public or private water systems. For the purposes of this subdivision, the term “plumbing” shall not apply beyond the first fitting beyond the foundation wall of the building or 5 feet of pipe from the building.

XV. “Plumbing apprentice” means any person who is engaged in learning and assisting in the installation of plumbing and drainage under an apprenticeship program that meets the requirements of the state apprenticeship advisory council established in RSA 278 or the rules of the board.

XVI. “Water treatment system” means any apparatus for treating or processing water to modify, enhance, or improve its quality or to meet a specific water quality need, desire, or standard, and the pipes, fittings, and other components servicing such apparatus.

XVII. "Water treatment technician" means any person who installs, maintains, or repairs water treatment systems.

XVIII. "Water treatment trainee" means any person who is engaged in learning about and assisting in installing, maintaining, or repairing water treatment systems under the direct supervision of a water treatment technician certified under this subdivision.

2 Business Entities License. Amend RSA 153:29-a, I to read as follows:

I. The board may issue a business entity a license without examination or continuing education requirements to corporations, partnerships, or limited liability companies engaged in fuel gas fitting and/or plumbing, provided one or more officers of the corporation, or designee, or one or more members of the partnership, or designee, or one or more managing members of the limited liability company, or designee, hold an active and current license as a domestic appliance technician, hearth system installation and service technician, or fuel gas service technician or master plumber for the appropriate mechanical business entity license, or any combination thereof, provided that the licensee of record is properly licensed for each of the business entities listed by the applicant under this subdivision. Within 30 days after the death or withdrawal of the licensed person as a corporate officer, or designee, or member of the partnership, or designee, or one or more managing members of the limited liability company, or designee, the licensed person, corporation, partnership, or limited liability company shall give notice thereof to the board and, if no other officer, partner, manager or designee, is licensed as a domestic appliance technician, hearth system installation and service technician, or fuel gas service technician or master plumber, the corporation, or partnership, or limited liability company shall not act as a fuel gas fitter or plumber until some other officer, member, or designee, has obtained a license as a domestic appliance technician, hearth system installation and service technician, or fuel gas service technician or master plumber. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the board shall not require a fee for a business entity engaged in fitting and/or plumbing where a licensed domestic appliance technician, hearth system installation and service technician, or fuel gas service technician or master plumber is the sole individual holding the license of the business entity.

3 New Paragraph; Business Entities; Good Standing; Insurance. Amend RSA 153:29-a by inserting after paragraph V the following new paragraph:

VI. All business entities shall provide proof of good standing with the secretary of state and proof of liability insurance prior to issuance and renewal of a business entity license.

4 Effective Date. This act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill clarifies the definitions of persons licensed by the mechanical licensing board and requires business entities to show proof of good standing and insurance.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 298 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill will make New Hampshire more competitive through, with other programs and trades and it will directly reduce the workforce shortage. This bill will clarify the definitions of persons licensed by the Mechanical Licensing Board and will require all business entities to show proof of good standing with the Secretary of State's Office and proof of liability insurance prior to issuance and renewal of a business entity license. Currently the plumber apprentice program is controlled by the Federal Government and the Mechanical Licensing Board does not have a say. This legislation will allow the Mechanical Licensing Board to test out apprentice plumbers after the first or second year after which time their third and fourth year on the job will be with supervision, but not direct supervision. This is a four year program and they are seeing people drop out after the third year because of the time consuming education requirements. The Mechanical Licensing Board is trying to make it easier for plumbers to become licensed in their field. This will also give the Mechanical Licensing Board more control with the New Hampshire Apprentice Program within the state. The ED&A Committee voted favorably Ought to Pass with Amendment and asks for your support in its recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

Amendment to HB 1104-FN

Amend the bill by replacing section 4 with the following:

4 Administrative Provisions; Extensions for Conservation Commission Action on Wetlands Applications. Amend RSA 482-A:11, III(a) to read as follows:

(a) Upon written notification to the department by a municipal conservation commission, a local river management advisory committee, or the New Hampshire Rivers Council that it intends to investigate any notice received by it pursuant to RSA 482-A:3, the department shall not make its decision on the application that is the subject of the notice until it has received and acknowledged receipt of a written report from such commission, local river management advisory committee, or the council, or until 40 days from the date of filing with the municipal clerk of such notice, whichever occurs earlier, subject to an extension of up to 40 days, as permitted by the [~~department~~] commissioner, for good cause shown. In connection with any local investigation, a conservation commission may hold a public informational meeting or a public hearing, the record of which shall be made a part of the record of the department. Where the [~~department~~] commissioner grants an extension, the time limits prescribed by RSA 482-A:3, XIV(b) shall be suspended [~~until a date~~] for up to 40 days as agreed to by the applicant and the department. If a conservation commission, a local river management advisory committee, or the New Hampshire Rivers Council makes a recommendation to the department in its report, the department shall specifically consider such recommendation and shall make written findings with respect to each issue raised in such report which is contrary to the decision of the department. If notification by a local conservation commission, local river management advisory committee, or the New Hampshire Rivers Council pursuant to this paragraph is not received by the department within 14 days following the date the notice is filed with the municipal clerk, the department shall not suspend its normal action, but shall proceed as if no notification has been made.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1104 Ought to Pass with Amendment. House Bill 1104 shortens timelines related to dredge and fill printed applications, establishes time limits for recommendations on grants of right petitions, reduces time limits for agency actions on applications, provides that failure of an agency to act within a certain time, limits shall be treated as agency approval, requires the Secretary of State to allow online business and corporate filings, and establishes and clarifies time limits for agency action on applications, petitions, and requests by various departments. The bill as amended addresses notification and extension provisions for wetlands and includes not only conservation commissions, but also the Local River Management Advisory Committee or the New Hampshire River Councils. Please join the ED&A Committee in supporting the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1104. Thank you, Mister President.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: I received some concerns. Will this go to Finance with an opportunity to discuss it further?

PRESIDENT MORSE: Yes.

SENATOR WOODBURN: Okay. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

(The Chair recognized Senator Ward)

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to House Bill 1104. I'm very concerned that the reduced application process time limits will weaken the ability of the Department of Environmental Services to adequately protect our wetlands. In RSA 482-A:1 in the finding of public purpose, to protect and preserve its submerged land under tidal and fresh waters and its wetlands and in other contents for despoliation and unregulated alteration. In our proposed bill here we have on page 6, may for just consideration grant to an owner of a shoreline on public waters the right to excavate, remove or dredge any bank, flat, marsh, swamp or lakebed before the owner's shoreline. That is what could happen, and we have a bill now that essentially guts the intent of the public purpose. In addition we have an automatic permit approval if the DES does not act within the shortened time frame, which further poses a lot of danger to the protection of our wetlands. In addition right now we should know that the DES is in the process of updating all its wetland rules, and I believe that maybe we should hold off on this bill until those wetland rules are published. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in favor of the bill as amended. I think it's important that everyone understand that the Department of Environmental Services were actively involved in this process and they had agreed to these timelines. And we had testimony that one of the bigger problems here is that getting these permits are just taking way too long. That's why we have a section in there creating what is known as a certified planner. In order to take care of the smaller projects so they can concentrate on the bigger ones. But I think it's important, Mister President to emphasize the Department of Environmental Services were very involved in this process. They agreed on this language and to these deadlines and they testified to that in the public hearing. Thank you very much, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1427-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to the reduction in the calculation of state retirement system annuities at age 65.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Retirement System; Service Retirement Benefits; Reduction Age. Amend RSA 100-A:5, I(b) to read as follows:

(b) Upon service retirement, an employee member or teacher member of group I shall receive a service retirement allowance which shall consist of a member annuity which shall be the actuarial equivalent of the member's accumulated contributions at the time of retirement, and a state annuity. Prior to the member's attainment of [~~age 65~~] the member's full retirement age for Social Security, the state annuity, together with the member annuity, shall be equal to 1/60 of the member's average final compensation multiplied by the number of years of creditable service. After attainment of [~~age 65~~] the member's full retirement age for Social Security, the state annuity, together with the member annuity, shall be equal to 1/66 of the member's average final compensation multiplied by the number of years of creditable service. Provided, however, that a group I member who commenced service on or after July 1, 2011 shall not receive a service retirement allowance until attaining the age of 65; but may receive a reduced allowance after age 60 if the member has at least 30 years of creditable service where the allowance shall be reduced, for each month by which the date on which benefits commence precedes the month after which the member attains 65 years of age, by 1/4 of one percent.

2 Retirement System; Ordinary Disability Retirement Benefits; Reduction Age. Amend RSA 100-A:6, I(b)(1)(A) and (B) to read as follows:

(A) Prior to the member's attainment of [~~age 65~~] the member's full retirement age for Social Security, the state annuity, together with the member annuity, shall be equal to 1/60 of the member's average final compensation at the time of his or her ordinary disability retirement multiplied by the number of years of creditable service at the time of his or her ordinary disability retirement;

(B) After attainment of [~~age 65~~] the member's full retirement age for Social Security, the state annuity, together with the member annuity, shall be equal to 1/66 of the member's average final compensation at the time of his or her ordinary disability retirement multiplied by the number of years of creditable service at the time of his or her ordinary disability retirement;

3 Retirement System; Accidental Disability Retirement Benefits; Reduction Age. Amend RSA 100-A:6, I(d)(1)(A) and (B) to read as follows:

(A) Prior to the member's attainment of [~~age 65~~] the member's full retirement age for Social Security, the state annuity, together with the member annuity, shall be equal to 1/60 of the member's average final compensation at the time of his or her accidental disability retirement multiplied by the number of years of creditable service at the time of his or her accidental disability retirement;

(B) After attainment of [~~age 65~~] the member's full retirement age for Social Security, the state annuity, together with the member annuity, shall be equal to 1/66 of the member's average final compensation at the time of his or her accidental disability retirement multiplied by the number of years of creditable service at the time of his or her accidental disability retirement;

4 Effective Date. This act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill provides for the application of the reduction of a retiree's annuity at the member's full retirement age under the federal Social Security system.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1427-FN Ought to Pass. House Bill 1427 will provide for the application of the reduction of a retiree's annuity at the members full retirement age under the federal social security system. Presently under the retirement system, upon service retirement an employee member shall receive a service retirement allowance consisting of the member's annuity at the time of retirement and a state annuity. This legislation asserts prior to a member's completion of full retirement age for social security, the state annuity together with the member annuity shall be equal to one-sixtieth of the member's average final compensation. After attainment of the member's full retirement age for social security, the state annuity, together with the member annuity, shall be equal to one-sixty-sixth of the member's average final compensation. This legislation was a recommendation which came out of the Decennial Retirement Commission. AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill adds to the membership and extends the commission on primary care workforce issues.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1506-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill will add two additional members to the Commission on Primary Care Workforce and will extend the commission's deadline dates. The additional requested members would include a nurse with experience in primary care who would be appointed by the New Hampshire Nurse Association and addition to a representative of the substance use disorder treatment community appointed by the New Hampshire Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counselors Association. An interim report with a reporting date of November 1st, 2018 will focus on the status of the New Hampshire State Loan Repayment Program and the New Hampshire Division of Public Health Profession Survey. A final report from the commission will be extended to November 1st, 2020. The ED&A Committee voted 4-0 Ought to Pass with Amendment and asks for your support in its recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. There are six words in the Committee Amendment that I take exception to, and that is, amend the bill by replacing all. There was a lot of work done on the underlying bill. It took an email that I got last summer about physicians or MDs, people who graduate from medical school, and are not allowed to practice because they didn't get a match, and if they wanted to practice as a nurse practitioner or even a physician assistant, they would have to go back through school to do that. We worked hard. I contacted one of my physician friends in the House and it took, I think it was three maybe even four times, having a conversation with him to get him to see the benefits of that. In fact, it worked so well in the House that there was I think four or five physicians that have testified on the bill to its advantages. I understand if the Senate is going to take a little time to be convinced. So without further ado I will say that if, whether, the amendment passes or not I have a piece of legislation that at least would change it into a study committee and I'll speak to that at the proper moment.

POINT OF ORDER

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson for a point of order.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. Point of, I don't know, order? I don't know what you want to call it. But I just have a question because we were speaking of the amendment and the good Senator from District 6 was speaking of the bill.

PRESIDENT MORSE: I think he spoke of six words in the amendment.

SENATOR CARSON: Okay, alright. So I want to make sure I speak to the amendment and I guess to the bill as we started talking about it. We had the public hearing, well-attended, only four people spoke in favor of this bill. And I would ask all of you to take a look at the hearing report. There are a lot of problems with this bill. A tremendous amount of problems. In fact in speaking to one of the sponsors of the bill, a House member, he told me he was shocked that it even passed the House. This bill is not ready for prime time and I look forward to the discussion when the good Senator from District 6 brings his amendment forward. Thank you very much.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment.

Floor Amendment to HB 1506-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to the commission on primary care workforce issues, and establishing a committee to study allowing medical school graduates who have not completed residency requirements to work in underserved areas of the state.

Amend the bill by replacing section 4 with the following:

4 Committee Established. There is established a committee to study allowing medical school graduates who have not completed residency requirements to work in underserved areas of the state.

I. The members of the committee shall be as follows:

(a) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

(b) Three members of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

II. Members of the committee shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the committee.

III. The committee's study shall include, but not be limited to:

(a) Studying the issue of allowing medical school graduates who have not completed residency programs (graduate physicians) to work under supervision as physician assistant equivalents or as interns in hospitals in medically underserved areas of the state; including whether the Educational Commission for Foreign Medical Graduates (ECFMG) criteria is sufficient to consider international medical graduates eligible to practice under supervision; whether additional screening is appropriate or whether hospitals and medical groups would sufficiently vet their qualifications; and comparing their clinical training with that of other mid-level providers such as APRNs and physician assistants currently eligible to be licensed in this state.

(b) Oversight of graduate physicians through collaborative practice arrangements with physicians, to include any limitations on the scope of such arrangements and the method and degree of review of the graduate physician's delivery of health care services, including the use of telemedicine and similar measures to provide such review.

(c) The feasibility of providing educational opportunities to these individuals, including the use of distance learning techniques and online interactive conferencing to bring these opportunities to rural areas.

(d) The results of similar efforts in the state of Missouri in 2014, including successes and challenges.

(e) The degree to which services provided by graduate physicians might be eligible for federal reimbursement under Medicare, Medicaid, and other programs.

(f) The cost and potential availability of malpractice insurance for graduate physicians.

(g) Licensure required for graduate physicians, including whether it is reasonable to create a path to licensure as a physician and what period of time, education, testing, or other requirements should be considered for such an alternative path to licensure.

IV. The committee may solicit information from any person or entity the committee deems relevant to its study.

V. The members of the study committee shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the committee shall be called by the senate member. The first meeting of the committee shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Three members of the committee shall constitute a quorum.

VI. The committee shall report its findings and any recommendations for proposed legislation to the president of the senate, the speaker of the house of representatives, the senate clerk, the house clerk, the governor, and the state library on or before November 1, 2018.

5 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill adds to the membership and extends the commission on primary care workforce issues. This bill also establishes a committee to study allowing medical school graduates who have not completed residency requirements to work in underserved areas of the state

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. This bill, recognizes that there are those Senators who believe that this issue of graduate physicians needs additional work. And so instead of just throwing all the work that we did away, we would like to have a study committee, one member of the Senate, three members of the House, etcetera, you can read it. It's pretty much a standard bill. There is a number of things that were brought up in both the House hearings and the Senate hearings, for things that they would like to see improved from various stakeholders who had input. Understand that due to the exigencies of other things going on there was not a large amount of support at the committee hearing for the bill. But I can say that about many of the bills that we've been hearing today. Right now, I've heard one of the Senators say that the things that this bill would say that we should go study are not the right things to study. Well, I'm surprised at that because those are the things that the people who testified against the bill said need to be resolved. And since I would imagine that the Senate President might pick that one member of this committee and it might fall into my workload that the other Senators wouldn't have to be bothered by the inconvenience of going to these meetings. So with that, I would ask you to support the amendment establishing the study committee. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Thank you, Senator Gray. I just was made aware of something, and I think you should know that as everyone's in and out of the room. you barely passed the Committee Amendment because under Senate rules, ten people have to vote in favor of anything. So, it's in the Constitution. So, the reality of going in and out of the room could have been a different vote.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Mister President. I rise to speak against this amendment. In looking it over, I find it very troublesome in a number of different areas and I would like to applaud the good Senator from District 6 for his attempt. But I think the first problem right away is you're having legislators do this. This needs to be done by the professionals. And again, I draw your attention to the hearing report. Almost every single entity that deals with medicine came in to testify against this bill. So now you're going to have, you have one member of the Senate and three members of the House working on this without having the medical professionals at the table. Yes, they can call on them, you can come in, you can give testimony. But this really needs to be a commission and not a committee.

I would like to bring your attention to line 20 on page 1. They're looking, they're talking about folks that did not complete residency programs, and they're calling the graduate physicians, to work under the supervision as a physician assistant equivalent, or interns. We already have physician's assistants. We already have interns. So this was part of the problem with the bill. This is something that's completely new and it hasn't really been defined here. So what are these folks going to be? In the bill, the original bill, they were referred to as assistant physician's assistants. Well, that's confusing because we already have physician's assistants, we already have qualifications for their education. So how are these folks going to fit in? I'd also like to draw your attention on the second page. It begins on line 1, the similar efforts, the results of similar efforts in the state of Missouri. We already know what those are, because they were testified to during the public hearing. They passed it but no one has taken advantage of it since 2014. The third line, the degree to which services provided by graduate physicians might be eligible for federal reimbursement. We already had testimony that they're not eligible. So if we get these folks up and running, how are they going to get reimbursed for their services? Well the one that I find really interesting is on line 6. Licensure required for graduate physicians including whether it is reasonable to create a path to licensure as a physician. So the state is now going to be providing a separate license for someone who went through medical school, but for whatever reason never did a residency or internship, and we're going to certify them as physicians? How is that going to work, ladies and gentlemen? And furthermore, what period of time, education, testing, or other requirements as an alternative path to licensure. These are people that are going to be out there treating our citizens. There has to be a degree of safety involved here. This is why I just don't think this is ready for prime time. And the committee believed that it wasn't ready for prime time and when I spoke to the bill's sponsor, I talked to him, and we discussed the fact that this was not ready for prime time.

If you're going to do this, it needs a commission and you need to get everybody to the table, not legislators. We are not physicians, although we do have physicians over in the House, who think this is a great idea. But I just think it's interesting everybody else within their industry thinks it's a terrible idea. I have some difficulty with saying we're going to put these quasi-physicians in our state's rural areas. I, don't the people that live in our rural areas deserve the very best care? I believe they do, and that is one reason why I brought the amendment forward with the workforce commission that's doing all of this work. They are actively working on getting physicians to come to the state of New Hampshire, and we need to continue to do that. But I think this is a step in the wrong direction. I think it's opening us up to a lot of problems. Yes, Missouri did this, but nobody's taken advantage of it. So we need to proceed very carefully.If the Senator from District 6 would like to amend this to make this a big commission, I would support that. Because then you do have the professionals at the table. Having and being a part of the discussion. But as it is right now, I don't believe this accomplishes what the good Senator from District 6 would like to do. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of this amendment. You know, you're worried about maybe getting substandard treatment, we don't have any treatment up in the North Country. We're desperate for doctors and nurses, okay? And I don't think that a study impinges any negativity on safety. I think that a committee is perfectly capable of inviting the Board of Licensure who would set the standards for this. This is an exploration, this isn't establishing it, this is exploring it. And we are in such desperate need of doctors in the North Country that while you may enjoy them down in the southern third of the state, the northern two-thirds of New Hampshire needs doctors, and nurses, and physician's assistant's etcetera. So I support this because I think that legislators are capable of framing the questions and of inviting to the table the agencies and the medical societies and so forth who will be involved in shaping whatever might come out of this. And for that reason, Mister President, because of the desperate shortage of physicians in the North Country, I support this bill. Thank you.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for an introduction.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to introduce a remarkable community of citizens from my district who are here visiting today from Woodlands Independent Living Retirement Community, a beautiful, wonderful place to live. Welcome.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR GANNON: Did we not hear, if you can help my recollection, I'm getting old. Did we not hear in testimony from the hospitals up north that there was no desperate need that they were fine at the moment and the desperation was an illusion? Did we not hear that?

SENATOR CARSON: Senator, yes, we did. Thank you very much.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in support of the amendment and for those who have not been here for a long period of time, I can't remember a year, except maybe this year, where we didn't have an initiative to try and bring more medical staff to the North Country. We spent four years talking about the need for dentists, we've spent I think it was $20 million from the Charitable Pew Foundation about four years ago in an offer to try and set up rural dentists up north. For any of you who have not had that opportunity to drive up north and get in a car accident or a snowmobile accident or get hurt hiking in the woods, I encourage you go do that. And maybe when you're lying in the woods, like a bunch of people are with no medical care, you too might say to yourself, boy it'd be nice to have a doctor within a couple three hours. As I read this, this is a commission, this is a committee, my apologies it's a relative to a commission but it's a committee, to ask the question, to bring way too many Senators and probably not enough House Reps, so we probably need a Floor Amendment Mister President, and move that down to one, because I do not want to serve on it, to ask the question, what's more important, some medical care or no medical care? Today we have volunteer people volunteers, volunteers manning the ambulances and first responders in the North Country with people with an EMT card going out into the woods to haul people off who have had heart attacks and truly traumatic injuries. Isn't some care better than no care? Shouldn't we ask the question? So for all of you who go to the North Country, for those of you who do not go the North Country, but send your constituents up there, I would recommend you might want to support at least asking questions, should there be some care and if so, what do we need for a minimum standard? I think it's a very reasonable question. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: I have an answer for you. The answer is, saying it does not make it so. There is not a shortage. I have actually talked to probably twenty, I was so appalled by this, I talked to about twenty different physicians about what they thought about it. I happen to have some people in my family who have been through the educational process to become doctors. People do not match. But I'll tell you almost every medical school in the country finds a way to get them into an internship program somewhere. There's something called scramble, where they, people are, the opportunities around the state, around the country where people did not match the hospitals didn't match, didn't get a student. They open themselves up and you find a place for them. The other answer to the question, well first of all the answer to the question from my perspective is, if you don't match there's a reason, and there are things to do for a year. Granted it may be the first time these particular people have failed at anything in their lives, but it's not bad for them to do that. They go out, they get a masters is public health, they work in a lab. But here's the other thing, I don't want just anybody as a physician, I mean when you say is just a volunteer better than, or just somebody with no training better than the doctor? No. I mean, no it's not. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Ward.)

SENATOR WARD: Thank you, Mister President. I agree with the Senator from District 14. I have worked with medical students, interns, residents and I have to say that most of them have a lot to learn. They have some academic understanding, but that doesn't mean that they can go out and actually practice. And I think what we need to be very concerned about is that, yes, they can do something but are you sure that they're going to do the right thing. I mean the mottos is, above all, do no harm. And I think some of them might do more harm so I would think that we should have a group of professionals really looking into this issue, and it's probably not the best thing for legislators. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. With all due respect to the hospitals and the physicians, they have a vested interest in the failure of this bill. It's called money. This represents a challenge to the level of services; they don't want to expand or even consider the possibility that maybe there is a better differently. Nurses have gone through this for decades. Registered nurse now LPNs and RNs and RNA all manner of nursing and the doctors have fought like crazy to stop it. But it makes our health care system better, okay? So this bill doesn't put anybody in a clinic, it doesn't put anybody in a hospital, it doesn't establish a practice, it merely says, let's look at it, let's study it. And for this body to say no, we don't want to even study it, I think betrays the interests of the people we serve particularly in rural areas. And I think as well, that I would challenge the assertion of the Hospital Association and the doctors whose vested interests are gored by this bill, potentially. In saying there's not a shortage of doctors in the North Country where I live because there's most definitely is. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. This is certainly sympathetic to medical school graduates who have not yet completed their residency, looking for work and certainly sympathetic to the issues about finding folks perhaps in under-served areas to help deliver health care services. The reality Mister President, is we have a commission. It's the Commission on Primary Workforce Issues. And this commission has looked at these issues among other issues. And certainly you can tee it up, it's a broad based commission, it's not legislator only. So instead of forming as my friend from Bedford always warrants, let's not create too many of these committees and commissions. Let's focus in on the ones that are doing the work. Well, I use that argument here. The one that's doing the work is the Commission on Primary Care Workforce. And let's respect the work they're doing, it's a broad based commission. And certainly anybody in this chamber can tee it up for that commission to start having these conversations. It's a broad based commission with stakeholders, and people on different points of view on that commission, and certainly that's the avenue to do it rather than creating another committee and this time only with legislators. So I would encourage us to votes this down. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I look at this debate as a good thing, okay? And when I looked at the comments from the good Senator from Senate District 14, I think there was a lot of positive comments also. They would be difficult to answer if I were trying to pass the bill. I don't have all those answers to the things that she asked about. But I do know that we can study this stuff, that those are the things that we need to go look at. I have gotten a call from the Commission on Primary Care saying we're going to start looking at some of these things anyway so help us, okay? Whether this committee gets passed or not, we will try to push this forward because we believe in it. We believe in it. But the prime sponsor of this bill is a medical doctor. And I am sure that we will try to recruit from those House members other physicians who testified both in the committee and on the floor of the House in favor of this, to give us some of that, and to weigh that and talk to the commission I should say on primary care to do that. The only thing I'm missing right now is thirteen yes votes. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I'd just like to bring to everyone's attention the testimony of a physician who is a retired medical oncologist. He moved to the Dean's office at Dartmouth Medical School in 1985. And what he said I think is something that we really need to consider. Because we're talking about individuals who have graduated from medical school and who perhaps for whatever reason didn't get matched with a residency. And he said, medical school is not so good in training people in primary care, but what they are good at is training for in hospital care. They are also not good at training people to be out in the community and take good care of patients. And I want you to think about that for a second and think about the discussion that we have had on the floor this morning. I would agree with, or this afternoon, my good friend from Senate District 6. I do think that there is some merit, and I do think there might be a path here. But this is very premature. We really need to sit down in a commission with members of the medical field and work through this problem and you might not be able to get there. But I don't believe that a group of five legislators are going to be able to solve this problem. It really needs to be the individuals that are in the medical field. Thank you very much, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Sanborn, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Gray, French, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Cavanaugh.

The following Senators voted No: Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Ward, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators were excused: Kahn, Soucy.

Roll Call, Yeas: 8 - Nays: 14. Failed.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1623, relative to criteria for debarment of vendors.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Carson for the committee.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1623 Ought to Pass. This bill adds additional criteria for debarment of vendors, which includes wage theft, violations of felony level safe workplace practices, and misclassification of employees as grounds for debarment of a vendor on a state contract. If the contractor were found in violation of any of the aforementioned criteria over a two year look back period it would prohibit the state of New Hampshire from acceptance of a bid from that particular contractor. The ED&A Committee voted Ought to Pass and asks for your support in their recommendation. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you for taking my question. I'm with you on some of the bad stuff, but I'm struggling with this concept that just because someone has been misclassified, that they should be banned, so if I'm not sure if the language in the legislation means something else or could you enlighten me to what the misclassification leading to disbarment for two years really means?

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you for your question, Senator. We talked about the misclassification of employees. Usually it has to do with subcontractors where instead of having the employees that actually work for them that they're bringing in other people to work as subcontractors and I think you know that there have been instances here in the state of New Hampshire with the state as the employer and putting bids out for RFDs, RIPs or whatever they're called, that they bring in folks that quite frankly should not be working here, that are not citizens I should say. And this would be a reason to disbar them.

SENATOR SANBORN: So you're suggesting that misclassification is specifically about organizations that are hiring workers who are not legally allowed to work here?

SENATOR CARSON: That would be a big part of it, yes.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1624, relative to state procurement practices and criteria for acceptance of bids.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I may or may not have a conflict, but I am going to participate as I am a subcontractor in New Hampshire, who bids on New Hampshire jobs. I move House Bill 1624 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill would require the state to consider the wages and benefits paid by the vendor when evaluation qualified lowest bids from vendors located in New Hampshire. When qualified lowest bids, proposals, or quotations are received at the same price for more than one vendor with a principal place of business in New Hampshire, selection would be made by comparison of employee wages, benefits of the qualified vendors, with preference given to a vendor who pays the higher wages and more benefits. After hearing testimony the ED&A Committee, members felt the selection process should and is presently much simpler having this requested from a business presenting a bid to the state. We are asking businesses to open up their payroll books and possibly anything else which may not have been required at the time of the bid. The ED&A Committee voted Inexpedient to Legislate and asks for your support in their recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President I rise respectfully in opposition to the committee recommendation. This deals with a fairly limited situation where there's identical qualified low bids and all it does, is what's the tie breaker. Rather that drawing lots, which is the existing law, let's create some preference here in that tie breaker when there's identical low bids for a job. For the tie breaker here in terms of granting a preference is if the vendor has higher wages or benefits. This is state money, it's our contracting, it's the state's money contracting going out to these vendors. If it's the same bid all else being equal, and one vendor pays higher wages or benefits, it makes good sense to grant that as a preference. It makes good sense for the state of New Hampshire especially when both businesses as required by this provision are located in New Hampshire if they're paying higher wages or benefits, those employees are spending more wages in our community. That's state money, more wages in our community, more money in the state kept in the state, state taxpayer dollars. So I'd encourage us to vote down the committee recommendation of ITL. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Cavanaugh.)

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Thank you, Mister President. In the committee hearing I did support the ITL but I ask you to overturn that. The reason I had questions in the committee, my brother-in-law who is a contractor, we have lively discussions all the time because he's also a Republican, he had questions about it so I supported the ITL. But I went back and I asked him what he thought about it and specifically the wages and benefits and his response to me was I'm proud of what I pay my people and the benefits I offer. So that's the reason I'm asking to overturn the ITL and support this bill. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the ITL. This is a union bill, let's put it right where it is. They negotiates contracts with benefits that private contractors who are startups generally can't afford. Okay? So in the interest of promoting new and upcoming businesses, I think we draw lots and leave it to chance because the product at the end of the day will be less costly perhaps, and will actually foster more competition in the state from private businesses that choose not to be union. Thank you.

HB 1684, relative to criminal background checks for emergency medical services license applicants.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Cavanaugh for the committee.

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1684 Ought to Pass. This legislation modifies the requirement for a criminal history background check for applicants for emergency medical services, licensure or re-licensure by removing certain procedural requirements and exempting persons employed of law enforcement officers. In 2016 the legislature passed House Bill 1594 instituting federal background checks for EMS providers. This legislation takes out specific language which was initially placed within the bill after working with customers on making the process more efficient, they found specific procedural steps and a lot as cumbersome and inefficient. Therefore they are requesting to remove some very specific steps while maintaining their purpose and goals. The bill additionally exempts certified law enforcement officers of having a duplicate federal background check to be licensed by the Division of Fire Standards and Training and Emergency Medical Services. In creating a naloxone license, certified law enforcement officers were required to undergo a federal background check as a condition of certification and employment. This check was already completed and therefore is redundant. The ED&A Committee voted Ought to Pass and asks for your support in their recommendation. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1738

Amend the bill by replacing section 8 with the following:

8 Transfer of Funding for the Position of Director of Film and Digital Media. Upon transfer of the accounting unit to the department of business and economic affairs, the budget appropriations shall be transferred from class 11 to class 10.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1738 Ought to Pass with Amendment. If we say, "action," this bill is amended to transfer the Division of Film and Digital Media from the Department of Natural and Cultural Resources to the Department of Business and Economic Affairs Division of Travel and Tourism Development. And we will say, "Roll 'Em" to increase tourism and development. I'm on a roll. The Division of Film and Digital Media primary function is an industry liaison promoting the state as a destination. The division would best be aligned as a bureau within the Division of Travel and Tourism Development. Upon examination of best practices across the country, 90 percent of state film offices are now located within the Department of Economic Development or Tourism. The Department of Administrative Services recommended amendment language to assure the smooth transition of transfer of budget appropriations. The ED&A Committee voted Ought to Pass with Amendment and asks you to say, "Roll Em" in your support for their recommendations. Thank you, Mister President.

FINANCE
HB 1315, prohibiting the university system funds from being spent to oppose the formation of unions and collective bargaining units.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-2. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1315 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill sought to protect the University System of New Hampshire from using university funds to discourage an employee from becoming a member of any group or organization which already exists in law. Their expanding to exercise to expand this to their right of association by joining a labor union. As RSA 275:1 of the labor statutes already prohibits the coercion or attempted coercion of any individual not to join or become a member of any labor organization as a condition of securing or continuing employment, the committee deemed this bill unnecessary. The Senate Finance Committee recommends House Bill 1315 be found Inexpedient to Legislate and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Cavanaugh.)

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Thank you, Mister President. While I disagree with my Senator from District 2 about the previous bill being a union bill, well this one is, I have to admit that. But the question I ask is that the coercion I do understand is in law, we're just asking the university system, the funds that we send to them not be used that way, and if people choose to join a union do that but don't use the funds we send the university system to anything but help educate the children. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill makes the speaker of the house of representatives and senate president permanent members of the university system board of trustees.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1354 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill would make the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Senate President permanent, this is wrong, permanent non-voting members of the University System Board of Trustees. Committee members felt that giving these two members, I think the amendment changed that. I felt that giving these two members responsibilities would give rise to an inherent conflict of interest between the role of an elected public official and member of the board of trustees. The committee amended the bill, excuse me, the committee amended the bill to keep these two members as non-voting members and to continue their positions on the board of trustees which has assisted in establishing a solid relationship between the university and the legislature. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of HB 1354 as amended and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1401 Ought to Pass. The bill makes various changes to the regulation of accountants by the Board of Accountancy related to the update of the Uniform Accountancy Act. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of HB 1401, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1807-FN, relative to exploitation of elderly, disabled, or impaired adults and establishing a protective order for vulnerable adults.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for an introduction.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Yes, thank you very much, Mister President. I'd like to welcome this afternoon, the UNH Business and Economics students. We're delighted to have you here and glad to have you observing the Senate. Welcome.

JUDICIARY
HB 134-FN, relative to causes for divorce.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator French for the committee.

Senator Bradley moved to Lay on the Table HB 134-FN. Adopted.

HB 1283, prohibiting sobriety checkpoints.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-1. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1283 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill would prohibit law enforcement agencies from conducting sobriety checkpoints in New Hampshire. Over the past nine years, there have been 399 deaths in New Hampshire alone, 399 that are the result of an impaired driving accident. Many of these deaths are not just the result of alcohol induced impairment, but drug induced impairment as well. Sobriety checkpoints are an important tool in the bag for law enforcement to not only catch drunk drivers or impaired drivers, but more importantly, and this is the main thing, Sir, it is used as a deterrent. Sobriety checkpoints involve significant media messaging throughout the community, which highlight the importance of safe driving and lets the public know that law enforcement is out tonight and they are actively seeking impaired drivers. Most importantly these checkpoints, they only take thirty seconds on average in New Hampshire, after the law enforcement receives, first they receive approval from a judge, prior to receiving approval, the agency must provide the judge with the location, the date and time of the checkpoint. The pattern of cars they'll stop and an operations plan. These are great safeguards. They ensure the constitutional rights of all are protected and that profiling does not take place at these checkpoints. As New Hampshire continues to struggle with the opioid crisis, and impaired driving remains a concern it is important to not only focus on the number of arrests that take place at these checkpoints, but to recognize their true intent again deterrents, deterrents, deterrents. Therefore the majority of Judiciary asks for your support in the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate on 1283. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I'm asking this body to overturn that recommendation of ITL so I can bring forward a motion of Ought to Pass. This is a very simple bill. Either you believe needing probable cause is a good protection for the citizens of the state, or you don't. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: That was short.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: I won't be quite as short. Thank you, Mister President. I met Pauline and Bill Church about three or four weeks ago. Miss Church is the head of Mothers Against Drunk Driving. She has met hundreds and hundreds of other mothers who've been through this horrible ordeal of losing a child and it's all for a thirty second checkpoint. I don't mind giving thirty seconds. I've been probably in two checkpoints I think in my life. I don't mind the thirty seconds if it saves one life. And you don't know, that's the problem with this. Mister French is going to come, Senator French, will come forward and say, that it's only stopped 1 percent of the drivers are drunk, but it's a deterrent, it's the good Senator from District I believe he's 9, he runs a business, we talked yesterday he said the days that they do these road blocks, my business dies. He runs a bar establishment, so people are not driving out on the road. The cost will be brought up; there is no cost, there were six roadblocks in New Hampshire run by the state police last year. No local money, no state money was spent. It's federal money, so it costs nothing to you.

Again, I met that Mrs. Church and she said, Senator Gannon if only a roadblock had been out that night, I could have my son back, possibly. Or another son and maybe it was my son that would have died if there wasn't a roadblock at another night or someone else's family member. It's a very small, small thirty seconds of your life. And the police are not looking to get you, the police are looking to help us. Let's help the police. They all came in, the state police, they said this is one tool we use. There are other ways, there are other things to do but this is a tool they feel it works for them, let's not deprive our good officers from what they say helps them. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I'd just like to echo the words of my colleague from Senate District 23. These sobriety checkpoints do, do a good job. It might inconvenience you for a few moments, but is that better than a random stop? The sobriety checkpoints are made by law have to be noticed. You have to tell people that there's going to be a sobriety checkpoint at point, you know, at this particular location. So if you don't want to be stopped, guess what, don't go through that area. The other thing too to remember is, it is a tool and the other tool that they have is something that's called saturation, where the police will saturate one particular area. That is extremely expensive to do. So who here wants to pay for more police officers and more police cars in order for that to happen? I know I don't. So please join with me and join with the committee in voting Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1283. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Six roadblocks, how many DUIs were caught from those, do you know?

SENATOR GANNON. It may be twenty but again the main use of this is deterrence, and so my son knows when I tell him there's roadblocks out tonight, when the people at Hampton know there's roadblocks, they're much less apt to drive impaired.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise against the motion of ITL and ask this body how many of you read the Seacoast Online this morning? Show of hands? One, maybe two, maybe three. So there's a roadblock in Portsmouth, and they post it on Seacoast Online, but three out of twenty-four read it, and we are supposed to be the informed part of the state. We're supposed to read all the newspapers every day so we know what's going on. Just because it shows up in a newspaper does not mean that the community knows about it. And quite frankly, just because they have to report it to the newspaper should tell us something. I mean at this point less than 1 percent, to answer your question Senator Giuda, less than 1 percent of the traffic stops result in anything. Less than 1 percent. We know in testimony, we know in statements, we know in articles all across the land, and I apologize because I built a nice little folder which I forgot to bring, with statements from state police, saying it would be so much better for us to take this money and use it to do actual patrols, and get out and do what we're supposed to do. As opposed to putting an ad in the paper, setting up a bunch of people, blocking off one road. My good friend from District number 23, when he tells his kids, I know you're out there drinking and driving, which he just said but be careful, there's a roadblock tonight. When you're out drinking and driving young man, or young woman, there will be a roadblock tonight but don't drive on that road, that road. Well how about all the other roads? How about all the circumvential roads that go in every single community because we are no longer a horse and buggy town, that these roads, lots of roads in every single town. And for someone to sit there and suggest this is a deterrent, that we're going to close down one road in a community, one of 237 or 38 whatever the number is, and that all by itself is going to dissuade people from drinking and driving. Look, we have a lot of programs in this state, Mister President that you hear me say on a regular basis, seem to spend a lot of money and don't produce a lot of results, but today seems to be one of them. So we have an opportunity here to actually join our friends on the other side of the wall, maybe get a little bit of good will since we're killing everything else we've done all year, and come to this conclusion that this is not money that's well spent. And if we're hearing specifically from men and women in blue, green, and gray that they could better utilize the money in other programs, we should probably support that. So I ask people to overturn the ITL and let America be free. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I just would like to reiterate, the testimony that we have from the men and women in blue, they did not support prohibiting checkpoints. So I want to make that very clear that the folks that came in and spoke with us. We also heard about less than 1 percent of people get caught. But how many lives were saved within that less than 1 percent? And I think that's what we need to think about. There has been an ongoing campaign for many years by the Mothers Against Drunk Driving to bring awareness to this issue. I remember when I was a child, seeing adults driving with an open container. And it was fine, nobody said anything about it, it was pretty common. People would go driving down the road with a beer in their hand. But we've realized over time that that was inappropriate and people should not be driving impaired. So again, people, we've heard testimony that we can spend the money a better way. Well what better way? And I've already brought up the other tool that's used by police; saturation patrols. Where you concentrate them all in one area. But that is expensive. If we get rid of sobriety checkpoints, we're going to lose federal money. So let me ask you, who's going to pay for this? Who's going to pay for it? I don't see anybody in this room volunteering. So Mister President, thank you very much. I will just ask the body to please vote with the committee and Inexpedient to Legislate. Thank you very much.

Senator Bradley presiding.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, I'll be brief as I've already spoken. The good Senator from 14 did bring out again, the Senator from 10 did not realize again, the Office of Highway Safety is paying for this. We don't take that money for roadblocks, we don't get the money, so it's not like you it's having state money to go to somewhere else. That money will not come to the state of New Hampshire. Three other points; the Center for Disease Control reviewed eleven studies and they found checkpoints reduce the alcohol related fatalities, injuries and property damage by 20 percent with the use of roadblocks. Each year one million people are arrested for drunk driving. This costs the country $132 billion. Each crash and arrest costs approximately $132,000 taking into account law enforcement, fire department, ambulances, investigations, prosecutions, courts, incarcerations, damages, hospitals, and funerals, and again it's a thirty second inconvenience that could save someone's life. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Speak for a second time, just for the record, Mister President. If it wasn't brought up before, if I missed the conversations from my good friend from District 1 or 2 or others. We know that fourteen states in America don't require this. It's not like we're going to be the only ones. Fourteen other states in America do not use DWI stops. And although I do not support it, I must say for the record that having an open container doesn't make you impaired. Being impaired is being impaired, because we know that the state that my good friend from District number 19 drives through on a regular basis, Virginia, I think has an open container law that allows it and I think Texas does as well, not suggesting she's actually driving through Virginia with an open container. I'd never make that suggestion. But at the end of the day, look, this a program which in full disclosure, I guess, I must have to say at this point Mister President, that I am a licensee so I think I probably have a little more experience than frankly everyone in the room combined when it comes to staying up late and watching people drive. And I have personally had direct conversations with men and women in blue that, fact I can't remember a single one of them actually ever saying it was a good use of their time, that they could be doing many other things. But look ladies and gentlemen, at the end of the day, spending money to close off one road, to funnel everyone in that can take a half hour, forty minutes doesn't solve our problem. It may have been a great attempt, just like Nancy Reagan's Just Say No campaign, and I hope to God that it worked, but the proof's not in the pudding in this case. Less than 1 percent. Less than 1 percent. That should tell us something. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you Senator, for taking the question. Do these checkpoints do you believe create a situation where our most vulnerable, particularly, I don't know immigrants, people that may not look like all of us, may not have the skills, the resources, the language, would they be more susceptible to these kinds of attacks with their other activities, whether it be you know immigration papers, you know minor possession of marijuana, other types of you know car inspections, things like that? Would this open that up to more scrutiny in our society?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. Well at the top line level I would personally say that I do not believe that any of our men and women in our state do any profiling whatsoever. So I would not believe that it would disadvantage those who might not have significant means or different types of background, so respectfully I would reject that premise. And number two, it is my understanding in the research that I have done, that in many states, there is a specific prohibition of what some would suggest to be fishing for other potential violations to give out. Now that's not to say that it happens or it doesn't happen, but in general I think these traffic stops are not there to catch people without registrations, they're not there to catch people with bald tires, they're not there to catch people who may have a visa or not have a visa. It is supposed to be solely and specifically for driving impaired. Now whether or not that happens or not, we can all guess on that, few of us having been through one. Which is why I feel again so strongly that if this is solely happening for, you know, try to dissuade people to drink and drive, that unless we put a roadblock on every single road in every single community, every single night it's not going, as I say, the juice is not worth the squeeze.

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you.

HB 1316-FN, relative to revenue collected from concealed carry licenses. Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1316-FN Ought to Pass. This bill requires a portion of revenues collected from concealed carry permits to be credited to the Permits and Licensing Unit. Presently, the Permits and Licensing Unit and the Criminal Record Units are both funded from fees collected from criminal records requests. As the demands for these checks have increased, the current funding scheme has become insufficient. Therefore, this bill addresses that issue by requesting 400,000 from the fees collected from concealed carry permits for out-of-state individuals to be reallocated to Permits and Licensing, allowing Criminal Records to fund Criminal Records and Permits and Licensing to fund Permits and Licensing. These funds collected for those permits generally total over $1 million annually and are placed in the General Revenue. Allocating these funds will not only assist in diminishing the amount of time it takes to get a background check, but it will also allow the Criminal Records Unit to maintain their software and equipment at levels necessary for solvency in the terms of technology and security. For these reasons, please join the majority of the Judiciary Committee in support of the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1316-FN. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

HB 1357, relative to the delivery of articles to a prisoner in a state or county correctional facility.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1357 Ought to Pass. This bill permits the Commissioner of the Department of Corrections and the superintendent of a county correctional facility to appoint a designee to manage issues relating to the delivery of prohibited articles to prisoners. By providing for the opportunity for a designee to appear on behalf of the commissioner or a superintendent in court and state that something is contraband, it frees up the commissioner and superintendents to attend to more critical duties. Therefore, please support the majority of the Judiciary Committee in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1357. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1661

Amend RSA 457:6, III as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

III. As part of the decision making process, the court may conduct an in camera interview of each person under the age of consent, without that person's parent or guardian or the other party to the marriage present.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1661 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill provides that the court shall not grant permission for a person under the age of consent to marry unless the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that the marriage is in his or her best interest and enshrines criteria by which to make that determination. The criteria provided to judges within this bill include, ensuring the marriage is not going to be used as an escape from the troubled family, allowing judges the discretion to have each person seeking to be married to sit alone with the judge for an interview to ensure that coercive action is not being used, and requires that the marriage be in the minor's best interest. In the instances of these marriages it is necessary to take extra precautions to ensure that coercion is not taking place and that the marriage will truly be in the best interest of the minor due to the young and impressionable ages of those involved. Therefore, the Judiciary Committee asks you to support the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment of this bill. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1753-FN

Amend RSA 265-A:45, I-II as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing them with the following:

I. Notwithstanding RSA 265-A:44, II, no driver under the age of 21 shall, except when accompanied by a parent, stepparent, legal guardian, grandparent, or legal age spouse, domestic partner, or sibling, transport any liquor or beverage in any part of a vehicle. A driver violating this section may have his or her license or privilege to drive suspended for 60 days.

II. No person operating a boat while under the age of 21 shall, except when accompanied by a parent, stepparent, legal guardian, grandparent, or legal age spouse, domestic partner, or sibling, transport any liquor or beverage in any part of a boat with an intent to consume such liquor or beverage. Anyone violating this paragraph may, following a hearing, have his or her privilege to operate a boat on the waters of the state suspended for 90 days and may additionally have his or her license or privilege to drive suspended for 90 days.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1753-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill allows minors to transport alcoholic beverages in a vehicle or boat when accompanied by certain family members. Currently, minors are able to transport alcohol if their parent, legal guardian, or legal age spouse is also in the vehicle. This bill will also add stepparents, grandparents, legal age domestic partners, and siblings of a legal age to the acceptable and legal chaperones to a person under 21 years of age who is transporting alcoholic beverages by car or boat. This is a simple and common sense bill that retains protections from abuse while appropriately expanding the reasonable exemption for family members. Therefore, the majority of the Judiciary Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1753-FN. Thank you very much, Mister President.

Amend RSA 91-A:4, IV as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

IV. Each public body or agency shall, upon request for any governmental record reasonably described, make available for inspection and copying any such governmental record within its files when such records are immediately available for such release. If a public body or agency is unable to make a governmental record available for immediate inspection and copying, it shall, within 5 business days of request, make such record available, deny the request in writing with reasons, or furnish written acknowledgment of the receipt of the request and a statement of the time reasonably necessary to determine whether the request shall be granted or denied. If a computer, photocopying machine, or other device maintained for use by a public body or agency is used by the public body or agency to copy the governmental record requested, the person requesting the copy may be charged the actual cost of providing the copy of a standard page, not to exceed 10 cents per page, which cost may be collected by the public body or agency. No fee shall be charged for the inspection or delivery, without copying, of governmental records, whether in paper, electronic, or other form. Nothing in this section shall exempt any person from paying fees otherwise established by law for obtaining copies of governmental records or documents, but if such fee is established for the copy, no additional costs or fees shall be charged.

Currently one notary may administer an oath with a justice of the peace. Passage of the bill will allow 2 notaries to administer the oath independent of another official. AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Permits a municipality to waive the yield tax on land owned by the municipality.

II. Provides that, unless a bond has been required, a supplemental notice to cut shall not be required when the total volume of the cut is not more than 25 percent of the volume reported in the notice of intent to cut.

III. Requires the municipality to provide public notice of an intent to cut before it is signed by assessing officials.

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you very much, Mister President. I move House Bill 1473-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill as amended allows municipalities to waive the Timber Yield Tax on land owned by the municipalities. Currently, loggers must submit a supplemental notice when the volume reported in the notice of intent to cut is exceeded. This legislation provides that a notice shall not be required if the cut does not exceed 25 percent of the predetermined volume. Additionally, this bill will require municipalities to provide public notice of intent to cut without having to wait for an assessing official to sign the notice. The committee felt that these adjustments provided a smoother process between the municipalities and the logging industry, as well as greater transparency to the public. I ask you to accept the committee recommendation of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1484, relative to late fees in manufactured housing parks.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1484 Ought to Pass. This bill prohibits manufactured housing parks from charging a late fee for payments made within seven days of the due date. Many homeowners in these parks are seniors living on a fixed social security income which means a $25 late fee can have a huge impact. This grace period would allow the flexibility needed for recipients of that income which for many does not arrive until after the 3rd of the month. The homeowners in these parks are renting the land where their homes are located. Many of these homes have attached garages and porches, making it difficult for them to move their homes if expenses become too restrictive. The committee found that this bill is an added protection for seniors and low income residents in New Hampshire. I ask that you please support the committee recommendation of Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator French for a question of Senator Gray.)

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you for taking my question. I always say either everyone's on the bus, or no one's on the bus. So I ask you why isn't this extended to all apartments throughout the state and not just mobile homes?

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you for the question. The committee had testimony that in these situations in the mobile home parks, many of these individuals actually own the home that they're living in and have made improvements to that property and therefore it's different than just renting an apartment which the landlord owns.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise based on our current ethics laws, have interests in mobile home parks, but I'm clearly still participating and I second what my friend from Laconia asked, this doesn't have anything to do with whether or not you rent a mobile home on owned land or on your own land. What happens if you have a mortgage on your property? We're not sitting here trying to pass a law that says if you have a mortgage on your home property that we're going to prohibit the bank from charging you a late fee. We're not sitting here talking about car loans, we're not sitting talking about student loans, we're not talking about anything except this one universe.

Why can't we let the business community be the business community ladies and gentlemen? Why is it every single week, every single week, we're in here trying to tell the business community that they're failures, we just try to tell them how to live their lives, we've got to tell them how to run their companies. There's this little thing called you know, contracting. Last time I checked there were even attorneys in the room. That you're two willing people who enter into a contract. They enter into a contract that says you will perform and if you don't there will be penalties. And yet we think you want to stand here today and change that deal, that we want to circumvent every contract we have out there, that the two people that entered into this agreement to pay on time, that the state legislature wants to come in and say, we're not going to respect the opinion, we're not going to respect the arrangement, we're not going to respect the contract, we're not going to respect landlords and property owners, but we'll respect the banks, we'll respect installment loan companies. Several of us say, Mister President, seems like every single week that we're in here asking why are we, why is this body telling the business community how to run? What do you think the business community's saying about us? I would implore this body to start really thinking about how far we want to be wedging into telling people how to live their life every day. This isn't freedom, this isn't the right for two people with contract. This is ridiculous. I hope you vote against it. Thank you, Mister President.

HB 1579-FN, requiring records to be kept for certain exempt convenings under the right-to-know law.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1579-FN Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill would require municipalities to keep records for certain exempt non-meetings under the right-to-know law. These meetings would include collective bargaining negotiations, consultations with legal counsel, or political party caucuses. The original purpose of exempting these non-meetings from right-to-know is the confidential nature of the discussions. Allowing the public to know certain details of these discussions may have unintended consequences. For instance, the municipality's strategy on collective bargaining would be eligible to the right-to-know and the other parties' strategies would not. Therefore, giving the municipality a disadvantage in negotiations. The committee also found that the additional administrative costs for the municipalities would create an unfunded mandate should this bill pass. I ask that you please support the committee recommendation of Inexpedient to Legislate. Thank you, Mister President.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I ask for unanimous consent, and I just wanted to rise to say to my colleagues that it's great to be back, I think, and I just want to thank you all for your good wishes, your cards, the beautiful flowers from Senate Transportation, and particularly for your prayers. So, thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to honor a distinguished statesman in our state who passed recently, and was a constituent of mine. I did not know him, but I would ask the President's indulgence in allowing the Dean of the Senate, who did know and worked with him, to honor him with his remarks.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. The President and I attended Stewart Lamprey's services that were held in Meredith. And, out of courtesy of the Senate President, also sent flowers on behalf of the Senate, and very graciously appeared, and I thank him for that. You've all heard me talk about Stewart, but let me just say one thing: if in your lifetime it can be said of you that you were a good person, then you've achieved a tremendous goal. Stewart Lamprey was a good person. He was a good human being. We've had some giants work in this building, Walter Peterson was one, Stewart Lamprey was another. I have had the opportunity to work with both. They were great men. They left an impact on our state and, really, on those who worked with them. So, thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Senator. And his family, I think, was very appreciative of the fact that you were there. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise for unanimous consent to acknowledge the great work of the many town employees that got through town meeting. And in one particular town I visited it read in their annual report, and you all may remember in Lisbon the night before town meeting all the Board of Selectmen quit and left the town clerk, tax collector, Jennifer Trelfa, with really the only person to put it all together, and they dedicated their report to her. And I think it's good to recognize people who stand up and fill in the holes when they're needed, and I just want to read a few lines from this dedication of the Lisbon Annual Town Report: "During the past year, with a new select board, Jenny was the 'go to person.' Her first commitment was always working for the good of the town and its taxpayers. Jenny stepped in during a difficult task of bridging the administrative void that occurred during town meeting. She spearheaded the legal and practical arrangements needed to have the annual meeting proceed, along with the gracious help of the Lisbon citizens, and made the meeting a reality and insured the continuation of town government." So, thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Barbara Bush, a good person, Senator. I met her several times. She is all of the powerful and positive things people have said about her. And she was a woman of integrity and spirit. I will never forget her incredible energy, her compassion for people and her unending devotion to her family and our country. She was not only the matriarch of the Bush family, but a strong, compassionate leader in her own rite. She will surely be missed for all of the contributions she has made throughout her lifetime, but especially for her work improving the literacy for our nation's children.

In the past two days we've seen individuals with differing beliefs recognize the contributions First Lady Barbara Bush brought to this country. The statements made from all political spectrums are a testament to the great woman's legacy. In particular, her son's statements give us a glimpse into the lives of this family and how Mrs. Bush inspired them. Governor Jeb Bush said, "I am exceptionally privileged to be the son of George Bush and the exceptionally gracious, gregarious, fun, funny, loving, tough, smart, graceful woman who was the force of nature known as Barbara Bush." And President George W. Bush recalled his mother, saying, "Barbara Bush was a fabulous First Lady and a woman unlike any other who brought levity, love, and literacy to millions. To us she was much more. Mom kept us on our toes and kept us laughing until the end. I'm a lucky man that Barbara Bush was my mother."

I hope that recognizing this loss for our country, and reflecting on all the things she gave will help inspire us to recommit ourselves to the work that we have been asked to do in this chamber. And to help us embody all of the positive qualities that a leader of her magnitude has shown. We will surely miss First Lady Barbara Bush, and I want you to all know that Susan and I share our thoughts and prayers with the entire Bush family during this difficult time.

Now, for some happier news: on behalf of the Senate I want to extend big congratulations to Patrick Murphy and his wife Liz on their newest addition–a baby girl, Isabelle Rose Murphy, who was born on April 4th. All of us who have been fortunate to raise children know how exciting this time is in your life. I just want to congratulate them.

Without objection, all personal privileges and unanimous consent shall be entered into the permanent Journal of the Senate. (Rule 2-16 and Rule 2-17). Adopted.

April 26, 2018

The Senate reconvened at 9:00 a.m., a quorum being present.

The Reverend Jon Hopkins, chaplain to the Senate, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Dear God, we gather to make decisions for our state. May we use only our best skills in judgment, keeping ourselves impartial and neutral as we consider the merits and pitfalls of each matter that is placed before us, and always act in accordance with what is best for our state, and our community, and our fellow citizens. We seek blessings on the task before us. Bless our efforts with clear insight, our deliberations with wisdom, our work with clarity and accuracy, and our decisions with impartiality. We meet to serve our state, to use our resources wisely and well, to represent all members of our community fairly, to make good decisions that promote the common good. We recognize our responsibility to the past and the future, and the rights and needs of both individuals and communities. As trusted servants we seek blessings on our deliberations and our efforts here today; may we act wisely and well. Amen.

Senator Carson led the Pledge of Allegiance.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

PRESIDENT MORSE: I have one, maybe two. Representative DeSimone is in the back and her granddaughter Isabella is with her.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for an introduction.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. In the gallery is a dear friend of mine and many in this chamber, who many of you know. She served as director of Planned Parenthood New Hampshire and has done great work in our community throughout her career. A great friend, a great colleague, great community advocate. Let's give a round of applause to Jennifer Frizzell.

INTRODUCTION OF PAGES

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Evan Crandelmire, Jennifer's son is here as a page today. Evan is age thirteen, you can stand up, Evan is age thirteen, he's in grade seven, lives in Concord, goes to Shaker Road School, his favorite subject is math, he's vice-president of student government, plays ice hockey and tennis and he also plays ping pong, he's very good at ping pong, he beats me at ping pong. Put that in the record. Member of the math counts team, he was recently competed in the state geography bee. He enjoys hiking, spending time outdoors and he's a very avid Boston sports fan. In the future he plans to attend college, major in business and computer science and hopefully create a medical technology start-up. Let's give a round of applause to Evan.

(The Chair recognized Senator Reagan.)

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. It is my honor to introduce our page, Peter Reid. Peter's thirteen, is in the seventh grade at Shaker Road School, his hometown is Epsom and his favorite subject is history, but he next year will be a Latin I student. He is a football running back and linebacker. In baseball he catches and plays first base, skis and has a passion for politics, he's attended presidential debates and been to see numerous candidates. He is a two-term representative in his school student government and he's job shadow at the New Hampshire Institute of Politics and the New Hampshire Fisher Cats. He's been here to watch the House and Senate debate the state budget and policy bills. He plans to attend law school and enter business school and perhaps go into politics or business or sports business. So welcome Peter Reid.

Without objection, the FN Report is adopted.

CONSENT CALENDAR

Senator Bradley moved that the Consent Calendar, with the relevant amendments as printed in the day's Calendar be adopted and that all such bills found Ought-to-Pass be ordered to Third Reading.

PUBLIC AND MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

HB 1216, relative to liability for deferred property taxes and relative to applications for abatement of property taxes.

Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Ward for the committee.

This bill would have allowed mortgage holders to be held responsible for deferred property tax on a foreclosed property. The committee felt that this would change the priority lien status for mortgage holders and have a negative impact on the tax deferral program.

HB 1237, relative to the definition of "public at large."

Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Kahn for the committee.

This bill would insert a statutory definition of "public at large" and aims to prevent elected officials from being appointed to committees as member of the public at large. The committee was concerned that the bill would prevent elected local officials from serving on state committees or commissions. Municipalities are able to define "public at large" in their codes or ordinances which makes this bill unnecessary.

HB 1307, relative to the presentation of a default budget.

Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

This bill would require the presentation of the default budget at the deliberative session to include individual line items. The committee was concerned with the amount of detail being provided and the impact it would have on longer term contracts. In addition, SB 342 was already passed by the Senate and deals with this issue in a less burdensome way and with more clarity.

HB 1332, allowing warrant articles to be split by the deliberative session.

Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

This bill would allow warrant articles to be split at the deliberative session. The committee heard testimony that this is already allowed and this bill would only affect SB2 towns. The committee felt the motion of inexpedient to legislate is appropriate given that this bill will just add confusion to what is already allowed.

HB 1340, relative to absences among officers required to be present at school district elections.

Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

This bill will authorize a school board member to appoint a school board member pro tem to perform his or her duties at a school board election in the instance he/she is unable to perform his or her duties. This is currently allowed for town select board members and this bill will bring the law consistent for the school board members.

HB 1361, relative to county audits.

Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Kahn for the committee.

This bill would modify the time frame for the completion of a county audit and requires the executive committee of the county convention to review the audit report. The committee heard testimony that this bill included old language which does not reflect changes made to the statute last year. Testimony was also presented that requiring the executive committee to review the audit report for compliance with all state and federal laws is unworkable due to the number of rules.

HB 1450, relative to retention of job applications and personnel files.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Woodburn for the committee.

This bill as amended decreases the time municipal employee records are required to be retained from 50 years to 20 years. The committee felt that 20 years would allow plenty of time for anyone needing access to employee information for retirement, referral or other purposes to obtain it.

Public and Municipal Affairs
April 18, 2018
2018-1633s

Amendment to HB 1450

Amend RSA 33-A:3-a, LX as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

LX. Job applications-successful: retirement or termination plus [~~50~~] 20 years.

Amend RSA 33-A:3-a, XCVI as inserted by section 2 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

XCVI. Personnel files: retirement or termination plus [~~50~~] 20 years.

TRANSPORTATION

HB 388, relative to special number plates for veterans.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

This bill would modify the availability of special number plates for veterans by allowing veterans to obtain trailer plates. The Transportation Committee feels as though this legislation is largely unnecessary and that its $30,000 fiscal impact is excessive.

HB 1262-L, relative to online driver education.
Interim Study, Vote 5-0. Senator Watters for the committee.

This bill would allow the classroom portion of driver education to be fulfilled by the completion of certain online driver education courses. While the Transportation Committee agrees that alternative methods of learning are important for students who may have various constraints, further study is needed to determine the merits of online driver education here in New Hampshire.

HB 1613, relative to operation of uninspected vehicles.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Cavanaugh for the committee.

This bill allows New Hampshire licensed repairers and dealers to purchase an uninspected, used vehicle or registered, uninspected vehicle from a location and operate the vehicle to relocate it to the dealer or repairer's place of business within 24 hours. This legislation is predicated on the fact that the vehicle is safe for road use. This bill helps to bring parity to this industry by affording dealers and repairers the same luxury that is given to other citizens and industries here in New Hampshire.

HB 1763-FN-A, establishing a road usage fee and making an appropriation therefor.
Interim Study, Vote 5-0. Senator Watters for the committee.

This bill would establish a road usage fee for vehicles registered to travel on state roads based on the equivalent miles per gallon of the vehicle. This fee would be collected at the time of the annual registration of the vehicle and placed into the highway fund. The bill would also make an appropriation to the Department of Safety to implement this fee. The Transportation Committee believes that further study is needed on this legislation, including determining the best mechanism on which to base such a fee.

The question is on the adoption of the Consent Calendar. Adopted.

REGULAR CALENDAR

COMMERCE

HB 407-FN, requiring workers' compensation to cover prophylactic treatment for exposure.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 407. This bill requires workers' compensation to cover prophylactic treatment for exposure. Under current law as an example, a doctor who takes care of his or her patient and is critically exposed to an airborne illness, such as meningitis, needed antibiotics, were denied for their workers' compensation claim. Only bloodborne illnesses are covered by workers' compensation at this time. When taking care of these patients the risk of contracting the illness significantly increases. This bill is not for preventative treatment such as a flu shot, but it's to combat the critical illness or a potential critical illness during its incubation period. This will prevent the employee from missing work and in the worst case scenario actually dying. There are companies that do cover this type of treatment however it is generally a gray area. This bill clarifies ambiguities and I encourage the body to vote House Bill 407 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

HB 1201, relative to an employee's earned but unused vacation time.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 3-1. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1201. It is already required under RSA 275:49 that employers provide their employees with a written notice about the terms and conditions of their benefits including vacation time, however the discretion is up to the employer to create a benefit plan that is best suited for the company. This bill takes the employer's discretion away from them by requiring them to pay out vacation time at certain times. This creates burdensome budgets and cash flow problems for the employers. This bill could create the potential for the employee giving themselves a pay raise if they choose to be paid instead of taking the vacation time. People cannot be forced to use their vacation days, ever. In certain instances companies can be paying thousands of dollars for unused time which creates a huge burden especially for small businesses within the state. Please support the recommendation of Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1201. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. Adopted.

HB 1416-FN, repealing the prohibition on bottle rockets.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-1. Senator Sanborn for the committee.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, it is a great day for fireworks. As I had said a few months ago or maybe a year ago Mister President, I was thinking we could celebrate the Fourth of July every single day. Some of you might remember that we brought forth a bill to reinstate the ability of people just to have a little firework, a lady finger, had been outlawed in our state. At the same time we had a conversation relative to the fact that we have also outlawed bottle rockets. Something I'm sure some of you in here, probably Senator French more than the others, would like to fire them at their friends, but the truth is this is one of the smallest fireworks commercially available anywhere today. But unfortunately some years ago, someone actually got hurt lighting off a bottle rocket. And in the typical overreach of what we see in government, they made a decision to ban them, thinking it would keep everybody safe. The truth of the matter is today, you can buy and light off a four inch mortar, two feet tall that goes three or four hundred feet into the air and we consider that to be a legal use of our fun time, but just a tiny little bottle rocket is outlawed. Mister President, it is an injustice to fun. So what this bill does is it repeals the prohibition on the sale of bottle rockets. As I indicated before, years and years ago one person got injured, and the legislature overreacted to ban just the sale of bottle rockets. In this bill, the House amended it by guaranteeing a purchaser of a bottle rocket also now will get a bottle rocket launcher, Senator French's favorite device. This device will ensure that a stable holder would keep the bottle rocket aimed in a safe direction and increase safety of its use. The rocket launcher is stuck into the ground, ensuring that it is stable and will launch the rocket straight up into the air. All bottle rockets sold are tested and inspected by the American Fireworks Safety Laboratory, making sure they are safe for the consumers. And now I also want to note Mister President, that bottle rocket sales make up 15 percent of all fireworks sales in the states where they are still legal. So, the committee asks you to join us in voting Ought to Pass on House Bill 1416. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the current motion because besides the issue of fun I think the issue of safety needs to be balanced. This legislation although it calls for the purchase of a launcher, does not require the use of a launcher. These devices can be set off and go as much as 200, 250 feet, in a congested neighborhood like where I live in Manchester, the potential for danger of the use of these devices is truly significant. The fact that somebody was killed using a bottle rocket was the reason that this legislation was enacted in the first place. That also occurred in the city of Manchester and there have been numerous incidents since then and leading up to that with the legal use obviously bottle rockets but there are accidents, the potential for people getting hurt with even proper use but definitely with misuse of this product is very significant. This is not good public policy, there are plenty of opportunities to purchase fireworks now in the state and use them, this is not a device that's going to create any more fun for anyone, but has the potential to create grave harm. And for that reason the New Hampshire Department of Safety, the Fire Marshal's Office and many of our local fire chiefs have expressed concern about the passage of this legislation. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

Roll Call, Yeas: 17 - Nays: 7. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1700, relative to the procedure for placing a security freeze on a consumer credit report.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1700. This bill modernizes the language for procedures regarding security freezes on consumer credit reports. This will allow for consumers to freeze their own account via electronic, telephone or first class mail without any fees. Currently for someone to freeze their credit, even for mistakes, that are not the fault of the consumer, they are charged. This allows a consumer to freeze their credit report themselves, not through an agency. This will not create a burden for the agency and better to protect the citizens of New Hampshire and its consumers. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1700 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1715-FN, establishing a committee to study options for tenants to dispute a rent increase in a manufactured housing park if such increase was arbitrary and unreasonable.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 3-1. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I don't know why I volunteer so much, but... I move Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1715. This bill establishes a committee to study the options a tenant in a manufactured housing park has to dispute an unreasonable and arbitrary increase in rent. Currently there is already an association to handle these disputes known as the Manufactured Housing Consumer Protection Program which is handled by a mediator who was a retired judge, and is free of cost to the resident. The program has only been used fifteen times since 2005. This legislation is unnecessary because there is already a program in place to handle the renter's feuds among the owner and the residents and it is infrequently used. There was a problem just recently, the group went to the manufactured housing park association and they resolved it to both of their satisfactions. So please I ask you to vote with the committee recommendation of Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1715. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the pending motion. As a co-sponsor of this bill and worked on the issue I do agree that a study committee is not necessary. I also agree that there is a process in place to allow for tenants of manufactured home parks to go through a mediation process when there is an arbitrary and unreasonable rent increase, which by the way, if you're renting a mobile home, you're renting that lot, it's not like you can pick up your home immediately and transfer it someplace else if you get hit with a rent increase. That's why we have these processes in place. So what happens is people have not been able to exercise this process, this mediation process, in large measure because they don't know about it. So I've got a Floor Amendment that's been discussed throughout this legislative process that just says, that there's already a mandatory notice of your rent increase, add to that pre-existing notice, notice that you can go through this mediation process. That's it. Doesn't change existing rights, doesn't alter the balance of power between manufactured home parks and tenants. All it does, it says when you provide that notice that says your rent's going up, you also include in it that you may have the right to go to mediation to try to resolve this. I think we all appreciate mediated results, not litigation, and to have that notice for tenants is really important so let's vote down ITL, so we can get to this pretty basic Floor Amendment about transparency, about people's rights. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you for taking my question, Senator. Who's the determinant of arbitrary and unreasonable?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much Senator, the debate right now is not about that. The debate right now is about whether or not there's a study committee, whether or not there's a replace all amendment that just provides notice about a pre-existing mediation process, which is what I'm arguing for, or whether we do nothing. So that debate is not part of the debate anymore of where we're at.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise to support what the Senator from District 15 has suggested. Sometimes in this life, knowledge of a process is not available. Without knowledge of the process you're in limbo. This amendment that the Senator is suggesting, doesn't do anything except provide information. Information saves the nation. Are we against information? Are we against people knowing their rights? There are many of these mobile home parks in the state of New Hampshire. Some of them are owned by the tenants, some of them are owned by outside landlords. As the Senator pointed out, in many instances you're renting the land. Very tough for you to move that situation on a moment's notice. So if an unreasonable request is brought forward, there is a process, but you got to know about the process. And I give you the basic illustration that shows limited knowledge of the process is problematic. When we passed education reform we created a fund to help people with their real estate taxes. That money lapsed at the end of the biennium because people didn't understand the process and didn't know the process. We don't want that to happen. People deserve an opportunity just to know what the process is so that they can take advantage of it. This amendment, as I understand it, does nothing except allow people to get information. None of us can be opposed to that. As I said, information does save the nation. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I'd like to first say that this park, this whole bill came about because of one park in this state. I used to live two miles from this park, I know the owner and I'm friends with a lot of people that live in this park today. There is nothing that says these people did not know their rights. They went and they went before the board, and to punish all the other good park owners in the state by forcing them to add new language, it's not needed, and I ask you to vote for the ITL. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Briefly. I respectfully disagree with my friend from Franklin. Look, these folks didn't know about the process until we informed them about the process. Then they exercised their rights in the process, that's number one. Number two is this is a broad based issue and it's been a long standing issue. My friend from District 7 even noted there's only been fifteen of these. There's been thousands of rent increases in parks across the state. There's only been fifteen exercising their rights to go to mediation? It's because people don't know about it. It's not a burden to copy and paste a couple sentences to a pre-existing notice that has to be provided that says your rent's going up, and oh by the way, here's a couple sentences that says you can go to mediation. That's not a burden. So let's vote down ITL, let's go forward with a common sense Floor Amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the following bill is special ordered to Wednesday, May 2, 2018. Adopted.

EDUCATION
HB 1636, establishing a committee to study teacher preparation and education programs.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 101-FN, relative to certification for solid waste operators.
Interim Study, Vote 4-1. Senator Bradley for the committee.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 101 be referred to Interim Study. The bill lengthens the time a solid waste operator certificate is valid from one year to two years. It also exempts volunteer solid waste operators from the certification requirement. The committee heard testimony that the bill would result in a nearly 50 percent decrease in revenue for the Department of Environmental Services from that fund. This revenue is used for important training assistance programs for solid waste operators around the state. Testimony also indicated that the language for an exemption for volunteer solid waste operators was too broad in scope. The committee felt that passage of the bill in its current form raised many unintended consequences and that these effects need to be reviewed thoroughly. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support for the motion of interim study on House Bill 101.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Adopted.

HB 141, relative to electric renewable energy classes.
Interim Study, Vote 4-0. Senator Bradley for the committee.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you again, Mister President. I also move House Bill 141 be referred to Interim Study. The bill would permit the PUC, the Public Utilities Commission, to modify renewable energy portfolio standards according to expected annual output for Class I and Class

II of the renewable portfolio standards law. This bill gives the PUC the ability to modify the annual compliance obligations and should an insufficient supply of renewable energy credits be available. The committee felt passage of the bill in its current form raised unintended consequences and those effects need to be reviewed thoroughly. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support of the motion of Refer to Interim Study on House Bill 141. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Adopted.

HB 485, relative to standards for emerging contaminants in drinking water. Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

Amendment to HB 485

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to standards for emerging contaminants in drinking water, and relative to standards for perfluorochemicals in drinking water, ambient groundwater, and surface water.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 4 with the following:

5 New Subdivision; Contaminants in Drinking Water. Amend RSA 485 by inserting after section 16-d the following new subdivision:

Perfluorochemicals

485:16-e Perfluorochemicals. The commissioner shall, in consultation with the commissioner of the department of health and human services and stakeholders, and no later than January 1, 2019, initiate rulemaking to adopt a maximum contaminant limit (MCL) for perfluorooctanesulfonate (PFOS), perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA), perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA), and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS) for public water systems regulated by this chapter. The commissioner shall consider the standards of other states, including the science considered by states with standards lower than those contained in health advisories from the United States Environmental Protection Agency. The commissioner shall adopt MCLs that reasonably protect public health, particularly prenatal and early childhood health, and that are reasonably supported by peer reviewed science and independent or government agency studies, provided no MCL shall exceed that contained in any MCL promulgated by the United States Environmental Protection Agency. The commissioner shall annually review the newest peer reviewed science and independent or government agency studies and undertake rulemaking in order to comply with this paragraph, if necessary.

6 New Paragraph; Ambient Groundwater Quality Standards. Amend RSA 485-C:6 by inserting after paragraph III the following new paragraph:

IV. The commissioner shall, in consultation with the commissioner of the department of health and human services and stakeholders, and no later than January 1, 2019, determine whether to revise the ambient groundwater quality standards for perfluorooctanesulfonate (PFOS), perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA), perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA), and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS) established in rule in order to comply with this paragraph and shall make public his or her determination. The commissioner shall consider the standards of other states, including the science considered by states with standards lower than those contained in the lifetime health advisory promulgated by the United States Environmental Protection Agency. The commissioner shall adopt standards that reasonably protect public health, particularly prenatal and early childhood health, and that are reasonably supported by peer reviewed science and independent or government agency studies, provided no standard shall exceed that contained in any standard promulgated by the United States Environmental Protection Agency. If the commissioner determines that the standard should be changed, the commissioner shall initiate rulemaking within 60 days of making the determination. The commissioner shall annually review the newest peer reviewed science and independent or government agency studies and undertake rulemaking in order to comply with this paragraph, if necessary.

7 New Paragraph; Surface Water Quality Standards. Amend RSA 485-A:8 by inserting after paragraph II-a the following new paragraph:

II-b. The commissioner shall, in consultation with stakeholders, and no later than January 1, 2020, establish a surface water quality standard for perfluorooctanesulfonate (PFOS), perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA), perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA), and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS) in Class A and Class B waters, if scientifically feasible. The commissioner shall consider the standards of other states. The commissioner shall adopt standards that reasonably protect public health, particularly prenatal and early childhood health, and that are reasonably supported by peer-reviewed science and independent or government agency studies, provided no standard shall exceed that contained in any standard promulgated by the United States Environmental Protection Agency. If the commissioner determines that the standard should be changed, the commissioner shall initiate rulemaking within 60 days of making the determination. The commissioner shall annually review the newest peer-reviewed science and independent or government agency studies and undertake rulemaking in order to comply with this paragraph, if necessary.

8 Effective Date.

I. Sections 1, 2, and 5-7 of this act shall take effect 60 days after passage.

II. Section 3 of this act shall take effect 180 days after passage.

III. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Allows the department of environmental services to make rules regarding air pollution and the deposit of such pollutants on soils and water.

II. Regulates devices emitting or having the potential to emit air pollutants that may harm soil and water through the deposit of such pollutants.

III. Requires the commissioner of the department of environmental services to adopt ambient groundwater quality standards using certain scientific information.

IV. Establishes a toxicologist position and a human health risk assessor position in the department of environmental services.

V. Requires the commissioner of the department of environmental services to adopt a state drinking water standard relative to perflurochemicals.

VI. Requires the commissioner of the department of environmental services to establish ambient groundwater quality standards relative to perfluorochemicals.

VII. Requires the commissioner of the department of environmental services to establish surface water quality standards relative to perfluorochemicals.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 485 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill allows the Department of Environmental Services to make rules regarding air pollution and the deposit of such pollutants on soils and water. It also regulates devices emitting or having the potential to emit air pollutants that may harm soil and water through the deposit of such pollutants. The bill requires the Commissioner of the DES to adopt ambient groundwater quality standards using certain scientific information. To accomplish these objectives, the bill establishes a toxicologist position and a human health risk assessor position in the Department of Environmental Services. As you know water quality has been a persistent problem throughout the state, affecting individuals, families, and businesses, particularly in the seacoast. This bill provides the tools necessary for DES to protect this state's water resources to protect our most vulnerable. The bill sets timelines for DES to review certain contaminants that may be in drinking water and in the groundwater. It also gives the DES the ability to regulate air emission devices where emissions may lead to groundwater contamination. The amendment requires the Commissioner of DES to adopt a state drinking water standard, an ambient groundwater quality standard, and a surface water quality standard relative to certain PFCs, or perfluorochemicals. Emerging contaminants like PFCs pose a potentially serious health risk to those in our state. The amendment compels DES to adopt certain standards in regard to these chemicals to protect the public health. The DES will examine peer reviewed science and other methodologies undertaken by other states and the Environmental Protection Agency to arrive at a set standard. The bill requires the DES to undertake an annual review of these standards to ensure they are in line with recent scientific data. The amendment also adds two compounds that have been added to the list of emerging contaminants: PFNA and PFHxS. It is vitally important we set standards that protect the public health, and that those standards be based on the latest peer reviewed science, which is updated continuously. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee is excited to ask for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 485-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted.

Amendment to HB 1101-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT regulating groundwater pollution caused by polluting emissions in the air and relative to standards for perfluorochemicals in drinking water, ambient groundwater and surface water.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Subparagraph; Rulemaking; Air Contaminant Impacts on Soil and Water. Amend RSA 125-C:4, I by inserting after subparagraph (s) the following new subparagraph:

(t) The determination of air contaminants subject to regulation, applicability thresholds, determination of best available control technology, and procedures to determine potential impacts of the deposit of such contaminants from the air on soils or water resources to implement RSA 125-C:10-e.

2 New Section; Requirements for Air Emissions of Perflourinated Compounds Impacting Soil and Water. Amend RSA 125-C by inserting after section 10-d the following new section:

125-C:10-e Requirements for Air Emissions of Perfluorinated Compounds Impacting Soil and Water.

I. For the purposes of this section:

(a) "Best available control technology" means "best available control technology" as defined in RSA 125-C:10-b, I(a).

(b) "Ambient groundwater quality standard" means "ambient groundwater quality standard" as defined in RSA 485-C:2, I.

(c) "Surface water quality standard" means "surface water quality standard" established in or pursuant to RSA 485-A.

(d) "Perfluorinated Compounds" or "PFCs" means the list of compounds identified in paragraph 1.1 of Environmental Protection Agency Document#: EPA/600/R-08/092 Method 537. "Determination of Selected Perfluorinated Alkyl Acids in Drinking Water by Solid Phase Extraction and Liquid Chromatography/Tandem Mass Spectrometry (LC/MS/MS)", Version 1.1 (September 2009).

(e) "Precursor" means any substance that has been shown by sound science to be transformed into a PFC under ambient conditions reasonably expected to occur in New Hampshire.

II. A device that emits to the air any PFCs or precursors that have caused or contributed to an exceedance of an ambient groundwater quality standard or surface water quality standard as a result of the deposition of any such PFCs or precursors from the air, shall be subject to the determination and application of best available control technology. Within 6 months of the department determining that the device is subject to such control technology, the owner of the device shall submit to the department an application for a permit. Within 12 months of permit issuance, the applicant shall complete construction and installation of controls consistent with the permit. Operation of the source may continue through the permitting, construction, and installation time period. A source which can demonstrate to the department that its device no longer contributes to an exceedance of an ambient groundwater quality standard or surface water quality standard shall be exempt from this section.

III. The construction, installation, or modification of any device that has the potential, based on an applicability threshold adopted by the department, to cause or contribute to an exceedance of an ambient groundwater quality standard or surface water quality standard as a result of the deposition of any PFCs or precursors from the air, shall be prohibited without first applying for and obtaining a permit from the department that establishes emission limitations for such device based on best available control technology.

IV. Part of the initial application for a permit under this section shall include an analysis of best available control technology for controlling emissions. Any permit issued shall contain inspection, testing, and reporting requirements, as applicable, to ensure the conditions of the permit are met.

V. Any determination of best available control technology under this section shall be subject to the following:

(a) In no event shall application of best available control technology result in:

(1) Emission of any air contaminant that would exceed the emissions allowed by any applicable standard under RSA 125-C or RSA 125-I or rules adopted pursuant to either chapter.

(2) Emission of any air contaminant subject to this section in an amount disproportionate to the emissions of such air contaminant from other similar air pollution control devices for that air contaminant at facilities using similar technology.

(3) Emission of any air contaminant subject to this section which causes or contributes to or has the potential to cause or contribute to an exceedance of an ambient groundwater quality standard or surface water quality standard, as a result of the deposition of the contaminant from the air.

(b) If the department determines that the facility has more than one device that emits air contaminants subject to this section, the department shall determine best available control technology emission limitations for each such device.

VI. This section shall only pertain to PFCs for which at least one study has been conducted in accordance with generally accepted scientific principles that demonstrates that the PFC of concern is known to cause or may reasonably be anticipated to cause acute, chronic, mutagenic, reproductive, or developmental health effects in humans as a result of exposure to such PFC. The implementation of this section shall only rely upon standards that are based on federal maximum contaminant levels, health advisories, provisional health advisories; standards that are derived from federally published toxicological data; or more restrictive New Hampshire state standards.

3 New Subparagraph; Statement of Purpose. Amend RSA 485:1, II by inserting after paragraph (h) the following new subparagraph:

(i) Adopt primary drinking water standards by establishing maximum contaminant limits or treatment techniques.

4 Drinking Water Rules. Amend RSA 485:3 I(b) to read as follows:

(b) After consideration of the extent to which the contaminant is found in New Hampshire, the ability to detect the contaminant in public water systems, the ability to remove the contaminant from drinking water, and the costs and benefits to affected parties that will result from establishing the standard, a specification for each contaminant of either:

(1) A maximum contaminant level that is acceptable in water for human consumption[~~, if it is feasible to ascertain the level of such contaminant in water in public water systems~~]; or

(2) One or more treatment techniques or methods which lead to a reduction of the level of such contaminant sufficient to protect the public health, if it is not feasible to ascertain the level of such contaminant in water in the public water system; and

5 New Subdivision; Perfluorochemicals. Amend 485 by inserting after section 16-d the following new subdivision:

Perfluorochemicals

485:16-e Perfluorochemicals. By January 1, 2019, the commissioner shall, in consultation with the commissioner of the department of health and human services and other interested parties, initiate rulemaking in accordance with RSA 541-A to adopt a maximum contaminant limit for perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA), perfluoroctanesulfonic acid (PFOS), perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA), and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS).

6 Ambient Groundwater Quality Standards. Amend RSA 485-C:6 to read as follows:

485-C:6 Ambient Groundwater Quality Standards.

I. The commissioner shall establish and adopt ambient groundwater quality standards for regulated contaminants which adversely affect human health or the environment. Ambient groundwater standards shall apply to all regulated contaminants which result from human operations or activities, but do not apply to naturally occurring contaminants. Where state maximum contaminant levels have been adopted under RSA 485:3, I(b), ambient groundwater quality standards shall be equivalent to such standards. Where federal maximum contaminant level or health advisories have been promulgated under the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act or rules relevant to such act, ambient groundwater quality standards shall be [~~equivalent to~~] no less stringent than such standards. The commissioner may adopt standards more stringent than federal maximum contaminant levels or health advisories if, accounting for an adequate margin of safety to protect human health at all life stages, including but not limited to pre-natal development, the commissioner determines federal standards are insufficient for protection of human health. Where such standards are established based upon health advisories that address cancer risks, the ambient groundwater quality standards shall be equivalent to that exposure which causes a lifetime exposure risk of one cancer in 1,000,000 exposed population. Where no federal or state maximum contaminant level or health advisory has been issued, the commissioner may adopt ambient groundwater quality standards on a basis which provides for an adequate margin of safety to protect human health and safety.

II. Health advisories that are adopted as ambient groundwater quality standards shall be reviewed by the department at least every 5 years to determine if new research warrants revising the current ambient groundwater quality standard. If the department finds a revision is necessary it shall conduct rulemaking to adopt the revised standard.

III. Ambient groundwater quality standards shall be the water quality basis for issuance of groundwater discharge permits under RSA 485-A: 13.

[~~III.~~] IV. Except for discharges of domestic wastewater regulated under RSA 485-A:13 and RSA 485-A:29, no person shall violate ambient groundwater quality standards.

V. By January 1, 2019, the commissioner shall, in consultation with the commissioner of the department of health and human services and interested parties, initiate rulemaking to adopt ambient groundwater quality standards for perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA) and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS).

VI. By January 1, 2019, the commissioner shall, in consultation with the commissioner of the department of health and human services and interested parties, conduct a review to determine whether current research warrants revising the existing ambient groundwater quality standards for perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA) and perfluorooctanesulfonic acid (PFOS).

7 Department of Environmental Services; Surface Water Quality Standards. The commissioner of environmental services shall develop a plan, including a schedule and cost estimates, to establish surface water quality standards for perfluorooctanesulfonate (PFOS), perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA), perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA), and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS) in class A and class B waters for all designated uses. The commissioner shall submit the plan upon its completion, but no later than January 1, 2020, to the house resources, recreation, and development committee and the senate energy and natural resources committee.

8 Department of Environmental Services; Positions Established; Appropriation. There is established within the department of environmental services one classified toxicologist position and one classified human health risk assessor for the purposes of developing appropriate standards to protect groundwater and drinking water quality under RSA 485-C. The sum necessary to pay the salary, benefits, and other costs related to the positions established in this section is hereby appropriated to the department of environmental services for the biennium ending June 30, 2019. This appropriation shall be in addition to any other appropriations made to the department in the biennium. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for said sum out of any money in treasury not otherwise appropriated.

9 Effective Date.

I. Sections 1 and 2 of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

2018-1628s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Allows the department of environmental services to make rules regarding air pollution and the deposit of such pollutants on soils and water.

II. Regulates devices emitting or having the potential to emit air pollutants that may harm soil and water through the deposit of such pollutants.

III. Clarifies the basis for and requires periodic review of ambient groundwater quality standards.

IV. Directs the department to evaluate the ambient ground water quality standards for perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA) and perfluorooctanesulfonic acid (PFOS) and set ambient groundwater quality standards for perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA), and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS).

V. Establishes the criteria for setting maximum contaminant limits for public drinking water and directs the department to set maximum contaminant limits for perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA), perfluorooctanesulfonic acid (PFOS), perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA), and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS).

VI. Directs the department to, in consultation with stakeholders, develop a plan, including a schedule and cost estimates, to establish surface water quality standards for perfluorooctanesulfonate (PFOS), perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA), perfluorononanoic acid (PFNA), and perfluorohexanesulfonic acid (PFHxS)

VII. Establishes a toxicologist position and a human health risk assessor position in the department of environmental services and makes an appropriation to fund the positions.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. If you're not tired of me already, you will be by 10:00 a.m. Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1101-FN ought to pass with amendment. The bill allows the Department of Environmental Services to make rules regarding air pollution and the deposit of such solutions on soils and water. It also regulates devices emitting or having the potential to emit air pollutants that may harm soil and water through the deposit of such pollutants. It clarifies the basis for and requires periodic review of ambient groundwater quality standards. It also directs the department to evaluate and set ambient groundwater quality standards and maximum contaminant levels for PFOA, PFOS, PFHxS, and PFNA. To accomplish these objectives, the bill establishes a toxicologist position and a human health risk assessor position in the DES. Water quality has been a persistent problem throughout the state. This bill will give DES the necessary tools to provide safe drinking water and to protect our citizens. The bill again directs DES to review or establish standards for contaminants that are found in drinking water and in groundwater. And gives the DES the ability to regulate air emission devices where such emissions may lead to groundwater contamination. The amendment requires the Commissioner of DES to adopt a state surface water quality standard relative to certain PFCs. These emerging contaminants pose a potentially serious health threat to those in our state. It directs DES to develop a plan, including a schedule and cost estimates, to establish surface water quality standards for PFOS, PFOA, PFNA, and PFHxS. The State Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1101-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

HB 1555, relative to participation by the public utilities commission in regional activities.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1555 Ought to Pass. This bill requires the Public Utilities Commission and the Office of the Consumer Advocate to advocate against regional or federal policies which are inconsistent with the policies in this state or which would have rate impacts determined to be unjust or unreasonable. Because New Hampshire is part of the ISO-NE electrical grid, our state's policy is connected to the decisions made by other states in the region. It is critical that New Hampshire's electricity customers do not bear the costs of decisions made by others. This bill gives both the PUC and the Consumer Advocate concrete direction that the interests of New Hampshire's ratepayers are vitally important in the state's participation in regional and federal energy policy deliberations. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee respectfully asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1555. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

Amendment to HB 1766-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT requiring the department of environmental services to report to the general court regarding bedrock testing and perfluorochemical contamination in the Seacoast area and at other landfills and hazardous waste sites.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Findings. The general court acknowledges the public concern regarding the issue of water quality in the Seacoast area and at areas of environmental interest all over the state. The general court further finds that in view of bedrock testing due to begin in the Seacoast area during the summer of 2018, and in view of the impending first ever study of per and polyfluoroalkyl (PFAS) exposure, the general court shall be informed, on a regular basis, of contaminant monitoring and contaminant migration, and advised regarding new research on contaminant exposure and any developments in remediation technology.

2 Department of Environmental Services; Reports Required.

I. The department of environmental services shall submit an initial report to the general court by December 1, 2018, and shall submit interim reports every 6-months thereafter, on the results of monitoring, testing, and any other analysis or data relative to perfluorooctanesulfonic acid (PFOS) and perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA) levels at statewide sites that it has identified as sources of those contaminants. The reports shall include preliminary results from bedrock testing conducted at the Coakley Landfill site beginning in the summer of 2018. The department shall submit interim reports on the bedrock testing by July 1, 2019 and December 1, 2019, and a final report within 6 months of when such testing is completed. Other Seacoast area sites shall include, but not be limited to, the Pease International Trade port and its vicinity, the Hampton Landfill, the Coakley Landfill, the Rye Breakfast Hill Landfill, the Rye Grove Landfill, the Garland Well and nearby well sites, the former Cibor Airport, the Hampton Airport, and other municipal and commercial operations within the Seacoast area deemed relevant by the department. The department shall also include in such reports the PFOS and PFOA levels at any landfill, hazardous waste, and other sites statewide where it currently requires testing.

II. Copies of the reports required in paragraph I shall be submitted to:

(a) The president of the senate.

(b) The speaker of the house of representatives.

(c) The chairman of the senate energy and natural resources committee, or the successor committee with jurisdiction over energy and natural resource issues.

(d) The chairman of the house resources, recreation, and development committee, or the successor committee with jurisdiction over energy and natural resource issues.

(e) The joint legislative fiscal committee of the general court.

3 Senate and House of Representatives Committees; Duties. The senate energy and natural resources committee and the house resources, recreation and development committee, or their successor committees as specified in section 2, paragraph II of this act, shall collect and evaluate the reports required in section 2 of this act along with any other reports, data, and information the committees deem relevant. The committees shall solicit information from commissions and informed citizens in southeastern New Hampshire and shall solicit information from the United States Environmental Protection Agency regarding the reports required in section 2.

4 Effective Date. This act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires the department of environmental services to report to the general court regarding perfluorinated chemical contamination at the Seacoast and at landfills and other hazardous waste sites.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1766-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill requires the Department of Environmental Services to order the parties responsible for dumping hazardous waste in the Coakley Landfill to undertake certain remedial actions. The Coakley Landfill, a former landfill for both municipal and hazardous waste, is one of twenty-one Superfund sites in the state managed by the EPA. Specific remedies to the site were embodied in court-ordered consent decrees, which govern the work at this site. These consent decrees were signed by the EPA, DES, and the Coakley Landfill Group, which is made up of responsible parties who dumped waste into the landfill. As of 2016, the presence of perfluorinated chemicals was found in surface waters like Berry's Brook near the site. The bill, as introduced, would have required DES to install a pump and treat system, a remedy that was not implemented during the 1990s, to prevent the flow of contaminants into Berry's Brook. Testimony revealed that having a state agency compel responsible parties to implement a specific remedy on a federal site would raise significant legal consequences that could slow down any remedial efforts at the Coakley Landfill. The bill, as amended, requires the DES to report to the General Court regarding perfluorinated chemical contamination at the Seacoast and at landfills and other hazardous waste sites. The amendment will place pressure on the DES and the EPA to demonstrate to the General Court that appropriate steps are being taken to address the Coakley Landfill site and that surrounding communities and their water sources are not impacted by contaminant flow. DES will be doing bedrock testing at the site over the next two years, providing the General Court with a full illustration of the flow of contaminants from the site. The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1766-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

Floor Amendment to HB 1766-FN

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Findings. The general court concurs with the department of environmental services and finds that and contaminants have migrated from site groundwater at the Coakley Landfill to Berry's Brook, and the resultant effects on Berry's Brook are unacceptable and require remedial action. The general court further concurs with the department's finding that such remedial action is the most reliable way to limit exposure to Coakley Landfill site contaminants via the surface water pathway. Therefore, the general court declares that it is in the public interest to limit exposure to Coakley Landfill site contaminants through actions that prevent their migration into Berry's Brook.

2 Coakley Landfill; Remediation Required.

I. The department of environmental services shall:

(a) Pursue administrative or legal action requiring the Coakley Landfill group's installation and operation of technology to remove or contain pollutants to cease their migration into Berry's Brook; and

(b) Continue monitoring the migration of Coakley Landfill site contaminants into Berry's Brook.

II. If the department of environmental services determines that it can implement the above actions only through the applicable consent decree regarding Coakley Landfill, then the department of the environmental services shall, within 60 days of the effective date of this section, formally pursue such relief through the processes available to it, including but not limited to the filing of a new action in a court of competent jurisdiction.

III. On or before December 1, 2018, the department of environmental services shall submit a report with the governor, the senate energy and natural resources committee, and the house health and human services committee, detailing steps taken and progress made in implementing actions pursuant to paragraph I, all testing results concerning the migration of Coakley Landfill site contaminants into Berry's Brook, what remediation plans have been developed and the status of such plans, and all requests made of the Coakley Landfill group by either the department of environmental services or the United States Environmental Protection Agency, and responses to those requests by the Coakley Landfill group.

3 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires the department of environmental services to order the parties responsible for dumping hazardous waste in the Coakley Landfill to undertake certain remedial actions. This bill also requires the department of environmental services to submit a report to the senate energy and natural resources committee and the house of representatives health and human services committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. This amendment is designed to encourage, actually require the Department of Environmental Services to work with the Coakley Landfill Group to take remedial action to limit exposure to surface water from the Coakley Landfill, specifically we're targeting Berry's Brook with this remedial action. And the DES sent a letter to the committee, I don't know, several months ago detailing the extreme contamination levels of Berry's Brook. It's above 700 parts per trillion. The EPA standard for drinking water is 70 parts per trillion. And walking in today, some of us were offered these sanitizers. I think it's somewhat symbolic in that the water in Berry's Brook just isn't clean and you can't clean it simply. It takes a significant effort to get it to be clean. And I don't know about you, but back in the day, we played outside. And in Columbus, Ohio we'd go down to the ravine into this little creek and I'd come home with caked mud and dirt all over myself. And water, but it probably soaked into my skin, it'd gotten into my mouth and in my eyes, God knows where else. We had a good time. If you go to Berry's Brook today in pristine New Hampshire, not the city of Columbus, but in pristine New Hampshire, it's more polluted than that creek I played in as a kid, with something that may cause cancer. That shouldn't stand. Not in our state. And it's not something that we should tolerate. So this amendment asks the DES to take administrative or legal action requiring the Coakley Landfill Group to install and operate technology that will remove certain pollutants and stop their migration into Berry's Brook and give the children a clean place to play.

In section 2, the consent decree is specifically mentioned, and I encourage you to take a quick look at that section. But we understand there's an intent to create and we want the DES to work within that decree to find a way to do this in a way that is legal and appropriate. Reporting is covered in lines 23-30, and there will be reports made on the progress with respect to remediation as we move forward. Effective immediately upon passage. I strongly encourage you to support this. Clean water both above ground and below ground is critical for our health, for our children's health, for the health of the extremely young, particularly fetuses and those that are just developing. These are noxious chemicals and while we might be uncertain as to the degree of the causal link between PFCs and cancer, there has been some establishment that that causal link does exist. So I strongly encourage you to support amendment 1792. Thank you, Mister President.

Recess, Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Yes, I'd just like to announce to you that I am reading this from my cell phone because I was unable to get my remarks printed out. You know sometimes you have a technology glitch, I don't know why. So, thank you, Mister President for allowing me to do this. I rise in opposition to the Floor Amendment and in support of the committee amendment addressing the potential risk of contamination to drinking water on the seacoast is a very serious and challenging situation. Opposing seeking an immediate remedy doesn't mean that the concerns of people, oh my goodness it just disappeared. I will speak from the heart but this is complicated, okay? So, I'll do my very best, alright but it doesn't mean by opposing this amendment that all of us don't believe that there's a very serious and challenging situation on the seacoast.

The difficulty with the amendment is that it is premature. And even though DES said in July of 2016 that there was a concern with Berry Brook, there has not been a direct link between Berry Brook and the surrounding drinking water wells to prove that it is the source of contamination, or even if those wells are contaminated, or even if the contamination comes from the Coakley Landfill, because there are a number of adjacent superfund sites as well. So this is a challenge that deserves expanded research and investigation before we come up with determining where actually if contamination is taking place, where it is coming from and how it should be treated. And what I wanted to go over with you and I'll look at it from here is to let you know that right now, under the aegis of the DES, in conjunction with the Coakley Landfill Group and the EPA, the following work is being undertaken at the Coakley Landfill. They began this week to sample wells in the surrounding areas. When they have taken those samples, they will analyze them to determine to what degree in those ground water samples there is or is not contamination from emerging contaminants such as PFASs.

Secondly, they are looking at investigating the boundaries if you wish to the groundwater zone, it's called the LiNimance of the landfill site to look for such things as fractures and reducing this, it's rather complicated, and to establish additional locations and how they should be accessed. They are beginning to do the deep bedrock work which in one of the purposes as I understand it from the testimony we heard in committee, was to determine if there was a direct link between the bedrock wells and Berry's Brook. So that's continuing, unfortunately it's time consuming and I'm sure a source of frustration to people who are rightly concerned about the serious situation.

Finally, they are starting to do the fish tissue sampling in Berry's Brook to determine to what degree the fish in that brook may or may not be contaminated as another level of determining the immediate risk. At this time we heard from DES that while they are concerned about the need to clean up Berry's Brook, there is no immediate threat to the people on the seacoast. If it's determined, all the way along as this continuing investigation and research is going on, that suddenly you know a threat is found, the Coakley Landfill Group is committed to providing people with immediate bottled water and then helping them install appropriate ongoing filters, carbon filters that would ensure that they were no longer exposed. Now what we don't know is that if there is exposure in the existing wells, how long that exposure has been going on and what is the impact of that exposure.

PFASs, these emerging contaminants, are only something that was identified around 2016 as something that we need to be paying attention to. There has been a lot of criticism of the city of Portsmouth and the Coakley Landfill Group because they did not implement a pump and treat system in the 90s. The whole purpose of that original pump and treat system was to treat contaminating metals that were found at the site, okay? What they determined over a period of time from 1990 to 1999 was that those metals were degrading themselves and then they didn't need to put in the pump and treat system and the pump and treat system that would be put in today is an entirely different system and would require a different design component and the concern is that you put a pump and treat system in around the area of Berry Brook when maybe what you need to do is put a pump and treat system that would deal with the whole site, if this further investigation determines that that is necessary.

The Coakley Landfill Group, the city of Portsmouth have all committed to saying they will do what the EPA tells them to do. Ultimately it is the EPA that is making decisions around these superfund sites. So will you join with me in recognizing while this amendment was well intentioned, it is premature and it runs the risk of interfering with all of the various investigations that are going on at the current time? So, thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President I rise and in the past few weeks I've really kind of thought about, why are we here, what are we trying to do? It comes to me over and over again that the number one obligation we have is to keep our people safe. Now we used to think all the time, decades ago, that we thought people might be invading America, we might go to war and how do we keep our people and our value set safe? But as we've seen recently, it's not just that. It's the fact that keeping our people safe and healthy, keeping our people in a place where they know every day, and this example, that the people of the state deserve to know when they turn on the faucet, that they can drink the water. You know where I live over in Bedford, Mister President, down in Senator Daniels' district across this state right now, we're having some real problems. Not here to fault anyone, so much of what we know today we didn't know decades ago. But what we do know today is there is this potential that people can't turn on their faucet and feel safe that they can drink the water. What we do know today, is events that happened some time ago have a true potential for adverse effects today. So I applaud what Senator Innis is doing and what he's trying to do, for standing up to tell the people of his part of the state, my part of the state, all of our parts of the state, that we're trying to do what is right to keep you safe. To let you know that when you're drinking out of your faucet when you're taking a shower, when you're hanging out in the brook, when you're going fishing, when you're doing whatever it is, that you're doing it and you know you'll be okay. For that reason Mister President, I will support the amendment and the efforts of Senator Innis and the Governor and those who are moving this forward. Thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. One striper, one striper per year is all you can eat because of mercury contamination. And just around the corner from where Berry's Brook enters the ocean, you can catch striper quite easily. I want to eat them, but I don't. Berry's Brook has brown trout in it. It's been stocked historically by the state. Are they safe to eat? I don't know. Can I eat one per year? I don't know. Two? Five? At what point will the PFC levels and the contamination in our fish reach the point where we can't eat them anymore? When will children be gently poisoned daily by PFCs in surface water where they're playing? We don't know the answers to all of these questions yet, but what we do know is that we are contaminating Berry's Brook and the DES has said the cause of that contamination, Berry's Brook, is the Coakley Landfill. Period. There's no question in the mind of the DES officials about where this contamination is originating. So again I encourage you please support the amendment 1792. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, just briefly in support of the amendment. I respect and appreciate all the comments that were made about this particular amendment and this particular issue. Serving on the committee and taking a look at the testimony and the evidence presented, coming to the conclusion that the specific concerns at Berry's Brook, in the letter from DES on July 7, 2017 that said that the PFCs in Berry's Brook are coming from Coakley Landfill Group, that they're unacceptable and require remedial action, that was July 7, 2017. There hasn't been any remedial action, there just hasn't been. And so I think this amendment, what it does, it doesn't upset the consent decree because it says operate within the consent decree. It doesn't require pump and treat system, it requires a remedy and there are those who argue that this may just lead to litigation, there have been roughly four decades of litigation on this already. There's not, there'll probably continue to be litigation but the question is when our state agency issues a letter saying do something, in my view with respect to public health and the public interest we should back them up. So, that's why I support this amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much. For the proponents of the amendment, I would offer this. I wish it were so. Let no one question the resolve of our friends in the House and ours to deal with these emerging contaminants. We just passed House Bill 1101, sponsored by my colleague, Representative Hinch in the House. The House is about to pass Senator Innis' bill, Senate Bill 309 which are identical and deal with these emerging contaminant issues. But unfortunately we have a federal law, the Federal Superfund Law. It gives the ultimate authority in a superfund site, which Coakley is, to the Environmental Protection Agency, with DES' participation. And once you have under the circle of law, the Federal Superfund Law, a consent decree, you're bound by the terms of the consent decree and EPA, the Environmental Protection Agency, has to administer it.

I asked the DES representative, Mike Wimsatt, a series of questions as did our friend from Concord, our friend from Portsmouth and our friend from Newcastle. Let me just talk to you about what some of those questions and some of the answers were. I asked Mister Wimsatt if any of the wells tested in the proximity of Coakley had tested more than twenty parts per trillion, for these emergent contaminants. The answer was no. Twenty parts per trillion is what the advocates are hoping the department will adopt as a new state standard for PFOAs. The current national standard which is the standard in New Hampshire, is seventy parts per trillion. So, none of the wells were testing in the proximity at twenty.

I further asked if there were any wells that tested at seventy, the national standard, what would happen. DES would look for an immediate remedy, bottled water, some sort of filtration system, possibly even public water piping to those homes. They were prepared to take that kind of action. The same thing I think we saw in our friend's district, I believe it was in Amherst, a year ago, when a similar situation occurred.

I asked if there was any precedent in any other states for legislature inserting itself into a consent decree in the way that either the sponsor's bill was written, or this amendment which has tried to stay within the consent decree, but really doesn't. The answer was, no other states have done that.

I asked if there was litigation because the Coakley Landfill Group has indicated that if the legislature steps in in the way that is being proposed now, there'll be certain litigation, so my question was, what happens if that happens? Will it help resolve the problem, or will it slow down remediation? And the answer is it would slow down remediation.

Now I'm not saying any of this is right. I'm not saying that it's not unfortunate that the legislature can't just step in and take action. But sometimes there's a reality factor that has to be taken into account. That's what the circle of law says, and that's the problem.

Senator Feltes asked if DES had considered intervening within the administrative process to compel the EPA to take action. Mister Wimsatt said if DES believed they had the authority, they would act. And lastly, Senator Fuller Clark asked what's preventing the Department of Environmental Services from implementing a groundwater capture system right now. Same answer, Mister Wimsatt said they do not have the legal authority to do so.

So, when I said I wish it weren't so, I wish it weren't so. But it is so, so the best thing that we can do is to go with the committee amendment that requires reporting when the reporting shows the problems in the immediate proximity, in people's wells, they have the authority to do what is necessary to remediate and as that bedrock testing as our friend from Portsmouth has long advocated for, fought for and is continuing to fight for, along with our friend from Concord and our friend from Newcastle within the administrative construct of a consent decree, a legally binding fact of law, that's when DES can push the EPA into the kind of capture system that this amendment contemplates. To do so today leads to litigation and slows down the remediation I think all twenty-four of us want. That's why unfortunately I'm standing here and asking you to vote against our friend from Newcastle's amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

FINANCE

HB 559-FN, relative to expenditures from the energy efficiency fund. Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 3-3. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 559 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill repeals the dollar per allowance rebate threshold for auction proceeds deposited into the Energy Efficiency Fund, eliminates all customer rebates and provides that at least 35 percent of the proceeds received from the sale of allowances after administrative cost, would be allocated to be low income core energy efficiency programs. In addition up to $5 million annually would be allocated to municipal school district and local government energy efficiency projects and to the core programs. Testimony at the public hearing indicated the passage of House Bill 559 would result in rate impacts across all customers. Committee members learned some businesses are experiencing high electricity costs, but those businesses who are large energy users are already employing efficiency techniques. Having been unable to reach a consensus, the Senate Finance Committee recommends House Bill 559 be found Inexpedient to Legislate and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I encourage us to respectfully vote no on ITL, then vote yes on Ought to Pass. Three reasons: Number 1, this is going to significantly help our schools, our municipal buildings reduce their energy consumption and therefore put downward pressure on property taxes. It's going to significantly help with the backlog of low income residential households who are struggling to afford to heat their homes in the winter. Number 2, in the medium to long term it's going to reduce rates in the state of New Hampshire, and the reason why is because of the regional allocation of transmission costs, regional transmission costs in New Hampshire, we get hit with 10 percent and that amount's going up because our demand proportional to other states is going up, and it's going to go up, projected to go up about .5 percent over the next three years. Each tenth of a percent is $4 million in additional transmission costs being saddled to New Hampshire customers. And the Chair of Senate Energy and others, we worked to provide more resources in the budget so that we can fight this out on behalf of New Hampshire at a regional level. The other way that we can fight it out is by reducing our demand for energy through energy efficiency. And so in the medium to long term it reduces rates. Third, this was voted 24-0 by House Finance in part because it restores it to a dedicated fund. It's the Energy Efficiency Fund, it restores it to the initial intent of a dedicated fund as in energy efficiency funds. So, for those reasons I encourage us to vote no on ITL and then move Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I too urge my colleagues to vote no on Inexpedient to Legislate. All of us know that the most inefficiently operated buildings in the country are municipal buildings and schools. Having been a teacher for a number of years, what's the first thing you see, when you go by a school? The windows are open. They're open all the time. Guess what goes out those windows? Energy. If they were fundamentally weatherized and weatherized properly, and as I said in my testimony before the committee, we've got a building that's 160 years old in Manchester. Manchester Central High School, oldest public high school in the United States. What do you think pours out of those windows? And we've tried and tried. Five million dollars goes to schools and municipalities. Municipal buildings, who sees a municipal building that's efficient? Some of them are grandiose, but what about efficient? Just walk through the halls in Washington and you'll see inefficiency personified. But we have an opportunity to do the right thing, and we have a mechanism to do it. Why not do it? You know we're not building a lot of new school buildings, so we've got to renovate those that we have. We've got to winterize those that we have. And talk about energy saving, if you properly weatherize a home, you can save dramatically on your heating and electricity bills. You know we've got to learn to do that, and again that's a situation of just public knowledge and we've got to talk to the public, and get them going but indeed, the incentive in this piece of legislation, if we pass it, is we're going to do it. And we all have schools in our districts, I don't think there's anybody sitting here that doesn't have a school in their district, or a municipal building. So, let's think long and hard about overturning the Inexpedient so that we can offer the motion of Ought to Pass, and move forward. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR KAHN: Would you believe, that the study committee that I sat on with the, chaired by the Senator from District 12, demonstrated that the reason our transmission rates were going up is not because our energy usage was going up but because every other New England state's energy usage was going down and rather dramatically, at a much more rapid rate than New Hampshire, and that that was what was driving the increase transmission costs because the overall system needs to be prorated across usage and New Hampshire is a rising share of that overall use?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Senator Kahn for the question. I do believe that and that is the biggest driver on our electric bills is the increase in regional transmission costs that are being saddled on New Hampshire ratepayers, on the regional level. Many projects, not even in New Hampshire, southwest Connecticut reliability projects and other projects being saddled in New Hampshire and the major part of the equation, about how they calculate were those regional transmission costs go to, is each state's demand for energy in comparison to each other state. And since our demand is increasing comparatively to other states, we are getting hit disproportionately with regional transmission costs. This bill will reduce our demand and cut costs and need in the long term.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR AVARD: Senator Kahn, thank you for taking my question. I just want to refresh my memory, because you served on that committee. We did learn that transmission costs went up either 4 or 500 percent? Do you recall the amount? Was it 555 percent?

SENATOR KAHN: For New Hampshire?

SENATOR AVARD: Yes.

SENATOR KAHN: Oh that sounds high. I'm going to rely on you on that number.

SENATOR AVARD: I'm going to say yes to that.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you for answering the question.

SENATOR AVARD: I'm glad we had this talk. New Hampshire's commitment, do you recall the commitment that we had to the transmission costs, was it about 9 or a little bit more than 9 percent?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes, and I think it was ten and a half.

SENATOR AVARD: Okay, my understanding was it was 9.6, but it was up there. And final question, Mister President, if I may. I believe the consumer advocate came in at one point and testified that for every dollar that we spend on energy efficiency, we gain four dollars in savings. Do you recall that?

SENATOR KAHN: I do.

SENATOR AVARD: Would you believe?

SENATOR KAHN: And I did believe. I think you're questions are reinforcing when I think everybody who served on that committee had to walk away with the impression. Had we been investing these dollars in the same way that other states were, our overall transmission costs would have been the same proportion as they had been on our energy bill. But as a result of not having made those investments, and the increased share of the overall grid's distribution costs for New England, it was, it's costing our ratepayers, and this does seem like an action that will make us more competitive on energy efficiency, provide more incentives for energy efficiency and temper our overall share of the grid's costs.

SENATOR AVARD: And Senator, thank you for putting up with me here. It is my understanding through testimony that there was the potential of $4.6 billion of new transmission costs coming our way. Is that correct?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes, my recall as well.

SENATOR AVARD: So to mitigate that would be the thing to do to lower energy costs?

SENATOR KAHN: To be more efficient, yes.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in support of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. I heard from my friend from District 20 about a school that's 160 years old. Well, Mister President, I just did the math and I own a building that's 203 years old, because I love old buildings, Senator. You know I love old things. I don't like all this new interweb stuff and technology. But the problem I have is as we continue to see, another hidden tax, hidden behind the curtain, provided to the politically connected or taking taxes and spending them on more government projects or taking taxes, spending on more government buildings. We hear every single day, in fact the Governor's ten year plan came out a couple of weeks ago. Our energy costs are some of the highest in the country. We're hearing from business owner after business owner after business owner, manufacturers, distributors, all walks, the economic engine of our state, they can't afford it anymore. It's too high. And we're here to tell you, we all know everyone in this room knows, we have some of the highest electric rates in America. So why is this body always trying to put more taxes on it? Why is this body always trying to take the money and redistribute it to one group or another group? Why don't we just try and cut the cost? You know it's funny because I hear all this stuff about energy efficiency and I, Mister President, I try to do the best I can. I truly do. I've taken properties that I own and gone out and spent $1,000 on energy lightbulbs, and saved 50 bucks. When I start doing the math about energy efficiency, we need to be spending more time making sure that as I say from time to time, Senator French, that the juice is worth the squeeze. That the money we are investing, we're actually getting something back for that's more than just feeling good. Because at the end of the day, passing good policy might make us feel good, but if it's not solving the problem we fail the people of this state. So Mister President, because of that I like everyone else wants to see lower energy costs. I want to see us have a smaller impact. But I don't want to pass legislation that makes it look like frosting on the cake, and for that I will continue to support the ITL.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Unfortunately this bill didn't have an opportunity to come to the Energy and Natural Resources Committee, so I'm getting to this a little bit late. But I was the architect several years ago of the compromise that kept us in REGI, because we're going to pay for it anyway in rates because it's tied into the generation costs and if a state opts out of REGI, our money from New Hampshire would go to other states, so we stayed in. Makes sense. But we rebated anything over a dollar for the allowances back to customers. And so the pool is not as big as some people would have wanted for energy efficiency. That's what the problem is, and so now that compromise which I think has stood the test of time because I think it was done in 2012, is proposed to be taken away. And so all of the REGI auction proceeds would go to energy and efficiency. Now I'm not going to stand here and tell you that energy efficiency's not a very laudable goal. But to think that passage of this bill is going to definitely lead to a decrease in transmission costs, may help, possibly but that's kind of a leap too far for me. So thinking that this is cost neutral, seeing is believing, and I'm not sure I'm believing. But I do know one thing, it'll lead to higher electric costs. It will lead to higher electric costs for everybody.

There have been past versions of this bill that re-allocated the money to large users. But retail customers, we're going pick up more of the cost. We defeated that in the past. This one would raise the cost for all customers, retail, small customers, residential, medium sized businesses and large businesses. Now if I've listened to the debate, you'd think we're not doing anything for energy efficiency. That could not be further from the truth. The Public Utilities Commission just adopted I think it was maybe a year ago, the Energy Efficiency Resource Standard which is in the process of being implemented. I would much rather see a program that is fully vetted and fully accountable through the PUC process where utilities have to answer for every penny of expenditures as opposed to as our friend from Bedford said, a program that has far less oversight in the distribution of the dollars. So if you want an increase in electricity costs, then vote against Inexpedient to Legislate. If you want less oversight at the PUC, vote against Inexpedient. But if you agree with me that high energy costs are a problem, this is one area where we don't need to go and if you agree with me that we're already doing a lot for energy efficiency I hope you will support the 3-3 motion of Inexpedient. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, this money goes through the PUC's core docket, with oversight of the PUC. These are cost effective programs that are award winning at the Public Utilities Commission. Cost effective investments with oversight by the Public Utilities Commission. And it will cut costs in the mid to long term.

It will. And it's unfortunate it didn't go to Energy because that was the balance of the testimony, including from Dick Henry and others talking about the medium to long term. And we are last in New England on energy efficiency, which is part of the reason why our regional demand, and our regional transmission costs are skyrocketing. The highest driver in our electric bills. You want to cut costs? Sure, you're not going to cut costs in the short term but in the medium to long term you will cut costs. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Do you recall me asking a question of the sponsor as to how much the $8,000, or how long, this would back up? The sponsor indicated that an average household would take $8,000 to make it energy efficient. Do you remember his answer when I asked him how long it would take to reach a crossover point where you got that $8,000 back?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you for the question. I actually, Iris was sick and I had her and she, I was not in the room at that time, she was, so I don't recall that question or that answer. I missed part of that exchange. I can answer having worked in the low income energy efficiency programs that in fact, the cost benefit ratio is well above the investment that you put in and that low income folks don't have the money up front to invest, to do the energy efficiency measures that result in 30 percent, sometimes up to 40 percent energy reduction. Which by the way, there's a reason why foreclosures for non-payment of mortgages and evictions for non-payment of rents spike in the spring time in New Hampshire because people are struggling to afford to heat their homes in the wintertime. There's an over 10,000 person waiting list for low income weatherization and energy efficiency services. And so this would go to good use, it would go to help reduce burden on property tax payers and so I think, on balance and mid to long term, it will cut rates.

SENATOR DANIELS: Would you believe that the sponsor had no answer to that, and that the payback period could be twenty years or more to reach that crossover, break point?

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Thank you, Senator Daniels. Again the reduction in energy bills for low income residential households is about 30 to 40 percent depending on the household. And, so you have to look at their energy bills, over the course of time in comparison to the investment. But life for the measures is twenty-five to thirty years. There is a payback, it's been evaluated, it is cost beneficial, net cost beneficial, even for low income households and again, it all flows through the PUC oversighted core docket, oversight by the PUC, award winning programs.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you for taking my question, Senator. You know I look to you, energy isn't in my wheelhouse and I look to you a lot for, we don't always agree, as we haven't over the last few weeks, but I do look to you. You're going to be a newlywed soon you have tons of energy. I've been listening to Senator Feltes and he has a compelling argument. On the long term and midterm transmission reduction costs. And so I'm thinking I'm pennywise and pound foolish if I don't listen to him. Where am I off on that?

SENATOR BRADLEY: You know I think that the energy efficiency resource standard that the Public Utilities Commission did a really good job of bringing all the parties together in a docket. We're going to be seeing you know, price increases in our bills as a result of this through the system's benefits charge. So, I think that we don't need to re-allocate these dollars, we should keep the ratepayer, customer, taxpayer protection that was in the original version of this bill several years ago that has the one dollar threshold and I believe that energy efficiency is doing just fine in New Hampshire, we are growing pretty quickly with this new EERS standard adopted by the PUC.

SENATOR GANNON: How much will, if we don't do this, how much is it going to save the taxpayer? Do you have a rough idea, individual household?

SENATOR BRADLEY: I'd have to look through the testimony. I think it was in the range of 8 to $10 million.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you.

Recess. Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the current motion. Hope we can pass this. I just wanted to reference quickly some things in my district. I have Community Action Partners in Strafford County which helps people of low income get their houses weatherized and I just had a meeting with Community Action Partners a couple weeks ago and we heard that indeed because of what they've done on energy efficient people are staying in their homes. They're not losing their homes. Secondly, Seacoast New Hampshire some of you may know because of its economic growth in advanced manufacturing and a lot of other things going on over there, is anticipated by Eversource to see its energy use grow by 25 percent over the next couple of decades, 25 percent. Now my colleague from District 3 references the potential slight increase here to ratepayers, but you know, I don't think we need any reminder that yeah okay, how much you pay for energy does have to do with transmission costs and it does have to do with the cost of electricity itself. But your overall usage of electricity has a heck of a lot more to do with how much you pay in a given year. So if we're looking at 25 percent increase potential of energy use and we're already struggling with high rates, we certainly had better do everything that we can on efficiency. It is hard for me to understand how Dover or Somersworth or Barrington or Rollinsford could be able to continue to heat the buildings they have, some which are pretty old, some which are newer, but nonetheless, 25 percent increase in energy use, the taxpayers in my tax cap communities won't be able to deal with that, it's got to come through efficiency. This is a good investment, we know it works, we know it works. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Just briefly, Mister President. Yes, the Senator from District 3 is correct that in the short term there is on the average kwh residential bill, about a 70-cent potential loss of rebates, however, in the medium to long term this cuts rates. So you can choose, keep the miniscule rebates or cut rates overall in the mid to long term. That's the choice. That's the choice that we have today. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. Very briefly, while we just had the previous speaker talk about cutting the rates, I draw your attention to the fiscal note which indicates that there will be a 747 per month on average increase for the largest commercial and industrial class. I don't think that's the direction we want to go as we're trying to keep businesses in state. Thank you, Mister President.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: I think this is more a parliamentary inquiry. If I support protecting all classes of customers from this rate increase, if I know that we're investing heavily through the energy efficiency resource standard in energy efficiency, would I now support the Inexpedient motion, by voting yes on the pending question?

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of House Bill 559, you're going to say aye. If you're opposed you're going to say nay. If you're in favor of Inexpedient.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. If I believe that turning down my thermostat and weatherizing my home will save me money over the long run, by producing energy efficiency, would I vote against this Inexpedient to Legislate and request another movement? Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: If you're in favor of Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 559 you're going to say aye. If you're opposed you're going to say nay.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Reagan, Birdsell, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Gannon.

Roll Call, Yeas: 13 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

HB 628-FN, relative to a family and medical leave insurance program. Interim Study, Vote 4-2. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 628 be re-referred to Interim Study. The bill sought to establish a system of paid family and medical leave insurance. In deliberating the bill, committee members first reviewed an amendment which addressed particular concerns brought up during the public hearing. These concerns include giving additional flexibility to the Department of Employment Security to adjust the percentage of wages for a participating employee per week, adding an additional opt out window every three years and eliminating the need for a notary for the opt out form, allowing DES to contract with a third party for the administration of the fund and the formation of a working group to advise the advisory council. Committee members expressed apprehension with the cost of the program, a possible lack of participation by high wage earners, unknown future risk and the solvency of the proposal. Private businesses can already provide such a benefit to help them remain competitive during the current workforce shortage. Keeping in mind that these unanswered questions and to avoid placing additional burdensome regulation and mandates on New Hampshire's small businesses a majority of the Senate Finance Committee recommends House Bill 628 be re-referred to Interim Study and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister Chair. I stand in opposition to the Interim Study motion for House Bill 628. You know in 1982, I was graduating from a Master's Degree program in which I actually wrote a thesis on the difficulties between home and work balance. At the time I had a newborn, and by the time I finished all of my graduate work I had a two-year-old and a five-year-old. We were living at the time and for some time after that, on a day to day basis, wondering whether a crisis might occur in which we would lose our home because we had no back up in terms of what might happen if we had another child and one of us had to stay home, or if we couldn't afford the child care that we had to hire. Women who take paid family leave are 39 percent less likely to report public assistance receipt and 40 percent less likely to receive food stamps in the year that they give birth.

I would like to read from a doctor, a pediatrician who is also the President of the New Hampshire Pediatric Society about this issue. His name is Doctor Steven Chapman and I know him personally, he's quite a remarkable physician. He has served his families in New Hampshire as a pediatrician for over twenty years, and sees firsthand the challenges families face while balancing work and welcoming a new baby. Doctor Chapman's clinical experience reinforces scientific findings that children need their parents at critical times in their lives, whether in the important weeks following birth or when recovering from serious illness. According to the Federal Reserve 47 percent of people cannot afford an unexpected $400 expense, and we certainly could not have in those early days. Too many parents simply can't afford to lose wages while facing a crisis with their children's health. Doctor Steven Chapman said when children are seriously ill or suffer from chronic illness, having a parent by their side makes a significant difference in their recovery. And that's what I've seen as well, working with families of this sort. At the same time paid leave reduces parents' stress levels in these difficult circumstances. Yet lacking paid leave, I have seen many parents make the heart wrenching decision to leave their sick children alone in the hospital in order to preserve their family's economic security. I would hope for this body that none of us ever has to make that choice between what is right for our family, our children, especially our sick children and keeping our jobs and being able to support our family financially. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Cavanaugh.)

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I ask my colleagues to vote no on the Interim Study and support the paid family medical leave. I have two quick stories Mister President, this first one about a family in your hometown of Salem. Stacey Credit Neville, she was pregnant with their second child, she was preparing for her second child. She had everything planned she saved her vacation time, but she ran into complications after a C-section which extended her recovery time. Her husband did the same thing, he saved his vacation time, he had everything planned so he could take some time with his newborn and second child. Because of this extended recovery time he had to use all his vacation time, his wife had to use all her vacation time extended into unpaid time. So you have two people working, caring for their kids and recovering, staying home now with no pay. It's just devastating for this family.

And now personally for me, three years ago my wife was diagnosed with cancer. In 2015 our kids were seventeen, thirteen and twelve. Ten days after she was diagnosed, she was in Boston having surgery. This gave us little time to plan, and we had to scrape together all the help we could from friends and family. I'm sorry, I'm trying to keep it together, it's tough every time. This created turmoil and uncertainty for our kids. It was very difficult. If we could have had four weeks of paid time, have this time to heal physically and emotionally as a family, it would have helped incredibly. It's not unique to me, it's not unique to my family, it's not unique to residents of Salem. This would help every family in the state and I ask my colleagues to please, we need this, please support paid family medical leave. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I'll also rise in opposition to the motion of Interim Study. I'm sure that many of you know, have met Kerry Norton, who's the program director and founder of Hope on Haven Hill, I'm sure she's especially well known to the Senator from District 6, but you may not know part of her life story. Her son suffered an overdose from heroin, they knew he needed to get out of patient treatment and start his recovery. Now fortunately the son did have an employer who offered him paid leave, he was able to take the time off he needed for his recovery and after finishing treatment he returned to work in two months offered a raise and promotion. However, his mother, Kerry did not have such an opportunity, she exhausted all of her own paid vacation days, took unpaid time off in order to care for her grandson. She says, my family was nearly destroyed by substance use disorder, both personally and professionally I have seen the effects of having or not having paid family leave and medical leave and influence this one policy has on treatment success. And we see what she has done there. This facility now for residential treatment facility for pregnant women with substance abuse disorder, children under five in there and newborn. She's certainly a saint among us and should anyone go through what she had to go through without paid family leave. And I would also say, my own family, my wife, her stepmother, long slow death from cancer and she did not get leave. So every moment she had she could get there, it wasn't really what Peg needed at that time it was just by God's providence that she happened to be there the afternoon that Peg passed. And then another family member who was having serious medical problems, employer did not offer paid medical and family leave and I can tell you that nearly tore apart my family. This is a good program, it will fund itself, people need it, it's not just the individuals who hear the stories of their suffering and consequences of not having it, but it is what we can do for some security for so many families in New Hampshire. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the motion of Interim Study. I want to begin with a story of Kurt Sundstrom. Kurt, you may recall if you were at the public hearing waited the entire four hours to testify at the end and provide his story. Kurt, three and a half years ago, his wife Jody, took his wife Jody to see a doctor as she was complaining of dizziness. Test revealed that she had glioblastoma, multi form 4, an aggressive cancer and learned she might expect to live only twelve or eighteen months. At the time they were raising an eleven year old son and their extended family all lived out of state. Kurt's employer did not offer paid family and medical leave and the family having once relied on two incomes could not afford to have Kurt take any unpaid leave. Kurt had to fly in family members to help with child care and end of life care for Jody, so that Kurt could work and continue to pay their bills. This kept him from spending time together with his son and wife in her last months of life. Kurt's quote is this; "When all you can do is huddle with family and take advantage of every last minute you have left together, being compelled to work full time job in order to maintain financial solvency is the cruelest demand I could have ever imagined." Stories like Kurt's all across our state, and what we've heard in opposition to this bill is there's no certification. There's no guarantee.

Today, I was just shown a column that the Senate President did. It's called a boondoggle. I don't think paid family leave is a boondoggle. I think what we've seen throughout the process, is study after study after actuarial study. An actuarial study that looked at participation rates at 100, 70 percent and 35 percent. Mandatory and then less than mandatory, voluntary system. What we've seen is that the Department of Employment Security is taking no official position on this bill. They are "neutral," and you've seen them come in and oppose bills that are insolvent with respect to unemployment insurance, but they're neutral, here they're neutral, they just can't "certify to the exact participation rate." We know that the stress testing of the model once you shave off the top 20 percent of income earners is solvent. We know that the estimates of participation rate for employment security is 70 percent but the estimates of participation rate from insurance is 75 to 85 percent, and in all those estimated participation rates it works. There is study after study after study, and you know what? Employment Security recommended some changes in the House and those were adopted. And then we get a letter from insurance that said hey, maybe do another study, and then at a meeting with the Insurance Department, they acknowledged, we didn't read your actuarial study. We didn't read it. But yet, maybe do another study. Every time this comes up, study it more, study it more, study it more, study it more, it's time to act.

And we heard that well, maybe private insurance can do this, despite the fact for a hundred plus years they haven't, and we've heard lobbying from the insurance company lobbyist, privately. Didn't show up to testify at a public hearing. Why? Because they'd probably have to admit that their product is very narrowly tailored, it doesn't do what this bill does, there's a gap in the market to the extent that they even do it, they're cream skimming looking for businesses of a hundred plus employees. That's why small businesses support this by and large, Mister President. Hundreds of small businesses across the state who don't have access to the ability to provide family medical leave insurance support this. And we talk about let's give the private insurance industry another chance after a hundred plus years of not doing it. You know what we did? We did that in an amendment that the Senate Finance Committee voted down. It allows for third party administration, including by insurance carriers of this particular product. We did that. It was voted down in committee. Tammy has it up there right now, we can reverse Interim Study and we can vote on it. It's not my language either Mister President, it's Neal Kurk's, Representative Neal Kurk's language, Chair of House Finance, that sentence on privatization. This concept's been around forever. Also, in the amendment, there's a ban to allow some discretion for employment security. Makes them function more like insurance with greater opportunity to opt out and there's a working group that can provide advice in council to the unemployment insurance advisory council and the Department of Employment Security.

So, do we have a certification of perfection? No. Do we let perfect be the enemy of the good? Oftentimes we don't but on family leave we're going to. We're going to say this needs to be perfect, that we need a certification of exactly what the participation rate is. The reality is, is of course all of these studies are forecasted to cover a wide range of situations and that's why the program's designed with close oversight so adjustments can be made in a timely orderly fashion over time. If perfection is what we're striving to, we'll never pass family and medical leave insurance, including our bipartisan family and medical leave insurance bill that's here right now.

And certification, where's the certification on our revenue estimates, that we do, Mister President? We needed Senator D'Allesandro and I's revenue estimates have been the most accurate the last couple of budgets. We didn't certify, we didn't guarantee them. We didn't sign something certifying they're going to exactly be that. Where's the certification on the tax cuts, the business tax cuts and the revenue loss? No certification on that, just went right ahead and did it. Well here's what I can certify to; small businesses all across New Hampshire need a level playing field to provide family and medical leave insurance. I can certify that there's people like Kurt Sundstrom, thousands of them, right now, without access to family leave in a time that they need it most. I can certify that we value work and we value family and we should also value the proposition, you shouldn't have to choose between the two if all possible. I can certify that this, it's going to happen. It may not happen today. We have an opportunity to be part of, I know Governor Sununu opposes paid family leave, I know the Senate President does, you have an opportunity to vote your conscience, and be part of this, and be on the right side of history. This is going to happen, let's make it happen today, let's not put up this boondoggle of a smokescreen with these talking points to say study it more. Working families have had it studied for twenty years. It's time to move forward. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise as I always do on behalf of the citizens of District 13 in Nashua. And I want to share the voice of one of those women in my district, her name is Nikki Casey and she lives in Nashua. And I want to quote that she said, "My recovery would have been a lot easier if I'd been able to take the time I needed to get better without the fear of losing my job and the income I rely on." As we've heard she's not alone. Nikki struggled with addiction but was too afraid to ask for help for fear of losing her job. Her alcoholism cause her to lose it anyway. She was out of the workforce for six months, in and out of recovery programs, etcetera. And with Road to Recovery she finally got on that, the Road to Recovery would have been a lot easier if she'd been able to take paid family and medical leave from work to care for her mental health and her substance abuse. We know only too well that substance use disorder is taking a toll on too many New Hampshire families. Recovery programs and services are critical, but too many workers do not have the support of workplace or the ability to maintain their income while seeking treatment. A family and medical leave insurance program would be a critical tool in combatting our state's opioid and substance abuse crisis, and give New Hampshire families the security they need to overcome their illnesses. So I urge you to vote against the Interim Study. Lord knows we've been studying it since the turn of the century. Now is the time to again vote against Interim Study and we can take another motion on Ought to Pass and give New Hampshire families the security that they need. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the Interim Study recommendation, and want to tell a story about Val Zanchuk. You probably know Val, because he's the immediate past president of the Business and Industry Association in New Hampshire. And for the last fifteen years Val and I have worked on workforce development issues, not just statewide but particularly in the Monadnock Region. Val is the, he's a resident of Concord and he's the President of Graphicast. Graphicast is in Jaffrey, New Hampshire. Val employs in Graphicast, twenty-two full time employees and he is known for offering good wages, good benefits, trying to retain his workforce. Last year one of Val's employees got married to a woman who had a child with special needs. This was a stressful transition for the employee who was a dedicated employee but also a dedicated father to his new daughter. He tried to juggle all of his responsibilities but he was noticeably stressed. If Graphicast had been able to offer paid family and medical leave it might have helped him with his transition but unfortunately the employee ended up taking his own life. Val's' quote is "family and medical leave insurance would give me the peace of mind knowing my employees have a safety net in the event that they face an unavoidable medical or life crisis."

Graphicast and Val as a valued employer, it's not uncommon in my region of the state. Seventy-five percent of the Greater Keene Chamber of Commerce membership, which numbers nearly 600 businesses, but 75 percent of them employ less than twenty-five people. They need a low risk affordable access to family and medical leave to enable that size a business in Cheshire County to provide an important employee retention incentive. That's what this is. It's about workforce retention. In this case this was a life or death decision. This can be a life and death decision for New Hampshire residents and employees, but it is also a vital business economic tool that we need to have for the small businesses that dominate the workforce scene in this state. I think we need to pass this family and medical leave insurance. In the name of those who I represent in my Monadnock Region, I need to try and defeat this Interim Study. I ask you to join me and I ask you then take a motion of Ought to Pass on family and medical leave. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I want to state before I begin speaking that I may have a conflict on this issue. I want to declare that, but I will speak to the issue and I will participate in the discussion. Thank you. First of all, let me say this. I respect everybody's opinion. I think everybody should have an opinion, they should express their opinion, that's what democracy's all about. So anybody and everybody should be speaking out on this particular situation. It's very important that we hear all sides of the issue.

But let me tell you about the basic sociological term that we're talking about; family. What's the basic unit of society? Isn't it family? Keeping that family together and doing everything we can to keep that family together should be the aim of every individual here. Really every individual in our state, in our country. Keep families together. What's the great problem in keeping families together? A, there's a health situation. That health situation might cause a negative economic situation. And what do you do in a negative economic situation? If you have leave, you take advantage of it and hope that it keeps the family together, but if you don't you fight, and it causes a disturbance in the family, and what happens? The family separates.

I want to talk about two situations. One of a positive nature, one of a very negative nature. The positive situation involved my family. We had a pregnancy that was very, very troubling. And in the end our grandson had to be delivered in Boston at Massachusetts Children's Hospital. A totally unintended situation, a totally unaccounted for situation. But because of the fact that we had resources, we were able to live through it. Think of your little child in the neo-intensive unit of a hospital, in that little box with all of those tubes coming out of him and saying I've got to be there, I've got to be there, I can't be at a job. I've got to be there. And I've got to be there 24/7, because if I'm not and something happens I hold myself responsible. Well my kid was able to be there, because she had a husband that had a good job. There wasn't any medical leave but she was there. Thankfully, the child survived, the family survived, the happiness generated from that survival is just something that's pervasive in our family. It's pervasive, everybody's happy.

Then we have another situation of a person in Manchester, a constituent of mine, a woman who I have met. She has difficulty with a pregnancy, a child is born with a series of very, very serious problems. They don't have any money. Family medical leave would have allowed for at least them to stay and watch over the child. The child eventually passes away, child dies. They don't have enough money for a funeral, they don't have enough money to do a lot of things. Had medical family leave been present at least they would have had something, they would have had something to latch onto.

We don't have perfection here. How many times has the Senator from District 3 said, we can't make it perfect, but we do everything we can to make it so that it works? The President does what he can to make things work. I have total confidence in him. We as a body have got to do everything we can to make this work. And it's going to happen, it's going to happen. Every civilized nation in the world has this, they have it. Some say, well we have short term disability, we've got short-term disability, but what if you can't? We need something, we need something. And as I said, you know the thing about life is this; if you don't have your family, where the Hell are you going? Where are you going? And I'm so lucky, you know I'm so lucky, and have been the beneficiary of many good things. So I want to share that. I want to share that with the people I represent, but not only with that, with everybody in the state, because that's what I'm here for. That's why the people elect me. They elect me to do what I can to make their lives better, or to make their lives tenable. And we've got to do that. Now as I said, we strive for perfection, we strive for perfection, but nobody's perfect. Nobody's perfect. But we try to get to that middle ground, that middle ground that does what we all want, makes things better for people.

Mister President, if we don't turn this over, I say to all of my colleagues, if we're going to study this, we better study it long and hard because it's going to happen, and we want to make it the best that we can do. Concessions have been made, you know I wasn't involved in these negotiations that took place, it never came to our committee until it came to Finance. But indeed, the process goes on. The process goes on just as we're all going to get gray hair, it's all a process, but it's going to happen and I think in this situation, it's going to happen. But indeed, we can't take care of those that have had losses, we can't make up for that, but what we can do is make sure that those things don't happen in the future. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the committee recommendation of Inexpedient to Legislate. Also rise in complete agreement and support of the Dean's remarks and of the remarks of every Senator who brings forward situations and cases of families that have been devastated by health or other events. But at the end of the day, we have an obligation to make sure that whatever we do implement, will work and not fail down the road. We have a stunning example of just such a situation with the Affordable Care Act, with the underlying assumptions and premises that we use to model the financial model itself, in fact turn out to be fatally flawed, producing the collapse of one exchange after another throughout the country. A wonderful idea, but the assumptions were flawed. And on Finance, okay, we have the difficult task of taking what could be a wonderful program for our families and marrying that to the reality, the hard reality, sometimes the harsh reality, of financial wherewithal. And it's to this point that I will speak primarily.

I personally, and I know others, have studied exhaustively the underlying assumptions in the mark. Doctor Hayes' assumptions. The four states that we used all have mandatory, mandatory participation 100 percent across an entirety of the workforce, no options. Doctor Hayes' reports specifically states in the numerous places, do not use this report as the basis for a voluntary system because it isn't relevant and there is no data. And so for that reason I took it upon myself to work with the Department of Employment Security and develop models of what might possibly happen. The Affordable Care Act failed because the young people didn't think it would benefit them so they chose to take the penalty instead of pay the premiums. In this model that was presented initially, we modeled 100 percent participation voluntarily on down to ten percent and in that model the reduction in participation is taken equally from the top and bottom ends of the economic spectrum. That is a flaw, a serious flaw, because the benefits are capped and those who would contribute most to the program financially are those that would most likely not participate because the benefit is capped. So we modeled it to say the top 20 percent was the first 20 percent. And what turned out of that was that at a 5.5 week, parenthetically the single most utilized period of time in the leave process okay, across the four states that were modeled. We found that it would require 80 percent voluntary participation.

Based on the Affordable Care Act experience, based upon the models that were put forth, this is not financially tenable. It's also suggested that the commissioner be made responsible for setting the rate and in no uncertain terms whatsoever, both the Commissioner of Insurance and the Assistant Commissioner of the Department of Employment Security balked at being made the linchpin in a $160 million experiment, with no actuarial basis whatsoever except conjecture that we could somehow translate the mandatory program with four states and decades of experience into a voluntary program. The economics of it do not work. The underlying principles as far as humanitarianism and taking care of our neighbor and our brother and our sister are compelling. I believe that and I have committed at a meeting at which Senator Feltes was in attendance in part, with the Commissioner of Insurance and two people from that agency with the Assistant Commissioner from Employment Security and with all the stakeholders, including Doctor Shapiro. Now we're going to move forward and we're going to go for a request for information from the insurance companies in the private sector, okay, to determine what is feasible. Because they're balking has been primarily that they see this possible product as competition for the short term disability. And so we are moving forward, information is starting to flow, an RFI will hopefully be developed within the next several weeks to go out because nobody in this room Mister President, believes that caring for our families in times of crisis is a bad thing. But I would equally submit that no one on this room thinks we should do it irresponsibly with really no supporting data that puts the state at risk for $160 million program and we do a more severe injustice to those who depended upon it should it fail. You're absolutely correct, there are no guarantees but there are much better ways of modeling this, much more accurately with the insurance professionals who do this for a living. Hence we want to know what questions they have to shape the product that we'd like to have. That will enable us to build a factual basis and move forward so that we can pursue this objective with vigor, with the intent to complete a project that will produce what we want to the citizens of our state. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I'll leave the Senator from District 2 to do the numbers in more detail and I will just talk more. La Familia. I agree with you Senator from District 20. You're a good man and family first. I wouldn't be here without my family and many times I've been in need and I go to my father was like you and I would feel I could go to the family first. I don't look to the government, as you would say earlier. I look to the family first, I would like families to help families before they turn to the government. So I looked at my, everyone else gave little anecdotal evidence and so I looked at my own family. What's happened in the last eighteen years of my life? We've had four births, we have a child with an eating disorder, one we one we had had leukemia, and then let's see what else happened. Last year as you know my Dad moved in, he died, my mom has Alzheimer's. I would have went to the well for this nine out of the last eighteen years. So if say a family like mine, we'll just say I make 100,000 with my wife it would leave $335 to pay for our family medical leave. The money wouldn't be there, I'm sure other families, they have, there's people with drug problems, so if I was going to use it nine out of eighteen, how many families are going to use it ten or eleven, twelve times. The money just isn't there under the formula that you have. It just fails. So that's going to then put it on the, it's either going to have to be the taxpayers who are going to have to come forward and I think if you guys were more honest, you would say that it's not going to work, it would be the taxpayers or businesses, my other problems with this, it's really not a voluntary program. You're asking if it was an opt-in, that would be a voluntary program and I could accept that much easier also. And that's about it, that's good enough, but I just, there is another argument and again, I don't see if you were an average family like me and I have a wonderful life with very few problems, if I'm nine out of eighteen, someone else is going to be eleven, twelve, thirteen and this system just doesn't support that. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I too rise in opposition to the Interim Study motion and I do so for a number of reasons, but most important would because I think the study has been done and I think the House did a very thorough job, not just on this piece of legislation, but on preceding pieces of legislation trying to work through a system that would be voluntary, that would address issues like competition for short term disability, that would provide a funding mechanism, that wouldn't be dependent on government subsidy, that work has been done and this product is before us today and is a result of many, many, many, many people spending many, many hours answering all of the questions that have been asked.

I do want to share a story with though about a family that was impacted by terrible situation, a health care situation. The woman's name is Reagan Burke and when her son Ethan was three he suffered a major stroke and was hospitalized for six weeks. Neither of Ethan's parents, her mother or his father had access to paid family leave, so they each had to return to work even though their child was still dangerously ill and in the hospital and they could have lost their child at any time, and yet they couldn't sustain their families. When Ethan was eight, he passed away suddenly and during that time of unbearable grief the family had to depend on their extended family. They did depend on family. Not only for their emotional support, but to avoid financial ruin. That's just one of many stories, you've heard many stories here today from my colleagues. And you know a lot of this debate has been about people having to make choices, having to make tough choices. But I don't see this as just about choices, because people are making those every day. Some of us in this very room have had to make tough choices about working, about caring for elder parents, about caring for children, about caring for spouses. But I think what this legislation is really about, is about options. Is about providing a system so that when confronted with the most challenging and emotional and financially straining situations, there is an option for families here in this room, for families across the state. Families are going to have to make choices no matter what. Things happen and they happen at very untimely circumstances. But please, please give New Hampshire families who are confronted with horrific choices an option. Give them the option by passing this important piece of legislation today. Families in New Hampshire deserve that. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I appreciate all the conversations and all the comments that everyone has today and all of their stories about people who have experienced bad things to really great people. I don't believe there's a family in this room and frankly I don't believe there's a family that hasn't had some real challenges in their life. And we would all love to find a way to take away all their pain and all their sickness and all their challenges. I know we all would. So from a policy perspective I know we're all on the same page. The question's always Mister President, how do we get there, and how do we make something happen? Now as part of this debate that we're having today and I truly appreciate the respectfulness that we're having it, I've had a little frustration Mister President, that this is underlying a current, that when people get in trouble, their employer doesn't step up and help them, their family doesn't step up and help them, the people in their community hasn't stepped up. So I can tell you that people do step up, employers do step up, families do step up. You know I know a business owner, down in Manchester, New Hampshire, who one of his employees got Crohn's Disease, and you know Mister President, we've been having a conversation recently about Crohn's Disease and compounding and it's a challenge that's costing upwards of 18 to $20,000 per application for it. And this business owner came to me and said look I'm not infinitely wealthy, but I'm going to find a way to make sure that my employee gets the care they need and makes it work. And in fact actually invested and became someone who created a new place to provide that service for like $3,000 because they went to bat for their employer.

I know another employer who saw a traumatic event happening for their employees. Stepped up to the plate, got that employee their own apartment, bought them a car, made sure that they could find their way to come to work during some challenges in their life. Now Mister President, I will also submit, just like my friend for Senate District 23 has had, kind of took stock about how my company's been running and what's been happening. In the past year we've had two deaths in my company, we've had two people with cancer, we've had a baby, we've had a chronic illness and a host of other things. Now Mister President, in my company, because I believe like you and I know that you are as well, we care for our employees. It is personal, and we do what it takes to make it happen. Now in my company Mister President, I offer unlimited vacation time, I offer unlimited sick time. Because we have a cohesive unit that I'm so incredibly proud of, that my management team, my co-workers have been there for our employees, to make sure when they've had to travel to Pennsylvania for the death of a parent that not only did we pay them, we covered them for the time they needed to take off. That we've helped our employees get medical treatment, have medical treatment and managed and reconfigured everything we have need to do to make it work. And I believe, sincerely believe, that the employers in this state do this. Is there an occasion from time to time when things go sideways? Absolutely, there always is. But I believe in the people of this state, I believe in the employees, I believe in the co-workers, I believe in the families, I believe in our churches, that we do not leave our people out to languish.

Now Mister President, part of my challenge when I'm hearing this debate, about what this specific program would do I asked is would it really work? Because we know that actually only four states Mister President, only four states in America have done this. California, New Jersey, Rhode Island, New York. Mister President, I've got to be honest, I'm not sure I look at those states as a model of economic and financial capability. Now we also know that Washington State did the same thing, and yet I've heard precious little in the debate about how Washington State passed the paid family medical leave program in 2007 Mister President, and they still have yet to make the program kick off or work, because they can't even find a funding source for it. And Mister President, I think that's part of the debate we should, we're having today. The best intentions, a wonderful thing, but every single financial model I've heard discussed both in the House and the Senate have asked the same question; how do we pay for it? The sheer size of it, by up to fifty employees, up to $50 million set up fee. The fact that we've talked about taxing people's personal income from fifty basis points to sixty-seven basis points to what do we need to do, where do we need to go to make it work? We've heard from the Senator from District number 2 talking about the rate of compliance to make it work. We don't have a program Mister President, that I'm aware of that requires an 80 percent participation rate of every single employee in our state to make something work. It makes me concerned. How do you get the 80 percent? How do you get to 80 percent, without making it mandatory? How do you get out of it if you're in it? I know we want to make something work, I know we're all concerned. But from everything I have heard in this program from everything we have seen in Washington State, from the states that are doing it. The program that is in front of us today is not financially capable of working. It's not going to provide the assurance that we have to give everybody that we're going to create a program that is sustainable.

You know and finally Mister President, I've taken to questioning some of the statistics we see from time to time when I hear 80 percent of the people or 86 percent of the people want this program or that program, and so Mister President, I turn to my employees and said to them, how do you feel about getting a paid medical leave program? Because we all know, because in my company we all are pretty intimate about the challenges we have, and they said well that would be great. And I said okay, well how do you feel if I'm going to tax your income in order to pay for it? And then all of a sudden the questions started coming up, well wait a second. How much of a tax on my income, how much are you taking, can I get on, can I get off, how does it work? So our employees understand the difference between a nicety and what you have to pay to get it. They understand that. And what I hope as everyone continues to support the Interim Study motion, is that you all can continue to talk about it and see if there is a program. Try to figure out why the private insurance industry doesn't offer this. Because in America, in a free market society, if it works, they tend to do it. Heck, even those little spinner things I see selling on convenience stores today, we're selling things we don't even need.

So, Mister President, at the end of the day, our obligation isn't just to look at something that we like in concept, it's to create a program that actually justifies both ends of the requirement. Raising the money, making the restrictions, building the program and the benefits that it provides, and clearly I have not heard in the debate that the first half is at a place where it's workable today. Because if we're going to impose a tax on people's income, if we're going to impose a near mandate for people to get into, if we're to make it virtually impossible for people to get out of it, we have to make sure that we're doing the right thing. So Mister President, I ask the body to support the motion of Interim Study, and let's continue the conversation, because I'm just not sure we are where we need to be yet today. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition. Yesterday in the Statehouse we celebrated 4H, a great program that's mission is to engage youth to reach its fullest potential. It was started in 1902 as a way to introduce agricultural discoveries to old time farmers who were reluctant to accept new science-based ideas. Doesn't that sound familiar? The Senator from District 4 and I got in a little discussion. We were trying to remember what each of the H's stood for. It wasn't easy. Head, heart, health, but the last one stumped us. And it became a good reminder, the rubric to this discussion. Health, that's obvious. Data is tremendous that family leave helps improve health. We know it instinctively, we've known it forever instinctively. We've all practiced it, we've all had the opportunity I think in probably our parents and grandparents and our children and grandchildren. Head, we know it in the head. Well if we don't there's tons of information, not only showing all the positives that this connection makes at the beginning the end or the middle of one's life. But of you look at our great demographic challenges today, an aging population, declining workforce a baby bust, if we want to build that future, and a drug epidemic, all the while we're abandoning our most vulnerable citizens, leaving children unprotected, and gutting early intervention programs. In the last year we've seen the nearly doubling of our kids in our DCYF system. In the last year we've seen a 63 percent increase in the termination of parental rights. Destroying families. In my home county, we talked about stories, feel like it's old home day, Coos County, where we know life can be kind of like a country western song, but half of the expecting moms who are going to have babies in June are addicted to drugs and we don't know what that'll look like. But we know it's a challenge and we know that these toxic environments that children are born into, with tremendous stress, we know it changes the chemistry of the brain. It's physical, it's chemical, it's provable, the data is overwhelming. The last one's heart. Heart and I know every one of you, if it was your neighbor, you'd be there. I know it. Every single one of you care about people. I was an employer, had to get rid of an employee unfortunately, one employee couldn't afford, had cancer I know how hard it is and I know each business in the state struggles with this. I wish we had perfection but we don't. But we have to open our hearts to the stories of these people and understand that not only having empathy but action.

I have a story here of a Doctor John Stoddard, at I think Doctor Stoddard has delivered many, many, many of the babies in the North Country, and he's been an attending, and I'll just share his story here. I've been attending a patient with a twin pregnancy who was advised to stop working at twenty-eight weeks to prevent premature delivery and preeclampsia. At thirty-four weeks she developed severe preeclampsia and required labor induction. She worked right up until the day before her delivery because she's the sole breadwinner in her household. Not only that, it's awfully costly to everybody in the system in our healthcare system. But the final one that Senator Watters and I couldn't remember is the critical one. We can have the right heart, we can have the right head, but we need to have help, and that's the last one, help. Now every meeting I had with Governor Sununu since we started said how can we work with you, how can we find a pathway, how can we get there? You know we did on Medicaid expansion, the Majority Leader did a great job of weaving together policies to get everybody on the same page. We could have done it here, but we chose not to. He chose not to, he chose to get involved in the process before we had a chance to deliberate as a body. But more importantly Mister President, we have an opportunity to help, help.

And we need to break that plantation mentality that the landlords will take care of the landless peasants, that is generosity is the basis of getting a benefit, not something you earned as a basic human condition, that when you have a baby, you have a basic human right to be able to be the best dad or mom that you can, like all of us enjoy. Business alone can't do this, business alone will not do this the government needs to be the one who puts this together. We wouldn't have Social Security if we listened to my friends. We wouldn't have had Medicare or Medicaid, we wouldn't have had Headstart. My gosh, if I listened to all this discussion of what we can't do, we can't do, we can't do. I thank the Lord, that Harry Truman did not have that attitude when he was involved in D-Day. We'd be on the beach, never would have got to the beach. We can do this, if we want to. Who is going to speak up and give this earned benefit to the people that Andrew Jackson called the humble members of society, who do the hard thankless work without the economic social leverage to earn the benefits that most of us rely on? We can't be modern day Rockefellers bestowing dimes upon our less fortunate citizens. We need to treat them with respect and decency.

Mister President, I work for a non-profit that focuses on the needs of children with chronic conditions and it's an amazing experience to work with these families, they are truly resilient and you know these parents when you go into a condition with a sick kid, a serious illness, if they're not poor going in they're poor going out, because the cost the expense the ability to try to balance work and family's impossible. Mister President, let's follow 4H, health, hand, heart and let's help. It is in the best interest to our constituents. Mister President, family leave will put children on the fast track to success and those on the other end of their life, a slower easier path and the rocky road to recovery and disaster and the ultimate preparation for death. I was with my dad, holding his hand when he died. I didn't have to get permission from my employer. I heard the ambulance driver after watching my son thrown fifteen feet from a car in North Conway, call him the victim and drove all the way to Hanover following in the dark. And I was able to be there. Fortunately I didn't have to ask permission from my employer, didn't even think to ask my employer. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I think it's time for a fact check and then a gut check. You know some people ask me what's the most disappointing thing about serving in politics right now. Basic understanding of facts, and as Daniel Patrick Moynihan said, "you're entitled to your own opinion, you're not entitled to your own facts." That, but you know what people can debate this until the day is long, about your own opinion but let's look at please, let's look at the facts out of respect for everyone who's worked on this for years, let's look at the facts. A statement; there is no supporting data. False. I've got binders full of studies. I didn't bring them, thought about it for dramatic effect but it would take some time to bring them over from my office next to the smoking room in the basement, over in the Legislative Office Room, if I brought them all the way over here then I'd have to take them all the way back. Where's the studies of the naysayers? We asked it at the hearing. I did for dramatic effect bring this napkin. There's nothing even on the back of the napkin. Naysayers got nothing. Fact number 2; Hayes said in his report, can't use this. Nowhere did Hayes say that, nowhere to be said. He did say, within the range of levels of participation considered, voluntary programs would have premium costs that are 30 to 60 percent higher than a FMLR program covering all employees. So that's why we put the band in which is in the amendment that Tammy has, you can vote down Interim Study and you can vote for that amendment. Tammy's got it ready to go. Then he looked at it at 100 percent, 70 percent, 35 percent. The notion that he didn't look at it and non-mandatory, why he would have just looked at 100 percent. Didn't work with the insurance companies. Okay, they haven't filed any product to cover people for over 100 years, but we did, we did in this amendment which you can vote for if you vote down Interim Study, saying that the department goes out to contract with third party administrator, including insurance companies. You want to give them a shot? Let's give them a shot. Right now we've got to vote down Interim Study to get to the Floor Amendment though to give them a shot. That's a fact. Income tax; hear that all the time.

This is a voluntary insurance program. When I started meeting a while ago with my Republican colleagues I said you're going to hear this demagogic talking point about it being an income tax. And unfortunately Governor Sununu has done that, unfortunately we've heard it on the floor today, it's a voluntary insurance program, not even mandatory. Washington State; Washington State's getting up and running, Mister President. So the notion we can't do this, why are we rushing to get to no? That's not what we do in the Granite State, we work together to get to yes. And now here's the gut check. I heard my colleague from Senate District 23 say family should help families first. Senate President arguing vigorously in opposition to this in the public executive session, talked about how he decided that his wife would stay home with their kids. Everybody can make those choices, if there are a meaningful choice. If you have a two parent working household, it's not a meaningful choice. If you're a single parent, it's not a meaningful choice. The choice now is to choose between work and family. Don't we all value work? Don't we all value family? So that's the gut check. If you value both, you're going to vote to overturn Interim Study. We're going to go forward with the amendment that's right up there ready to go. That's the gut check. Vote down Interim Study, let's get to the amendment and let's finally get this done, it's been twenty years working families have waited way too long. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the Interim Study motion. Listening to all the talk today and going through four hours of hearing in Finance, I don't believe there's any one of us that doesn't have empathy for the stories that have been told. But let's look at the facts of it. There are two parts to this equation. There's the emotional side and there's the financial side. The financial side is the reason it went to Finance. In Finance, we looked at the program and said if we are going to have such a program it needs to be sustainable. We have an obligation to make it sustainable. If not it is a disservice to all of those who are participating in the program. To the comment that was just made that this is not a mandatory program; tell that to the employers. Employers are mandated that they will offer this. The employees are in the program unless they opt out, but then they have to go and get a notarization to get out of it. Once they're into it, they can't get out later.

We run programs like pension system, Medicaid programs with each of those we have independent actuaries do the analysis of that. There is no such thing done with this program. Why would we go forward without doing something like that? We've got the Department of Insurance and Employment Security that are telling us and they both agree on this and actually to the point they were both nominated and appointed by Democrat Governors, but they say the same thing. Without an independent actuarial analysis of an optional paid leave program, the departments cannot certify to the legislature or the Governor that the paid leave program created by House Bill 628 would be solvent, and thus be there for program participants who have come to rely on it. Our obligation to make sure that it's sustainable. But what happens when money runs out, if it runs out? The bill is silent on that. There is no plane for insolvency. Does it come back to the state for more money? Are you going to raise the rate on the employees, to make sure it's sustainable? We don't know. And maybe another reason for Interim Study.

The Hayes report was mentioned. What the Hayes report actually says is that analysis of programs with voluntary participation of workers should be considered exploratory. We're talking about putting something into action, not studying. In all the talk that has gone on this morning, we seem to hit a lot on the stories, and I said I can empathize with each one of them, because I don't think there's any of us here that haven't gone through our own stories in that. But there's one part we seem to forget and that's that financial part, $50 million, forty three new employees, $6 million a year to run and three years to implement. No one wants to talk about where the money's coming from. But this is another reason we should go to Interim Study.

As far as unanswered questions, okay, an employee can get short-term disability, usually company paid for. They could pick up long-term disability, which they may have to pay for. Those two run concurrently. After those are done, could they go in and pick up FMLA, Family Medical Leave Act as offered by the federal? And then when that runs out then go back and pick up paid medical leave under the FMLI that we're talking about? We don't know, I've asked that question numerous times, no one has an answer. You know I have to commend the Governor in looking at this program and re-looking at it and coming to the conclusion that there are two sides of it, the emotional side and the financial side. And I believe his hesitation is on the financial side. We have not done our work to find out how this program is going to be sustainable. And for that reason I would ask that you join me in voting Interim Study on this bill. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Several people have indicated they're going to call the question. There's one speaker left, Senator Bradley. We're going to have Senator Bradley speak and if we have to we'll vote on calling the question.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you very much, Mister President. I don't think anybody would dispute the fact that the family situations that have been described here are compelling and that all of us are extraordinarily sympathetic to doing whatever we can do as a legislature, what employers can do, what family members helping can do and yes in fact perhaps at some point in time whether it's state or national family medical leave insurance. They are compelling. And this isn't a question about the perfect being the enemy of the good. It's not that question at all. The question is will it work as intended? So pardon me for being skeptical and wanting to ask the tough questions when the sponsors of this bill come in and increase the contribution level by 30 percent and decrease the benefit by 50 percent. I think that bears really tough scrutiny. And so when I hear things about the naysayers having nothing, I also want to check the facts and I thought a really good job was done by the Concord Monitor over the weekend. Because the most important thing and what we've been debating about on the floor all morning is what proponents and we've heard it from the proponents on the floor is, is the program solvent? Guaranteed to be solvent. That's, and the claim is as written it's guaranteed to be solvent. Well according to this fact check, the verdict is not exactly. So the costs have increased we know that and then it goes on to say there are some significant caveats in the way that the studies in the other states have been performed. This is a voluntary program, the other states are not. A study that was relied upon by the proponents from the Institute of Women's Policy Research, should be considered exploratory, and a preliminary starting point. And perhaps most importantly the data that proponents have relied upon, the Hayes report, this is what the Monitor indicated in quoting from Mister Hayes. He said New Hampshire's proposed program has changed considerably since his study. I think that given the originality and uniqueness of what New Hampshire's proposition is, I think another analysis is probably a good idea. Well why is it a good idea? If the program works as intended, great. But what happens if it doesn't?

There are four scenarios. Continue to decrease the benefit and increase the contribution, make it mandatory and decrease the benefit and increase the contribution, make it mandatory for employers, or have it a general fund expense for the state of New Hampshire. Now maybe somebody has another outcome that I'm not aware of but that's what's likely to happen and I question whether any of us are ready for any of those four scenarios if it doesn't work as intended. Senator Daniels' exactly right. I sat on the retirement board, independent actuarial analysis is absolutely essential when doing things like this, retirement rates, Medicaid rates, we base our budget so much on Medicaid rates that you absolutely have to have independent actuarial analysis. It was very clear from the Department of Employment Security and the Insurance Department that that had not been done.

So, what we're left with is not the naysayers having nothing. What we're left with is a lot of unanswered questions. People who are asking questions are not demagogues, we're not demagoguing this initiative. I remember once upon a time in 2013 when a plan that I was bringing forward with our friend in the Chair, the first iteration of Medicaid expansion, was called by then Governor Hassan, worse than no plan at all. Remember that? Senator D'Allesandro, you remember. Because you came to us with Senator Larsen and Senator Gilmour and Senator Odell and we rolled up our sleeves to answer those questions. We had a bipartisan plan that's been successful for four years and God willing, and 424 of us willing, it's going to go to the Governor who's supporting this because it works, and it's been proven to work. And it's stood the test of time because we did that hard work. Saying the naysayers have nothing is totally missing the mark.

If anybody here is ready for those four scenarios I outlined, decreasing the benefit, increasing contribution, making the program mandatory, and then doing the same, having it an employer responsibility to fund or a general fund responsibility, please raise your hand and vote against the Interim Study motion. But if you're like me and the details matter, and yes, I don't make the perfect the enemy of the good around here, but I want to know if I'm going to vote for something that there is a very good expectation as we've done with Medicaid that it's going to work. That's why you should support Interim Study, and let the proponents negotiate and come back with the skeptics and see if there is a way to deal with the very compelling family situations that have been outlined on the floor this morning. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: While people weren't in the room, I said that the question was going to be called and I didn't recognize that Senator Fuller Clark had asked to speak. I will recognize Senator Fuller Clark and then I'll recognize Senator Birdsell which I believe is calling the question.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: I appreciate that, Mister President. Thank you very much. Much has been said this morning that is moving in terms of the stories that have been told and placed into the record. I listened to Senator Sanborn and I think it's in a very admirable and that we should acknowledge all of the businesses that are providing the supports that this legislation would do for those businesses that can provide it, but I think it's important to understand that there are hundreds if not thousands of individuals in this state who don't work for employers who are in a position to provide them with family and medical leave and they need the support of this program.

I would like to say to Senator Woodburn in addition to his 4H's there is a fifth H, that is hope. And there is nothing in the way we've been asked to vote today that offers hope to those individuals and those businesses that recognize the need for this program, that recognize it's an important tool in our tool box to keep millennials here, to attract young two parent families. And there are ways that that hope could have been put forth when we were asked to vote on this today. No one's talking about how that independent study is going to be paid for. No one is talking about what are the group of legislators that are going to roll up their sleeves and make this happen. All you have done is say find all the reasons to say why it can't work and you have not created a pathway to success. That is what concerns me. I want to be able to offer hope in addition to help and also to remember that you know, this is not an income tax. What a, you know, terrible word that income tax is the way it colors everything we think about and everything we do. This is, and we were asked to create a voluntary program here in New Hampshire. And so this is something that employees to do, they choose to pay into it, so let's create for them a program that is sustainable that they can pay into and that they can benefit when they have the need of looking after a new family member, when they have the need in a state where many of us are going to live into our nineties but we need the care of our children or even our grandchildren who are working, where we have a sick spouse or we're sick our self and there aren't the benefits imbedded in the work obligation that many of the individuals that we read from in this booklet today have. Let's find a way, a pathway to offer them hope and to offer a program that they will want to sign into and that they have then the choices that are so imperative to keep the ethos of family well and healthy and intact. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study.

A roll call was requested by Senator French, seconded by Senator Soucy.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Reagan, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

Roll Call, Yeas: 14 - Nays: 10. Adopted.

Recess. Out of recess.

HB 1411-FN-A, relative to funds transferred to the nongame species account.
Ought to Pass, Vote 6-0. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1411-FN-A Ought to Pass. This bill increases the level of matching funds for public donations to the Fish and Game Department's nongame species account. Nongame species are species other than those which are hunted, fished or trapped. This successful program works with conservation organizations to conserve sensitive habitats, and keep species off the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service's Endangered Species List. The Senate Finance Committee recommends passage of HB 1411-FN-A, and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1415-FN-A, establishing a death benefit for a school employee killed in the line of duty.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-2. Senator Reagan for the committee.

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I ask my colleagues to reject the Inexpedient to Legislate motion so that an amendment may be offered.

Recess. Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I too rise in opposition to the pending motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. That was even before I saw this amendment, because I believe that the underlying legislation, the legislation that's before us at the moment, is something that's truly needed. And I want to tell you about one of my constituents who called me when I was serving my first term in the Senate and he's retired police officer, retired as an assistant chief and he said I want to talk to you about the death penalty. And I thought, okay, you know a constituent, of course I'm going to talk to him. And I presumed given his profession that it was something that he truly believed in and as we started talking, we're having coffee and I was feeling a little anxious. He said you know my entire career I've always believed in the death penalty and he's a Manchester police officer and certainly what happened to Michael Briggs weighs on all of us every day, but he said when Sandy Hook Elementary happened something struck me. So I have a son and I have a daughter. My son is a police officer and my daughter is a teacher, and given the same set of circumstances with children, being put in harm's way in danger of being injured my son would do his job and my daughter would do hers. But the benefits afforded to my son are very different than anything that would ever be afforded to my daughter. And he said I have two children. I love them equally, and I know that each of them given the same set of circumstances would put themselves between a gunman and school children. This bill recognizes the importance of the role that educators play in protecting their students. Now it's never happened in New Hampshire, God forbid anything as horrific as what happened at Sandy Hook or Columbine or Florida happen here but putting in place a benefit in the event that it happens, doesn't cost us anything right now, but it would give comfort to the family of that educator who may be injured. I ask you to vote down this motion and most importantly I ask you to vote simply Ought to Pass on this bill. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. Failed.

Senator Bradley moved Ought to Pass.

Floor Amendment to HB 1415-FN-A

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT making an appropriation to the public school infrastructure fund to improve security in public schools.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Appropriation; Public School Infrastructure Fund; School Emergency Readiness Program. To improve security in public schools, the sum of $10,000,000 for the biennium ending June 30, 2019 is hereby appropriated the public school infrastructure fund established in RSA 198:15-y, to provide additional funding to the department of safety, division of homeland security and emergency management's school emergency readiness program. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for said sum out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill makes an appropriation to the public school infrastructure fund to provide additional funding for the department of safety's school emergency readiness program.

The Chair ruled sections of the Floor Amendment non-germane.

Without objection, Senate Rule 3-17 is suspended to allow consideration of the non-germane Floor Amendment.

Senator Soucy objected to the suspension of Senate Rule 3-17.

The question is on the suspension of Senate Rule 3-17.

(The Chair Recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: I would hope that as the amendment's being passed out now before it's been introduced that we can have a debate about school safety. This has been an issue that we've talked about several times on this floor this year. It's an issue that we certainly talked about in the budget last year. We established in the budget of 2018 and '19 almost $19 million for the public school infrastructure fund that was meant to make our schools better and safer. My understanding is $13.7 million has been approved by the Governor and Council from that fund, an additional $4.9 has been approved by the Joint Fiscal Committee and headed to the Governor and Council. What the amendment would do, if we decide to back the ruling of the Chair that it's germane, would be to infuse another $10 million which members of the Finance Committee and others who've looked at the finances of the state of New Hampshire believe is available and appropriate right now to add to our infrastructure needs to make sure that we have adequate resources for school safety. So I'm a little bit surprised that we're having a debate about germaneness because this is something, we've debated much of the session and last year in the budget. So, I'll rest there and hope that everybody wants a debate about an amendment that I think we all can support and move on. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, I'm looking at the language of this amendment and had an opportunity to do so before, and I think the concern that's been expressed is that this amendment is a replace all.

SENATOR BRADLEY: That's correct, but we're debating germaneness now and so it is a germane amendment as the, you just spoke rather eloquently about school safety and so I'm not exactly sure why you'd think that this amendment is not germane, given that your remarks were just about school safety. You may not agree with me about the underlying bill and that's fine we can have that debate, but we also should be able to have a debate about the safety and how to improve New Hampshire schools, I think. I hope you agree with me.

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, would you believe I agree with you, but we have had debates but this amendment just having been dropped in our laps that appropriates money with absolutely no criteria, to me does not seem germane to the issue of an incident occurring and providing a death benefit in that regard?

SENATOR BRADLEY: And I appreciate that but just based on your own remarks about the underlying bill, it is about school safety. I will let others on the Finance Committee talk about the finances when we get the actual amendment. You know just knowing that we're running a significant surplus, knowing that school safety is a critical issue for all twenty-four of–

SENATE CLERK'S NOTE

Due to uncontrollable circumstances there was a loss in audio transmission in regards to Senator Bradley's remarks.

SENATOR BRADLEY: We're trying to get this done before the end of the session. If we think it's a priority to deal with school safety issues, this in my opinion, and I think in the opinion of the sponsors of the amendment is one of the most effective ways to make sure our buildings, our school buildings, have the necessary infrastructure improvements to make sure that they are safe. That's what this amendment tries to do.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Please understand from the parliamentary situation, you're voting on suspending rule 3-17 to make this amendment germane so we can debate it.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Rule 3-17 says, "No amendment to any bill or resolution shall be allowed except it be germane. For the purposes of this rule and amendment to a bill or resolution is germane if the subject matter of the amendment is the same as that of some portion of the bill or resolution." I think I agree that this is non-germane in light of the fact that this is talking about a death benefit for school employees versus an appropriation to the public school infrastructure fund. So I agree and I think the better course of action is to notice this for a public hearing on Monday afternoon, in Senate Finance. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Remember, you're debating suspending rule 3-17. That's the parliamentary situation, so you can determine this is germane.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: So, in light of what the Senate President just reminded us, do we want to debate school safety, and potentially be able to appropriate $10 million to harden buildings and protect kids or not? That's kind of a fundamental question here. And I know it takes sixteen votes to do that here, but do we really want to throw a procedural roadblock in the way of appropriating dollars that we know exist, to enhance school safety? That's what this is about. So, I hope that in the spirit of cooperation, which we've actually had quite a bit of this year, whether it's Medicaid, whether it's Marsy's Law, whether it's environmental initiatives, whether it's improving child care agencies, renewable energy, an awful lot of good work has been done this year. I agree, this is kind of at the last minute, we've seen other last minute amendments too. But we're also close to the end of the session. That's why it's important that we have this debate. And rest assured, if you're not willing to have the debate, then that puts in doubt whether we have the willingness to harden our schools, to make kids safe. That's what this is about. So please, think about, you know, the message it sends. There are no fourth graders in the gallery right now. But if there were, think about that and think about the message it sends to the nearly 200,000 students that we're not even willing to debate an amendment that could help protect their lives. Thank you.

HB 1756-FN-A, relative to an additional allowance and a cost of living adjustment for retirees from the state retirement system.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-2. Senator Daniels for the committee.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1756 Inexpedient to Legislate. This bill grants an additional allowance of $500 to certain retirees in the state retirement system, funded by general fund appropriations in fiscal year 2020. The one time allowance applies to retirees receiving a benefit under 30,000 per year who have been retired for at least five years. The actuarial analysis indicates the estimated one time up front cost of funding this $500 additional allowance in fiscal year 2020 would be a general fund appropriation of approximately 7.8 million which would increase to a total of 10.3 million if appropriated on July 1, 2019. House Bill 1756 also grants a cost of living adjustment, or a COLA, of 1.5 percent to the same retirees contingent on funding for the total actuarial cost in fiscal year 2021. The actuarial analysis indicates the 1.5 percent COLA is projected to cost approximately 51.3 million which would increase to a total of 72.8 million if appropriated on July 1, 2020. It was noted during deliberations on the bill that retired employees from the private sector share the same financial difficulties as retired state employees, but rare, if ever, get a cost of living increase. A motion to amend the bill by only providing the one-time payment failed on a 2-4 vote. The Senate Finance Committee recommends House Bill 1756 be found Inexpedient to Legislate and asks for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to speak in opposition to the Inexpedient to Legislate motion that we have before us today. We keep going around and around on this particular issue. This was an issue that was extensively discussed within the Decennial Commission. We agreed that it was important, that we do something for our retirees. They have not received any sort of increase in their retirement. Nothing. We have retires in this state that are living on less than $30,000 a year. We know the cost of goods and services keeps rising and rising and rising, they can't catch up. So what's happening to these folks? Many of them are finding themselves in our community social welfare offices. What are we supposed to do, tell our seventy-five, eighty year old retirees go out and get a job, to make up whatever you need? These people have worked for us, they spent their working lives serving the people of the state of New Hampshire. And this is how we treat them? Mister President, we can do better and we must do better, and I hope that we continue this conversation for those who are going to be here next year, that when it comes time for the budget that we can give our state retirees some sort of financial relief, some sort of COLA, some sort of one-time payment to help them. Because what we're doing now just is not cutting it. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise against the motion of Inexpedient and say as my colleague from Londonderry has said, this was one of the recommendations of the commission. The commission meets once every ten years. This was a $500 payment. Look at the census of retired employees. Look at the number of employees now who are eighty and over, ninety and over, we have some that are a hundred or over. Those people retired with an average retirement benefit of $12,000. When you look across the system the benefit is 30,000 even with the heavy hitters up at the top end. This doesn't do anything for those people, but it takes care of those under 30,000, $500, $500. The last time we did this we gave them $1,000 one-time grant. Senator Downing who was sitting right here next to me, and I, over one, excuse me, over one. Senator Downing and I worked with the committee of conference to put it together. They got $1,000, $1,000. What's happened to the index cost of living since that time? And again, as the Senator points out, they haven't gotten anything. You know, once upon a time, COLAs could be granted without going to the legislature, they could be granted by the Fiscal Committee. We changed that, now it has to be legislative action to grant a COLA. This is a time when we have the resources to grant this. We have the resources to grant it. These people have been active members of our society. We all brag about how good state employees have been. I can remember when state employees used to polish their trucks, they had the best looking trucks on the road, and they'd stop and help you if you were in need. Come on. We can't give them $500, $500? What's $500 in today's world, we talk about millions, millions, and we can't talk about 500 for an individual, 500 bucks? You know I looked at new cars, you know what a new car can cost today? Up to $90,000. I bought my first house for 17,500. I was worried to death about paying $148 a month on my mortgage. We're talking about $500, we should divide this bill in half, pay the 500, I understand the second part of the bill's difficult. I understand that and we're not asking for that. We're asking for $500 for our state employees. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, I just want to make sure I understand the first part of this amendment would provide a $500 stipend to those making less than 30,000?

SENATOR CARSON: That is correct.

SENATOR SOUCY: And I want to make sure I understand, the second part is dependent upon certain factors and I'm looking at the bill in RSA 100:A-41 II. My understanding of this language; no supplemental allowance under paragraph I shall be made unless the terminal funding of the total actuarial costs thereof as determined by the actuary and certified by the Board of Trustees of the Retirement System is approved for funding through retirement system funds, state general funds or some other concern. My understanding of that is that even if we were to pass this bill, there's no automatic one and a half percent COLA unless all of those steps are taken to certify that it can be made?

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, and you are correct.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Senator.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the ITL and hope we can overturn that and really move this forward. As the Senator from District 14 mentioned, about the Decennial Commission, we served together on that and we spent a lot of time on the issue of COLAs. You know, we know that the Group 2 folks don't get social security. We know that the average pension back in 2009 when there was the last COLA it was $20,000 to the average pension at that time that's now been eroded down to around $16,000. And we looked, I think the case was made that we need to try to do something. Now the good news coming out of the Decennial Commission was that the amortization schedule on the unfunded liability is working, we're on track and that's a huge accomplishment for the really tough decisions we made a few years ago. But this was unfinished business, and I think you know throughout the commission the argument was made that we ought to try to do something about this. We tried a lot of things, we tried to pass something calling for a COLA of various sizes and various income levels within the retired group. I proposed, and we almost passed, a mandatory opt out of a supplemental retirement program so that essentially workers could end up funding their own COLA if they had that and we couldn't quite get there on that in part because of the potential issue of employee contributions and you know, certainly yeah, the municipal association was there to say, look we're paying awfully high rates already and if this is going to come out of our hide, we don't know if we can do it. But what we could agree on was the $500. And that was Representative McGuire who brought that motion forward, and it was a good thing to do it was the right thing to do but recognizing that even if we did that, this conversation now could be over about a true COLA because inflation is not going to go away, the erosion of earning power is not going to go away, and the fact that our group 2 folks don't get social security is not going to go away. So this, saw a lot of work in the House, it got over here which really says something, that the House sent it over to us, and I really hope that we can overturn the ITL and try to get to work, see if there is a part of this bill that maybe we can do and then recognize maybe in the budget next year we're going to have to try to do more. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I'll be brief. I find it peculiar that ten minutes ago we shot down a $10 million appropriation to keep our kids alive and safe, but all of a sudden we reverse course to say that we want to help folks under a different cost. I think that that's just disingenuous. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, just a point of order. My point of order is this; we're talking about this piece of legislation. This body and nobody in this, nobody in this Senate does not care for every child in this state. Nobody. And to have an inference that we don't care about children is absolutely absurd. Doesn't belong in this conversation. We're talking about the lives of people who are retired and working for the state. That's what we're talking about. And we're talking about giving them a $500 raise. Let's focus on what the problem is and address it. Never mind throwing in other nonsense that has no place here. Listen, we're all good people. We all care about one another and we care about the people we serve, and anyone who doesn't believe that doesn't belong here. Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: I'm not sure that needs a ruling, Senator.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

A roll call was requested by Senator Hennessey, seconded by Senator Carson.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Daniels, Avard, Reagan, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
HB 1103-FN, relative to financial responsibility for voluntary services provided pursuant to a report of abuse or neglect that is "unfounded but with reasonable concern."
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Bradley for the committee.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1103 Ought to Pass. The bill would provide payment through the federal TANF reserve funds for reports of abuse and neglect that are unfounded but with reasonable concern. The committee heard that there is a lack of options for social workers looking to help children and the unfounded but with reasonable concern finding. This bill specifically focuses on the unfounded with reasonable concern cases at DCYF. By focusing on these families, many cases could be prevented from growing to the level of abuse and neglect. This bill would be another step forward in creating the reforms DCYF needs to best protect our children. The Health and Human Services Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to HB 1103-FN

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 New Subparagraph; Child Protection Act; Liability for Expenses. Amend RSA 169-C:27, I by inserting after subparagraph (f) the following new subparagraph:

(g) Notwithstanding subparagraph (c), the state shall have no right of action against the parents or other people chargeable by law for the minor's support and necessities for voluntary services provided to the child, family, or household in a case that was unfounded but with reasonable concern, as defined in RSA 169-C:3, XXIX. In such cases, any services provided by the department may be paid from available TANF reserve funds.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill provides that voluntary services provided pursuant to a report of abuse and neglect that is unfounded but with reasonable concern shall be exempt from parental liability for reimbursement. The department may use available federal TANF reserve funds to pay for the services.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Alright, thank you, Mister President. In line 7 of the amendment it changes shall to may, this is important because there are families that will qualify for voluntary services that are not eligible for TANF funds. The change also makes House Bill 1103 consistent with Senate Bill 592 which we all spent a lot of time on which passed the House Finance and will be on the House floor next week. So in an effort to align both bills I would ask you to support the Floor Amendment. Thank you.

Amendment to HB 1418-FN

Amend RSA 126-A:75, I-III as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing them with the following:

I. There is established a commission to study greater transparency in pharmaceutical costs and drug rebate programs.

(a) The members of the commission shall be as follows:

(1) Three members of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(2) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

(3) The insurance commissioner, or designee.

(4) The commissioner of the department of health and human services, or designee.

(5) One public member, appointed by the governor.

(6) A representative of the New Hampshire Hospital Association, appointed by the association.

(7) A physician licensed under RSA 329, appointed by the New Hampshire Medical Society.

(8) The executive director of New Futures, or designee.

(9) A representative of the New Hampshire Pharmacists Association, appointed by the association.

(10) A representative of the Business and Industry Association of New Hampshire, appointed by the association.

(11) A member representing pharmacy benefit managers, appointed by the Pharmaceutical Care Management Association.

(12) A representative of America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP), appointed by that organization.

(13) A representative of Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America, appointed by that organization.

(b) Legislative members of the commission shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the commission.

II.(a)(1) The commission shall study how to achieve greater transparency in pharmaceutical costs by identifying and analyzing certain critical prescription drugs and their role in overall health care spending in the New Hampshire and by analyzing the amounts rebated by drug manufacturers for certain high cost and high utilization prescription drugs. The commission's study shall include, but not be limited to:

(A) Studying strategies available to achieve greater transparency in pharmaceutical costs by identifying and analyzing certain critical prescription drugs and their role in overall health care spending and the impact of price increases on patients and their families.

(B) Reviewing legislative efforts in other states and taking advantage of any other analysis by outside organizations or foundations.

(C) Analyzing the impact of drug prices on insurance premium costs, consumer out-of-pocket costs for prescription drugs, and state and county purchasing of prescription drugs.

(D) Analyzing the potential impact of transparency in relation to the practices of pharmaceutical manufacturers and pharmacy benefits managers, including how research and development, marketing, and rebates affect drug prices.

(E) Proposing changes to New Hampshire law, as needed, to reduce the rising cost of pharmaceuticals.

(2) The commission shall also study the role pharmacy benefit managers play in the cost, administration, and distribution of prescription drugs; if greater transparency in pharmaceutical costs to purchasers would lower costs in overall health care spending in New Hampshire and analyzing the amounts rebated by drug manufacturers for prescription drugs passed to purchasers and patients. The goal shall be to determine if any changes to New Hampshire laws could reduce the rising cost of pharmaceuticals to purchasers or patients.

(b) The commission may solicit input from any person or entity the commission deems relevant to its study.

III. The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the commission shall be called by the first-named house member. The first meeting of the commission shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Eight members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1418-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. Currently, the cost of pharmaceutical drugs have risen exponentially, making the cost of healthcare as a whole even more burdensome for New Hampshire citizens. This bill as amended would create a commission to study greater transparency regarding pharmaceutical costs and drug rebate programs by bringing stakeholders together to study the cost of drugs and how prices are set. This could be one more step towards the goal of lowering the cost of health care for New Hampshire consumers. The Health and Human Services Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1418-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires the commissioner of the department of corrections to apply to the National Commission on Correctional Health Care seeking that the secure psychiatric unit be accredited as a behavioral health facility. Under this bill, the commissioner of the department of corrections shall submit a biennial report in even-numbered years of its findings as to whether certain provisions, standards, or practices should be revised to improve treatment at the secure psychiatric unit.

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1565-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. The purpose of this bill is to require that the secure psychiatric unit seek to be accredited as a behavioral health facility. The committee heard much testimony from families of patients at the secure psychiatric unit who had concerns regarding the level of care available. This bill would require the commissioner of the department of corrections to seek accreditation from the Commission of Correctional Health Care, as well as submit a biennial report in even-numbered years as to whether certain aspects of the secure psychiatric unit should be improved or revised. This presents a necessary step understanding and treating mental illness in the State of New Hampshire. Floor Amendment to HB 1565-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT requiring the secure psychiatric unit to be accredited as a psychiatric facility.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Statement of Findings.

I. The general court hereby finds that:

(a) A separate forensic psychiatric hospital would be the preferred solution for persons who are violently psychotic.

(b) Placement of the secure psychiatric unit within the state prison causes problems for civil patients and their families.

(c) Transferring patients to forensic facilities outside of New Hampshire is not a viable option.

II. Therefore, the general court hereby seeks to have the secure psychiatric unit accredited as a psychiatric facility. In this act, the department of corrections, in collaboration with the department of health and human services, shall commence the process of accreditation of the secure psychiatric unit by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals as a psychiatric facility.

2 Department of Corrections; Duties of the Commissioner; Secure Psychiatric Unit. Amend RSA 21-H:8, XI-a to read as follows:

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I rise actually in opposition to the committee amendment that I guess was just voted in, and the reason is that, and I apologize for being at this late point, but I have to say that it took me a while to try to figure out what was gnawing at me. And what was gnawing at me is that even though I'm in the profession, I had no idea what a behavioral health facility was. I've never seen that as a real term, I have no idea what it really means and I'm not sure why we switched from a psychiatric unit or facility to a behavioral health facility. The only time, well I don't even need to go into that but, we no longer should be or want to be, I think we all agree, warehousing people with significant mental illness. We have moved way beyond One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest, at least that's what we say. I think everybody on Health and Human Services was just outraged by what we heard about the way people in the secure psychiatric unit are being treated. And I think the staff there is well-meaning, they're terrific but they don't have enough, and they're not trained specifically in taking care of the severely mentally ill.

This amendment that I, oh I'd like to offer an amendment, and I got confused by the order of this, but let me– So as it reads now, the amendment that we already voted on has, calls it a behavioral health facility, and as I said I have never seen a definition for a behavioral health facility. I'm not sure what that means. What this is, is a secure psychiatric facility and so changing the title, I'm changing it back to requiring the secure psychiatric unit to be accredited as a psychiatric facility, which is what it is. And we heard from all sorts of people. It was very moving testimony. But one of the things we heard often was that it is kind of a place in need of an accreditation and somebody overseeing what's going on there because, for example, one of the women who worked there who was a behavioral health nurse, at least that was her title, came in and said that she accepted a position there and resigned four days later. She said that she was really concerned that civilly committed people were de facto prisoners in this facility. And once you're there you have to wait five years in order to get any kind of a hearing to get out. The SPU is currently not a licensed facility. What we need to do is to stop treating the mentally ill as criminals. What happens is that they're brought from the psychiatric hospital and then put into this unit and they can be there for a very long time, with almost no recourse and almost no communication with the outside world. I think we'll all agree that that's a problem. Basically this amendment that I'm putting out is just calling it what it is and saying that that's how it should be accredited as a psychiatric unit and not a behavioral mental health unit, which is nebulous at best. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of amendment 1804s. When we were sued by inmates, we were forced to spend $35 million, the Holliday suit, to create a secure psychiatric facility. So we spent $35 million to put that's secure psychiatric facility in place at the prison. I believe that we thought, we, I think the people who were in the Senate and the House at the time, that we did have a secure psychiatric facility because we were in compliance with the decision made in the Holliday suit. If that is not the case then we're not in compliance. So indeed it has to become an accredited secure psychiatric facility. And if indeed that's what we have to do, we have to do it, we have to do it. As I said we are in this mode because of the fact that we were sued by Holliday, we lost the suit, we put the 35 million up, we built the facility and if it doesn't meet those criteria set by the court then we're in trouble. So I think supporting this amendment makes sense. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to this amendment because we actually had language with accreditation of two different types of accreditations, because it's basically a hybrid there at the state prison. We have people there that are committed civilly and people that are committed criminally. And so we met with the commissioner and director and they said, you know definitely they can seek accreditation, but not both or the one that is being proposed in this amendment. Let's see, their comments are to the effect that the both are nationally recognized, behavioral health accreditations. We likely could attain the NCCHC sooner than the joint commission because of our existing physical plant. We understand that this is a really, it's a hybrid and accreditation is important because of accountability. But they cannot attain this type of accreditation in this amendment that you're proposing. Because they're not a hospital unit. And we all voted for this 5-0 and of course we changed the purpose statement as well. So this amendment really is a surprise to me. It is moving forward, it is creating accountability of what we just voted on and this I think sets us back. Because they're not going to be able to achieve this level of accreditation. And I think it also asks for, we put back into purpose statement, which we all agreed that we were going to take it out. So with that I would ask my colleagues to vote down this amendment.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, I would just like to rise in reaction. Ironically what I based this on was on an amendment that came before our committee before the final one which was yours. And yours actually did also have the rationale and the reason that that's there is it explains why it's important for it to be a psychiatric facility and not a behavioral health organization. I think we heard over and over that one of the serious problems with it now is that we do have people who were arrested on civil crimes being put in there and not getting out and being treated much less than optimally. So that is part of the reason for making it into a psychiatric unit is so that the accreditation will make sure that it is a facility that does what we say it does. Because otherwise, frankly, we're leaving ourselves open to some pretty serious litigation all over again. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Avard.)

SENATOR AVARD: Thank you, Mister President. And I concur with you, the previous Senator for speaking on this matter, that's why I brought in both accreditations. That after discussion in our hearings and in talking with the commissioner it was impossible for them to do both, both physically and financially and so we chose the best route, one that is designed for a prison unit. This is a step moving forward, they'll be able to be accredited a lot quicker with what we just voted on and we can address the other issues in future legislation. But right now I don't see that it's going to solve anything if we vote for this amendment, so.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Senator Hennessey, it's my understanding that you've had a conversation with the prime sponsor of this bill?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Yes I have.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: And that he is very supportive of this change and believes that this is the way to go to accomplish what needs to be accomplished, and that there is a time frame up until 2020 for this to be accomplished?

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you very much for the question and that is absolutely true. In fact his words were the bill does absolutely nothing the way they amended it. And the problem is I think we didn't, I at least have to say that I didn't understand at the time exactly what the difference was and why we picked one over the other. It clearly the prime sponsor has said that by using the term psychiatric facility, that would get us the kind of accreditation by 2020 that we need in order to stop the bedlam and to avoid another suit that can cost us an awful lot of money.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you.

Ought to Pass, Vote 3-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1807 as Ought to Pass. This bill clarifies the law relating to financial exploitation of elderly disabled or impaired adults. This bill also establishes a procedure for protective orders for vulnerable adults. Unfortunately the financial exploitation of elderly, disabled and impaired adults is something that is occurring in our state. The Attorney General's Office has been able to prosecute some for this heinous crime, but there is currently some ambiguity in the statutes that makes this difficult. This bill would clarify the statutes to make it clearer for the Attorney General's Office when they are working on these cases. The bill also seeks to establish protective orders for adults which will hopefully cut down on access for individuals that look to financially exploit at risk groups of people. The Health and Human Services Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1807. Thank you, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to HB 1807-FN

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 Financial Exploitation of Elderly, Disabled, or Impaired Adults. Amend the introductory paragraph of RSA 631:9, I(b) to read as follows:

(b) In the absence of legal authority a person knowingly or recklessly through the use of undue influence, harassment, duress, force, compulsion, [~~or~~] coercion, or under any circumstances where the person knew that the elderly, disabled, or impaired adult lacked capacity to consent, or consciously disregarded a substantial and unjustifiable risk that the elderly, disabled, or impaired adult lacked capacity to consent:

Amend the bill by deleting section 2 and renumbering the original section 3 to read as 2.

2018-1740s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill clarifies the law relating to financial exploitation of elderly, disabled, or impaired adults.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. In going through this bill I identified a number of issues that I feel need to be addressed before it's ready for prime time. Number one, and these all pretty much fall under the protective order so that's the section 2 on, the bill for the most part is a cut and paste from the domestic violence statute but without the cleanup that's necessary for the bill to be particularly pertinent to protecting vulnerable adults while preserving the rights of the defendant. Number two, many definitions in the bill are built on presumptions using phrases such as "or could result" and "or had reason to know." Number three, the definition of vulnerable is itself problematic as it states vulnerable means that the physical mental and emotional ability of a person is such that he or she is unable to manage personal, home and financial affairs in his own or her own best interest. Or he or she is unable to act responsibly or unable to delegate responsibility to a responsible caregiver or caretaker. If by definition a person is deemed vulnerable, how then can they be deemed competent enough to make other decisions including whether or not to waive their rights? Number four, upon a showing of an immediate and present danger of abuse, exploitation or neglect, the court may enter temporary orders to protect the plaintiff with or without actual notice to the defendant. The defendant doesn't have to be notified that an order has been entered, you can bet though that if the defendant violates that order, they will be charged. Number five, by forcing the defendant to relinquish to a peace officer any and all firearms and ammunition in the control, ownership and possession of the defendant or any other person on behalf of the defendant for the duration of a protective order before the person has been charged with a crime. The bill completely suspends a person's second, fourth and fourteenth amendment rights. The defendant can then be forced to pay the storage cost for the firearms that were confiscated. Number six, any act or omission of a peace officer rendering emergency care or assistance is freed from any liability. If the care or assistance they offered is rendered in good faith, but no such provision exists for the defendant. These are all under the protective order from section 2 on. And just to kind of, in a final notation on this to accentuate, I want to read excerpts from a letter I received from someone I know that happens to be an attorney. And this goes to the whole thing of neglect.

My mother lived with me for two years before she was dragged from our home screaming. A probate judge stripped her of all her rights in a "quickie telephone hearing," quote unquote, in which neither I nor my mother who wanted nothing more than to continue living with me was represented in any way. State law theoretically requires that she be represented in that hearing, but she was quote unquote, "deemed to have waived her rights," even though if she was deemed to be incompetent, it's hard to see how she was competent to waive her rights. When she wouldn't stop screaming my name, the hospital pumped Haldol into her until she was rendered a vegetable. Four weeks later I finally got a hearing to return her to the custody of me and my brother. By that time the hospital had rendered her close to comatose. The state subsequently, quote unquote, "found that I had neglected to force my mother to take Zoloft against her will." It was subsequently found that Zoloft had significant adverse side effects. It took me seven days to find an attorney who would represent me. Even in 1998 the cost was $5,000. Even if you could get your guns back the loss of your fourth amendment rights can never be restored. And remember this is not just an order that you stay away from another person, it's a complete suspension of your second, fourth and fourteenth amendment rights. All of this is without probable cause, or any crime. Sure, there's an allegation and "a secret hearing of neglect," quote unquote. But if I can be accused of neglect, which we have been, that's a pretty scary standard.

So, the amendment I bring forward, I want, deals with just the first part and that's the financial exploitation, because I understand the issue and I think some things need to be done. The wording that you have before you changes the words that I had talked about objecting to, in my earlier remarks about "or had reason to know" and then we put in "under any other circumstances where the person knew that the elderly, disabled or impaired adult lacked the capacity to consent or consciously disregarded a substantial and unjustifiable risk, that the elderly, disabled and impaired adult lacked the capacity to consent." I have worked with people; this language has been run by the AG and is acceptable and accomplishes what we're looking for. I talked to people who were representing organizations that were pushing for this and they were fine with just going forward in section 1 on the financial part and I think if you can accept that, we can continue to look at section 2 at a later time. But as I said right now, I don't see that it's ready to go forward. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, I'm looking at the language in your proposed amendment. By taking out the "or had reason to know," aren't you creating a standard whereby no one would ever be prosecuted?

SENATOR DANIELS: I don't believe so. I believe that the language that is put in here actually is less subjective than what those words were.

Because in the thing that I, and I read to you about the gentleman's experience with his mom, someone thought he had a reason to know. I mean as it turned out he was found to be in neglect when actually the medication that he was dealing with had adverse effects.

SENATOR SOUCY: But what you're trying to establish in this paragraph is the legal standard so having reason to know is something that would have to be established by proof. How in the world is somebody going to be able to prosecute and protect people that are being exploited with the standards you have here without those words in it? I fail to understand that.

SENATOR DANIELS: I don't see that they're any less ambiguous than "had reason to know." In fact I feel that they're a little stronger and take out the subjectivity level.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President, I too share some of the concerns of my friend from Manchester. That being said, the word "knew" is in line 7, the person knew that elderly, disabled or impaired adult lacked capacity to consent. And there's a second part and it says, "or consciously disregarded." So legislature obviously is presumed not to pass superfluous words so consciously disregarded is a lower mental standard to prove than knew. I think that in light of that, it's a reasonable compromise to move forward on. Thank you, Mister President.

A roll call was requested by Senator Giuda, seconded by Senator Avard.

The following Senators voted Yes: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Hennessey, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Reagan, Birdsell, Fuller Clark, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Soucy, D'Allesandro.

Roll Call, Yeas: 22 - Nays: 2. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, Senator Bradley moved to special order the following bills to Wednesday, May 2, 2018. Adopted.

JUDICIARY
HB 135, relative to the submission of evidence prior to hearings in divorce cases.
HB 476, relative to the duties of registers of probate.
HB 1295, relative to persons held in civil contempt.

JUDICIARY
HB 1288, relative to petitions for annulment.
Interim Study, Vote 4-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1288 be referred to Interim Study. This bill would amend the waiting period required for filing a petition for annulment of a criminal record and would require the denial of a petition for annulment to include written findings stating the basis for denial. Presently, there are a number of competing bills regarding the annulment of records and the committee stands behind their positions on other bills they passed this session. Passing this legislation would simply muddy the waters. Therefore, please support the majority of the Judiciary Committee in the motion of Interim Study on House Bill 1288. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Adopted.

HB 1329, relative to eyewitness identification procedures.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1329 Ought to Pass. This bill would require certain law enforcement agencies to adopt a written policy regarding eyewitness identification procedures. This will not only clarify and codify eyewitness identification procedures, but also help to protect innocent citizens from false identifications and wrongful convictions. Human memory can be flawed and easily biased, and the implementation of these procedures will benefit all parties in the criminal justice system. This bill is a common-sense policy for our law enforcement agencies and therefore, the majority of the Judiciary Committee asks for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1329. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1483, amending the wiretapping and eavesdropping statute to include private communication networks.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1483 Ought to Pass. And it will surely show my un-high-tech level of technology. This bill adds any technology utilizing wireless entry points or access points to the definition of a communication's common carrier. When individuals use devices that are not provided by a common carrier, like Comcast or Metrocast, they create a private network. These types of devices include everything from a Nest Thermostat to a Wi-Fi enabled baby monitor. I understand that one. As technology has advanced, more opportunities for bad actors have arisen, including the ability to take advantage of the access and entry portals created by those devices. This bill enshrines in law that those access and entry points are protected from wiretapping and eavesdropping. Therefore, please support the majority of the Judiciary Committee in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1483. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1589, relative to actions against tenants for a caregiver under an agreement for a person with disabilities.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1589 Ought to Pass. This bill creates an exemption in the definition of tenancy occupancies, where a caregiver providing care to a person with disabilities, under a written agreement, may be ordered to vacate. This is a sensible expansion of an exemption that already exists for people who own their own homes and bring in caregivers. The bill provides that an inadequate caretaker of a person with disabilities can be removed from their post within three days when needed, but only if the caretaker has consented to the arrangement, has been given three days warning, and has been fully paid for their work to date. This is an important protection for ensuring adequate caregivers can be brought in to do the work that is needed, while still providing protections for those caregivers. Therefore, please support the majority of the Judiciary Committee in the motion of Ought to Pass on House Bill 1589. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1775

Amend RSA 461-A:16, I(g) and (h) as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing them with the following:

(g) Abuse of the child by one of the parties;
(h) The educational needs of the child; and
(i) Any other factors the court deems relevant.

Amend RSA 461-A:16, IV(a) as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

(a) When appointing a guardian ad litem to be paid from a state fund, the court shall establish an hourly rate and a maximum fee for the appointment, which shall not exceed the hourly rate and maximum fee established by court rule for abuse and neglect cases. No funding from a state fund for guardian ad litem fees shall be available to a party whose income is 200 percent or more of the federal poverty level.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1775 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill revises the criteria for the appointment of a guardian ad litem under RSA 461-A. The limits of the role of the guardian ad litem, unless they have express authorization from the court. Revises the procedure for determining guardian ad litem fees, and repeals the provision governing Supreme Court standards for non-certified guardians ad litem. The committee amended the bill to add educational needs to the criteria for appointing the guardian and clarified the funding mechanism should the court choose to appoint a guardian ad litem to someone whose income is less than 200 percent of the poverty level. Therefore, please support the majority of the Judiciary Committee in the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1775. Thank you, Mister President.

I. The council shall have the following members:

(a) The commissioner of the department of transportation, or designee.

(b) The commissioner of the department of business and economic affairs, or designee.

(c) The commissioner of the department of safety, or designee.

(d) A member of the senate transportation committee, appointed by the president of the senate.

(e) A member of the house transportation committee, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(f) An individual knowledgeable in transportation technology, appointed by the governor and approved by the executive council.

(g) A member of the New Hampshire College and University Council, appointed by the president of that organization.

(h) Three representatives of the transportation service industry, each representing a discrete mode of transportation, appointed by the governor and approved by the executive council.

(i) Two representatives from regional planning commissions, one of whom shall represent an urban area and one of whom shall represent a rural area, appointed by the New Hampshire Association of Regional Planning Commissions.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 267, all aboard, and Ought to Pass with Amendment. This legislation repeals the New Hampshire Rail Transit Authority and establishes the New Hampshire Transportation Council. The Rail Transit Authority is no longer needed due to a lack of projects to manage and needs to be derailed. Work with me... Further, the Transportation Council will examine the growing demand for an alternative transportation options. We don't need to study rail, but the committee amended the legislation to ensure that the Department of Safety is represented and on track with the council. HB 1365, relative to OHRV operation on public ways. Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-0. Senator Cavanaugh for the committee.

SENATOR CAVANAUGH: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1365 Inexpedient to Legislate. This legislation amends the requirements for certain use operating an OHRV on a public way, by requiring that a non-family member accompanying the rider be a minimum of twenty-five years old and a family member accompanying the rider be at least eighteen years old. The committee believes that these age requirements are excessive, this legislation would only impact about fifty miles of road in the state. Further, the definition of immediate family member is unclear in today's society, where a family unit can be made up of many different individuals. The Transportation Committee asks for your support in the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1365. Thank you, Mister President.

Amendment to HB 1428-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to roadside memorials.

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 New Subdivision; Roadside Memorials. Amend RSA 236 by inserting after section 110 the following new subdivision:

Roadside Memorials

236:110-a Roadside Memorials. No roadside memorial erected within a right-of-way or adjacent area of any primary or secondary highway at the site of an accident or untimely death shall contain any lighting or reflective tape.

2018-1606s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill prohibits lighting or reflective tape on roadside memorials.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1428-FN Ought to Pass with Amendment. As introduced this bill would require the Department of Transportation to remove roadside memorials after a period of ninety days. The committee amended the legislation simply to prohibit the use of lighting or reflective tape on those roadside memorials, since both of these can impair a driver's ability to see, especially at night. Otherwise the committee believes that roadside memorials are permissible and that allowing citizens to remember loved ones who have passed away at certain locations is a traditional gesture. This legislation modifies speed limits in work zones at the request of the Department of Transportation, so that statutes would reflect current practice. The inconsistency was brought to their attention through litigation regarding a highway crash. The department has been utilizing operational speed limits more and more which state that the speed limit is reduced when a sign is flashing. SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1718-FN be referred to Interim Study. This bill would modify the definition of surveillance as it pertains to highways and would also increase the penalty for a private party who engages in surveillance on highways. Although the committee is supportive of preventing third party companies from selling citizens private information, the committee believes that this bill needs further study in order to understand the consequences including those relating to law enforcement and the investigative industry. Amendment to HB 124-FN

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Section; Reporting by Airport. Amend RSA 422 by inserting after section 20 the following new section:

422:20-a Reporting by Airport. The owner of each airport open for public use shall submit to the department quarterly a list of all aircraft, including the federal registration number for each aircraft, that are based at that airport.

2 Repeal. RSA 422:31, I-II, relative to aircraft registration fees, are repealed.

3 Aircraft Operating Fee. RSA 422:31, III is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

III. An aircraft operating fee for each aircraft for which a state registration certificate is required. The amount of the fee shall be based on the maximum certificated gross weight of the aircraft, as follows:

0-3000 lbs.	$50
3001-8000 lbs.	$250
8001-12,500 lbs.	$2,500
more than 12,500 lbs.	$3,500

4 Operating Fee Revenues. Amend RSA 422:36, II to read as follows:

II. Disbursements of revenue from the aircraft operating fee shall be made by the department after collection of such fees. [~~provided that 1/4~~] Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars of aircraft operating fee revenues originating at [~~a~~] publicly or privately owned [~~airport~~] airports shall be available each fiscal year for public use and shall, upon application, be paid over to the aeronautical fund established for [~~that airport~~] New Hampshire airports and shall be used for aeronautical purposes.

5 Effective Date. This act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

2018-1619s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires quarterly reporting by airport owners, modifies registration and operating fees for aircraft, and adjusts the distribution of operating fee revenue.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister Chairman. I move House Bill 124 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill attempts to address the exorbitant registration fees for aircraft in New Hampshire which as you may recall this body dealt with last month when it passed Senate Bill 565. The bill before us differs from the Senate version in that it also raises the aviation fuel tax in order to attract and grow the private aircraft industry in New Hampshire. The committee believes the language from Senate Bill 565 is preferable. Therefore the committee amendment replaces all after the enacting clause with the language from the Senate version of this bill. To refresh memories, Senate Bill 565 established a reasonable acceptable level of registration fees and changed the funding scheme to one that is simple and forward looking. The Ways and Means Committee asks for your support for the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Thank you, Mister Chairman.

Floor Amendment to HB 124-FN

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to aircraft registration fees.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 New Section; Reporting by Airport. Amend RSA 422 by inserting after section 20 the following new section:

422:20-a Reporting by Airport. The owner of each airport open for public use shall submit to the department quarterly a list of all aircraft, including the federal registration number for each aircraft, that are based at that airport.

2 Repeal. The following are repealed:

I. RSA 422:31, I-II, relative to aircraft registration fees.

II. RSA 422:32, III, relative to operating fees for operation of antique aircraft.

3 Aircraft Operating Fee. RSA 422:31, III is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

III. An aircraft operating fee for each aircraft for which a state registration certificate is required. The amount of the fee for an antique aircraft, glider, or experimental aircraft shall be $100. The amount of the fee for all other aircraft shall be based on the maximum certificated gross weight of the aircraft, as follows:

0-3000 lbs.	$ 100
3001-8000 lbs.	$ 250
8001-12,500 lbs.	$2,500
more than 12,500 lbs.	$3,500

4 New Section; Reporting by Commissioner. Amend RSA 422 by inserting after section 31 the following new section:

422:31-a Reporting by Commissioner. On or before September 15 of each year, the commissioner shall certify in a report to the governor and the chairpersons of the house and senate standing committees on ways and means the following information: for the fiscal year just ended, the numbers of aircraft registered in each of the weight classes listed in RSA 422:31, III; operating fee revenues received by weight class; the numbers of aircraft by weight class that were based during the fiscal year at each of the airports open for public use; and a summary report showing the total numbers of such registered aircraft by weight class by year beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30, 2017.

5 Operating Fee Revenues. Amend RSA 422:36, II to read as follows:

II. Disbursements of revenue from the aircraft operating fee shall be made by the department after collection of such fees provided that [~~1/4~~] $250,000 of aircraft operating fee revenues originating at a publicly or privately owned airport shall be available each fiscal year for public use and shall, upon application, be paid over to the aeronautical fund established for that airport and shall be used for aeronautical purposes.

6 Applicability.

I. While recognizing that the revision in aircraft registration fees in this act may positively or negatively impact revenues, it is the legislative intent that the operating budget of the bureau of aeronautics shall not be based upon anticipated general fund revenue collected under RSA 422. Any resulting revenue impacts resulting from changes herein shall not negatively impact funding for the operation of the bureau of aeronautics.

II. Effective July 1, 2018, the operating fee for an aircraft not previously registered in this state or an aircraft due for registration renewal after September 1, 2018 shall be the fee in RSA 422:31, III, as amended by section 3 of this act and there shall be no state registration fee for such aircraft.

7 Effective Date.

I. Sections 1-5 of this act shall take effect January 1, 2019.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

2018-1765s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill requires quarterly reporting by airport owners, modifies registration and operating fees for aircraft, and adjusts the distribution of operating fee revenue.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. The House working on this bill has added a clause, several, and specifically what this does is it protects the aeronautics board employees and gives the Department of Transportation a look back. It also says that the amount taken from the general fund to fund any positions in that budget will be reduced by the amount of fees paid for aircrafts registration. Just make sure those monies go towards the Aeronautics Department. So what this does is it lines us up perfectly with the House version that was recently amended. And so we'd have two identical versions of the bill, making a committee of conference not necessary. This bill's been fought very hard over the last year and a half. So I would ask you to concur with the Floor Amendment so we can pass the amended version. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. Senator Giuda, this does nothing to change the fees that were agreed upon?

SENATOR GIUDA: Not at all.

SENATOR LASKY: Okay, thank you.

Floor Amendment to HB 1415-FN-A

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT making an appropriation to the public school infrastructure fund to improve security in public schools.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Appropriation; Public School Infrastructure Fund; School Emergency Readiness Program. To improve security in public schools, the sum of $10,000,000 for the biennium ending June 30, 2019 is hereby appropriated the public school infrastructure fund established in RSA 198:15-y, to provide additional funding to the department of safety, division of homeland security and emergency management's school emergency readiness program. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for said sum out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

2018-1791s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill makes an appropriation to the public school infrastructure fund to provide additional funding for the department of safety's school emergency readiness program.

The Chair ruled sections of the Floor Amendment non-germane.

Without objection, Senate Rule 3-17 is suspended to allow consideration of the non-germane Floor Amendment. Adopted by the necessary 2/3 vote.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Thank you, Mister President. As I indicated previously, this Floor Amendment would appropriate $10 million for the biennium ending in June 30, 2019 to provide that $10 million for school infrastructure and school emergency readiness program. Given the debate that we've had about the need to protect our children. I hope that we can all join together in supporting this appropriation and protecting child safety. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to just say line 1, I just have an objection to. I've got to say you know to replace this bill, which discussed a death benefit for a school employees killed in the line of duty, to me that was an important thing to do. I have no problem with school safety being something that gets brought to this body at the end of the session, with all the trappings that we have at the end of the session. I'm not going to go into that. But I am, I just have to say a death benefit for school employees is a very reasonable thing to do. I'm just flabbergasted that we're doing one good thing and not willing to do the other. So with that, I'm not sure how to vote on this. I regret it, I wish the sponsors here would see that there is a way to incorporate both.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thanks so much for taking my question. Senator, it's my understanding, just so I can provide some context on the amendment, was that based upon the Governor's strong lead of wanting to make sure our schools were safe, we had already made an appropriation to safen and harden our schools up through a process that actually came through the Fiscal Committee a couple of weeks ago I think, where in the discussions of all the money that we have appropriated, there was discussion that there remains another seven and a half or so plus million dollar potential request on the table to help us really kind of round out and finish that hardening of some schools who didn't get in under the first appropriation. So it's my understanding that our passage of this bill, wouldn't just provide that seven and a half million dollars for schools that have requests today, but provides us a little bit of cushion to ensure that we're taking care of all of our schools around the state for safety. Is that true?

SENATOR BRADLEY: That's correct. I thought I had illuminated that the first time I spoke an hour ago. I didn't go back through the details. I'd be happy to do so, but in the last budget we appropriated almost $19 million to this purpose. This $10 million that we're appropriating today, ought to cover all of the requests that you've just illuminated.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Sir. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Why can't you also include the death benefit for the teachers?

SENATOR BRADLEY: I think the Finance Committee voted 4-2 against it. It'd be best served to ask a member of the Finance Committee that question. But I think the top priority here should be as I think you've most eloquently articulated, the need to protect our schools. Now we may have slightly different views of how to do that, but I think we all can agree that having the structures in place that are hardened and will better protect our kids is a worthy appropriation of money.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: I'm not sure that answered the question. Why can't it be both? If you have enough gift, all this extra in surplus and 10 million, why can we not then have money available when a teacher whose job it is to protect children, is killed in the line of duty? It's okay for the policemen but not for the teachers. I just feel that that's atrocious, frankly.

SENATOR BRADLEY: Well, I guess you can vote against the Floor Amendment if that's–

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Yes, but I'd like to know the answer.

SENATOR BRADLEY: It didn't go to a committee I serve on. So I think you'd be best served asking a member of the Finance Committee who felt it should not be an appropriation. I hope we can agree that that $10 million we can all support. What's in the Floor Amendment.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: So how does this work if I want to ask somebody from the Finance?

PRESIDENT MORSE: No one from Finance has spoken. If someone from Finance wants to answer the question. Senator Hennessey, Senator Daniels wants to answer your question.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you. The answer to the question is we felt that the coverage of municipal employee should be handled by the municipality, not the state. Recognizing that you might have teachers that are in a dangerous situation, but that could also extend to someone who is working out at a job site with DPW and we've seen all the incidences where people use vehicles as act of terrorism and run over people so, we're not extending them to the other things but it's left open so the municipalities could cover those individuals if they wish. It's also something that could be included in collective bargaining.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I'm rising in support of the amendment. While I share the concerns of my colleague from District 10 and voiced by my colleague from District 5, that we are losing the rest of the bill and I hope that there'll be another opportunity for us to do that. But here's what we have. We know that there is a demand for additional funding to add safety measures to our schools. I know in my district there are schools who need this money. This is what we can do now, the money is needed, there's a commitment not just by the members who are listed here as sponsors of this amendment, but I believe by all of us, that we want to do what we can. And I appreciate the efforts that are made to bring forward this late in the session the opportunity to provide more funding that our schools districts have told us that they need. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell for a question of Senator Bradley.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you for taking my question, Senator. The money that, of the 10 million that is going to go to the schools, can the schools put some of that money aside for the potential violence in the school?

SENATOR BRADLEY: Can I yield to Senator Daniels, who is on the Governor's Commission on that question?

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Sure.

(The Chair recognized Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR DANIELS: The answer to the question is no. These schools submit specific projects with a cost and the commission recommends or does not recommend those projects. Those are passed on to the Governor who gives final approval to it. But no, they can't take more than what they're given and put it away for something in the future.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise against the amendment and say this. By eliminating the underlying piece of legislation, you're putting together something that doesn't require an appropriation. It just requires a law, an addition to an existing statute that says if a person, for example a teacher, is killed in the line of duty, they will apply for the $100,000 that goes through a process. Hopefully that doesn't happen, but indeed that's a protection that we at the state level should be offering people. We've spent $14 million to protect schools. What does that say about what's happening at the municipal level, what have they spend? And they own the schools. So, we're going to spend, we've spent 14, this is another 10. We're going to spend $24 million. Worthy, we all want to protect our kids. We all want to protect our kids. But we're not willing to spend one dollar to protect the teacher who's got to stand at the entryway in front of the shooter and get killed and we give them nothing. We appropriate not a dime. Think of that teacher. Think of that teacher who stood in front of those kids and was murdered to protect those children. The safety features at the door didn't stop the intruder. Nothing stopped the intruder. What stopped the bullets? The teacher who stood in front of the students and died. But we don't care about that today. We say pffft, let's lock the schools. Let's not protect those who have to stand there, and have to, in some instances take their lives to protect those children. I've been a teacher all of my life. All of my life, and I can tell you there are times when I have had to stand there and defend my students. Didn't have any protection except me. Think of the people today, and what's happening in this world today and yet we're not willing, we're not willing to give something to those. We ask a lot, but what are we giving in return? And we are willing to take $10 million of un-appropriated money, un-appropriated dollars, and we are saying the priority should be an addition to the 14 million that they've already put forth. I would have spent that money a little bit differently. The waiting list, the developmental disabilities waiting list, in the C category has 300 people. They need our help. They could use $10 million. A lot of people could use X number of dollars. What is the criterion by which this additional 10 million will be distributed? Who's going to get it? Now we know at this point in time that all of the requests basically have been satisfied. I haven't talked to Perry Plummer as to what's left on the list, but we've pushed 14 million out the door to make our schools safer. It seems to me we ought to be thinking about these teachers and doing something on their behalf. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. We don't care about that today. I disagree. We do care about that today. But we feel in the Finance Committee, that an individual school district has full authority to negotiate with its employees. And life insurance is one of those things that can be negotiated. It does involve collective bargaining in some cases. We're not saying no, okay? And I think it's probably inaccurate for the Dean to state that we don't care about that today. There is a process for allocating these funds. It's very specific, applications are made and these are funds which most school districts can't pick up because the capital improvements require magnetic doors and surveillance systems and so forth, stretch most school districts beyond what they're capable of doing. So I fully support this amendment and I fully also support the ability of local school districts to care and protect their teachers as they see fit. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment and would just add some comments to my colleague from District number 2. I mean, a big part of finance, a big part of Finance is sources and uses of money. Trying to make sure that we're appropriating the money to an expenditure of where it should go and I see time and time again this year that I've never seen in my time in this body, that we continue to see requests for legislation, requests for money and appropriations that some would argue aren't a responsibility of this state, that aren't the responsibility of the workers' compensation trust fund or aren't a responsibility of the 3,700 other JL accounts we have money in.

I believe that every single person in this room respects, supports, loves and cares about every person who defends a child including teachers. But our teachers work at school systems, our school systems are part of the municipality. There is ample opportunity, if this is important, and I believe that it is, for those teachers and those unions in their negotiations to go to their municipalities and have this discussion. My concern however like I had started, we're seeing an awful lot of bills come through the legislature this year, and hopefully it's not a trend, where some would suggest it might be far easier to convince twenty-four people to advocate for a position which should be left at the local community, should be left at the county, but issue after issue after issue this year is coming here. So if we are going to be good stewards of the state budget, I think it's important to separate the state obligations from the county or town or municipal obligations, and to my colleague from District number 20, because I know he was tied up and unfortunately could not be at the Fiscal Committee this week, we have to remember that there was a $20 million appropriation of which 19.8 I think has already been appropriated from the last fund from the Governor, and within that meeting Perry Plummer, if I remember correctly, actually came forward to document that fact there was another $7.5 million of existing requests today. So what this $10 million would do as the fine Senator from District number 3 had said, is to make sure we're bringing this point home on the accuracy, is we do have a request for $7.5 million today of schools today that have things they need to do to keep their kids safe today and passage of this bill would allow them to do that. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky for a question of Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you for taking my question. If ultimately, we were to pass this extra $10 million, could it be used, or would it, for other things other than specific capital improvements, such as training for teachers, etcetera?

SENATOR DANIELS: No, there are only three things according to laws that we passed regarding this. They can be used for internet connections, not internal but bringing new connections to your school. It can be used for emergency repairs. Let's say that a tree fell through the roof of the building or the boiler went in the middle of winter. And then it can go to security. And I'd say that the vast majority has gone to security. Currently of the 90 million we started out with there are about 44,000 unspent funds. But we have somewhere between 7 and 10 million left in requests that have come in from schools and we're kind of taking them on a first come first served basis as far as that when the money runs out then you know we've got those waiting. That's what this would take care of.

SENATOR LASKY: Just to be clear, because so much of the discussion has been nationally about training teachers, etcetera for to be better prepared for, God forbid, a gunman coming in. This money could not be used for something like that, or could it?

SENATOR DANIELS: I'm going to answer and say that there have been no requests that have come into that regard. That would probably be a determination by Commissioner Edelblut and Perry Plummer, Homeland Security, as to whether that would qualify under the criteria that was set up.

SENATOR LASKY: Okay, thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, I'm just trying to figure out where this $10 million number comes from, because I've heard that there are 7.5 million in requests. I'm unclear as to where the other 2.5 million is going to go. Could you perhaps enlighten us? Could you tell me if there are only 7.5 million and could you also tell me if those 7.5 million have all gone through the required security assessment that has to be done by the department first?

SENATOR DANIELS: Any money that's recommended out has to go through the assessment first, they have to have a plan in place. I have not looked today. As of the last time that we met there were between 7 and 8 million I think. If there were 10 million appropriated over there, I have no idea. Others may have come in since we last met that could be also approved. If there was money that was left over that might also go for emergency repairs or internet connections. The purpose of the school infrastructure fund.

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, my understanding of the language of this amendment, and I'm looking at the statute right here, 198:15-Y, III, there are five criteria, but this amendment limits it to one.

SENATOR DANIELS: I guess if it limits it to one, then it would go for one.

SENATOR SOUCY: The last part of the statute says other school building or infrastructure needs, the Governor in consultation with the Public School Infrastructure Commission may identify except for school building aid projects that are otherwise provided by law. Why wouldn't we allow for that catch all provision to deal with some of the issues that Senator Lasky questioned about, like training for the employees? With new equipment or with new–

SENATOR DANIELS: I was informed that the Department of Safety or Homeland Security is already working on a program for training. So it doesn't have to come out of this fund as I understand it.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Woodburn for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you, Senator Sanborn for taking my question. I know you're a champion of transparency in this building and I appreciate that. Maybe you could help me understand this is, we were handed an amendment today which we hadn't seen until we came in here after lunch. Fourteen Republican co-sponsors, no Democrats. How we should interpret this as being a good bill, a good idea, why wouldn't this be something that would be shared as we share so many other things and work together to get things done? Maybe you could help me understand why that process happened?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you for that question, I truly appreciate it. And I think you're absolutely right, I think there have been four amendments I've seen today, that I'd never seen before today. So I'm not sure that this one has any significant differences than any of the other four and we know this time of year that sometimes amendments seem to come pretty quick, and it's been standard operating procedure and I think you yourself had done so on several times and the most important question, Senator I think we should be asking today is, is this good policy? We know at the end of the year that we've spent a tremendous amount of our time and our effort trying to make sure our kids are safe. We also recognize that due to the great work by the Governor's Office and the great work by the Finance Committee, that our state's in a position that we might be able to help more, and we know there's a need for that. So I think it would be great policy for us to actually knowing that this is going to come upon us today, that we have this robust debate and see how we can help our kids.

SENATOR WOODBURN: Thank you for your answer to the question. So you don't have any concerns it's going to be $10 million, I don't believe this has been certified, like we needed with family leave, no issues that this got a public hearing, shouldn't have some scrutiny beyond this discussion here on the floor?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator thank you again, thank you so much for the question, truly appreciate it. When we talk about how we have this public discussion, I would submit to you we have had this public discussion on several occasions. We've been talking about making our schools safe for our kids, it's been a constant discussion we've had in this room for several months now. We also know that these requests have actually gone to the Fiscal Committee of which I am honored and appreciate the opportunity to sit on, by which it is a bipartisan committee that we have continued to review these requests as they've come in. We also know as early as this week, last week, my apologies Mister President, last week in the Fiscal Committee itself we were first alerted to the fact that we did not have the financial resources to take care of the schools at the level that the schools have come in and requested. So I know you, being a teacher, and you know me, coming from a family of teachers, knowing that protecting our kids and making sure our schools are safe are as important as anything you and I have ever done around here. So if we hear about a situation where we know there's a request, we know there's a shortfall, and through good fiscal management of our finance team and of the Governor's Office, we have some funds available, then we turn to the conversation we're having today. Is this a good use of the money? I would submit to you that this is a good use of the money, it's an appropriate use of the money and frankly we should be spending the money on programs like this, because our kids are the most important part. And I know you agree with me, Senator. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I want to see this amendment pass. I think we should get to that. We're not debating the main bill and because I hope there is a point at which this main bill, having to do with school employees and them putting themselves in harm's way, I hope it comes back and I've got to plant just two thoughts, for when it does. One, this wouldn't be coming to this body were it not that other first responders and their death is already prescribed a benefit in state law. There are those benefits. Were it not for that, I think we would not be here talking about spreading this benefit to school employees. Is a school employee a first responder? I've got to plant this story. My wife who was a teacher for many years, Monadnock High School one day a student walks into the cafeteria, carrying a shotgun. Principal Dan Stockwell confronted that student. He emptied the cafeteria while he discussed what the student was doing with that shotgun. What potential harm he could do. He disarmed that student. Now there could have been a lot of different outcomes for Mister Stockwell that day. He put himself in harm's way. He's a school employee. He would be covered by this legislation as would a custodian, as would a teacher, as would any other school employee. Just got to plant the thought, because I feel that's a debate, I wish we would have had, I wish we would have passed. We're going to move on, we're going to discuss school building aid. It's a good issue. We should deal with it, but we should be dealing with both of these issues, and I hope the time comes that the underlying bill comes back to us and we have that opportunity. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey for a question of Senator Daniels.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Are you able to tell us what percentage or what piece of the 7.5 million requests have been requested by charter schools?

SENATOR DANIELS: No, I do not have that information, but I was just given some information that there is $7,882,495 worth of projects on the waitlist with another $3 million waiting to be reviewed.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: And they don't tell you what schools they are when they're requesting that?

SENATOR DANIELS: If you look online under School Infrastructure Commission, there is a chart there that lists all the schools that are getting. I don't have the breakdown for them.

SENATOR HENNESSEY: You don't even have a rough idea?

SENATOR DANIELS: No. I believe they are all public schools.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. But if any Senator wanted to see what funds have been dispersed and to what schools so far of the 19 million, would it be appropriate for the Senator to look at the Fiscal Committee book from last week which specifically outlined every single school, what every project was for and for every dollar amount and I'm assuming that Mister Plummer and Commissioner Edelblut would probably have the same document for the other 7.8 plus $3 million on the docket.

PRESIDENT MORSE: I'm assuming your inquiry is correct.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Watters, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Kahn, Daniels, Avard, Lasky, Carson, Feltes, Reagan, Birdsell, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Hennessey, Cavanaugh, Soucy, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

Floor Amendment to HB 1756-FN-A

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to a one-time allowance for certain state retirees.

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Retirement System; Additional Allowance; Appropriation.

I. An additional one-time allowance of $500 shall be paid during state fiscal year 2019 to retired members of the retirement system receiving an allowance who are eligible as follows:

(a) The member retired with at least 20 years of creditable service;

(b) The member retired and has been receiving an allowance for at least 5 years prior to July 1, 2018.

(c) The annual retirement allowance of the member on June 30, 2018 is not greater than $30,000.

II. The additional allowance shall not become a permanent addition to the member's base retirement allowance.

III. The sum necessary to fund the additional allowances granted under this act is hereby appropriated to the board of trustees of the retirement system. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for said sum out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill grants a one-time additional allowance to retirees in the state retirement system. The bill makes a general fund appropriation for the retirement allowances.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. Some of this might look familiar to you because this was a bill that I filed at the beginning of last year. This is something that the Decennial Commission has as an issue we took up, we discussed and so this is the bill that I filed. And so I just want to run through a couple of things here. It allows for a one-time allowance of $500 to be paid during state fiscal year 2019, it also requires that the retired person have at least twenty years of credible service, that the person has retired and has been receiving an allowance for at least five years prior to July 1st of this year and that the annual retirement allowance of the member on June 30, 2018 is not greater than $30,000 and we want to make sure that the additional allowance shall not become a permanent addition to the members base retirement allowance. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Senator Carson, could you tell me, is this $500 acceptable to tax and what would it actually mean then that the individual would receive?

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you for the question, Senator. I'm not sure about whether or not it will be taxed. I can't answer that question.

Recess. Out of recess.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President and colleagues. I wanted just to rise to give my thanks to the Senator from District 14 and the Senator from District 3. And I know in particular the Senator from District 14 has worked so hard on this for so many years. And yes it is déjà vu all over again to get this version of it back, but this is good, we do what we need to do, this is going to help I've been informed a vast majority of people who are in the system are making under $30,000 this is a good thing to do, and I'm really very appreciative to the Majority Leader that we were able to get here today. Thank you.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in support of the amendment, thank those involved and I want to thank in particular, Ernie Loomis, the non-paid advocate who, Major Loomis, Sir. It's good people like Ernie who work at it and that's what makes New Hampshire a great place, and that's what makes serving worthwhile. Thank you, Ernie. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. There is someone that I would like to thank as well as Major Loomis. I met a gentleman from the city of Manchester a few years ago. He came into a public hearing that were having. And his name was Timer Blaze, and unfortunately Timer died last year at the age of ninety-nine years old. And he was a Manchester City Firefighter, he served honorably for this country during World War II and he came home and every time I would see him, he would always ask me what can we do to help our state, our employees, they need help. They need help. And at ninety-nine years old he would be up here advocating for his fellow retirees. So Mister President, I hope Timer is looking at, looking down on us and I can tell him hey, Timer, we finally got it. So thank you very much, Mister President.

WAYS AND MEANS

HB 169-FN, relative to limits on wagers in charitable games of chance. Ought to Pass, Vote 4-1. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 169 Ought to Pass. This bill raises the limit on wagers in charitable games of chance from $4 to $10. Ten years have passed since the last time the limit was raised. This bill will increase revenue for charities by approximately $3 million and state revenue by approximately 1.3 million. I ask your support for the motion of Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. I'm the one. I'm the one. I rise to ask my colleagues to vote this down. The bet originally was $2, $2, because it was charity, and $2 wasn't going to make anybody a problem gambler. Then it went to $4. Double, and again the charities needed more money and Senator Odell worked diligently to get that 35 percent into law, many charities say they don't get the 35 percent and I think that's highly problematic. Now we have gone from $4 to $10. You know what that does to a game, that you can buy in, you can buy in up to $150? You know what's on the table in some of those poker games? Sometimes $2,000, sometimes $3,000. So remember what we're doing. I understand charitable gaming. I think nobody understands charitable gaming more than I, Senator Morse and I, we've looked at it for twenty years. We could have had real gaming, real gaming where the state would have got 35 percent and would have made about $100 million a year to help out our state. I think charitable gaming is what charitable gaming is and I've said this before, I remember when in Sunday mass they used to say team number 2 will conduct the games and they'll be in the church hall. Remember those days. They don't exist anymore. The church halls are vacant because we have our little casinos now, all over the state. And by the way a casino's going to open up in Berlin next week. They need charity. So I'm asking my colleagues to think about that. I just don't think it's a good idea and we could have had the real thing. We could have had the real thing. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and ask the body to support this bipartisan arrangement to raise the bet from $4 to $10. Now I understand it may have been 1973 when we did the $2 bet, but the cost of charity's more money today. And yes, I hear my good colleague that he's now considering charity gaming to be casinos. Which I'm hoping he starts supporting it if we're going to call them casinos. But they're not casinos. What they are is a way for our communities to raise money to help charities, so they don't come to the state. So the question you have to ask yourself is if we don't recognize the fact there's a couple new gambling facilities in Massachusetts and Maine who have no limits, no limits. You can go down there and truly bet the farm tomorrow. And once those things are up and running and going and I don't know if they are Senator, because I don't gamble. What happens to everyone who's presently supporting our charities today in New Hampshire? They're going to go to Massachusetts. Which means our charity gaming ends. And when our charity gaming ends, what happens? They're coming back to the legislature. They're going to come see Senator Morse, they're going to come see Senator Daniels and say we used to be able to live on our own, eat what we kill, raise money in these charity games. But now we can't do that anymore. Because the people aren't showing up to play because they're heading down to Massachusetts where there's no limits. At a maximum $10 bet, compared to driving another thirty minutes for an unlimited bet, that's the risk we have today. Are we as a legislature going to support people who want to be charitable, are we going to support people who want to help our charities without coming to the state, putting more pressure on our resources? This is a reasonable accommodation which will help keep our charity entities reasonably competitive, so we continue to raise money for all those charities which today aren't getting any government help. I think about the coalition on brain injury, which doesn't get any state money. The acts you make today will help them stay out of the state hallways during the Finance Committees. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

HB 1673-FN-L, relative to the interest charged on late and delinquent property tax payments.

Amendment to HB 1673-FN-LOCAL

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 2 with the following:

3 Collection of Taxes; Tax Sales; Redemption; Interest Rate. Amend RSA 80:32 to read as follows:

80:32 Redemption. Any person with a legal interest in land so sold may redeem the same by paying or tendering to the collector, or in his or her absence, at his or her usual place of abode, at any time before a deed thereof is given by the collector, the amount for which the land was sold, with interest at [~~18 percent per annum~~] 6 percent per annum for the first year, 9 percent per annum for the second year, and 12 percent per annum for the third and any subsequent year upon the whole amount for which the land was sold from the time of sale to the time of payment in full, except that in the case of partial payments in redemption made under RSA 80:33-a, the interest shall be computed on the unpaid balance, together with redemption costs and costs for notifying the mortgagees, if any. In case the tax collector who sold the property in question shall have died, become incapacitated, been removed from office or removed from the town or city or shall have been discharged from his or her bond by the selectmen or assessors, then the person with the legal interest in redeeming the property may tender such sums to the tax collector then in office of said city or town. Upon advice from the selectmen or assessors that the amount tendered is the correct amount due, the tax collector shall accept said amount for the redemption of the property.

4 Collection of Taxes; Tax Sales; Subsequent Tax; Interest Rate. Amend RSA 80:37 to read as follows:

80:37 Payment of Subsequent Tax. For purposes of this section, "subsequent tax" shall mean any tax assessed upon the real estate subsequent to that for which it was sold by a municipality, a county or the state. The purchaser of real estate at any tax sale may pay to the collector any subsequent tax and the collector shall, within 30 days after such payment, notify the register of deeds thereof, giving the date and the amount of such payment and the name of the person so paying together with the date of the tax sale, the name of the person taxed and a description of the property sold as shown in the report of sale recorded in the registry of deeds. The collector of taxes shall receive $1 for such notice to the register of deeds of the payment of subsequent tax plus $1 to be paid to the register of deeds. The purchaser, within 30 days of payment of the subsequent tax, shall personally, or by certified mail, notify in writing any mortgagee who was notified of his purchase at the tax sale of this payment of the subsequent tax. The purchaser paying the subsequent tax shall receive the same fees prescribed for notifying the mortgagee of his or her purchase at the tax sale to be included in [~~his~~] the costs to be paid by the person making redemption, except that when a town is a purchaser at a tax sale and the town pays a subsequent tax and the selectmen direct the collector of taxes as agent for the town to give notice of payment of a subsequent tax to any mortgagee who was notified of the purchase by the town at the tax sale, the collector shall be paid the sum of $5 for this service. Any amounts so paid on account of subsequent taxes, together with interest thereon at the rate of [~~18 percent per annum~~] 6 percent per annum for the first year, 9 percent per annum for the second year, and 12 percent per annum for the third and any subsequent year from the date of payment shall, in addition to the purchase price at the time of sale with accrued interest and costs, be paid by the person making redemption.

5 Collection of Taxes; Tax Liens; Redemption; Interest Rate. Amend RSA 80:69 to read as follows:

80:69 Redemption. Any person with a legal interest in land subject to a real estate tax lien may redeem the same by paying or tendering to the collector, at any time before a deed thereof is given by the collector, the amount of the real estate lien, with interest at [~~18 percent per annum~~] 6 percent per annum for the first year, 9 percent per annum for the second year, and 12 percent per annum for the third and any subsequent year upon the whole amount of the recorded lien from the date of execution to the time of payment in full, except that in the case of partial payments in redemption made under RSA 80:71, the interest shall be computed on the unpaid balance, together with redemption costs and costs for identifying and notifying the mortgagees, if any. In case the tax collector who executed the tax lien against the property in question shall have died, become incapacitated, been removed from office or removed from the town or city or shall have been discharged from his or her bond by the selectmen or assessors, then the person with the legal interest in redeeming the property may tender such sums to the tax collector then in office of said city or town. Upon advice from the selectmen or assessors that the amount tendered is the correct amount due, the tax collector shall accept said amount for the redemption of the property.

6 Collection of Taxes; Tax Liens; Interest Rate. Amend RSA 80:75, III to read as follows:

III. When a municipality is the lienholder and the municipality pays a subsequent tax and the selectmen direct the collector of taxes, as agent of the municipality, to give such notice of said payment to any owner and to any mortgagee as provided above, the collector of taxes shall receive the same fees provided for the lienholder for his service. The amount of subsequent taxes paid, together with interest on such taxes at the rate of [~~18 percent per annum~~] 6 percent per annum for the first year, 9 percent per annum for the second year, and 12 percent per annum for the third and any subsequent year, from the date of payment shall, in addition to the tax lien amount at the time of execution with interest and costs, be paid by the person making redemption.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill provides that the interest on delinquent property tax payments shall be 6 percent for the first year, 9 percent for the second year, and 12 percent for the third and any subsequent year of nonpayment.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1673 Ought to Pass with Amendment. This bill sought to change the interest rates charged by the municipalities for delinquent property taxes. The bill as passed by the House would have tied the interest rate charged for delinquent taxes to the annual underpayment rate, determined by the Commissioner at the Department of Revenue Administration based on the rate specified in the Internal Revenue code. The committee came up with an amendment which I am going to ask you to vote down so that I can bring forward another amendment which has bipartisan support as well as the support of the Tax Collector's Association. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Failed.

Senator Daniels offered a Floor Amendment.

Floor Amendment to HB 1673-FN-LOCAL

Amend the bill by replacing all after the enacting clause with the following:

1 Apportionment, Assessment, and Abatement of Taxes; Interest. Amend RSA 76:13 to read as follows:

76:13 Interest. Interest at [~~12~~] 8 percent per annum shall be charged upon all taxes except resident taxes, except as otherwise provided by statute, not paid on or before December 1 after their assessment, which shall be collected from that date with the taxes as incident thereto, except in the case where a tax bill sent to the taxpayer on or after November 2 and before April 1 of the following year interest shall not be charged until 30 days after the bills are mailed. Interest due in an amount up to $25 may be waived by the collector, with the approval and consent of the board of selectmen and the board of assessors, if in the collector's judgment the administrative and collection costs involved do not warrant collection of the amount due. The tax collector shall state on the tax bill the date from which interest will be charged and such date shall be determined by the day the collector sends out the last tax bill on the list. The collector shall notify the board of tax and land appeals in writing of the date on which the last tax bill was sent.

2 Property Taxes; Quarterly Billing. Amend RSA 76:15-aa, IV to read as follows:

IV. Interest at the rate of [~~12~~] 8 percent per annum shall be charged on all taxes not paid on or before their due dates or 30 days after mailing, whichever is later.

3 Collection of Taxes; Tax Sales; Redemption; Interest Rate. Amend RSA 80:32 to read as follows:

80:32 Redemption. Any person with a legal interest in land so sold may redeem the same by paying or tendering to the collector, or in his or her absence, at his or her usual place of abode, at any time before a deed thereof is given by the collector, the amount for which the land was sold, with interest at [~~18~~] 14 percent per annum upon the whole amount for which the land was sold from the time of sale to the time of payment in full, except that in the case of partial payments in redemption made under RSA 80:33-a, the interest shall be computed on the unpaid balance, together with redemption costs and costs for notifying the mortgagees, if any. In case the tax collector who sold the property in question shall have died, become incapacitated, been removed from office or removed from the town or city or shall have been discharged from his or her bond by the selectmen or assessors, then the person with the legal interest in redeeming the property may tender such sums to the tax collector then in office of said city or town. Upon advice from the selectmen or assessors that the amount tendered is the correct amount due, the tax collector shall accept said amount for the redemption of the property.

4 Collection of Taxes; Tax Sales; Subsequent Tax; Interest Rate. Amend RSA 80:37 to read as follows:

80:37 Payment of Subsequent Tax. For purposes of this section, "subsequent tax" shall mean any tax assessed upon the real estate subsequent to that for which it was sold by a municipality, a county or the state. The purchaser of real estate at any tax sale may pay to the collector any subsequent tax and the collector shall, within 30 days after such payment, notify the register of deeds thereof, giving the date and the amount of such payment and the name of the person so paying together with the date of the tax sale, the name of the person taxed and a description of the property sold as shown in the report of sale recorded in the registry of deeds. The collector of taxes shall receive $1 for such notice to the register of deeds of the payment of subsequent tax plus $1 to be paid to the register of deeds. The purchaser, within 30 days of payment of the subsequent tax, shall personally, or by certified mail, notify in writing any mortgagee who was notified of his purchase at the tax sale of this payment of the subsequent tax. The purchaser paying the subsequent tax shall receive the same fees prescribed for notifying the mortgagee of his or her purchase at the tax sale to be included in [~~his~~] the costs to be paid by the person making redemption, except that when a town is a purchaser at a tax sale and the town pays a subsequent tax and the selectmen direct the collector of taxes as agent for the town to give notice of payment of a subsequent tax to any mortgagee who was notified of the purchase by the town at the tax sale, the collector shall be paid the sum of $5 for this service. Any amounts so paid on account of subsequent taxes, together with interest thereon at the rate of [~~18~~] 14 percent per annum from the date of payment shall, in addition to the purchase price at the time of sale with accrued interest and costs, be paid by the person making redemption.

5 Collection of Taxes; Tax Liens; Redemption; Interest Rate. Amend RSA 80:69 to read as follows:

80:69 Redemption. Any person with a legal interest in land subject to a real estate tax lien may redeem the same by paying or tendering to the collector, at any time before a deed thereof is given by the collector, the amount of the real estate lien, with interest at [~~18~~] 14 percent per annum upon the whole amount of the recorded lien from the date of execution to the time of payment in full, except that in the case of partial payments in redemption made under RSA 80:71, the interest shall be computed on the unpaid balance, together with redemption costs and costs for identifying and notifying the mortgagees, if any. In case the tax collector who executed the tax lien against the property in question shall have died, become incapacitated, been removed from office or removed from the town or city or shall have been discharged from his or her bond by the selectmen or assessors, then the person with the legal interest in redeeming the property may tender such sums to the tax collector then in office of said city or town. Upon advice from the selectmen or assessors that the amount tendered is the correct amount due, the tax collector shall accept said amount for the redemption of the property.

6 Collection of Taxes; Tax Liens; Interest Rate. Amend RSA 80:75, III to read as follows:

III. When a municipality is the lienholder and the municipality pays a subsequent tax and the selectmen direct the collector of taxes, as agent of the municipality, to give such notice of said payment to any owner and to any mortgagee as provided above, the collector of taxes shall receive the same fees provided for the lienholder for his service. The amount of subsequent taxes paid, together with interest on such taxes at the rate of [~~18~~] 14 percent per annum from the date of payment shall, in addition to the tax lien amount at the time of execution with interest and costs, be paid by the person making redemption.

7 Applicability. The interest rate of 8 percent established in sections 1 and 2 of this act and the interest rate of 14 percent established in sections 3-6 of this act shall apply to taxes assessed on or after April 1, 2019.

8 Effective Date. This act shall take effect April 1, 2019.

2018-1805s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill lowers the interest rate charged on late and delinquent property tax payments from 12 to 8 percent and 18 to 14 percent per annum.

SENATOR DANIELS: Thank you. This very simply takes the interest rates which are now set at 12 and 18 percent and lowers them to 8 and 14 percent respectively. We did receive a letter from New Hampshire Tax Collectors Association this morning who said they will support the rate of 8 percent and 14 percent for taxes assessed on or after April 1, 2019. That language on that date has been put into the amendment before you. Look for your support. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I appreciate the effort to reach a compromise on this and I understand that it was a controversial piece of legislation, but this is a reasonable compromise taking the pre-lien down 4 percent, taking the post-lien down 4 percent. I know people want to go further, the House certainly does but I think this is a reasonable compromise and encourage us to support it.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

HB 1686-FN, relative to applications for and the use of education tax credits.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-1. Senator Giuda for the committee.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1686 Ought to Pass. This bill expands the education tax program to allow tax credits earned for donations made under this program to be utilized against the interest and dividends tax. Also removes the cap escalator and caps the program at $5.1 million. This will open up the program to a new area of donations thus enabling more students to attend schools better suited to their learning needs. I ask for your support in the motion of Ought to Pass. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the pending motion. There are two issues that need to be brought up. Number one, based on this existing program, it's important to note that the constitutionality of it is still something that's looming and it's something that I think we need to at least flag for the body before we dramatically expand this program. Certainly some have been helped through it but it's something we need to think about. Number two, based on the way that it's written, people by claiming this interest and dividends at the federal level and by doing this at the state level, in some situations can double count and get a net benefit. Think about that. Some situations you can double count based on the claim at the federal level and doing this at the state level and get a net benefit. That's a little odd. I don't think it's actually what it was intended but that's a fatal flaw in the bill. Wasn't corrected in committee. So what this will do in the end though, is result in our interest and dividends because of that in part, interest and dividends receipts will go down, probably in the order of 3 or 4 million a year for the general fund. There is no offset in the general fund for this, none. So where is the fiscal responsibility in this? I don't think it's here; I don't think it's here. So I don't think this is ready for prime time, I know we say that a lot around here, but this clearly isn't so vote no on this.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and ask the body to support this. If you look this is an initiative that has been here for a long as I have and I haven't been here that long but we started this back in 2010. We tried to recognize that not every family has the means to make sure their kid gets the education that's right for them. So, to provide a little bit of assistance for a family, not on the government back, but encouraging businesses and in this case, what will be individuals, to make that decision that they're going to invest in the kids as well. This is a program that has been so constrained and yet continues to flower just a little bit. Continues to help disadvantaged kids in Manchester, in New Boston, in Berlin. Make sure that they can get some help that they can find some way to make that little educational system work for them. It would be great if every single kid on earth performed identically in every single school. But we know that doesn't happen. So having and supporting a program which will allow us to continue to support the kids of this state who need it most in the educational system, is a worthy thing for us to do. I would ask the body to support this reasonable accommodation whose time is come and is here to my friend in District number 15. And let's take a vote that says we support kids in education. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. To date the total expenditures out of this fund have been about less than half a million dollars, okay? And this is a program that takes people who are also paying property taxes and allows them to put money out of their pocket directly into a fully legislated part of our public-school system. These funds are used according to the director exclusively based on need. This goes to folks in tough districts that don't have the money to put their kids in schools that they think their kids will do better in. This is a total win for everybody, and I would encourage the members of the Senate to please pass this amendment and the bill. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Senator. Can you certify that folks won't double count this and end up with a net benefit under our tax laws?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question, although you know I've got a couple of decades in commercial banking and finance, I did not stay at Holiday Inn last night, and I am not a CPA or personal financial adviser. That said, this new concept of us having to certify things every single day is a very unique concept that's been happening today. So I can't tell you that I'm qualified as a financial adviser or tax attorney to make a certification per se, but what I can tell you is that creating a program to allow those people that have needs and have some flexibility in their life to support kids that have needs, there are barely much more worthy programs that exist and I'm sure you would agree with that.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. And because certification is a new standard can you certify that the general fund or our local school districts aren't going to lose money as a consequence of this?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, again thank you so much for the question. And the certification thing I don't think is a new standard, I think it's a new marketing term in this room, because it's not about certification, it's about making good policy. So the policy we have to ask ourselves, is this good policy that we're fitting a scholarship program for the kids that need it most, the families that don't have a lot of money to make sure that they can get a good education. To make sure they can find that place where their square meets the square peg in the hole. That's what this is about, Senator. And I know, I know you want what's best for the kids in this state, and I know you know every kid in this state isn't the same, and yet I understand your struggle that you're struggling with a new reality of not assigning kids to their education by zip code. And it's something we discuss on a regular basis around here. But the world is different today, and some kid in a zip code might not be the best school for them. So giving just a tiny little financial scholarship can change their world, and I know you support that, Senator.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you. Would you believe conceptually but I would, but would you also believe that because we can't certify to the revenue loss, we can't certify to the hit to our schools and we can't certify to the double counting, I can't support this, would you believe?

SENATOR SANBORN: I would believe, so.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator it's my understanding that when the Department of Revenue Administration testified, although they were neutral as to the legislation, they pointed out a technical concern which is that the program runs on a calendar year and yet the effective date of this legislation is July 1. Can you tell me why the committee chose not to fix that technical problem?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so very much. We actually looked to fix this problem in the next bill and obviously this is why we're taking up 1686 first and we'll be taking 1819 second so you'll see fixes coming up in 1819.

SENATOR SOUCY: And I don't have the other bill in front of me, so the effective date of the other bill is January 1 of 2019?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator I apologize I can't answer that on top of my head, 1819 is also July 1, 2018.

SENATOR SOUCY: So would you believe I don't see that as a fix if the program actually does run in a calendar year as pointed out by the department?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you very much.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition. I understand that we've got a cap of $5.1 million, we allow the businesses and through any of their two major revenue sources that they pay to the state to deduct from those in order to fund this program. We have collected maybe $725,000 a year, that's last year, that's its peak ever. And believe it or not we had money left on the table at the end of the last year, $15,000 that could have been spent, wasn't spent. So that's our current state. I know that some of us in this room, my colleague to my right, would just as soon we eliminated interest and dividends tax, but you know the real losers in all that are the property taxpayers. So, it's not just a win, win, win here. When we have funds that we can apply to education and we aren't helping support our schools, our public schools, our school districts that are seeing their tax rates go up because we're downshifting costs, on retirement on other things, eliminating stabilization aid. You know we're making choices. I don't think this is a good choice and I don't think that it's a necessary choice for us to be making at this time. I recommend we vote against this. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

Amendment to HB 1614

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to the international registration plan and relative to registration of semi-trailers.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 4 with the following:

5 Surety Bonds. Amend RSA 41:6, I-III to read as follows:

I. Town treasurers, trustees as provided in RSA 31:22 and [~~23~~] RSA 31:23, trustees as provided in RSA 53-B:8-a, I, library trustees including alternate library trustees, if any, town clerks, tax collectors and their deputies, agents authorized to collect the boat fee, nongovernmental registering trailer agents appointed under RSA 261:74-t, and persons delegated treasury functions under RSA 41:29, VI shall be bonded by position under a blanket bond from a surety company authorized to do business in this state. The bond shall indemnify against losses through:

(a) The failure of the officers covered to faithfully perform their duties or to account properly for all moneys or property received by virtue of their positions; or

(b) Fraudulent or dishonest acts committed by the covered officers.

II. A blanket bond may exclude the town treasurer if a separate fidelity bond for the faithful performance of his or her duties is furnished by the surety writing the blanket bond.

III. Premiums shall be paid by the town, except that premiums for bonding of a nongovernmental registering trailer agent shall be paid by such agent.

6 New Paragraph; Expiration of Registration. Amend RSA 261:62 by inserting after paragraph III the following new paragraph:

IV. Multiyear registrations may be issued for semi-trailers in accordance with RSA 261:141, XI. Multiyear registrations shall expire in the anniversary month otherwise applicable under this section in the final year of the registration.

7 New Subdivision; Registrations by Nongovernmental Registering Trailer Agents. Amend RSA 261 by inserting after section 74-s the following new subdivision:

Registrations by Nongovernmental Registering Trailer Agents

261:74-t Registrations by Nongovernmental Registering Trailer Agents.

I. Out-of-state semi-trailer registrations may be issued, renewed, or transferred through nongovernmental registering trailer agents appointed in accordance with this subdivision. Trailer agents shall be residents of and have a verified business address in this state. The director is authorized to limit the number of nongovernmental registering trailer agents appointed under this subdivision based on resource limitations, provided that at least 3 trailer agents are appointed and provided that any limitation established shall not be the basis for revoking any appointment previously made.

II.(a) Each applicant for appointment as a trailer agent shall furnish the following to the department:

(1) Whether the application is an original, renewal, or change of location;

(2) Corporate or business name;

(3) Trade name, if applicable;
(4) Legal address;
(5) Mailing address;
(6) Telephone number;
(7) Business hours;
(8) Name, address, and date of birth of at least one owner, partner, or officer, and title, if applicable;
(9) Name of the person who will be responsible for filing daily reports;
(10) An agreement to notify the department of any change of ownership, address, or corporate or trade name; and
(11) Signature and title of the person identified in subparagraph (8) and date signed.

(b)(1) Upon submission of an application that is incomplete or might indicate lack of fitness or qualification for appointment as a trailer agent, the director or his or her designee shall require an applicant to appear for an interview.

(2) The director or his or her designee shall inform the applicant in writing of the interview. The written notice shall include the date, time, and location of the interview.

(3) At the interview, the director or his or her designee shall:
(A) Explain any discrepancy or concerns to the applicant.
(B) Answer any questions that the applicant may have about the process.
(C) Allow the applicant to make corrections to the application or address any concerns expressed.

(4) If an applicant refuses or neglects to appear for a scheduled interview, the director shall deny his or her application.

(5) If an applicant fails to explain any discrepancy or concerns at the interview, the director shall deny his or her application.

(c) In order to be appointed as a trailer agent by the director, each applicant shall:
(1) Complete the application.
(2) Complete the training requirements.
(3) Complete an interview if applicable.
(4) Obtain a surety bond.
(5) Agree to allow the director or his or her designee to enter the agent's premises during business hours for the purposes of auditing or verifying compliance with the terms and conditions of this section.
(6) Agree to keep current with forms and software as determined by the department.

(d) Trailer agents:
(1) Shall furnish registration information concerning vehicle information as the director may require.
(2) Collect fees.
(3) Issue registrations.

(e)(1) Each trailer agent shall maintain a record of all trailer registration certificates issued by him or her, including:
(A) Date of registration.
(B) Full name of the registrant.
(C) Identifying number.
(D) Address and phone number of record.

(2) The trailer agent shall maintain all records for a period of 15 years.

(f)(1) Prior to being appointed as a trailer agent, each applicant shall complete a training program conducted at the division of motor vehicles, or such other location as the department shall determine.

(2) The training program shall include the following instruction:

(A) Completing a trailer registration.

(B) Filing daily reports.

(C) Collecting trailer registration fees.

(D) Maintaining records.

(E) Retaining the agent fee.

(F) Posting office hours.

(g)(1) If a trailer agent is deficient in any area, the department shall request the trailer agent to undergo retraining.

(2) Depending upon the areas of deficiency, retraining shall consist of one or more of the following:

(A) Repeat the training program.

(B) Repeat any portion of the training program.

(C) Undergo further training, the substance of which shall be determined by the department.

(h) Before any appointment shall become effective, each trailer agent shall file a surety bond with the department, pursuant to RSA 41:6.

(i)(1) Each trailer agent shall mail a daily report of nonresident registrations to the department containing:

(A) The physical address and telephone number where the trailer agent is located;

(B) Period the report begins and ends;

(C) Number of trailers registered; and

(D) Amount of registration fees collected.

(2) The daily reports shall be submitted along with all fees due to the department in the form of a check or money order.

(j) Whenever a trailer agent's office is closed or unattended, all decals, stamps, and other registration materials shall be placed in a locked file cabinet or other secure container.

III. A nonresident may register a semi-trailer in this state through a nongovernmental registering trailer agent, even if the trailer is not garaged exclusively in this state in accordance with RSA 261:46. Registrations of nonresidents for semi-trailers that are not garaged exclusively in this state shall bear the address of the owner's residence and the address of the nongovernmental registering trailer agent.

261:74-u Fees.

I. A nongovernmental registering trailer agent may collect and retain an agent fee for each registration processed as compensation for processing the registration.

II. The nongovernmental registering trailer agent shall collect and remit to the department the registration fee established in RSA 261:141, XI.

261:74-v Revocation of Agency Status.

I. If the director determines that a trailer agent has not continued to fulfill the requirements of RSA 261:74-t or has violated any of the rules adopted pursuant to RSA 261:74-w, the director shall commence the procedure established in paragraph II.

II. Any trailer agent whose appointment is sought to be revoked shall be afforded the opportunity of a hearing before the director or designee prior to such revocation. Following the hearing, the director may revoke the appointment as a trailer agent upon satisfactory evidence that the provisions of this subdivision have been violated and that the revocation is in the best interest of the state. A written statement outlining the evidence and violations shall accompany the revocation.

III. Upon the revocation of such agency, the person shall surrender to the department or its authorized agent all materials issued by the state under the provisions of this subdivision and all records pertaining to all matters authorized by this subdivision.

IV. Whenever an authorized auditor of the department, with the approval of the commissioner, determines that the public interest requires immediate action, the director may issue a temporary order suspending the authority of a nongovernmental registering trailer agent to issue, renew, or transfer registrations, pending a hearing.

261:74-w Rulemaking. The director shall adopt rules pursuant to RSA 541-A relative to application forms for appointment as a nongovernmental registering trailer agent.

8 New Paragraph; Fees; Multiyear Semi-Trailer Registrations. Amend RSA 261:141 by inserting after paragraph X the following new paragraph:

XI.(a) Persons may register semi-trailers for up to 12 years. Multiyear registrations for semi-trailers shall be subject to the following fees:

(1) One year: $20.
(2) Two years: $40.
(3) Three years: $55.
(4) Four years: $65.
(5) Five years: $85.
(6) Ten years: $160.
(7) Twelve years: $190.

(b) Semi-trailers owned by nonresidents of New Hampshire registered under this paragraph shall not require a municipal permit for registration and shall not be subject to any municipal fees.

9 Nonresident Registration. Amend RSA 261:46 to read as follows:

261:46 Nonresident Registration. Notwithstanding RSA 261:45, a nonresident who garages a vehicle exclusively in this state or who registers a semi-trailer through a nongovernmental agent, whether the semi-trailer is garaged in this state or not, may register such vehicle in this state as a nonresident. No exemption from the payment of a permit fee shall be granted by reason of nonresidence except by the director, who shall in all cases require proof satisfactory to him or her of residence elsewhere, and of the liability of a nonresident owner, otherwise entitled to such exemption, to pay a property tax on the vehicle for the current year in the state of his or her residence.

10 New Paragraph; Fees for Registration Permits; Multiyear Registrations. Amend RSA 261:153 by inserting after paragraph VI the following new paragraph:

VII. A resident registering a semi-trailer for multiple years in accordance with RSA 261:141, XI shall, when offering the semi-trailer for registration, pay all permit fees and other municipal fees associated with the registration for the entire multiyear period. Permit fees for the multiyear period shall be determined under paragraph I. If the registration is for 12 years, the permit fee shall be reduced by 10 percent.

11 Inspection of Trailers; Exemptions. Amend RSA 266:1-b, II to read as follows:

II. Semi-trailers shall be exempt from periodic vehicle inspection requirements under this chapter if the semi-trailer is fully compliant with the regulations of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration.

III. The director may authorize properly qualified dealers holding utility dealer registrations to inspect trailers of more than 10,000 pounds gross vehicle weight, to determine whether they are fit to be driven, and to issue inspection stickers, under rules adopted for this purpose pursuant to RSA 541-A. This section shall not apply to full trailers as defined in RSA 259:37-a [~~or semi-trailers as defined in RSA 259:98~~], and shall not prohibit other official inspection stations from inspecting trailers.

12 Registration Fees. Amend the introductory paragraph of RSA 261:141, III((j) to read as follows:

(j) For [~~semi-trailers or~~] automobile utility trailers (the weight of the trailer shall include the maximum load to be carried thereby):

13 Repeal. The following are repealed:

I. RSA 261:141, III(i), relative to registration fees for semi-trailers.

II. RSA 261:141, III(k), relative to registration fees for semi-trailers.

14 Effective Date.

I. Sections 5-13 of this act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

2018-1609s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Repeals statutory provisions of the international registration plan and authorizes the department of safety to implement the plan through rules that are exempt from RSA 541-A.

II. Authorizes registration of semi-trailers through nongovernmental agents of the department of safety.

III. Authorizes multiyear semi-trailer registrations.

IV. Provides discounts on fees for semi-trailer registrations.

V. Allows registrations through the agents by nonresidents for semi-trailers not garaged exclusively in this state.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. House Bill 1614, this bill would repeal statutory provisions of the international registration plan and authorize the Department of Safety to implement the plan through rules in order to bring the state into compliance outside the legislative process. As amended the bill would also authorize registration of semi-trailers through private agents of the Department of Safety, authorize multi or semi-trailer registrations, provide discounts on fees for these legislations and allow registrations through the agents by nonresidents for semi-trailers not garaged exclusively in New Hampshire. This amended legislation will bring important revenue to our state and Mister President, on policy alone the Transportation Committee voted in favor of the amendment. This legislation has been stated to have the ability to generate substantial revenue, however there are concerns on the costs of implementing this program. So with that concern, we passed it with the stipulation that it goes to Finance for review. I have spoken with the Chair of Finance and he has agreed to review House Bill 1614. So the Transportation Committee asks for your support in passing House Bill 1614 and moving it into Finance for review. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Mister President I rise in opposition to the committee amendment. We've debated this a couple years ago. It's an idea that sets people up who are registering trailers through third party agents in the state of New Hampshire and counter to other state laws. I think it's bad policy, we've debated it over and over again. And also represents a significant, a significant hit to municipalities. So it's bad policy, it's bad financials, Mister President, I respectfully disagree with the committee amendment and I hope we can vote it down. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I understand if this bill passes it is going to go to Finance to have some discussion, but I think it's important to say, we talk in this room every day about, or some people talk favorably, about our state needs more money. More money, can't live without money, got to have more revenue. Some people want to do it through raising taxes, fortunately there's a little bit of a firewall here that's not in the mood to raise a lot of taxes today. So this is a program, except my good friend from District 7 seems to want to. This is a program that will bring in revenue from out of state. It doesn't affect in state registrations, it doesn't affect in state trailers. This is a program like we see in Maine today that is raising some I think $15 million a year registering trailers from other states around the country. If we can create a program if we need to recognize that we need to be competitive because other states are being competitive for registration fees and we have that ability to set a program up to try and capture some of the what, two and a half million new commercial trailers sold every year? Shouldn't we try to find that way for people who are in Montana and Texas and Alabama and Massachusetts that we become a vehicle that makes it more affordable to them, long term haulers to register their trailers here which are not as the bill says garaged in New Hampshire, that it becomes a revenue source for us? Or are we going to say let all the other states take the money? Mister President, I ask this body to support passage of this amendment and again I understand it's going over to Finance for some additional review, but if this body wants more revenue without raising taxes, this is a vehicle by which to do it with. Thank you very much, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you, Senator. Are you aware that our Transportation Department believes that Maine, which you spoke about and their 19 million that they've brought, they're poaching our money right now, and there's a comedy clause if the other attorneys can help me, that we're supposed to recognize the laws of other states so just like they're poaching our money now, you're asking us to pretty much illegally under the federal laws, poach other states revenue?

SENATOR SANBORN: So Senator, thank you for the question. I'm not sure I agree with your premise. There's no question, I know companies, I know companies in the state of New Hampshire today that are registering their trailers in Maine.

SENATOR GANNON: And are you aware that that's against according to our Department of Transportation, that's in violation of state of New Hampshire laws?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. I am not aware of that, but I know if you make the penalty, you've made the cost of business so high, the business community's going to react to that. Just like we hear every single day, we've got manufacturers across this state that say I'm moving my company out of New Hampshire because our electricity bills are too high, our health insurance is too high, our taxes are too high.

SENATOR GANNON: You answered my question I thank you.

SENATOR SANBORN: We hit the business community so hard and they have to find a more affordable place to do it.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Adopted.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to the Committee on Finance (Rule 4-5).

SPECIAL ORDER

Without objection, the following bills are special ordered to Wednesday, May 2, 2018. Adopted.

Senator French moved Nonconcurrence and requested a Committee of Conference. Adopted.

The President appointed Senators Innis, French and Soucy.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Mister President, it is traditionally the policy of this Senate to have committees actually review the messages prior to these recommendations being made and I know this previous committee had not. I wonder if you could tell me if any of the committees actually convened to do that?

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator it was my assumption every committee ruled on this. So if that hasn't happened, we can stop the process right now.

SENATOR SOUCY: Mister President I can only tell you that it didn't happen for Commerce. I was not consulted on any of these, so that's why I'm asking.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM EARLY SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Early Session, that the business of the Late Session be in order at the present time, that all bills and resolutions ordered to Third Reading be, by this resolution, read a third time, all titles be the same as adopted, and that they be passed at the present time.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Lasky.)

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President, and my colleagues, whom I have the greatest respect and affection for. I wanted you to hear it from me because we all know that things here in this building are not very privileged. I have had the honor and privilege to work in this building for more than twenty years, but it is now time for me to announce my retirement. It's been a difficult decision. I will miss the work.

I will miss the honor and privilege of representing my constituents, and I will miss all of you and staff, and clearly everybody who in all of these buildings have been my family for all this time. So, again, I wanted you to hear it from me because it is buzzing around, I think, and I thank you for all your kindnesses, and I will not be a lame duck Senator for the next week. And, again, thank you.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Thank you, Senator Lasky. I didn't know if I should clap or cry.

Without objection, all personal privileges and unanimous consent shall be entered into the permanent Journal of the Senate. (Rule 2-16 and Rule 2-17). Adopted.

MOTION TO ADJOURN FROM LATE SESSION

Senator Bradley moved that the Senate adjourn from the Late Session.

Adopted. Adjournment from the Late Session.

May 2, 2018

The Senate reconvened at 1:00 p.m., a quorum being present.

The Reverend, Pastor Mark Warren, chaplain to the Senate, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

God, on this amazingly beautiful day we are reminded of who you are, and your goodness to each one of us. God, I'm also mindful of our Senators' work; the tireless work for the betterment of the population of our citizen residents of New Hampshire. As we're coming to the end of this session, this season, we might be feeling a little tired; but God give us the strength today to continue to contend for what is right, continue to contend for what is good for our population, that New Hampshire would prosper. God, I pray for clarity of mind, conviction of heart, and the unity of spirit, in Jesus' name–my apologies–in the name of the Father. Amen.

Senator Feltes led the Pledge of Allegiance.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for an introduction.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President, and colleagues. It is my privilege and pleasure to introduce Gerri Cannon, a constituent and a dear friend who is the at-large member on the School Board in Somersworth. Welcome.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro for an introduction.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Today I'm pleased to introduce a group of young political leaders from Macedonia. The crew from Macedonia. Avanti. Come up so people can see you. They're visiting New Hampshire as part of an exchange through the American Council of Young Political Leaders. I had the opportunity to meet with them over the weekend and was so impressed with all of them. One of whom is a Member of Parliament, there's a mayor and a couple of city councilors. We got the whole base covered. We got them all covered. All are under thirty-five years of age. That's a killer. Welcome.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you, Mister President. I would like to request, because of the heat of the afternoon that we allow the gentlemen in the chamber to remove their jackets.

INTRODUCTION OF PAGES

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell for an introduction.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I'd like to introduce our pages from Pinkerton Academy. First we have Catherine McCarthy. She's seventeen years old, eleventh grade she's from Hooksett, New Hampshire and she attends Pinkerton Academy. Go Pinkerton. Her favorite subject is math, her extracurricular activities as student council, dance, and she's a regular volunteer at the Hooksett Community Food Pantry. In the future she'd like to go to college for political science. So can I have a round of applause for Catherine.

And we also have Cole Fournier also from Pinkerton. He's seventeen, in the eleventh grade and hails from Chester, New Hampshire. His favorite subject is Chemistry or U.S. History. He's the President of the World Affairs Council in which they discuss politics and study topics like NAFTA. He is the vice president of Model U.N. and he's on the varsity math team and he's also a member of the student council. In the future he plans to study for his Master's or PHD at an Ivy League Institution or educational equivalent. After that he would either enter academia, join a scientific industry or enter politics in some way. So welcome.

MOTION OF RECONSIDERATION

Senator Soucy, having voted on the prevailing side, moved to reconsider the following action taken by the body on SB 84, relative to payment of workers' compensation benefits by direct deposit.: Nonconcur with the House Amendment; Requests Committee of Conference. Adopted.

MOTION OF RECONSIDERATION

Senator Soucy, having voted on the prevailing side, moved to reconsider the following action taken by the body on SB 351, relative to managed care programs under workers' compensation.: Concur with the House Amendment. Adopted.

MOTION OF RECONSIDERATION

Senator Soucy, having voted on the prevailing side, moved to reconsider the following action taken by this body on SB 553-FN, establishing a commission to study the incidence of post traumatic stress disorder in first responders and whether such disorder should be covered under workers' compensation.: Nonconcur with the House Amendment; Requests Committee of Conference. Adopted.

PRESIDENT MORSE: The bills that we reconsidered by Senator Soucy will be ordered to be taken up at the appropriate time with the additional committee work.

CONSENT CALENDAR

Senator Bradley moved that the Consent Calendar, with the relevant amendments as printed in the day's Calendar be adopted and that all such bills found Ought-to-Pass be ordered to Third Reading.

ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES
HB 1309, relative to transferring dogs, cats, and ferrets by animal shelter facilities.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Bradley for the committee.

> This bill is a housekeeping measure to correct an omission that occurred during the re-write of RSA 437 (Sale of Pets and Disposition of Unclaimed Animals) during the 2017-2018 budget process. This bill adds back the requirement that all shelter facilities have a microship scanner on site and shall maintain a list of recognized pet retrieval agencies.

HB 1488, establishing a committee to study the public utilities commission's role and scope of duties in a deregulated environment.
Interim Study, Vote 5-0. Senator Fuller Clark for the committee.

> This bill establishes a committee to study the Public Utilities Commission's role and scope of duties in a deregulated environment. The committee believed it best to blend the duties of the proposed study committee into HB 1796, which renames and restructures the duties of the current Legislative Oversight Committee on Electric Utility Restructuring.

HB 1796, relative to the legislative oversight committee on electric utility restructuring.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Fuller Clark for the committee.

> This bill renames and redefines the goals of the Legislative Oversight Committee on Electric Utility Restructuring. This committee has met regularly since its inception to review the progress of New Hampshire's effort to restructure its electricity industry. The bill maintains the existing committee and alters its duties to ensure oversight of the transformations expected from grid modernization. This amendment further expands its duties to examine the Public Utilities Commission's role in a deregulated market.

Amendment to HB 1796

Amend RSA 374-F:5, III as inserted by section 1 of the bill by replacing it with the following:

III. The committee shall provide an interim report on or before April 1, and an annual report on or before November 1 to the governor, the speaker of the house, the senate president, the state library, and the public utilities commission on [~~the status of electric utility restructuring, including the status of core energy efficiency programs monitored under RSA 374-F:6~~] activities before the public utilities commission and other cognizant state agencies in regard to evolving changes in the provision of electric services to New Hampshire customers, including modernization of the electric grid, development of technologies for electric storage, electrification of transportation, the growth of distributed generation, the commission's role in a deregulated market, and such matters as may arise that may present opportunities to improve the delivery of electric services or to reduce cost.

HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

HB 1261, relative to record management of abuse and neglect reports.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

This bill revises the retention requirements for founded, unfounded, unfounded but with reasonable concern, and screened-out reports of abuse and neglect. Under this bill, screened-out reports would be held for 4 years, unfounded held for 10 years, unfounded but with reasonable concern held indefinitely and founded held indefinitely. This bill is similar to Senate Bill 63, which the Senate already has passed. This will be another step forward in ensuring we do what is best for New Hampshire families.

JUDICIARY

HB 1373, relative to an individual's property right in his or her DNA.
Interim Study, Vote 5-0. Senator Carson for the committee.

This bill would declare that an individual's genetic information and DNA sample are the property of the individual. This is an important issue to address, however the language is confusing and there is potential that this will lead to negative unintended consequences regarding law enforcement investigations.

HB 1377, relative to emancipation by marriage and establishing a committee to study the emancipation of minors.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

The bill as amended establishes a committee to study the emancipation of minors. The Committee amended the bill to remove the automatic emancipation of minors by marriage, as the issue of emancipation needs to be examined as whole.

Amendment to HB 1377

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a committee to study the emancipation of minors.

Amend the bill by deleting section 1 and renumbering the original sections 2-3 to read as 1-2, respectively.

Amend the bill by replacing section 2 with the following:

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a committee to study emancipation of minors.

HB 1404, relative to the competing harms defense.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Lasky for the committee.

This bill would amend the statute regarding the defense of competing harms, which allows the defense the ability to argue that not acting would be worse than following the law. This is currently allowed in rare cases at the judge's discretion, but this bill would unnecessarily broaden the scope of the statute to any case. Therefore, the Committee supports the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate.

HB 1467, relative to the penalty for driving after revocation or suspension.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 5-0. Senator Hennessey for the committee.

This bill would modify the penalty for driving after revocation or suspension. Due to the seriousness of a DWI conviction and the subsequent revocation or suspension of a license, it is essential to maintain this penalty within the statute in recognition of the significance of the charge.

HB 1537, relative to a second opinion on health care matters for state or county prisoners.
Interim Study, Vote 5-0. Senator Carson for the committee.

This bill would permit state and county prisoners to have a second medical opinion from a licensed health care provider. The Committee had significant concerns regarding the inequity this would create due to prisoners' different financial capabilities and the day-to-day application of the law. Therefore, moving this bill interim study will allow those concerns to be examined.

HB 1586, relative to judicial review for underage marriage.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Lasky for the committee.

This bill prohibits the court from granting permission for a marriage involving a minor if the other party, except for the marriage, would be guilty of sexual assault. Essentially, this will enshrine in law that if sexual contact between two parties seeking to be married would otherwise be sexual assault, the marriage will not be granted.

HB 1587, relative to the minimum age for marriage.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Gannon for the committee.

This bill requires a person to be at least 16 years of age to marry. Currently, NH treats men, women, and same-sex couples all differ-ently in terms of marriage age laws. This establishes one age for all marriages and reinforces the gravity of the decision to marry in regards to our younger citizens.

HB 1774, relative to parenting plans and relocation of a child's residence.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator French for the committee.

This bill requires parenting plans to include a detailed parenting schedule, revises factors for determining the best interests of the children, and revises the statutory criteria governing relocation. These added requirements will add clarity to these proceedings and help to eliminate contention in these potentially emotionally charged situations.

PUBLIC AND MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS
HB 1294, relative to religious societies.
Ought to Pass with Amendment, Vote 5-0. Senator Gray for the committee.

This bill repeals certain obsolete statutes relative to the powers and authority of religious societies. The bill also repeals the majority of RSA 307, relative to pew ownership and the sale and repair of meetinghouses.

Amendment to HB 1294

Amend the bill by replacing section 6 with the following:

6 Repeal. The following are repealed:
I. RSA 306:2, relative to taxes raised by religious societies.
II. RSA 306:3, relative to donations to religious societies.
III. RSA 306:5, relative to joint donees.
IV. RSA 306:6, relative to parsonage land.
V. RSA 306:10, relative to limitations on donations as church income.
VI. RSA 307:1-6 and RSA 307:8-9, relative to the sale of meetinghouses.
VII. RSA 307:10-20, relative to the repair, alteration, and removal of meetinghouses.

The question is on the adoption of the Consent Calendar. Adopted.

COMMERCE
HB 1100, establishing a commission to review and evaluate workforce and job training in New Hampshire.
Interim Study, Vote 5-0. Senator Sanborn for the committee.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise to address the motion of Interim Study as the bill came out of the Commerce Committee. I'd like the body to understand that we made the decision to bring the bill out as an Interim Study basis, so we could actually bring forth an amendment, because we didn't want you to pass or kill the bill as it came out. So I'd ask the body to turn down the motion of Interim Study so I can make a further motion of Ought to Pass and introduce an amendment. Thank you very much, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Failed.

Floor Amendment to HB 1100

Amend the bill by replacing section 1 with the following:

1 New Subdivision; Commission to Review and Evaluate Workforce and Job Training Programs in New Hampshire. Amend RSA 273 by inserting after section 27 the following new subdivision:

Commission to Review and Evaluate Workforce and Job Training Programs in New Hampshire

273:28 Commission Established.

I. There is established a commission to review and evaluate workforce and job training programs in New Hampshire. The purpose of the commission is to review and evaluate all government funded workforce and job training programs in New Hampshire to ensure that they are effective, not duplicative, and that they are contributing to the needs of the workforce and the labor market.

II. The commission shall consist of the following members:

(a) Two members of the house or representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(b) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

(c) The commissioner of the department of labor, or designee.

(d) The commissioner of the department of education, or designee.

(e) The commissioner of the department of employment security, or designee.

(f) The chancellor of the community college system of New Hampshire, or designee.

(g) One member of the public, appointed by the governor, who shall be appointed from a list of 5 nominees from organized labor consisting of one from each of the following: New Hampshire AFL-CIO, New Hampshire Building Trades Council, AFT-New Hampshire, NEA-New Hampshire, and the State Employees' Association of New Hampshire.

(h) One member representing the National Federation of Independent Businesses, appointed by that organization.

(i) One member who owns an automobile dealership in New Hampshire, appointed by the governor.

(j) One member representing the manufacturing industry, appointed by the governor.

(k) One member representing the New Hampshire Lodging and Restaurant Association, appointed by the association.

(l) One member representing the Associated Builders and Contractors, appointed by that organization.

(m) One member representing the New Hampshire Nurses Association, appointed by the association.

(n) One member representing the New Hampshire High Technology Council, appointed by the council.

III. Legislative members of the commission shall receive mileage at the legislative rate when attending to the duties of the commission.

IV. The commission shall:

(a) Receive testimony and request data from each state agency that administers a workforce or job training program funded in the state budget.

(b) Receive testimony from individuals who have participated in such programs and determine if the program satisfied their needs and expectations, and review the data to determine the cost per enrollee in each program.

(c) Review the occupations each program is training individuals to perform and determine if there is overlap in training.

(d) Review methods of achieving more successful outcomes and promote such programs to increase public awareness.

(e) Review opportunities to direct enrollees into occupations facing a shortage of workers in the state.

(f) Study existing job training programs to determine the efficiency of the program, the cost per job resulting from a job training program, an analysis of job retention rates for individuals obtaining jobs through a job training program, the historical results of such programs, and a comparison of the costs and results of government-funded and privately-funded job training programs.

(g) Review and make recommendations on the consolidation of the following job training programs, and any other job training program, into one comprehensive job training program that will meet the needs of the public and New Hampshire employers, and determine the cost savings, if any, from such consolidation:

(1) Department of health and human services, division of family assistance, accounting unit 05-95-45-450010-6127-employment support program.

(2) Department of health and human services, Supplemental Nutritional Assistance Program, employment and training.

(3) Department of education, division of career technology and adult learning, accounting unit 06-56-56-565010-6031-apprenticeship training program.

(4) Department of education, division of career technology and adult learning, accounting unit 06-56-56-565010-6030-career and technical education/vocational education (CTE/VOC ED-State).

(5) Department of education, division of career technology and adult learning, accounting unit 06-56-56-565010-6032-career technology education/vocational education (CTE/VOC ED-Perkins).

(6) Department of education, division of career technical and adult learning, accounting unit 06-56-56-565010-4095-Youth Title I-Workforce Investment Act.

(7) Department of education, division of career technology and adult learning, 7004-adult education.

(8) Department of education, division of career technical and adult learning, accounting unit 06-56-56-565010-2538-vocational rehabilitation field programs match.

(9) Department of education, division of career technical and adult learning, accounting unit 06-56-56-565010-2539-supported employment, Title VI-C.

(10) Department of safety, fire standards and emergency medical services training courses under RSA 21-P.

(11) Department of employment security, job training funds from the department of health and human services.

(12) Department of business and economic affairs, job training program for economic growth pursuant to RSA 12-O:30-37.

(13) Police standards and training council training programs pursuant to RSA 106-L.

V. The members of the commission shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the commission shall be called by the first-named house member. The first meeting of the commission shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Eight members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

VI. The commission shall report its findings and any recommendations for proposed legislation to the speaker of the house of representatives, the president of the senate, the house clerk, the senate clerk, the governor, and the state library on or before November 1, 2018.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I'll do my song and dance while I wait for the amendment. Here it is. Thank you very much. Mister President, and members of the body, we all understand that workforce training is very important to us, and it's something that this body has always supported although there have been some questions relative to whether we should look at it and if we do look at it, how do we look at it. So the bill as it came from the House had five Senators, I'm sorry five House Reps, two Senators, a lot of commissioners but really no one that actually does workforce training and no entities that actually derive the benefit from workforce training. So before you you'll see an amendment that reconstitutes the committee to put people on there, for example, from the community college system that does training, from people in several different industries that actually have had a benefit of workforce training. What we're really trying to do with this amendment is to actually look at all of our workforce training programs to see which ones are successful, to see which ones although may be well intended, but maybe they haven't been so successful and we need to rein them in. Now Mister President, you might know that we've had discussions on several occasions as to how many workforce training programs we have in New Hampshire and we've always kind of bounced around to what the numbers are, but my good friend who lives in Milford, actually finally coughed up his report and I appreciate the work that he did so I just want the body to know quickly. These are the existing job training programs we have being funded by the state of New Hampshire.

Over at Health and Human Services, we have a TANF job training program that we spend $8.6 million on, in Education, we have an apprentices training. We spend $600 million on that provides curriculum coordination development of apprenticeships programs. We happen to have another education apprentices training program that we spend $239,000 a year on for electrical machinists. We have a CTE, VOC Ed program we spend $2 million on a year, between Pathways and Seamless Transitions for secondary career. We have a youth Title 1 WIA program we spend $1.6 million on a year. We have an adult education program we spend $5 million on a year. We have a VOC rehab field program that we spend $250 million a year. We have a supportive employment title 5C program we spend $300,000 on a year. Over in Safety, Mister President, Fire Standards and Emergency Medical Services has a training program we spend $7.3 million on. At Employment Security we have yet another job training program we spend $125,000 on. Over at DRED, is it still named DRED, Mister President? We have a job training program we spend $2 million on a year, and that's under RSA 1258. Also our Police Standards and Trainings Mister President, we spend another $3.5 million a year. So this totals the fact that today in our government we have thirteen individual job training programs that we're spending just shy of $34 million a year for. And I'd point out to the body, that in addition we spend another $3 million bringing the total to just under $37 million a year Mister President, on thirteen different job training programs. So what this amendment looks to do is to actually bring forth a committee, finally, to look and consider all of these programs and their efficacy and whether or not it's a good use of the people's money and how we might be able to use the money better. So with that I would submit to the body Amendment 1871 and ask for the body's approval. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. Thank you, Senator. Senator, I'm sure you're aware that the bulk of these programs are federally funded, that they have very intensive reporting and evaluation requirements that they've been found to be cost effective return on investments. My question is, why not just read those reports and then move forward? Why do we have to form a commission to read the reports that they already do?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. I appreciate it. Being past Chair of the Commerce Committee, I have never seen a report on efficacy of any of these programs, and I'll point out to you, Senator, that of the $37 million in programs we have, only $13 million of it actually comes from federal funds, 8.8 million comes from the general fund and just under $12 million comes from other funds. So Senator, I agree with you. Because I got the report. I agree with you, at some level each of these job training programs should have some sort of accountability for the taxpayer, and what we're hoping through this commission is to look at them and actually set some standards up.

SENATOR FELTES: Are you aware that the demand for job training public-private grants to skill up workers to fill available positions far exceeds available resources in the state of New Hampshire right now?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. I would remind the good Senator that this is not a question as to whether or not we should be having or doing job training programs, I think everyone is supportive of it. But knowing as you have indicated that financial resources are limited, even though we're spending almost $40 million a year on all of these programs, that I think it's important for us and for the legislative body to look at these programs and see if they're being effective, because if a program isn't working maybe it's our time to have that policy discussion, that we move the money towards another program or create another type of a program. I know you yourself have introduced several over the years. So again, this is not meant to discredit or look negatively at any of the programs, it's actually kind of our time to kind of look at the programs in general to see which ones are working and which ones might need some help.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President, and thank you, Senator for taking my question. I wanted to take a look for a moment with you on page 2, lines 25 to 29, which say review and make recommendations on the consolidation of the following job training programs, and you have them listed here. Now I note in particular that the list includes the WIOA program that is funded by federal funds and under their own standards as a discrete entity. So are you aware of the fact that we would not be, it would not be allowed under statute for us to consolidate these?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. Exactly the reason we're charging a commission to look at all of these programs holistically. We know there are many programs throughout the state that use both general and federal funds. There are other programs that only use federal funds. And clearly if there are specific restrictions that federal funds couldn't be used in a cross pollination act, I completely understand. And again, this amendment is not, is specifically not designed to create a policy consideration. This is an amendment to make a commission to look at all of these different job training programs and basically do what I would assume you would do, just take the assessment, see where we are and what ultimately might make some recommendations that make it all better.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you. So you know, I guess it's my own curse to pay attention to words. But it was my career. If you knew that one could not consolidate the WIOA programs, why would your bill say that the commission is supposed to make recommendations on consolidations?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so very much. So words do matter. And I agree with that even though, you know I joke regularly that literacy is a worldwide epidemic, I read this part of the statute as a charge of the commission to make recommendations as they do in every single report they do. Now their recommendation may well be we can't consolidate any of these programs. Their recommendation might come back and say they all stand up on their own two feet, they all are incredible use of the money and our average cost per job is lower than the national average and everything is great. But it also might come up and say look, there are a couple other job programs that maybe we could consolidate functions, save the taxpayer a little bit of money, re-allocate the money to a program that's working, and literally that's all this program's really looking to do, is to take a look at all the programs we have, because remember we had long debates in this room relative to how many programs we had and obviously now we have some list of some of them. The question just is what one's working, what one's not working, can we make it work better, should there be some consideration for consolidation or not. We should always look at everything government does, Senator, to see if there's a better way to make it work.

SENATOR WATTERS: So just so we have it in the record here, that if we pass this, the first message to this commission is they don't have to pay attention to this language right here particularly?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. Just for the record, as you know legislative intent's very important to me, my position is in the position of this document to charge a commission of people who I think are well skilled to take a look at all of our job training programs and take a good hard look at them, and let's see which ones are working or not working and let's prove to the taxpayer and this body that it's money being well spent. I do not believe for the legislative intent, that this is a commission that we're looking to specifically make consolidations or eliminations of programs. But I do think, sorry Mister President, I do think that we need to look at them, and that's what this commission's really looking to do.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you for the clarification, that's very helpful. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise with a question for my colleague from Senate district 9. Were there hearings on this commission? On the forming of this commission, that the agencies might have had some opportunity to review this?

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. As you know, this is a bill that came over from the House that had a public hearing, was voted on the House, and came over to the Senate and is a bill specifically about a workforce training commission, to look at these things. So all this bill looks to do is to expand the players on the commission and to ask the same questions. In fact, most of the duties in there actually came from the House Bill.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. So first off we've formed a commission, this would form a commission, must have at least twenty-five members on it, and to me, this looks a lot like a body that I've seen operate for the last twenty years at least, which is the Workforce Investment Opportunity Board. Same membership. Almost the same membership. All the actors in the job training world, all of the agencies that administer them. This is duplication. There is just no doubt in my mind that we are creating something to duplicate something that already exists, that if they were brought into the conversation, we could have used the data that they've already collected and ask them to provide more. That's the case. I agree that these words matter, and I'm glad that my colleague from District 4 has pointed us to page 2 because it definitely says, a consolidation into one comprehensive job training program. Impossible, just not possible. I've got the list, probably it looks a little different than my colleague's from District 9, but the same list. Five different state agencies, administering funds from what I can see is the U.S. Department of Education, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, U.S. Department of Labor. I mean they're following federal statutes, in carrying out these programs. So, I guess I would encourage the body, vote this down, this is not a necessary action and let's bring these agencies and the WIOA Board into the conversation. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise against the Floor Amendment 1871s. New Hampshire has a very easy way of dealing with this problem. We have a budget process. And we do it every two years, and we examine every department in state government and we examine every dollar that's spent in state government. We look at reports from every department. What do we need another commission for? We're going to commission ourselves to death. Let's have legislators do what they're elected to do: examine what's going on in the state. We have a process. That process has been in place as I understand it for like two hundred years. It's worked for two hundred years. We do it every two years. The Governor submits a budget, he evaluates every department, he sends out a memorandum. This is what I ask of you for the next biennium. If there are problems, they're noted. The legislature does the same thing. We bring in every department, we ask every department to elucidate on what you are doing, how much money you need and what is your success rate. It's worked out well. I don't see another commission. I've been around here for a long time. How many of you can remember one significant thing that a commission gave us with the exception of the Royden Sanders Commission, commissioned in 1968 to look at the tax structure of the state of New Hampshire? Now it's the only one I've seen that's really come forward and made a dramatic difference in the state. When we left the inventory tax, we abandoned it because it was bad, and we created the business profits tax which has made us an economically successful state for a number of years. We don't need another commission. What we need is good audits. We need good efforts in terms of our departments, holding our department heads accountable and making sure that a legislature performs properly. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Once again, I rise and ask the body to support this amendment. It's amazing we're getting off to such a wonderful start on a beautiful hot day. But to my colleague from District 20, I have lost count of the number of commissions he has sponsored or co-sponsored in my time in this body. So of course they matter. In fact I think we have 800 commissions floating around this building today. Because this is how we investigate things. This is how we bring people to the table. So the process, the process has always been about charging the legislature and the business community to review how we operate and then make recommendations to the body. So again, as I would say, when we look at this, you know this commission receives testimony from individuals who have participated in the programs to determine if they're satisfied with the program. Review each occupation's training individuals, review methods for achieving more successful outcomes. Are you saying we don't want to do this type of stuff? Are you saying we don't want to ask the people that have actually gone through job training programs and see if they were successful? Do we not want to reach out to the business community and say, hey, did you get a good employee after the training program? Seriously, look, let's roll this thing back up Mister President, get us back in the box. Simple commission to look and see if we're doing a good job, helping people to get better jobs. That's what the amendment does. Thank you, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to HB 1100

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a commission to review and evaluate workforce and job training in New Hampshire and relative to veterans' preference in public employment.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 2 with the following:

3 Veterans' and Disabled Veterans' Preference in Public Employment. Amend RSA 99-F:5, III to read as follows:

III. A public employer that does not appoint a veteran or disabled veteran to a vacant position for state employment, shall upon written request of the veteran or disabled veteran, provide an explanation of its decision. The explanation shall include information for the veteran or disabled veteran regarding other public employer positions within the hiring agency for which the veteran or disabled veteran may be qualified to apply.

4 New Paragraph; Veterans' and Disabled Veterans' Preference in Public Employment. Amend RSA 99-F:5 by inserting after paragraph III the following new paragraph:

IV. A public employer shall conduct a review and publish a listing of all positions for which active duty veterans or disabled veterans who have been honorably discharged shall be acceptable and who fulfill the minimum experience required for the position. The listing shall include law enforcement, security, and corrections positions for which the public employer regularly conducts recruitment at the entry level. The bona fide occupational qualifications for the position, including the acceptance of active duty service as experience, shall be determined by the employer.

5 Effective Date.

I. Section 2 of this act shall take effect November 1, 2018.

II. Sections 3 and 4 of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

III. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a commission to review and evaluate workforce and job training programs in New Hampshire. This bill also requires a public employer who does not appoint a veteran or disabled veteran to a position to provide information on other public employment positions for which the veteran or disabled veteran may be qualified and publish a list of other public employment jobs for which the veteran or disabled veteran may be qualified to apply.

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Mister President. This might look a little familiar to some of you. It is a bill that we passed earlier this session dealing with veterans and giving veterans preference in state employment. It passed this body on a voice vote but unfortunately in the House, they got stuck on what is a public employer. They didn't really seem to understand what it is. So just for clarification purposes RSA 99-F: 2 V, a public employer means the state, or any department of the state and any person authorized to act on behalf of the state or any department of the state with respect to control, management or supervision of an employee. So I think that I'd like to send this back to the House, that hopefully we can clear up whatever misconceptions that the House has on this because I think this body over the time that I have been here, has stood strong with veterans. They are a vital part of our workforce and if we can give them a preference in state employee, we all benefit. Thank you very much, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to HB 1100

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a commission to review and evaluate workforce and job training in New Hampshire and relative to workforce development and job training.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 2 with the following:

3 Unemployment Fund; Employer Rates. Amend RSA 282-A:87, IV(a) to read as follows:

IV.(a)(1) Each employer subject to payment of contributions pursuant to RSA 282-A:69, I shall have its rate reduced by [~~2/10~~] 2/5 of one percent beginning in the [~~second~~] third quarter of [~~2007~~] 2018. An administrative contribution equal to the amount of this reduction shall be paid by all such employers.

(2) Commencing [~~July 1, 2007~~] September 1, 2018, after deduction of all costs incurred in the collection of the administrative contribution, 1/3 of the quarterly administrative contribution collected, not to exceed [~~$2,000,000~~] $5,000,000 annually, shall be deposited each quarter in the fund established by RSA 282-A:138-a and shall be expended only as provided by and for the purposes provided in that section, provided that commencing April 1, 2020, the amount shall not exceed $2,000,000 annually. The remaining quarterly administrative contribution collected shall be divided so that the proportional share of the quarterly administrative contribution resulting from the increase over 2/10 of one percent shall be deposited in the unemployment compensation fund established under RSA 282-A:103 and the remaining amount deposited in the fund established by RSA 282-A:140 and shall be expended only as provided by and for the purposes provided in that section, and not for any other purpose.

4 Training Fund. Amend RSA 282-A:138-a, I to read as follows:

I. There is hereby created in the state treasury a special fund to be known as the training fund. Commencing January 1, 2002, the moneys in this fund may be used, solely as determined by the commissioner of business and economic affairs in accordance with rules and guidelines adopted by the commissioner of business and economic affairs, after consultation with the governor's state workforce innovation board, for funding training under the job training program for economic growth, established under RSA 12-O:30 through 12-O:37. Rulemaking authority relative to administration of the grant award process shall be with the commissioner of business and economic affairs pursuant to RSA 12-O:33.

5 Job Training Program for Economic Growth; Training Programs. RSA 12-O:32 is repealed and reenacted to read as follows:

12-O:32 Training Programs.

I. Training programs may include, but shall not be limited to:

(a) Structured, on-site laboratory or classroom training.

(b) Basic skills.

(c) Technical skills.

(d) Quality improvement.

(e) Safety.

(f) Management and supervision.

(g) English as a second language.

II. Pursuant to rules adopted by the commissioner of business and economic affairs under RSA 541-A, not to exceed $250,000 annually may be provided to further support programs offered as of January 1, 2018, and in addition to programs offered as of January 1, 2018, funding shall be provided for:

(a) Training individuals not otherwise eligible for state or federal training funds available as of January 1, 2018, including the cost of certificate programs and occupational skills training of individuals not currently employed with an employer in order to fill current in-demand employment in New Hampshire with employers having immediate employment needs, with a priority for jobs identified through the state's sector partnership initiative.

(b) The WorkReadyNH program established by the community college system of New Hampshire in an amount not to exceed $250,000 annually, including expanding the WorkReadyNH program to current high school students in grades 10 through 12 on a pilot basis.

(c) Recruitment for and program availability of certificate programs and occupational skills training opportunities for New Hampshire high school students upon graduation in order to fill current in-demand employment in New Hampshire.

(d) Marketing of New Hampshire's workforce development initiatives to employers and business community representatives in New Hampshire and for support of the education and acceleration programs within New Hampshire's non-profit business incubators.

(e) Recruitment and coordination of services provided in this subdivision to populations with higher than average unemployment in New Hampshire, including persons in need of training to change careers, persons with substance use disorders who are in recovery programs, persons with disabilities, inmates transitioning to the general population, senior citizens, legal immigrants and speakers of languages other than English, with priority given to persons with substance use disorders who are in recovery programs.

6 Job Training Program for Economic Growth; Eligible Costs. Amend RSA 21-O:35, IV to read as follows:

IV. The department may use no more than [~~10 percent, or $200,000,~~] 7.5 percent of any moneys received from the training fund established [~~at~~] in RSA 282-A:138-a[~~, whichever is less,~~] to administer this program.

7 New Paragraph; Job Training Program for Economic Growth; Report. Amend RSA 21-O:37 by inserting after paragraph III the following new paragraph:

IV. The commissioner shall annually provide a report to the governor's state workforce innovation board, the speaker of the house of representatives, the president of the senate, the chairperson of the senate committee with jurisdiction over commerce issues, and the chairperson of the house committee with jurisdiction over labor issues concerning the effectiveness of all job training programs and services.

8 Effective Date.

I. Section 2 of this act shall take effect November 1, 2018.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a commission to review and evaluate workforce and job training programs in New Hampshire and expands job training programs offered by the department of business and economic affairs.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. We heard from my friend from District 10 that there is a workforce investment opportunity agency. That agency, that board, and our job training professionals have worked together on enhancing our job training programs for the last few years. Cost effective job training programs. What this does is it reflects some conversations that were had since the last time we worked on this, including sunsetting. To be clear, sunsetting the increase in support for the job training programs that have a huge demand right now. Sunsetting that support, coincided with testimony about the unemployment insurance tax careers. So it's been pared back significantly, it's reflected those concerns. You may have a letter here from the High Tech Council, actually formerly known as the High Tech Council, New Hampshire Tech Alliance, in support. So these are very valuable job training programs. I will note though that after the adoption of Senator Carson's amendment, if we adopt this we're going to have to perhaps special order and re-bundle or deal with the sections appropriately. But the goal is not to erase Senator Carson's amendment. The goals is to add this. And again, high demand for these. This is our last chance to act on this before even January or whatever. It's been pared back to reflect the concerns. I'd encourage us to pass it. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise with respect and I appreciate my friend from District number 15 putting the bill in, but I ask that the body not support the amendment and vote it down for a couple of reasons. The first would be this would be a tax increase on the business community and more important or just as important is the fact we just had this discussion earlier on this bill about what are we doing with workforce training. And are we at a place that we should be investing more money into what we know now today is thirteen different programs that I am not convinced and many other people are not convinced that we actually have our hand around how they're operating. So I would ask the body again to vote down the committee amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. It's not a tax increase and the only potential impact would be on the unemployment insurance tax trigger which the Senate President and others have raised concerns about. We sunset the program, sunset the increase to coincide with the testimony on that. So there's no increased taxes, this is something that we need, right now. It's been studied for years and this has been, there's an outstretch demand right now in this program, public-private partnerships, fifty-fifty, a very valuable program. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and ask the body to consider line 10 of the bill which changes the rate and for the business community, when we have to pay any money into our government, we don't necessarily look at it as a gift, it's typically a tax, fee, fine, penalty or an assessment, and it changes the trigger from two tenths to five tenths, which would be two tenths to four tenths and moves it out by a month. So in a sense, this is an expense laid on the business community. But again, more important than all of this is with all of the programs we have today, shouldn't we be taking a step backwards and looking at the efficacy of them versus trying to continue to expand them, when we're not even sure what we have. So again, I'd ask the body to turn down the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Mister President. I rise again to correct the Senator from District 9. This is not a tax increase. When you look at line 10, that's the amount that otherwise goes into the unemployment insurance trust fund. It doesn't increase taxes, it changes the amount that goes to the job training fund, which is cost effective, return on investment, has demand that outstrips the supply of public-private partnership grants right now. It doesn't increase taxes and we sunset the increase going to job training out in quarter one I believe in 2020, which is what is consistent with the testimony. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR KAHN: Did I hear you say that the current program is oversubscribed, sold out for programs that business leaders are using to train their current and incoming employees to meet their workforce demands?

SENATOR FELTES: Yes, that's correct Senator. In fact it's been a frustration of the business community for quite some time. We haven't taken action on it. The other thing that this bill does as you may know Senator, is under the existing requirement, there's a burdensome bureaucratic requirement that requires that businesses actually employ the person before they get that job training. This eliminates that requirement. So in other words, if you're applying for a job and you want to get skilled up for that available position, that opens up some flexibility for businesses and that's something businesses wanted so that's built into the bill.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

Floor Amendment to HB 1100

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a commission to review and evaluate workforce and job training in New Hampshire and making an appropriation to the department of employment security for an actuarial study of family and medical leave insurance.

Amend the bill by inserting after section 2 the following and renumbering the original section 3 to read as 4:

3 Actuarial Study for Family and Medical Leave Insurance; Appropriation.

I. On or before July 30, 2018, the department of employment security and the insurance department shall jointly issue a request for proposals to complete an actuarial study evaluating mandatory, opt-out, and opt-in statewide family and medical leave insurance models for New Hampshire, including, but not limited to, estimated costs and benefits, premiums, participation rates, and take-up rates for each. The request for proposals may be informed by any responses to requests for information received prior to July 30, 2018. The actuarial study shall be completed on or before January 1, 2019.

II. An amount not to exceed $500,000 is hereby appropriated to the department of employment security for the biennium ending June 30, 2019, for the purpose of funding the actuarial study required under paragraph I. The governor is authorized to draw a warrant for said sum out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a commission to review and evaluate workforce and job training programs in New Hampshire and makes an appropriation to the department of employment security to conduct an actuarial study of family and medical leave insurance.

The Chair ruled sections of the Floor Amendment non-germane.

Without objection, Senate Rule 3-17 is suspended to allow consideration of the non-germane Floor Amendment. Adopted by the necessary 2/3 vote.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you very much, Mister President. Again, the intent of this is not to supplant Senator Carson's amendment, so if this does pass we'll have to adjust the sections accordingly. The major argument that at least I heard coming from Governor Sununu and some of my Republican colleagues in opposition to family and medical leave insurance was that an additional actuarial study needed to be completed. What this does is funds an additional actuarial study with mandatory opt out and opt in, which some of my Republican colleagues prefer, family and medical leave insurance models. So with that Mister President, I encourage us to adopt amendment 1892s. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to this Floor Amendment. Considerable amount of work is already ongoing on a committee that I am working with and I've invited Senator Feltes to join me with. We don't need an actuarial study on a model that doesn't yet exist. And this is the problem we're trying to solve. Working with the stakeholders, I'm working with Roger Sevigny, the Commissioner of Insurance, I'm working with Rich Labors, the Assistant Commissioner of Employment Security and a number of other people that are engaged in the process and we are moving forward with meetings to establish an RFI, Request For Information, from the insurance companies so that we can then go with an RFP. I'm working with the labor unions because we are seeing a model evolved in which and perhaps we can get the state employees to buy into this. And we are meeting with the heads of those unions to establish them potentially as a core base from which we will then develop an actuarial model not based on hypothesis or supposition but a real base into which anyone else can by choice join. So there are a number of models under consideration, public-private partnership as well as private. But there's no need for an actuarial study until you have a model, okay? To actually actuarialize for lack of a better word. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you. Just briefly. I'd point my good friend from District 2 to lines 15 and 16. The request for proposals may be informed by any responses to request for information received prior to July 30 2018. In addition to that, we heard that we cannot, even though I disagree whole-heartedly as you probably know from the discussion last week, the supposition was we can't predict or estimate or certify to an exact participation rate or take up rate under different kinds of opt in opt out. What this does is look at that. So regardless of how it's administered, take up rate and participation rate, there's something in an actuarial study that people have said they wanted. The Governor said he wanted an additional actuarial study, people in this chamber have said it. So it's time to put our money where we say it is, where our mouth is or whatever the saying is. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. In the process moving forward we are actually developing the questions and those questions will be going out to all employers in the state, through the Department of Employment Security to poll their employees. What would you like, what are you willing to pay, those types of questions. So that whole process is going to get a much better sample size, much larger, much broader, much deeper into the working people of our state that will enable an actuarial model to be that much better. And so again for those reasons it's premature to ask for an actuarial study until we have a model and the data that will enable them to get a much better job done with that study. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Fuller Clark for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you for taking my question. I'm interested to know how that poll is going to be conducted, who's conducting it and what is the cost?

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you for the question. That will be determined in the course of this study that we're doing, and RFI, Requests For Information and if we do this right, an actuarial study will be done by the insurance companies, not paid for by the state. It will save us nominally half a million or whatever it might be. And it will be done by the people that actually will be offering the product based on real data based on the sample size taken throughout the state. So that methodology will be developed in the course of the coming months.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: But as I understood it from your previous remarks, you said that there would be a poll going out as a means of shaping the model that would then be used. So is that whole initiative also being undertaken by insurance companies, Insurance Department or who's initiating that and paying for it?

SENATOR GIUDA: That whole process, while generally spoken to, will be specifically fleshed out in the course of the meetings that we're having. Because we're going to involve the state's labor force, we're going to involve private sector labor force that will involve employers. Employment Security is willing to do this and able. They have all the companies that pay into the unemployment fund. So the mechanisms to cost and so forth, that will come from the study that's being done this summer with the intent to bring in legislation next fall.

SENATOR FULLER CLARK: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment. Failed.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1285, relative to dancers and entertainers in premises serving alcoholic beverages.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Fifty-five minutes in Mister President. Thank you. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1285. This bill clarifies language in the existing statute that will protect entertainers and dancers who perform in this state. Currently there is an incorrect interpretation that would classify entertainers such as musical groups, comedians and other artistic acts as employees of the state of New Hampshire. Presently entertainers are not permitted to consume alcohol while performing because the interpretation of the statute by the liquor commission classifies them as employees. Entertainers are not on a venue's payroll as a paid employee of the establishment, they do not complete employment paperwork or receive a paycheck. They are not required to work a certain amount of payable hours, and do not receive traditional benefits. They're private contractors and work for themselves. Currently, the liquor commission supports this bill because they don't have the manpower to effectively enforce the current statute. The scope of the law is burdensome to small businesses in this state as well as the entertainment industry. The bill clarifies that in the state of New Hampshire an entertainer would not be considered an employee under the current statute. There is comedian Ron White who does his act with scotch on a chair next to him. If we pass this I'm sure he will be thrilled. So please join the committee in voting House Bill 1285 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1382, repealing the requirement that restaurants provide separate bathrooms for each sex.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-2. Senator Innis for the committee.

Senator Innis moved to Lay on the Table HB 1382. Adopted.

HB 1487, relative to banks and credit unions.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-1. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1487. This bill makes several changes to the New Hampshire banking laws including authorizing the department to conduct background investigations of department contractors. It authorizes the commissioner to release reports to government sponsored banks created under the Federal Home Loan Bank Act and requires depository and foreign banks to notify the department of relocation of loan production offices. For these reasons I hope you will join the committee in voting House Bill 1487 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1519, relative to the conduct of condominium unit owners' associations votes without a meeting.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Lasky for the committee.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1519. This bill adds a new section of law to the statute regarding examination and recount of a condominium unit owner's association vote taken without a meeting. This bill requires that all ballots cast in an association vote shall be counted using a tally sheet for the vote. If more than one ballot item was voted on, the board may elect to keep a corresponding tally sheet for each ballot item. The ballots and tally sheets shall be made available for examination and recount by request of any owner participating in the vote immediately following announcement of the results of the vote taken. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1519 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1521, relative to the definition of an emergency for a special assessment in a condominium.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1521. This bill defines the term emergency for purposes of a vote for a special assessment in a condominium unit. For the purposes of this section, an emergency means a situation that requires the immediate action of the Board of Directors, where a danger to the structural integrity of the common areas is discovered. Or to the life and safety of property unit owners or as required by court under order or to respond to any legal or administrative proceeding brought against the association that could have been reasonably foreseen by the board in preparing and distributing the annual operating budget. Please join the committee in its recommendation of Ought to Pass on HB 1521. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1578, relative to samples from nano breweries.
Interim Study, Vote 4-1. Senator Lasky for the committee.

SENATOR LASKY: Thank you, Mister President. I move House Bill 1578 Refer to Interim Study. This bill allows a nano sized craft beer manufacturer to provide samples of their products and sell them on the premises of a licensed wine manufacturer. We've had several beer and wine bills over the last two years and the committee felt that this is providing special treatment for nano breweries that other licensees are not receiving. It is not the New Hampshire way to choose a benefit some get while excluding others. So the committee asks that you vote Refer to Interim Study for House Bill 1578. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Adopted.

Recess. Out of recess.

HB 1601, relative to a declarant's options for condominium expansion.
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-2. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1601. This bill was a request of the committee to study the laws relating to condominium and homeowners associations. This bill adds a time limit for the conversion of convertible spaces pursuant to a condominium instrument and clarifies that the clearance options for adding additional units or common areas in a condominium. The bill also amends the law in how the land proposed for future expansion must be identified within the declaration. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1601 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise and ask this body to stop for a second and take a very deep breath, and consider unintended consequences here. While the bill is well-intentioned and the bill looks to make some sort of a recognition of further expansion of condo projects, the truth of the matter is if we pass this bill, we are telling every developer of condo projects in New Hampshire that if they cannot build it out within five years from the date of the declaration, they can't build it out. There are condo projects all over the state in every single one of our districts. Every single one of our districts have condo projects that have gone for some period of time. In Hooksett, you've got those condos up on the hill behind the quarry. In Manchester, you've got the Strawberry Hills. In Portsmouth, in Derry, in Windham, in Londonderry, all over this state. Every community, there are condo projects that have taken years upon years upon years to finish. We also cannot forget that although the economy's doing very, very well today, it doesn't always do well. There's these little things called recessions, Senators. Happen about every ten years, where the real estate market stops for six or seven years. If we have a recession that lasts for some period of time, it's telling the developer and just as important Mister President, it's telling the bank for the developer, that the project is never going to pay for itself, because they can't build and sell the units. Because we're about to pass a law if you pass this, that says after this five-year declaration period, you've got to stop. You've got to stop. You can't build anymore. Senators, again I ask you to vote down this not because the rest of the bill isn't good. There are other good parts of the bill. But this issue came up very recently and we have to truly consider the ramifications of this bill and the ramifications are as black and white as the pages we read. If we pass this bill, it is going to stop the development of any condo project that goes out five. It is going to stop the development of any condo project that happens during a recession. It is going to turn to the banking community and fundamentally change how development happens. I don't know of this provision being anywhere else in the country. Never seen it before. This steps us on incredibly thin ice and I'd ask the body to vote down the motion of Ought to Pass and if you guys want to take it up next year and look at it some more that would be great but this is incredibly dangerous ground for us to be standing on today. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Innis.)

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. Just to expand a little bit on some of the comments made by the Senator from District 9. There is a five-year time limit on these expansions and other activities, but it's possible for the owner to get a five year extension as well. So you can have up to ten years to make the decision on what you're going to do. And having been involved in real estate, I think those in here who may be have been, ten years is a long time. If you can't find a sweet spot in ten years to expand or do something with that condominium, you ain't going to find it. So this is plenty of time for condominium owners to have the freedom and flexibility that they need to get this done. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator French.)

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I rise against the motion of and I believe that we should not pass this bill. This bill hurts the people in my area. Ten years is nothing when you live in Franklin. Some of these projects just never fill out. They go on ten, fifteen years and I remember the recession of the 80s. The good Senator from 15 doesn't, he was in high school, but they were rough. And it took years to get through them and we shouldn't put these, grade school, thank you, and we really shouldn't be limiting the developers of the state by passing this. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the committee report. At a time when we are crushed for housing of all sorts, we are contemplating adding yet another regulation to discourage the enterprise of construction and building and development when we need it. Why would we do this? Why would we do this? I would encourage you to vote down the committee amendment so we'll move the bill Inexpedient. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise a second time and I appreciate your indulgence and I ask my Senators that live in Hooksett or Manchester, I ask all you as Senators, if you've ever driven down Second Street, Second Street in Manchester, there's a condo project and we know for two decades, during that last big recession, they built out half of the condo project and nothing but red pig iron stood out on that street for a dog's age, which is over five years ladies and gentlemen. We know that in Hooksett, up behind the quarry, there are several development projects. Those projects themselves have been going on for decades. And I'm sure the Senators from Manchester and the Senators from Hooksett and other Senators in this room all know real estate developments that have been going on for a long time. Having the ability to have one five year extension does not provide sufficient time. In addition to that, even speaking with Senate Counsel just a few minutes ago, he said yes, you could make an amendment to put additional five-year limits on it. There are things that could happen but today as this bill stands before us Mister President, they're not in there. Every one of us has developers in the districts we live in, we have developers we know who develop all over this state, that putting this hard stop after five years will be catastrophic to the development of real estate in our state. And again I ask the body to turn down the amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to support the Ought to Pass on House Bill 1601 and I guess I should say that I live in a condo so I might have a, just declaring it. But I will say this is a state, we're trying to get young people in to live in this state. We have condos that up to ten years. The condos are what our kids can be buying. My step-daughter and her husband, they have a condo. We live in a condo. This is basically kind of workforce housing. We're looking to try and bring young kids in to be able to live here and I don't think five years with a five year extension is too much to ask to start bringing in some younger kids so that they can afford to live in here. So with that, I support House Bill 1601. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Senator, would you believe one of the issues raised is this five-year provision in the extension? And would you further believe that our existing law since at least 1991 provides that the conversion of convertible land with respect to condominiums has this exact same language?

SENATOR BIRDSELL: I would believe that, Senator.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

The following Senators voted Yes: Watters, Hennessey, Gray, Ward, Kahn, Lasky, Carson, Cavanaugh, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark, Innis.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Giuda, Bradley, French, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Feltes, Reagan, Gannon, Morse.

Roll Call, Yeas: 13 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

Senator Sanborn moved to Lay on the Table HB 1601. Adopted.

HB 1605, relative to reinsurance.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1605. This bill was a request of the Insurance Department. The National Association of Insurance Commissioners adopted changes to their model law on credit for re-insurance that provides and describe rulemaking authority for the Insurance Commissioner concerning certain captive re-insurance transactions involving specific forms of life, annuity and long-term care insurance. Incorporating these changes into the statute is an NAIC accreditation standard. Maintaining these accreditation standards is important for the department because they assure a level playing field for carriers domiciled in other states who practice in New Hampshire, while offering the same assurance to New Hampshire companies doing business in other accredited states. Please join the committee in voting HB 1605 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Let me explain the situation. House Bill 1601 which is currently on the table, when I read the report, maybe it was wishful thinking, I declared that it was defeated 13-11. It would have passed 13-11. I recognize Senator Bradley for a motion.

HB 1601, relative to a declarant's options for condominium expansion.

The pending motion is Order to Third Reading.

President Morse Ordered HB 1601 to Third Reading.

HB 1654, relative to automobile medical payments.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-1. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. A very interesting bill and I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1654. This bill allows insurance carriers to pay health care providers a reasonable fee for services covered under motor vehicle liability insurance. The injured driver and the passengers would not be responsible for medical cost beyond the reasonable costs that have been reimbursed. So please join the committee in voting House Bill 1654 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a question of Senator French.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Senator. Can you tell me in this legislation who makes the determination of what's reasonable?

SENATOR FRENCH: The insurer I believe.

SENATOR SOUCY: So if someone disputes what the insurer is saying,1682 would they have to go to a hearing at the Department of Insurance. Is there a provision in this change for that?

SENATOR FRENCH: I didn't see one but I would assume that's the way it usually is handled.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass.

A division vote was requested.

HB 1682-FN, establishing a committee to study the pervasiveness of foreclosure practices that violate state or federal law.
Inexpedient to Legislate, Vote 4-1. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1682-FN. This bill establishes a study committee to study foreclosure practices that violate state or federal law. A study commission was created four years ago for this very issue and resulted in a nearly 300 page long report discussing foreclosure processes in New Hampshire. As a result of that study commission, two separate pieces of legislation were passed for consumer protection; the Dodd-Frank Act which was in response to mortgage markets in 2008, and it regulates every aspect of banking foreclosures. Another study commission is unnecessary and would be quite frankly redundant. Please vote Inexpedient to Legislate on House Bill 1682-FN. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. Adopted.

HB 1687, relative to banking and consumer credit.
Ought to Pass, Vote 5-0. Senator Soucy for the committee.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on HB 1687. This legislation was a request of the Banking Department and makes several technical corrections to our consumer credit statutes. The bill would clarify that the department may review advertisements for three years after the date of publication for retail sellers and sales finance companies. Section 3 expands the definition of clerical or support duties, to increase the number of people who classify as loan processors or loan underwriters that will now not need to be licensed. Expanding the definition will decrease the number who need to apply for a license. It would provide for, the legislation would provide for a dual licensure pursuant to 397-A and RSA 399-D. And ensures that those who are licensed pursuant to 397-A and refer their clients to mortgage modification companies are in fact licensed to do that adjustment in 399-D. Sections 6 and 15 clarify the jurisdiction of the Banking Department and New Hampshire Department of Justice over credit service corporations which provide service to their customers to improve their credit scores. It clarifies that the department's focus is on those entities who actually make loans. And further it incorporates into the small loan statute terms which shall be included in notes, agreements or promises to pay. Lastly, the bill makes several corrections for statutory reference changes and corrects spelling errors. Please join the committee in voting House Bill 1687 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1690-FN, relative to liquor licenses.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator French for the committee.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass on House Bill 1690. This bill clarifies certain liquor statutes. Current law for a premise licensee requires a sectioned off area for patrons. In situations where there is a large area, such as a winery, people want to be able to walk around with their glass of wine. This bill allows them to do so as long as they stay within the line of sight. This bill also allows for the commission to issue a supplemental wine festival license or a supplemental liquor festival license to the holder of a wine or liquor manufacturer license, or responsible person representing a voluntary non-profit group. And establishes the fee for liquor festivals at the same levels charged for wine festivals. The one, two or three day fee is 250, 300 or $350. Please join the committee in voting HB 1690 Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mister President.

Floor Amendment to HB 1690-FN

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 5 with the following:

6 Direct Shippers Licenses; Commission to Sell. Amend RSA 176:11, II to read as follows:

II. In the event that the commission determines New Hampshire liquor revenues are being diverted by actions taken by persons holding either liquor and wine representative licenses[;] or liquor and wine vendor licenses[~~, or direct shipper licenses~~] who compete directly or indirectly with the commission for market share, the commission may take such marketing or merchandising action, or both, as it deems necessary, including sanctions against the competing entities.

7 Effective Date.

I. Sections 1-5 of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

2018-1876s

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill:

I. Allows certain licensees to serve alcohol in certain areas the licensee operates.

II. Allows for the operation and licensing of liquor festivals.

III. Repeals provisions licensing cocktail lounges on airships.

IV. Removes direct shipper licenses from consideration for diversion of revenues by the liquor commission.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I ask the body to consider amendment 1876. The body might remember that several months ago, that we had debate relative to whether or not we would allow direct shippers of wine to be able to ship into New Hampshire, which has been a practice we've allowed for a long period of time. This comes on the heels of a bill that was passed two years ago that gave the Liquor Commission sweeping powers that if it felt that it was seeing too much competition, that part of those powers would allow it to restrict the marketing or merchandising of other importers or direct shippers of alcohol. This bill we had a couple of months ago looked to expand that process and this body tabled that bill as a policy that it did not want to support. Unfortunately, we have now found out that there has been significant activity that direct shippers in the state of New Hampshire have been denied renewals of their license and in fact, as of this morning more than fifty direct shippers and what I'm being told is every single renewal from February until today has been denied. I believe this is contrary to the policy that this body considered a few months ago. So what this amendment does, it looks at the legislation that we have passed two years ago and again nearly strikes out the direct shipper licensee, which should therefore allow those wine manufacturers and direct shippers to actually sell directly into our state as they have been doing for some long time. Remind the committee members that if you have your favorite wine or your favorite beverage that the state of New Hampshire does not stock, and they have complete discretion of what to stock, but yet you still want it, or your constituents still want it, passage of this amendment would allow them to go back and continue to get it, because it's being inhibited today. So I'd ask the body to support passage of amendment 1876. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Having just seen this I do want to rise and say some words that I think perhaps we're not ready to vote in support of this. The language of the amendment notes that the Liquor Commission has this authority in the event that the commission determines New Hampshire liquor revenues are being diverted by actions taken by certain persons. Now we depend on the Liquor Commission to produce substantial amounts of revenue for the state. Now if they are being capricious here, or if they have not been able to demonstrate that revenues are being significantly diverted, well let's hear about that and then maybe this is needed. But presuming that they are doing this without justification given in the statute to protect the revenues that come to our state coffers, why should we pass this now? Thank you, Mister President.

Recess. Out of recess.

Amendment to HB 1740

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT relative to costs of blood testing orders and licensing historic racing.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 2 with the following:

3 Limitation; Application of Chapter to Historic Racing. Amend RSA 284:1 to read as follows:

284:1 Limitation. This chapter shall be construed to apply only to running or harness horse racing, whether live, [~~or~~] simulcast, or historic, or simulcast dog racing.

4 Racing and Charitable Gaming; Historic Racing. Amend RSA 284:6-a, VI to read as follows:

VI. The lottery commission shall not authorize the use of any electronic gaming device in connection with the acceptance of wagers on running or harness horse racing, whether live, historic, or simulcast, or simulcast dog racing, the type of which was not in use prior to January 1, 2011, unless specific authorization for such electronic gaming device is enacted by the general court. Electronic gaming devices shall mean and include all electro-mechanical instruments and devices used for the purposes of gaming, other than wagering on live, historic, or simulcast horse racing or simulcast dog racing, whether in physical presence or through the Internet, and such shall include, but not be limited to, video slot machines and other gambling devices which function or are designed to function to emulate a video slot machine[~~ or historic racing machine~~]. This section shall not be interpreted to prohibit licensees under RSA 284 from replacing equipment used in the conduct of wagering on live, historic, or simulcast horse racing or simulcast dog racing, which type of equipment was in service prior to January 1, 2011, with updated or new equipment which are the functional equivalent of the machines which are being replaced, provided the equipment is not an electronic gaming device as described in the previous sentence. This section shall not be interpreted as prohibiting licensees from accepting account wagers in compliance with applicable rules and regulations.

VII. Notwithstanding the provisions of RSA 284:6-a, VI, the lottery commission shall authorize wagers on historic horse races, whether on an electronic gaming device or otherwise, so long as such wagers meet the requirements of this chapter.

5 Rulemaking; Historic Horse Racing. Amend RSA 284:12, IV to read as follows:

IV. The sale of pari-mutuel pools as authorized under RSA 284:22, [~~and~~] RSA 284:22-a, and RSA 284:22-b.

6 Investigation Fees. Amend RSA 284:12-a, I to read as follows:

I. No person, association, corporation, or any other type of entity shall hold any live running or harness race or meet, shall offer wagers on historic horse races, or shall conduct any simulcast running or harness horse or dog race or meet, at which pari-mutuel pools are sold without a license from the lottery commission.

7 New Section; Requirements for License to Conduct Historic Horse Race Wagering. Amend RSA 284 by inserting after section 15-d the following new section:

284:15-e Requirements for Conducting Historic Horse Race Wagering.

I. Any person, association, corporation, or other type of entity who holds a license under RSA 284 to accept pari-mutuel wagers may accept wagers on historic horse races.

II. Any person who holds a license under RSA 287-D may accept wagers on historic horse races.

8 New Section; Parimutuel Pools on Historic Horse Racing. Amend RSA 284 by inserting after section 22-a the following new section:

284:22-b Pari-mutuel Pools on Historic Horse Racing.

I. In this section:

(a) "Historic horse race" means:

(1) Any horse race, whether running or harness, that was previously conducted at a licensed pari-mutuel facility;

(2) Concluded with official results; and

(3) Concluded without scratches, disqualifications, or dead-heat finishes.

(b) "Licensee" means:

(1) Any person who, as of December 31, 2017, holds a license under RSA 284; or

(2) Any individual, association, partnership, joint venture, corporation, or other organization or entity which holds a license under RSA 287-D and meets the requirements of RSA 284:15.

II. A licensee under this chapter or RSA 287-D may sell pari-mutuel pools on historic horse races provided such sales are within the enclosure of the facility at which the licensee holds a license.

III. In accordance with the provisions of RSA 284:6-a, wagering on historic horse races may take place on electronic gaming devices provided that:

(a) All wagers use the pari-mutuel method of wagering;

(b) A licensee at all times maintains at least 2 terminals offering the same type of wager on historic horse races;

(c) The terminal makes available true and accurate past performance information on each historic horse race prior to the patron making his or her selections;

(d) The terminal displays a replay of each race, or a portion thereof, whether digital or by way of a video recording, and the official results of each race. The identity of each race shall be revealed to the patron after the patron has placed his or her wager;

(e) The terminals have been tested by an independent testing laboratory to ensure integrity and proper working order; and

(f) Each terminal displays pool amounts that the patron will receive for a winning wager on each pari-mutuel wagering pool.

IV. Racing officials, any employee or owner of the person who provides the totalizator system to the licensee, and any person responsible for the operation of the electronic reproduction equipment which operates the historic horse racing and wagering shall be prohibited from participating in wagering, directly or indirectly, on historic horse races offered at the licensee's facility.

V. The licensee commission on all historic horse race pari-mutuel pools shall be at a rate of not greater than 19 percent. In addition to the above commission, 100 percent of the odd cents of all redistribution based on each dollar wagered exceeding a sum equal to the next lowest multiple of 10, known as "breakage," shall be credited to the lottery commission. Each licensee shall pay the tax provided for in RSA 284:23.

VI. Each licensee shall collect an amount equal to the tax provided for in RSA 284:23, I(b). Each game operator employer as defined in RSA

287-D who is licensed to conduct wagering on historic horse racing under this chapter shall distribute 35 percent of the amount collected to charitable organizations with whom the game operator contracts on each licensed game date. The remainder of the total amount collected by the game operator employer under this paragraph shall be credited to the lottery commission for use according to the special fund established in RSA 284:21-j.

9 Effective Date. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill clarifies the provision of law relating to the costs of blood testing orders when certain individuals have been exposed to another person's bodily fluids.

This bill also defines and regulates pari-mutuel pools on historic horse racing.

SENATOR FRENCH: Thank you, Mister President. I move Ought to Pass with Amendment on House Bill 1740. Last session legislation was enacted to allow first responders who have been exposed to another person's bodily fluids to be tested. This bill repeals the provision requiring the cost of the blood testing orders to be paid for by auto or health insurance policies under certain circumstances. Workers' compensation insurance is now the only inappropriate insurance to pay for the testing. The committee amendment attaches my historical racing bill to the end of this bill. That bill was passed overwhelmingly by the Senate but unfortunately the House sent it to Interim Study. So possibly if you can't support that amendment which would be a great addition to this bill, please support the underlying bill by joining the committee in voting for HB 1740. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Bradley for a question of Senator French.)

SENATOR BRADLEY: Senator, are you suggesting to the body that the horses want to run on a different day in a different venue and that we should vote down the committee amendment so that it can arise like a phoenix on a different day?

SENATOR FRENCH: I was and I was thinking when I added it to this bill Senator, that bloodletting on a person was the same as bloodletting at a casino. But I don't think they go well together, so that would probably work. Thank you, Senator for your question.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Amendment. Failed.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Adopted, bill ordered to Third Reading.

HB 1781, relative to condominiums with 10 or fewer residential units. Interim Study, Vote 4-1. Senator Innis for the committee.

SENATOR INNIS: Thank you, Mister President. I move Refer to Interim Study on House Bill 1781. This bill establishes meetings and insurance requirements for small condominiums with ten or fewer residential units. It also establishes a default 50 percent cost split for units without a master casualty policy. The committee felt this bill was confusing and may cause unintended consequences. And that's the reason we ask for your vote of Refer to Interim Study on House Bill 1781. Thank you, Mister President. All the periods were in the right place here. Thank you.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Interim Study. Adopted.

EDUCATION
HB 1498, relative to alternate certification pathways for career and technical education instructors.
Ought to Pass, Vote 4-0. Senator Kahn for the committee.

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to put on the table an Ought to Pass recommendation from the Education Committee. So this bill is recommending an alternative certification career and technical education educators that would enable local boards to offer a three year certificate in specialty areas in career and technical education centers. So right now, the RSA delegates to the Board of Education to adopt certification standards for teachers subject to RSA 541-A rulemaking. And current education rules require all teachers including CTE educators to successfully complete a core assessment. This bill provides that schools can request a waiver of a formal core competency assessment and can formulate the terms of certificates of eligibility on their own. While the committee recommends support of the Ought to Pass on House Bill 1498, I believe the chairman of the committee would like to address this recommendation further. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Reagan.)

SENATOR REAGAN: Thank you, Mister President. I encourage the chamber to defeat the Ought to Pass motion so I may offer an Inexpedient to Legislate motion.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. And I, in following up on this bill with commissioner of education, it became clear that the Board of Education has already started and initiated the process under 541-A on rulemaking to accomplish this same end. So this legislation and the need for it is passed, it's not necessary, I recommend as the chairman has said that we vote down the Ought to Pass so a motion of Inexpedient to Legislate can be introduced.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Ought to Pass. Failed.

Senator Reagan moved Inexpedient to Legislate.

The question is on the adoption of the motion of Inexpedient to Legislate. Adopted.

HB 1636, establishing a committee to study teacher preparation and education programs.

Amendment to HB 1636

Amend the title of the bill by replacing it with the following:

AN ACT establishing a committee to study teacher preparation and education programs and relative to chartered public school use of unused school district facilities.

Amend section 2 of the bill by replacing paragraph I with the following:

I. The members of the committee shall be as follows:

(a) Four members of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives.

(b) One member of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate.

Amend the bill by replacing section 4 with the following:

4 Chairperson; Quorum. The members of the study committee shall elect a chairperson from among the members. The first meeting of the committee shall be called by the first-named house member. The first meeting of the committee shall be held within 45 days of the effective date of this section. Three members of the committee shall constitute a quorum.

Amend the bill by replacing all after section 5 with the following:

6 New Subdivision; Chartered Public School Use of Unused District Facilities. Amend RSA 194 by inserting after section 60 the following new subdivision:

Chartered Public School Use of Unused District Facilities

194:61 Unused District Facilities.

I. For the purpose of this section, "unused facility" means a school building owned by a school district in which less than 10 percent of the square footage of the school building is used during a school year for direct student instruction and for which no purchase and sale contract has been executed.

II. The superintendent of each school district shall annually report to the department of education each unused facility owned by the school district. The department shall establish and maintain a list of unused facilities owned by each school district and make such list available on the department's website. If a school district plans to reuse an unused facility within a 12 month period, the school district may exclude the facility from the annual report to the department. However, a school district may exclude an unused facility from the school district's annual report only once.

III. Each school district shall make an unused facility available to a chartered public school if the facility has been unused for 2 consecutive school years.

IV. A school district that owns an unused facility shall decide whether to sell or lease the facility or unused part of the facility. Once a school district has decided to lease an unused facility, the chartered public school shall have the right of first refusal. If a chartered public school leases the unused facility, it shall be at fair market value or less for a term of 10 years. The chartered public school may renew the lease for one additional 10 year term. The lease shall include ingress to and egress from the facility, and where a part of a facility is leased, the right to access and use of the common area shared by all tenants and users of the facility. If a chartered public school leases the entire facility, the chartered public school may incur debt to make improvements to the facility, and the school district shall subordinate its interest in the lease to such debt.

V. During the term of a lease, a chartered public school shall be responsible for direct expenses related to the facility or the part of the facility leased, including utilities, insurance, maintenance, property taxes, and repairs. If the chartered public school fails to apply for a property tax exemption, a lien shall not attach to the property.

VI. If a school district decides to sell an unused facility a chartered public school shall have the right of first refusal. A school district shall publicly disclose the amount of debt owed on an unused facility within 7 days of an inquiry from a potential buyer. The chartered public school has 6 months after the date of making an offer in writing to complete the purchase of the facility for a price negotiated with the school district. If a chartered public school acquires an unused facility for an amount that is less than the appraised value of the facility, and resells such facility within 10 years of purchase, any amount exceeding the original purchase price, plus any outstanding debt, real estate commissions, and closing costs shall be paid to the school district.

7 Effective Date.

I. Section 6 of this act shall take effect 60 days after its passage.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a committee to study teacher preparation and education programs. The bill also makes unused school district facilities available to chartered public schools.

The Chair ruled sections of the Committee Amendment non-germane.

Without objection, Senate Rule 3-17 is suspended to allow consideration of the non-germane Committee Amendment. Adopted by the necessary 2/3 vote.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise with a Parliamentary Inquiry. I'd like to know if the question on the amendment can be divided? And I'm just getting to the page. My request, Mister President, if possible would be to vote on the first two parts of the amendment labelled as "Amend section 2 of the bill", and then "Amend the bill by replacing section 4", taking those up as one motion and then the balance of the amendment as a separate motion?

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator, the motion is divisible.

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Let me state where we are. We're first voting on section 7, lines 6 through 12 and section 7, lines 15 through 18. Is that your request Senator Soucy?

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: If I'm looking at the amendment on my iPad, it appears that it's the language that begins on line 6, amending the section and it goes all the way through to line 18. So it would be those two sections of the amendment which specifically deal with the committee and then the balance beginning on line 22 and the subsequent pages which deal with the separate issue?

Senator Soucy moved to divide the question: Committee Amendment 2018-1427s; Section 2, I. (a) and (b), Section 4, and Section 7.

The Chair ruled the question divisible.

Recess. Out of recess.

PRESIDENT MORSE: We are discussing Section 2, I. (a) and (b), Section 4 and Section 7. Is it clear?

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I'm interested in particular in the passage of the first portion of the amendment and the original language of the committee. I would encourage my colleagues to support that, it seems to make common sense. I think there might be some differences of opinion regarding the policy of the changes beyond that and I think there are others of my colleagues that would like to address those changes. So with that I would ask that for at least the first part of the amendment, people vote yes and then we can have debate on the second half. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of Committee Amendment 2018-1427s; Section 2, I. (a) and (b), Section 4, and Section 7. Adopted.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition to the Committee Amendment. There may be more amendments. But there are reasons here that we should not approve this amendment or other amendments that attempt to take away local control on school buildings. And that's what this does, I mean this is really restricting free enterprise and the decision making abilities of local school boards. It does so without good definitions, it restricts the uses of underused facilities to only 10 percent, if 10 percent of it is used for direct instruction. If it's that or less, then it must be offered to chartered public schools and there are a whole host of other kinds of direct instruction kinds of uses. It's not a term that has good definition. So I encourage us to look at that term, because it's excluding, if that direct instruction could be offered by a preschool, public or private, it's excluding whether direct instruction could be offered by a CTE or a community college. And what if that building is reused for an administrative purpose? Or for some other government program. The point here is this amendment that is going on to a study of teacher preparation programs is not helping the amendment and in fact is setting up restrictions on local districts that I don't believe act in the best interests of our local districts. So I ask that you defeat this amendment and if there are subsequent amendments on this I'll rise again to speak because these definitions do not serve free enterprise nor our local control by our school boards. Thank you, Mister President.

INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy for an introduction.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, at this time I'd like to introduce not only a former State Senator, a former Governor and our current United States Senator, Jeanne Shaheen.

SENATOR SHAHEEN: Well, President Morse asked me if I'd like to say hi, I said of course. You know I never pass up this opportunity. It's always so nice to be back in the State Senate. This is one of the things that I have enjoyed the most in my time in politics and you are still able to do in New Hampshire what I think we don't do so well in Washington which is figure out how to get along and get some issues moved. So thank you all for that. I know you have some very serious issues you're considering today. I know you're going to vote right. But I hope that if there are things that I or my office can help you with as you're looking at the challenges facing New Hampshire that you will take the opportunity and give us a call. That's why we're there, to provide service to the people of the state and to work with the state with local communities to move things forward in a way that benefits the people of New Hampshire. So thank you all very much for what you do. Mister President, thank you for giving me this opportunity.

PRESIDENT MORSE: Senator before you leave, I received a phone call from a twenty-two-year-old this morning, she happens to be related, she did contact your office, she said "Dad, did you read my message?" I said "Em, I'm driving. What is your message?" She says, "Well, there's these two bills in Washington that I want you to approve." And I said, "Emma, you're out of my league," I said, "but maybe I can call the President today and just ask him to do it." And you showed up today and I'm going to ask you on behalf of my daughter to follow up on this legislation. I know she sent you a letter, I'm not sure she might be getting a political bug, so.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I ask the body to approve the amendment so that I can introduce a Floor Amendment to this legislation that will settle the issues which are raised of concern. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Senator. If it's not inconvenient for you I'm referring to page 24 in the calendar. And I wanted to ask you questions about a couple provisions here. I'm looking down in section 4, the last couple lines there that say that if the charter school incurs a debt to make improvements to a facility and just to note that we did pass a bill which I supported to allow charter schools to take on debt for new facilities. And the school district shall subordinate its interest in the lease to such debt. Now would it be my understanding that that would create essentially an unfunded mandate on the school district in terms of having to take perhaps less than it had contracted for the lease in order to subordinate that interest to the debt?

SENATOR KAHN: And the way that I would interpret this is that it would subordinate its interest to the debt and whoever is the creditor of that debt. So were that to be a bank, the school district would subordinate its interest in that building to the creditor.

SENATOR WATTERS: And similarly, if you look down to section 5 a few lines down, and again, you being on Public and Municipal and have more experience perhaps you can address this question where it says that the chartered public school fails to apply for property tax exemption which one would assume as a school they would be able to achieve, a lien shall not attach to the property so that, doesn't this essentially mean also another unfunded mandate to the municipality that if for any other property would have attached a lien if taxes were not appropriately paid, here it could not do so?

SENATOR KAHN: Yeah, this section is confusing to me as well as implied by your question. There is some potential that I mean, we have other legislation that has defined that a public tax-exempt entity needs to report to the town any lease of its property and would need to do so if necessary a tax exemption were this not an exempt entity, would need to be applied for. And you would think that the entity itself ought to be the applicant for the exemption.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise and would like to address the questions that my friend from District 4 has. Some of you know in full disclosure, I spent a fair amount of time in commercial banking, so I know a little bit about mortgages and liens. And what we typically see that if an entity is going to borrow money from a bank, that bank requires a first position on the mortgage instrument so there could be many things that are on that docket that have been recorded, a lease could be one of them and a bank would always look to be in first position since they're the primary provider of funds. Now just because an entity like a school system or a community takes a subordinate position, which is normal customary practice of what you see all over the place, it's not considered to be an unfunded mandate. It's just a recondition of priority on ownership of the product. We also have to remember that a lease itself might not actually have a financial obligation or there could be a lease to a different entity that say, is leasing equipment and as security take some sort of position on the property. So, Senator, again just for clarification, this is not meant to be an unfunded mandate but just to recognize existing commercial transactional property basis of just making sure that the priorities are there. And in all of my years, I've never seen a subordinate position become an unfunded mandate to another entity including the municipality. Just haven't seen it, but I appreciate the question.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for a question of Senator Sanborn.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Senator for the clarification. And so I think perhaps I used an inappropriate term. Let me phrase it this way. And I think a distinction really is that this is different from your normal commercial lease and I understand what you told me about that. But here we have municipal school property paid for by the school taxpayers who bought in and so on. And now I you know, and I think there's an argument to be made for the possibility when available, it's happened in my community, a charter school wants to get into an unused facility, that's a great thing. But isn't there a danger here that let's say the school goes belly up, and it has not paid its lease rent for several months and it's not paid its mortgage and so, of course, the bank is going to foreclose. And so what it says though then to the school district is that you are second in line on the money that you're out, so the taxpayers in that school district wouldn't essentially have to eat that loss because of this clause.

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thank you so much for the question. I think it's important that we recognize the fact that a lease is a different instrument than a mortgage. So in mostly all commercial transactions and for the record, based upon our current ethics laws, I have relationships with banks and leases, my leases are subordinate to the bank position, so I live this, right? So recognizing that a lease is different than a mortgage instrument, a mortgage is just when you borrow money, they take a subordinate position on the real estate. Typically, a lease is just a recognition of part of that cash flow. So again with respect I understand your concern but I'd like to try to allay that fear that having a lease as a recorded document or anything else recorded on the property, will not put the municipality in an adverse financial position except recognizing that if a school district sells a piece of real estate and retains the mortgage so is getting rental income from that way, then yeah, there's always that potential. But if the school district is selling the real estate, they are essentially are lose giving up the ownership of it and the bank would have that first prior position in it. So your question back on lease is whether or not a lease by subordinating the lease, will it disadvantage, you know financially disadvantage or pit a school district or a municipality in a subservient position, respectfully I don't think that happens, unless there's some other financial condition that I personally had never saw in my decades.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. As I said earlier, I would ask the body to pass this amendment so I can introduce a Floor Amendment that allays all of the concerns of the committee amendment. Thank you, Mister President.

The question is on the adoption of the remainder of the Committee Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Giuda.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Reagan, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

Roll Call, Yeas: 13 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

Senator Giuda offered a Floor Amendment.

Floor Amendment to HB 1636

Amend the bill by replacing sections 6 and 7 with the following:

6 New Subdivision; Chartered Public School Use of Unused District Facilities. Amend RSA 194 by inserting after section 60 the following new subdivision:

Chartered Public School Use of Unused District Facilities

194:61 Unused District Facilities.

I. For the purpose of this section, "unused facility" means a school building owned by a school district in which less than 10 percent of the square footage of the school building is used during a school year for direct student instruction and for which the school district has no school board-approved written plan for future use. In order to comply with this paragraph, such school board-approved plan shall include direct student academic instruction within 2 years of the plan's approval.

II. On July 1, 2019, and on July 1 every year thereafter, the superintendent of each school district shall report to the department of education each unused facility owned by the school district. The department shall establish and maintain a list of unused facilities owned by each school district and make such list available on the department's website. A school district may exclude an unused facility from the school district's annual report only once.

III. Pursuant to paragraph I, a school district shall offer an unused facility to a chartered public school for purchase or lease as follows:

(a) If a school district's school board extends an offer to purchase or lease an unused facility to a party, other than an approved chartered public school operating in this state, the contract shall include a provision which makes the purchase or lease subject to the right of first refusal by an approved chartered public school operating in this state.

(b)(1) If the offer to purchase or lease is accepted, the school district selling or leasing the unused facility shall, by first class certified mail, notify all approved chartered public schools in this state, as listed on the department of education's website, of the contract to purchase or lease the unused facility. The certified mail notice shall contain clear language that the unused facility is available to any approved chartered public school in this state only, and shall list the offering school district's name and location, the square footage of the unused facility, the contact information of the offering school district's representative, and the expiration date of the right of first refusal which shall be 60 days after the date of the certified mailing.

(2) The offering school district shall also post notice of the contract for the purchase or lease of an unused facility in a newspaper of statewide circulation for at least 5 days.

(3) A chartered public school that fails to exercise its right of first refusal shall forfeit such right as it pertains to the specific unused facility and any future right or interest in the specific unused facility.

(c) If the offering school district has not received an offer to purchase or lease an unused facility from a party, other than an approved chartered public school operating in this state, a chartered public school may initiate, and the school board of the offering school district shall engage in, good faith negotiations for the purchase or lease of the unused facility.

(d) If 2 or more chartered public schools notify the offering school district indicating an interest in the unused facility, to lease or purchase, the offering school district shall make the final selection of the purchaser or lessee.

(e) The criteria used to evaluate parties interested in the purchase or lease of an unused facility shall be public information and shall not be subject to RSA 91-A.

IV. In right of first refusal negotiations with a chartered public school, it shall be the option of the offering school district whether to sell or lease the property under consideration, at fair market value or less, for a term to be agreed upon by the parties. A lease shall include ingress to and egress from the facility, and where a part of a facility is leased, the right to access and use of the common area shared by all tenants and users of the facility. If a chartered public school leases the entire facility, the chartered public school may incur debt to make improvements to the facility, and the school district shall subordinate its interest in the lease to such debt.

V. The chartered public school shall have 6 months after the date of making a written offer to complete the purchase or lease of the unused facility for a price negotiated with the school district.

VI. During the term of a lease, a chartered public school shall be responsible for direct expenses related to the facility or any part of the facility leased, including utilities, insurance, maintenance, property taxes, and repairs.

VII. If a chartered public school plans to sell an unused facility which it has purchased, it shall first offer the facility to the school district from which it was purchased. Such offer shall be governed by the procedures set forth in paragraphs III, IV, and V.

7 Effective Date.

I. Section 6 of this act shall take effect July 1, 2019.

II. The remainder of this act shall take effect upon its passage.

AMENDED ANALYSIS

This bill establishes a committee to study teacher preparation and education programs. The bill also makes unused school district facilities available to chartered public schools.

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. As we all know, charter schools are an integral part of our public-school education system. And for that reason, if we have a traditional public-school district that has unused properties it'd be advantageous to the children who get a better education using the charter school system by their choice, for the school district of the charter school to be able to utilize those facilities. What this bill does is give that charter school district, or a charter school district, the right of first refusal if a school district chooses to sell or lease property, that is unused by definition in statute. This amendment takes away everything except the subordinated lease piece, the subordinated debt piece, because banks aren't going to do anything that would be a fatal poison pill to this bill, if we didn't ensure that the bank that might be lending the money wouldn't have as it always does in normal transactions, that priority position. This bill significantly reduces the strictures. I felt, as did the Senator from District 10, that the bill as originally amended introduced too much interference in the ability of the districts to negotiate and so this language is much, much less restrictive, allows the owning district if you will, puts requirements on them to notice that they are going to lease or sell the property but allows them to negotiate the terms. We don't put any time limits on it, we just say whatever the two parties can agree to. And we also add a clause that says if the charter school district chooses to sell the property or lease it, same conditions apply to the public-school entity. So turnabout is fair play. And so for those reasons Mister President, I would ask the body to approve this Floor Amendment that will do a great deal to move the education process of an integral part of our education system, the charter schools, forward for the kids that depend on them to get the education they need. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise and I don't see a lot of improvement in this amendment, so here I'll try again. Try line 9 on page 1. The definition of direct student instruction, 10 percent of the building. If any other part of the building is used by a pre-school, public or private, if any of the building is used by a community college or a career technical education center, it is not included in the definition of direct student instruction. Why? It doesn't make sense. And we want to pass this? It's a school building, it could be used by any educational institution and then why not? Why not let it be used for other community purposes, by not -for-profit entities in your communities, by government entities in your community. Why would we become so restrictive? Let's try paragraph 3, line 20. If you extend an offer for a purchase and lease on an unused facility, that dropped down to 22, it's subject to the right of first refusal by the charter public school. I've negotiated on things like this. It kills the lease; it kills the purchase. Nobody is going to give you a deposit that you're going to hold on to for six months, while somebody else is going to wait and exercise their right of first refusal. You've just killed a property transaction. If this was just about notification throughout the state, that was the one slice in this that I saw had some virtue. Yet we still come down to on page 2, line 19 and 20 which subordinates the interest of the public school in the least, when there's debt. Now I voted in favor of taking the restriction, the five-year restriction off charter school debt. That made sense. They're taking on buildings that might be 120 years old and need to enter into debt. But as soon as they enter into debt, this is saying, oh, subordinate the lease, subordinate the property to whoever has lent the money. Look, there are two principles at hand here that I find myself so much to the side of that I can't believe the body is not going to stand up for free market principles and for local control. This should be a decision at a local school district level, and this should enable the free market to determine who has the best proposal for the use of a school building if the school board decides that it ought to have additional uses. Well, in any case, I think that this amendment is not an improvement. I'm sorry that we passed the previous amendment, it's not helping this bill and I think we're, I'm in a quandary now with an amendment that's approved that I don't think is good and another amendment that I don't think does it much better. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Sanborn for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR SANBORN: Senator, thanks for taking a question. I have two if the President would allow. The first one comes back to the question on page 9, Senator, where I understand my friend from District number 10 had some concerns about whether or not there was enough potential input from a school district as to whether or not the property could be used for other purposes. But I read in here on line 9 to line 10, the second half of that sentence was …"and for which the school district has no school board approved written plan for future use". So my question is, if the school wanted to use the property for something else, wouldn't this provide that catchall that the school board would say we have a property and although it's not being used to some degree over 10 percent but we're going to use it for kindergarten or daycare or some community service?

SENATOR GIUDA: I would interpret it that way. Certainly, what we're trying to accomplish here again, is to use school properties for the education of our children. At the end of the day, the tacit resistance to charter schools remains, despite the fact that those schools are now an integral part of this state's education system. And this does nothing more than enable a charter school, which has students in it that do not get what they need in traditional public schools, to gain an education to equip them for the travails of life moving forward earning a living and otherwise. And so, this, I am cured by the claim of free enterprise. I would support vouchers, would you? That's free enterprise. We don't, and so the answer to your question is, yes. Thank you.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you. Senator, thank you for taking my follow-up. Down on line 22 it also talks about the facts of right of first refusal of which my friend from District 10 indicates could create significant barriers and blow up a deal and Mister President, at this point I guess I have to declare that as business owner, I own real estate and condo associations that actually have right of first refusals so for twenty-five years of my life I've been dealing with these every couple of months so it seems. So would you believe that just because someone has a right of first refusal, that these rights of first refusal happen to commercial transactions every single day, and they just provide for that exception that someone has a right to either say yes or pass, and in virtually every case that I've ever heard of, you've got thirty or sixty days by which to make that decision?

SENATOR GIUDA: I would agree with that. Let me say again that the right of first refusal is not just a general, it's reserved to an education institution, a charter school that is an integral part of the state's education suite, the kids we're trying to educate. Thank you, Mister President.

SENATOR SANBORN: Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for a question of Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Senator. As the sponsor knows and as you know from our discussions, I am generally a supporter of the possibility of finding a way to provide our public charter schools with use of facilities, but I have concerns about the process on this bill and some things that I wanted to ask you about. Is it the case that although there is a public hearing posted in the calendar on this non-germane amendment, that that hearing was never opened in Senate Education?

SENATOR KAHN: It's true that there was no testimony taken.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you. And second, another follow-up if I may. If we looked on page 1, lines 22 to 23, about the right of first refusal, by an approved charter public school operating in this state. Now I just wanted some clarification. Despite what it says about multiple possibilities on the second page, if two or more public schools, might it not be the case that if once they enter negotiations for one and they've got six months to try to close the deal and they can't that the one that was not selected might be able to then argue that they too can get in line, so we might have, and then might somebody else some along so this period where it's tied up in first refusals might extend for a considerable amount of time?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes. Thank you for the question, and in response to the answer that I just heard from, on a previous question, this is not thirty to sixty days right of first refusal. This is six months, and you're absolutely correct in saying that it could be multiple six months periods. That line there has some further interesting language in it relative to 91-A and disclosure of the conditions of previous agreements, which further just undermines the ability of the local school board to negotiate the best agreement which capital contracts would be exempt from 91-A.

SENATOR WATTERS: I was going to get to that one too, but first look down a few lines on line 27 about the certified mail notice here. Now isn't it absolutely clear, this is an unfunded mandate?

SENATOR KAHN: Yes.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you. And one more follow-up if I may. On this next page, if we may look at lines 12 to 13, do you share, could you elaborate on or do you share my astonishment at the fact that here we have a public school and a school board being exempted from 91-A in which issues of taxpayer dollars are being discussed?

SENATOR KAHN: I don't know the purpose for wanting to exempt property purchase or lease from 91-A.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR GIUDA: Thank you, Mister President. I rise to address the issue of 91-A. Let's be perfectly clear and read the language. It says that the criteria used to evaluate the parties interested in the purchase of the lease. It doesn't say anything about the terms or the negotiations it just says this is what we're going to base our decision on. And that should be public knowledge. The mischief occurs if we don't make that public knowledge. The negotiations themselves, all the information remains under 91-A. But the criteria should be public so that everybody knows what the ball field is, what ball field they're playing. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters for a question of Senator Giuda.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you for taking my question and I may be just misunderstanding so I thought I was hearing a clarification there and if I was, I'd have to know more about it. It just seems to me, and my question, isn't this written to say that the criteria would not be subject to 91-A? So therefore, let's say the criteria whereby they selected whether they would enter into discussion and choose a charter school might be terrible, you know, or based on bad decisions and yet we're not going to know that because right to know won't cover it.

SENATOR GIUDA: I think that just the opposite is in fact true. That this says that the criteria. Okay, are not subject to 91-A. So it will be public. So if they are terrible, everyone will know that. Thank you for the question.

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, I guess.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment.

A roll call was requested by Senator Avard, seconded by Senator Sanborn.

Recess. Out of recess.

The following Senators voted Yes: Giuda, Bradley, Gray, French, Ward, Sanborn, Daniels, Avard, Carson, Reagan, Gannon, Innis, Morse.

The following Senators voted No: Woodburn, Watters, Hennessey, Kahn, Lasky, Feltes, Cavanaugh, Soucy, Birdsell, D'Allesandro, Fuller Clark.

Roll Call, Yeas: 13 - Nays: 11. Adopted.

Recess. Out of recess.

Senator Giuda moved to Lay on the Table HB 1636. Adopted.

ELECTION LAW AND INTERNAL AFFAIRS
HB 1264, relative to construction of the terms "resident," "inhabitant," "residence," and "residency."
Ought to Pass, Vote 3-2. Senator Birdsell for the committee.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you Mr. President. I move House Bill 1264 Ought to Pass. This bill modifies the statutory definitions of "resident or inhabitant" and "residency or residency" with the removal of the phrase "for the indefinite future". In a recent court case, the State Supreme Court determined that those four words caused confusion for the public when considering the definition of resident or inhabitant. This bill simply removes those words. New Hampshire has a proven record of being the friendliest voting state and this bill does not change that. Everyone that could vote before this bill will be able to vote after this bill. I ask that you please support the majority of the committee's recommendation of Ought to Pass. Thank you, Mr. President.

Senator Birdsell offered a Floor Amendment.

Sen. Birdsell, Dist 19

Floor Amendment to HB 1264

Amend the bill by replacing section 2 with the following:

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect July 1, 2019.

SENATOR BIRDSELL: Thank you, Mister President. This amendment simply changes the effective date to take effect July 1st of 2019. Based on the litigation of SB 3, we're hoping that it will be through litigation by that time. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Senator Birdsell for taking my question. Can you explain again the purpose of this effective date? Is it just to go to a committee of conference?

SENATOR BIRDSELL: No, no. The change, because of the litigation with SB 3, we're anticipating that the litigation might be done by July 1st. So I want to make sure that the AG has enough people to work on it.

SENATOR FELTES: Okay. Thank you, thanks.

The question is on the adoption of the Floor Amendment. Adopted.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Birdsell.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Senator for taking my question. Last year the legislature passed your bill, Senate Bill 3 which was nineteen pages, purporting to tighten up voting laws. Why is this bill necessary, when we already passed Senate Bill 3?

SENATOR BIRDSELL: This does something different. Basically this bill aligns us with frankly forty-nine other states in the nation. Forty-nine states equate residency with domicile with inhabitant. We're lining up with the rest of the forty-nine states.

SENATOR FELTES: Why wasn't this in Senate Bill 3?

SENATOR BIRDSELL: This, Senate Bill 3 was a Senate Bill. This is a House Bill.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Soucy.)

SENATOR SOUCY: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition to the pending motion and I do so for a number of reasons. This legislation changes the definition of resident by deleting a key phrase in our current statute, which says "for the indefinite future". This change is purported to be made to our election laws; however the change isn't made in the statutes relative to election laws. The change is made in the statutes relative to statutory construction, RSA 21. So what this bill would do is compel constitutionally eligible voters who may or may not have plans to stay in New Hampshire indefinitely to pay residency fees, specifically licensure and registration. Who are the people we're talking about? Well certainly students. They came out in droves to come to the hearing in opposition to this legislation, but this legislation would also impact various professionals, be they visiting professors, people working in the medical profession who come and stay for a duration. It would affect a large number of people.

And what are we really talking about? We're talking about legislation that would impose a post-election poll tax. You know, New Hampshire driver's licenses cost as much as $50. Car registrations, anybody paid those lately? Several hundred dollars, depending on the type of vehicle you drive. The impact of those fees could have a chilling effect on constitutionally eligible voters decision to vote in New Hampshire, and if the costs alone don't have a chilling effect, the potential of knowing that the failure to pay these costs within sixty days means you've committed a crime and could be convicted of a misdemeanor, could be extraordinarily chilling, and could cause people to hesitate, and to pause and to perhaps not exercise their constitutional right. When a similar bill was heard last year before the Senate Election Law Committee, we were warned by the Attorney General's office that the definition of residency in the statutory construction chapter, change of that definition could have unanticipated consequences. For things like in-state tuition, to Fish and Game licenses and to many other parts, because although the proponents of this bill have said this is about voting in elections, that's not where the change is being made. The change is being made to our statutes across the board. And lastly, a lot of people have talked about our neighboring states, particularly Maine and Vermont. Well let me tell you what Maine and Vermont do with respect to this. Maine's secretary of state, Matthew Dunlap told the Bangor Daily News on March 8th that failure to comply with motor vehicle statutes after voting isn't a crime in Maine. And he's had to, on several occasions, clarify that point when others have tried to say that it was. In Vermont, the language of their statute states persons who live in the state for a particular purpose involving a defined period of time including students, migrant workers employed in seasonal occupations and persons employed under a contract with a fixed term are not residences for purposes of motor vehicle law only. My friends, this is an issue that as we said is being litigated and other pieces of legislation are being litigated. There are many, many questions. But I think what we can all agree on is that voting is a right. It is a fundamental constitutional right and all we are doing with these continuous pieces of legislation is trying to challenge and make it more difficult for residents of this state, for people of this state to exercise their right. I ask you to please vote against this legislation. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Hennessey.)

SENATOR HENNESSEY: Thank you, Mister President. I think there's one thing we all agree on here and that is that voting is a constitutional right. Every single resident of New Hampshire has a constitutional right. I happen to live in a district, in District 5, where we have many, many people who will be and are being affected by this particular bill. We have in my town of Hanover and in the areas surrounding, professors who arrive, who don't know how long they'll be staying, they certainly can't say they'll be there indefinitely because they may not get tenure, which means they have to leave. They may be there for a year and discover that their spouse has a job somewhere else and they're going to leave. There is no way for anybody to say that they're going to be there indefinitely. We have hospital residents who are there from three to six years depending on what their specialty is. So they're going to be there for six years? They're not going to be considered residents or they're going to be afraid to register to vote. We also as you know have many undergraduates and graduate students, all of whom do not know how long they'll be there. They might be there for a minimum of four, they might be there for a maximum of six to ten, depending on how long it takes, and we all know it takes a different length of time for people to finish graduate degrees. So these are all people I've mentioned who are renting homes, buying homes, living in my district. And they are spending a lot of money in our town and in our state. My town's eloquent town clerk, Betsy McClain said at the hearing many important things. One of the things she says is that she's getting calls from students about having to register their cars and therefore wanting to come off the voter rolls. So they don't have to pay exorbitant amounts to register their cars. That feels like people's voting rights are being suppressed to me. There's a perception of voter fraud, yes there's a perception we keep hearing of voter fraud. Just like saying it doesn't make it so, having a perception does not make it so. For heaven's sakes, we've got to stop saying that, well, we have to worry about the perceptions. Since when is that the way we operate in New Hampshire? Also, Betsy McClain said that in 2012, the voter registration forms stated a need for a license and many students decided not to vote because of that. Is this our goal, do you not want our best and brightest to be voting? I think you do not, and that is a real problem because they have a constitutional right and I think it'll be, with this passing it will be, there will be even more people who will not vote. So for that reason, Mister President, I urge you not to vote for House Bill 1264.

(The Chair recognized Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you, Mister President. Mister President, I rise in opposition. We make a lot of speeches here, about fundamental beliefs and fundamental values. What's the fundamental value of democracy? What's the basic fundamental value? It's the right to participate. It's the right to be part of a solution to a problem that evolves. Those problems evolve constantly and if indeed we restrict the number of people who can participate, we're creating another problem. We're creating a misconception that these people don't belong. When I first started in this business, I ran for the public office in 1972. In the town of Chester, you could not register to vote if you didn't have your passport or your birth certificate. I carry neither my passport or my birth certificate. And the polls used to open at eleven in the morning and close at five at night. Well guess what? Who didn't vote? The workers, because they were working in the morning and coming home late at night. We have made giant strides to improve the situation. Now we have some crazy perception that is being fed at the national level that we have enormous voter fraud. Not true, just not true. You know at one time we had a head and poll tax. Jeb, you and I remember that. Used to have to go to your city clerk and pay your head and poll tax, right? I remember that, ten bucks. We got rid of that because it was a problem. It was forcing somebody to pay for the right to vote. We have the right to vote. We have gone through a process in this country to create more and more opportunity. When I was in the South, before the Civil Rights Act passed, there was a real problem with the right to vote. A very significant problem. But we corrected that in '64 with the Civil Rights Act. Then we passed the Voting Rights Act. Many of our communities have been under scrutiny under the Voting Rights Act for a long period of time. And we talk about college kids and their participation in the process. Well we want them participating in the process. Who are the future citizens? Who's leaving our state? Isn't there an exodus of young people from our state? Sixty percent of our high school graduates choose another place to go to post-secondary education. What's the biggest age cohort that we've lost in New Hampshire? It's the eighteen to twenty-five cohort. They're gone. Is the perception we don't want them? God, I hope not. Fortunately, mine have come back.

But why do we constantly try to create problems when problems don't exist? I think that's the issue, and that's the issue that we all think about. We work hard in this process to get people out to vote. Let's take a look at everybody's expenditure report. How much are you spending on direct mail, on radio, on television to get people to participate? And we all complain when they don't participate. And who doesn't participate? The younger people. We've got to stop the situation of putting roadblocks up. We've got to produce the open process and I thought we had done that in New Hampshire. We have uniform polling hours now, we never had that. We now have uniform polling hours. We have the ability to register, we have the ability to vote. Why do we try to in some way curtail that? That's a mystery. I'm not a mystery novel writer, but I'll tell you, that's one I'd like to solve. What's the mystery? What's so bad about letting people participate in the process? What is the harm in allowing people to be players? We all want to be players in the game. We don't want to be restricted one way or the other. We talk about colleges. Look at the colleges we have in New Hampshire. The post-secondary education institutions. We have Southern New Hampshire University, we 've got Saint Anselm College, we have the New Hampshire Community College, I mean they're all functioning entities, the New Hampshire College of Art. We induce people to come in here because we have quality education. We want them to stay here. And by virtue of these things, we force people out. That's not a good premise. That's just not a good premise.

You know Mister President, as I age, and boy I'm working on that every day, I remember when I went to the south, when I saw colored bathrooms and white bathrooms. I saw that when I was in the service. That was awful. Talk about discrimination. We're all the same, aren't we? When my drill instructor, when we left the base, could not go into the same restaurant or the same bar that I did, that was pretty sick. Here he's training me when we're on the base to be a better person and by giving me his level of expertise and we can't have the same responsibilities when we're outside. We've corrected those things to some extent. We've got a long way to go, but it seems to me, the one way that we can correct all of this is voter participation. People participating in the process because they believe in the process and they believe that they can make a difference. And if we put a kibosh on that believability, we have created a situation that is just going to be negative and pervasive. We can't let that happen. Listen, we all live with the one basic ingredient, hope. Our hope is it's going to get better. We can't take that away from anybody, we cannot do that. So Mister President, I ask my colleagues and you know, as I said, I've learned how to count since I've been in this business. It was a lot easier when I was on the Council and we only had to count to three. You have to count to thirteen here. I don't know if I've ever turned a vote, but I'll tell you, I hope and pray that we can do it. This isn't good for us. It's not good for you, it's not good for your families, it's not good for the people you represent. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gannon for a question of Senator D'Allesandro.)

SENATOR GANNON: Senator, my friend. Would you be surprised, you know I went to Saint Anselm College and back then when I was eighteen, I lived in Concord, Mass. That's where I was from, that's where

I have skin in the game, that's the town I knew. Would you believe that I voted in that town even though I was temporarily residing at Saint Anselm?

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: First of all, thank you for the question, thank you for the comment. You under the rules of the game could vote in Goffstown if you had not registered to vote in your hometown.

SENATOR GANNON: Would you believe that my son, Bill, who one day wants to be Governor here, isn't voting in Connecticut, where he is temporarily residing, because he views New Hampshire as his home and that the place that he's now residing is just a temporary occupation and he believes he should vote where he has skin in the game and resides in New Hampshire.

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: I thank you very much for the question and I think your son is exercising personal responsibility. Every person should be allowed to do that, and he does it. I applaud him, I applaud him for that.

SENATOR GANNON: So if someone from out of state is attending UNH and they don't really have skin in the game, they're only, they come here in September, you're telling me that a week or two later that they have an interest and understand New Hampshire enough to vote here?

SENATOR D'ALLESANDRO: Thank you for the question. I can't analyze every one of those students.

SENATOR GANNON: Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Watters.)

SENATOR WATTERS: Thank you, Mister President. I too rise in opposition to the motion and you know having spoken at length with no discernible effect on Senate Bill 3, I'm not going to go back into why such restrictions are repugnant to the folks who founded our state and to freedom lovers since. But I did want to point most particularly to the potential consequence here on in-state tuition payment. Now, if you go back to the constitutional convention of 1774 and look at the report there where they original discussed domicile, inhabitant and resident. That's where all this came from. Now some were different then because there was a thirty day requirement then and they parsed out what's a domicile, what's resident, which is stronger and what's an inhabitant and the conclusion was that look, anybody who's been here for thirty days, demonstrates that they're an inhabitant and they should get to vote. Then they turned to the issue of well, what does it really mean to be domiciled here? And there's an interesting colloquy which they set up so they could talk about the issue of in-state college tuition, and they said that we must be sure not to tie our definition of domicile to taxation, because that would threaten the ability of the University of New Hampshire at that time to ask students to sign a contract or otherwise say that in-state tuition could not be claimed by someone who was from another state. Now, if we pass this, right, and it requires taxation. Then we have broached what was discussed in the constitutional convention about the defense of not letting students who are essentially citizens here, who vote here and pay taxes here not to claim in-state tuition. And I will note that I think that such students already would have standing to file a suit after they've voted and gone and registered their car. I think they now would have standing. But let me tell you, if we pass CACR 15 a little bit later today, you better believe they would have standing to bring that suit. And I would advise actually a student that they go down and vote, register their car then they get together, file a class action suit or individual suits and go and claim that they can pay in-state tuition. What's the consequence of that? Well, I'll just speak for UNH, $50 million, $50 million, that's the out-of-state tuition. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Kahn.)

SENATOR KAHN: Thank you, Mister President. I rise in opposition. I don't think that this bill is providing the kind of clarity that we ought to be bringing to our statutes and let me just give you a couple of examples. I went this week to the science student poster presentations at Keene State College. Great opportunity to see what students are doing in biogenetic research. Good stuff. I met a student from Concord, Anna. Anna is graduating this coming December, and she's going to enter the job market. Now she's from Concord. But this summer, I asked her what she's going to be doing this summer and she said well, I'm not really going to be registering for classes but I'm going to be working with my professor. I just want to continue my research before I take on my last semester in the fall. And it caused me to ask her, where do you feel is your home after nearly four years, is it Concord or is it Keene? She said I feel much more at home in Keene, alright? She's an in-state student. Where's she supposed to register? I mean are we discouraging her from declaring what her home is for the last four years? And if we were to discourage her from registering in Keene, isn't that in fact what my colleague from District 4 was just referring to, the basis of a constitutional challenge?

Here's another related story; I get this call this week or email this week from ARMI. ARMI is looking for employees that it can attract to the Manchester location, and they want to recruit Keene State College students. So, at what point is that Keene State College student trying to be recruited at ARMI considered to be eligible to vote in our state? It is personal judgement, it is something that the individual needs to determine for themselves. You know, we even eliminate, you know, if you registered in Keene and you register anywhere else in New Hampshire, we have an auto process. You're now de-registered from any other place that you previously might have been registered, because by virtue of having voted in that election. So we've got a cleanup process. And then the question of what happens if I did that internship that this student is trying to do, what if she went out of state for the summer? Is that a break in the residency? Is she questioning like my colleague from District 5 said about a faculty member or a student or doing any kind of externship that might require them to leave the state temporarily. And to the exclusion of all else. What if a parent claims me as dependent for tax purposes or for my financial aid or for my health care? Is that creating more confusion? We had an opportunity when we went through the hearings, our town clerks came out in droves. We should have asked them, is there a problem that we need to clean up and you know what their reaction to me has been is this seems like a solution in search of a problem. We've got 6600 people that support our election processes in this state every two years. It's, I'll borrow that word again, it's an army, it's a coterie of people who are well trained to make sure that you present evidence of a lease, of payments, of bills for that property that you in fact are living in the place that you claim that you're living. I don't see where this is any improvement on our process and I think that the terms that are used in 1264 are only adding confusion and not clarification to our voter registration process and in that respect, I don't think that we're supporting the people that we want to encourage to remain in our state, to become productive citizens, not just while they're here in school and adopting this as their home, but as they continue into the workforce. So I'm going to be voting against, I hope you'll join me in that. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray.)

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you, Mister President. There's been a lot of discussion about intent, about for the foreseeable future. If we look at the statute and you have the statute in front of you, you've got the bill in front of you. It talks about a current intent for the foreseeable future. A lot of the things that the good Senator from District 5 mentioned about college presidents, actually are improved by taking away for the foreseeable future. Their status is no longer in question. They are a resident if their current intent is to declare the state of New Hampshire that place. And the statute used to say that place more than any other, right? I think part of what we're also doing is that, that privilege of voting sometimes comes, in forty-eight other states comes with some obligations in that state. We heard from the good Senator from District 18 that some of the states have tried to do away with that, and that's their privilege. We've moved out the effective date of this. There'll be twenty-four people sitting in this chamber that can introduce legislation similar to the state of Maine, Vermont if that's a thing you wanted to do. But with exercising that privilege comes obligations. One of the things that we can't do is we can't look at the databases combined together, the motor vehicle one and the registration one. Except when we're looking at juries. Does that mean anybody who registers to vote is now, doesn't have to be, you know, on a jury? We don't make you pay if you're on a jury, we actually pay you. Maybe not much. Most of the kids that did testify at the hearing did not have cars that were registered in their names in New Hampshire. The ones that did had to register that car somewhere. It was certainly clear that if it is registered in Maine or Massachusetts or Vermont, that they are not meeting that point, that New Hampshire is that place more than any other, to the abandonment of all others. It's not there. Now the thing about voting is, is that every citizen has the right to vote. They make a choice of where to vote. And with that choice comes obligations. Thank you.

(The Chair recognized Senator Carson.)

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you very much, Mister President. I didn't think I was going to speak but I feel that I must. We've heard a lot this afternoon about voting and I don't think there's any person in this room who believes that we should be not allowing people to vote. It is one of our fundamental constitutional rights. It is something that our founding fathers gave us so we don't have to pick up a rifle like they did and fight for their rights. We vote and that's very, very important. But also, within the constitution they gave states the right to set their own parameters about voting. Fast forward to 1984, the last constitutional convention we had. And it was during that constitutional convention, Mister President that the members decided to change the definition of residency and domicile because they believed domicile was a stronger term than residency. But unfortunately, what's happened since then, and it's been through a series of court decisions. It's been upended. The term "domicile" has been weakened. And what we see is an attempt over the years to re-strengthen that term "domicile". That one place above all others that you call home. Now most of us, if not all of us, we chose to live here in New Hampshire. This is our home. We live here, we have our homes here, we've raised our families here. That's very important to us. But we don't have a choice as to where we vote. We have to vote where we live. The Senator from District 7's a good friend of mine. He does a great job in my opinion. I'd love to be able to go up to his district and vote for him. But if I was to show up, they would tell me go home. You don't live here; you can vote in Londonderry. And so I would go home and I would vote in Londonderry. But yet we have a group of people who say this is where I live but I don't have to register my car here, I don't have to get my license like everyone else in this room has to do. And yet we allow them to vote here. And I think that is the one sticking point, Mister President, with a lot of the people that live here in New Hampshire.

And let's talk a little bit about choice. We've had a lot of litigation over some of the bills that we've passed, and I've read the depositions, and there's one case that really stuck in my mind, and it was a young lady who was attending the University of New Hampshire, she was from Maine. Her first election while she was here, she made a conscious choice to vote in Maine. Why? Because there was an issue on the ballot that was very important to her, and she wanted her voice to be heard in Maine. So she did. Fast forward two years, she now has the choice. She's decided she wants to vote in New Hampshire. She still considers herself to be a resident of Maine, her car is still registered in Maine, her license still comes from Maine. But yet she wants to vote in New Hampshire because there's an issue that's very important to her, a person who's running for office that she believes in and she wants to vote for. Who in this room has that choice? We don't. I can't go to Massachusetts and say yeah, there's a really smart person running for office and I want to vote down there. I couldn't do that, and nobody in this room would be able to do that. There's one thing in here that I've heard over, that I haven't heard when we've had these discussions. And that is the term "absentee ballot". No one is preventing anyone from voting. Every single person has the ability to get an absentee ballot. Now, we have restrictions on that, Mister President. But if you come from Maine, you come from Massachusetts or you come from California and you find yourself here during an election time, you can get an absentee ballot from the state which you do call your home, and you can vote there. No one is suppressing the vote here in the state of New Hampshire. No one. I actively encourage people to vote. But you have to vote where you live. And the good Senator from District 20 asked, what's the harm? You know what the harm is? Is we have other people choosing who's going to represent us. That's the problem. And that's why I think there's so many New Hampshire citizens that are very angry about this and they want some change. They want it changed. So, Mister President I think I'm just going to stop here now because I think we've heard a lot of this already. So thank you very much, Mister President. I appreciate you taking the time to hear me.

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a question of Senator Carson.)

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you, Senator for taking my question. You mentioned taking measures such as getting a driver's license and registering a car. How would this affect Granite State senior citizens, many of whom in assisted living facilities who don't have a driver's license and don't have a car?

SENATOR CARSON: Well, if they have declared New Hampshire to be their residency and they don't have a car and they don't have a license, they have to have some other proof that they live here in New Hampshire. That is my understanding of the law.

SENATOR FELTES: What would be that other proof?

SENATOR CARSON: Thank you for the question. They could probably get a statement from the assisted living facility in which they live that says that they live there in the facility.

SENATOR FELTES: Thank you. Thank you, Mister President.

(The Chair recognized Senator Gray for a question of Senator Feltes.)

SENATOR GRAY: Would you believe that there is an affidavit that any voter can sign, in fact four affidavits, one for their identification, one for their residency, one for their domicile and one for their citizenship, and not have any of those documents and still be allowed to vote in New Hampshire?

SENATOR FELTES: I would believe there's probably affidavits, very confusing like those that were passed in Senate Bill 3.

SENATOR GRAY: Thank you.

Senator Feltes moved to Lay on the Table HB 1264.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

(The Chair recognized Senator Feltes for a parliamentary inquiry.)

SENATOR FELTES: Mister President, if you oppose procedural roadblocks to voting, would you now support this procedural roadblock to this bill?
